I am very upset about the destruction of the East Wing without the proper processes, historical considerations or permissions. I am equally upset that there has been no proper design process for the construction of a new building that is too big and too out of proportion to the existing building and that will have to be heated, cooled, and maintained 365 days of the year even though the ballroom space will seldom be used. All this is being done at the taxpayers expense, directly or indirectly. The federal government should set an example on how to properly follow established processes and regulations. Allowing this attack on our heritage to continue without consequences for those who initiated it is unconscionable.

We the people are the owners. The current president is just a tenant and under all tenant-owner agreements does not have the right to make changes to the premises without permission or consequences.

I object to spending so much as one dollar more on the construction of this planned monstrosity! The White House belongs to the American people, it does not belong to this president. The scale is an abomination and will only relegate the People's House to a "GARAGE ADDITION"! This cannot move forward as planned. The destruction of the East Wing was illegal and allowing this construction to advance is complicit in the illegality of the destruction. Please, you all know in your hearts this planned ballroom is ugly and should not be built. Will you stand up to this president and say no?

I was shocked and horrified at the sudden and unapproved destruction of the White House East Wing last year. That's THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE, owned by the American people while housing presidents for the last 225 years. No president has ever been the owner of the house or its land. Its demolition sans review, permits, or Congressional oversight was and is a clear violation of the law, on top of being a massive betrayal of the trust of the American people's entrusting it to the current president.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Put the White House back into the people's hands, please. It's the law.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House is the people's house. It should be treated as such. The destruction of our history is unforgivable. It should definitely not be replaced by the atrocious, gilded monstrosities of a ballroom that overpowers the structure of the White House itself. If it could be restored to its beautiful, original form, that would be the best solution. If more space is needed, a small addition or an added lower level could be built to accommodate bigger meetings.

It was a sad day when the east wing of the White House was torn down without any discussion or approval by the taxpayers. Please restore the east wing to its previous state. This is a presidential overreach that is unconscionable.

The East Wing was destroyed without congressional approval and there are no funds to be found for it's modernization. Although private donors have announced they have interests in donating to this project, no funds have been shown to exist. Private donors will also be expecting to receive favors in the form of legislative actions which will benefit their bottom line. I am against building a new East Wing Modernization Project, the East Wing should be totally rebuilt to it's historical past. The money for that should come from the president and private donors who said they would pay for the new construction of the East Wing. This demolition was totally done without going through the proper channels.

I am opposed to spending any funds on a ballroom, an unnecessary addition to a building that was already complete as well as beautiful. Part of our history as a nation has been destroyed, and I want it rebuilt as it was before its wanton destruction, a destruction carried out with no official permission. The White House belongs to the people, not to an individual, and there should be consequences; otherwise, future presidents may think they can destroy our national heritage with impunity.

Dear Friends,
I am writing to express my opinion as an American citizen regarding the East Wing project. I am horrified that the former East Wing of the White House was razed without permission from the National Parks Service, historic preservation commissions or other oversight boards. I believe that the East Wing of the People's House must be restored to its former state. Building a monstrous ballroom as a tribute to the worst president in our nation's history is offensive, a tremendous waste of taxpayer money and an affront to the architectural integrity of historic Washington D.C.
Warmest Regards,
Dawn Evans Scaltreto

Dear Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I write today to share my thoughts on the East Wing Modernization Project. I wholeheartedly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated by this administration without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history and a vanity project for the current president. This project should be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its exact former design at no cost to the American taxpayer; to clarify, Trump should pay out of his own personal pocket to restore the East Wing, not the citizens. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Sincerely,
Leslie Smith

I in no way support a ballroom for the White House. It should be reconstructed back to its original state using trumps money. I urgently and strongly object to the conversion of our historic "people's house" into a playground for oligarchs. This project never received proper approval and permits. The East Wing should be restored to it's original design. Allowing this project to advance would give permission to those who wish to blatantly flaunt our rules and regulations. The Capital Planning Commission was put in place for a purpose. You need to guard against grift, personal aggrandizement, and abuse of taxpayer dollars. While upgrades and new facilities may be necessary, to deface and tear down the space where elected leaders and first ladies have hosted countless domestic and foreign dignitaries, without seeking the required authorization, is an abomination. Hold those accountable for violating the public trust by making them pay for restoring the East Wing to it's original design and require an accounting for every single object taken from that space. These are not any one person's possessions to be hoarded or sold off, but rather national treasures which require appropriate stewardship by true civil servants. Please stand up to this obvious overreach and protect the architectural, cultural, and historic integrity of the White House. Thank you.

Please do not go ahead with plans for a grotesque and excessive ballroom. Take time to match the grandeur and history of the rest of the building, as it was before Trump cheapened it with gilded gewgaws, trophies he didn't win, and ugly signs naming the rooms. It's too late to save the East Wing or follow proper procedure for deciding to destroy it, but there is still time to avoid compounding that mistake by rushing into something hideous to inflate the ego of one man rather than represent the entire United States with a well thought out, beautiful wing.

Our beautiful White House..... the People's House..... should be restored to it's original footprint, with whatever modernization that is necessary for safety. This alleged 'ballroom', if permitted, would destroy the symmetry of our historic home. Clearly the President knew that destruction of the East Wing would not have been allowed had he followed the proper protocol to apply for it first. If permitted to proceed with his plan, he will likely see this as a green light for him to do additional damage to our national treasures. The Administration can find an alternate property in Washington DC on which to build its 'ballroom'.

I view the changes to the East Wing to be collateral damage due to a war. Rebuilding after a war often does not mean returning to what was but rather a need to replace what has been damaged or destroyed. I fully support any replacement modernization to be undertaken only after the Commission has fully considered the options, plans and costs of the construction and with the final approval being made with and by the Congress of the United States.

Thank you.

As a citizen of the United States, I am heartbroken by the thought that there has been no accounting of the furnishings and art inside, or apparent conservation of the historical and valuable materials used in its construction, such as the fixtures, tile, stone, wooden panels, etc.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I oppose spending $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project. The submitted ballroom design would be completely incongruous with the existing White House and the proud history of the space.

I want this project canceled, and for the public to be able to review a set of design proposals that would place a modernized office space on the original footprint of the East Wing. The New East Wing should include significant design elements similar to the Old East Wing, and several historical markers commemorating the important events in American women's history that took place in the Old east wing.

I am borrowing the eloquence of another, so that my sheer and utter disgust with the current administration does not impede the attention that should ne given to halting all their works.
"The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion."

I am completely opposed to this seriously misnamed project. The East Wing was a significant part of our shared American history, and the current occupant of the White House had absolutely no moral or legal right or authority to tear it down. If the issue is the modernization of the East Wing its scope should be in rebuilding the East Wing as it was, with modernization only addressing accessibility issues and the like. There is no need for the monstrosity being proposed - it is an insult to all Americans who honor our history and wish to preserve it for future generations.

Dear Commission Members,

As a veteran, a long-term public servant, and someone who cares deeply about our country and how I expect our democracy to function, I was horrified by the sudden destruction of the East Wing of the White House which occurred with no public notice, no discussion with Congress, and no input from this commission. I urge you to carefully consider what to do in the wake of this destruction and not turn part of the "people's house" into a mockery of what our founders and countless generations have built here in the United States. We do not need the grandest ballroom on the planet. We need a place where the work of the people can continue. Thank you!

The proposed East Wing building feels like a greek temple that is o to upstage the White House. The center of attention of the collection of buildings should continue to be the White House. There is no reason for such a big new building, and certainly there is no reason for the ornaments that are just calling for unnecessary attention.

Bigger and flashier is not necessarily better and in this case it is very much worse.

To Whom It May Concern,

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you,

A Very Concerned American Citizen

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project, which was initiated brazenly and without the proper authorization, permits, or review. This historic building was marred by a temporary resident with total disregard for the rules and processes required for the change. I ask that the project be canceled, and the money "donated" by corporations to fund this monstrosity be used to restore the East Wing to its previous state. Allowing this project to continue rubber stamps the "act first, ask for permission later" approach.

I have lived in the DC metro area for 30 years, and hope to live here another 30. The White House has been here for over 200 years and hopefully will be here for another 200. It is the people's house, visited by citizens from around the country and guests from around the world. The current president should not be allowed to destroy its beauty for his own self-aggrandizement. Please just build it back in a shape that makes sense with the original scale of the building. Then prosecute the people who tore down a national treasure.

To disregard the guard rails that have been in place for decade to make sure any understanding of a national historic landmark building is in the best interest of the building, the history and the nation. It is a shame that private interests are being promoted over the good of the nation. This building as proposed is going to drawf the white house. The Peoples House. And I question the cost of the project as well. This structure will not be in keeping with the sensitive nature of Washington DC and must stop immediately. And involve all stakeholders.to review and comment.

The renderings I have seen of the proposed rebuild of the East Wing are hugely out of scale with the rest of the White House. The need for a huge ballroom, that will sit empty most of the time, seems to be overblown. Presidents have managed without a facility of this sort. If there is a real need then it should be incorporated into a rebuild of the East Wing as it was before. Please do not allow this to go forward.

At this moment in time, there is no East Wing, so it cannot be "modernized". It was razed without permits, design review or proper authorization. The history of the East Wing apparently was destroyed with the physical building materials, as we have not had any accountability for any of its safe keeping. The demolition was likely initiated by our current president, and I say he is not above the law, and he, along with all who aided in this destruction need to be held accountable. Reinstate the East Wing, using the $300-400 million that was supposedly donated to the current president - who I believe has stated that he "controls" those funds.

Writing to object to the razing of the East Wing. Normal citizens cannot build a backyard fence or shed without a minimum of oversight. How is it possible this administration could tear down the entire wing without so much as a discussion from constituents or historians or anyone? Do not build a gold-gilded ballroom. It is not who we are as a nation. Put back the history of our nation's white house. Worry about feeding, insuring and housing your constituents who are struggling. Let the billionaires rent out Maralago if they need a golden ballroom for donors receptions.

I am writing to submit my desire to see the East Wing restored to its previous configuration. It was torn down without authorization and does not belong to the President; any president, it belongs to the people. There should be no opportunity to get around the rules by playing "do now and ask permission later" kind of games. The funds to restore it should be taken from the money raised to build a ballroom.

While I understand that the White House might not have all the amenities of a more modern, grander building, the White House should strive in it's own way to reflect that the inhabitants are not greater than all, that the position is temporary and like the people who make up this country, sometimes you have to get creative to accomplish your goals. I.E tents on the grass.

Please do not approve any attempt to change the architecture of the White House, and request the East Wing be rebuilt to the previous blueprint.

Thank you for your consideration of my opinion.

The White House and its East Wing are the property of the American people. If we need a large entertainment space, and if the People approve it, and after it's properly vetted, permitted, and approved by the parties who control our purse strings (Congress), then we can step ahead and renovate at this level. This is not just a modernization. This was the razing of a public building without any public oversight. Whether publicly or privately funded (and this had BETTER be privately funded) it should not have happened without oversight.

At this point I don't know what choices we have. I don't think tearing it down and trying to rebuild is a decent option either. But it should be the president's duty to secure private funding to finish what he started, and to cover any supplemental costs it will take to maintain that new wing for the first 10 years at least. We didn't ask for it, we didn't vote for it, and we should certainly not have to pay for it.

The White House has been the visible center of the government of the United States as well as a symbol of beauty and honor for over two hundred years. Despite undergoing repairs and vast interior reconstruction for safety and durability it has retained elegant and beautiful architecture throughout. For a current resident of the White House to alone determine that the East Wing needed to be turned into a massive unneeded ballroom, without permission or agreement of those who should have been consulted, it is inconsistent with the long-held policies and principles of our government. Not only is the construction going to be asymetrical and unattractive it will put great pressure on the budget due to both its size and its reconstruction at a time when funds are not available for legitimate projects.

It is yet another example of making changes that are not only unnecessary but visually offensive. The removal of the Rose Garden and then paving the lawn to accommodate tables and chairs was an insult to the historic plantings there and was only a hint of the revolting and disrespectful destruction of the East Wing.

What is next? Will the floor beneath the White House East Wing become a rock solid safe place for the President and others to plan further destruction of the symbols and safety of the United States? These changes are not only insulting to the White House, they are done without the approval of the citizenry and the government itself. They should not happen.

Dear Commission Members,

As an American, I am deeply disappointed in the lack of oversight on this project and this administration. I certainly could not renovate my home without a permit from my city. How is it possible for someone to demolish part of one of this country's most significant buildings without proper congressional oversight?

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

The East Wing has disappeared and should certainly not be rebuilt at a size that will dwarf the rest of the white house. Any new construction needs to go through the proper challenge for review, cannot be bigger than its original size and should reflect the diversity of the American people.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House should be investigated for criminal action. It does not belong to a particular resident(president). It belongs to the people of the United States. Lawful evaluation and protection of our historic heritage and property is just that-lawful. The destruction was not. Any funds received need to be used to rebuild and restore to historical style and significance. Any excess needs to be paid for specifically by Trump, not our tax dollars. We do not need a ballroom like that at “our” White House. Please make your decision appropriately. Thank you.

President Trump tore down the East Wing of the White House without getting any approval or input, as is required. This is the people's house, and Donald Trump is a temporary occupant. Frankly, this destruction should never have been allowed to happen, and the East Wing should be rebuilt to the state it was before its destruction. I want all building halted until a proper approval process is done. I want public input on the purpose of any new structure; in my opinion, a Trump ballroom vanity project is inappropriate. It also has been reported that donor money for the ballroom has disappeared, or never materialized. This needs to be investigated to determine if there was fraud, and if the president is benefitting financially from this project.

It is innappropriate for any US President to build temples to himself. Even Richard Nixon didn't do that. It is even more inappropriate to knock down a storied "First Lady" wing of the White House. Any project of this sort must originate in Congress, be funded by Congress and signed off by the President, and after the courts have dealt with any legal challenges that arise.

Additionally, it should not be funded by billionaires that Trump seems to be blackmailing for what he knows about them raping children. It is for this reason that there are three branches of government.

I vote for restoring the East Wing and along with it White House scale and symmetry. Reject this dance hall for the architectural atrocity that it is

Dear Members of the National Capital Planning Commission, I do not want the $300 million dollar ballroom built. The $ should be spent to put the east wing back the way it was. The white house is the people's house and should represent the citizens of the US. The president and first lady have a lot of leeway in interior design and the design of the grounds but to destroy a part of the white house should not have been allowed to happen. Please put it back to the way it has been for over 60 years.

Please restore the East Wing, don't "modernize' it! The white house was beautifully designed and in balance, a historical home (with gardens) that somehow got bombarded by heathens. NOBODY has ever wanted a ballroom there! Where did the president get that strange idea? We the People do not want a Palace sitting in DC. The White House has served as a lovely, stately and subtle residence for all our presidents just fine - and the future ones deserve to reside in history with them. It is not an entertainment facility, nor meant to be one. Thank you for your time and consideration.

To whom it may concern,

The White house is not private property to be demolished and redesigned as a sitting president wishes. It is the public property of all citizens of the USA. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project to modernize the East Wing, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

It is also not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. This project must be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. To characterize this project as a 'modernization' is a travesty - it has been a wholesale destruction of sacred American History. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent desecration.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I vehemently oppose the destruction of the East Wing of the Whitehouse and am appalled that history was literally destroyed before our eyes with no authority or approval to do so. This is a waste of taxpayer resources and a blatant insult to the American people who built this country. Something needs to be done to hold the responsible parties accountable and they should be punished to the fullest extent of the law. If for no other reason other than to set an example that the USA won’t stand for this kind of foolishness and that modifications to historic structures must come through the proper channels.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. It is owned by the American people, not by any inhabitant of the White House. The East Wing should never have been razed without review and permits. The American people should have been given an opportunity to comment before any action was taken. The demolition demonstrates disrespect for our history and for the populace. The National Capital Planning Commission should, first, reconstruct the East Wing as it was and, second, cancel the plans for a grossly out-of-scale building on the site. Anything constructed in the future must be compatible with and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the White House.

To Whom It May Concern,

As a resident of the Landmark HIstoric district in Savannah, Georgia I find it especially regrettable that the current administration believes it is not accountable to the same standards and processes of historic preservation that is required of and adhered to by all other applicable citizens. Persons who reside in historic homes of distinction and particularly one that is owned by the American people have an obligation to preserve and protect such national treasures for future generations. It is a privilege and an honor that is not be taken lightly nor assumed that changes to particular personal preferences can be made as opposed to what would best serve the American people for generations to come. In sum, I would respectfully request that the administration be required to follow and uphold the same preservation guidance and standards set and meant for all Americans, without exception, as well as to draft a considerate modernization plan that is deemed acceptable to the American public.

Respectfully,
LD Donnigan

As a former White House intern, I was particularly dismayed upon learning that an important part of our nation's first house had been unceremoniously destroyed with zero regard for its historical significance and zero adherence to the legal process that exists to oversee structural and architectural changes to the White House. Because this destruction was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project and the creation of an oversized ballroom. The White House is the people's house. It belongs to the citizens of this country. Donald Trump unilaterally decided that he did not like the East Wing and he wanted it replaced. Without following any of the laws involved in altering historic landmarks he had the East Wing destroyed. Illegal acts should not be rewarded. Trump has lost the privilege to be able to decide what gets put in place of something he defiled. Under no circumstances should this project move forward.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The indiscriminate and needless destruction of a building of historical significance is wrong. The East Wing is part of the "peoples' house" and as such should not have been touched without the peoples consent. Modernization can happen without complete destruction.
But now this cannot be easily rectified.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns. In every city, town, or municipality, there are laws to be followed with any new construction. No one… no one is above the law.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project. I believe the East Wing should be restored to its previous condition.

Dear National Capital Planning Commission Members,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed addition of a 90,000 square foot “ballroom” to the White House, a National Historic Landmark and a unit of the National Park System. The White House belongs to the American people; presidents are only temporary stewards for the duration of their terms.

A structure of this scale would be wholly incompatible with the historic character of the White House. A ballroom nearly twice the size of the existing residence would overwhelm the original architecture and violate long standing preservation principles, which require that additions to historic properties remain subordinate in scale and respectful of the original design.

I urge you not to permit such a disproportionate and inappropriate addition to the people’s house. Protecting the integrity of our national heritage must take precedence over any temporary occupant’s preferences.

Respectfully,

Jo Ann Gruber

The White House is not eligible for any president to remodel at will. As precious history has already been irrevocably lost, we must halt the East Wing Modernization Project.

These should also be consequences for violation of established processes.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

The management and preservation of the White House are overseen by the National Park Service, which is part of the U.S. Department of the Interior. The White House is considered a national park site and is owned by the American people.

Trump has no authority nor legal ability to destroy, modify or replace any portion of the White House, and he certainly has no authority to build a new building/wing or other appendage to the White House without explicit Congressional approval.

The solicitation of private "donors" to fund this travesty is simply a move to side step and avoid respecting Article I of the Constitution that gives sole "power of the purse" to Congress. Trump's "design" for a ballroom is nothing more than a vanity project being foisted on the United States citizenry, and it must not be allowed to stand. If Trump wants to build a monument to himself with his billionaire donors, he should wait until after his term is complete and take the money to build something on privately owned land, not on a part of one of our most honored national parks.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a mandate by a President that is ignorant of the Constitution, and shows no respect for it.

As a proud American I OPPOSE this project, which is not in fact a "modernization" of the East Wing (which no longer exists). Not only does the private funding veer into serious conflicts of interest, the destruction of the East Wing and planning of a ballroom in its place was was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or environmental review. The disdain for our nation's history as well as its laws is despicable. To permit this project to proceed would be to reward lawlessness and graft. I am sickened by the destruction of the East Wing, especially since it was not done with properly approved plans and authority. The president does not own the White House, it is the people's house. I believe the 300-400 million in donations (from the oligarchs or Trump himself) should be used to rebuild the East Wing as close to the original as possible. A historical committee can evaluate any possible changes that might be added during the rebuild. Our country does not need a huge gaudy ballroom.

The razing of the East Wing of "The People's House," with no review, permitting or authorization is a travesty! I object to my tax dollars being spent on construction of a giant ballroom that would dwarf the historical White House. I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. This is not a "modernization" project, but an obliteration of part of our U.S. history. This project should be canceled; the East Wing should be rebuilt to its previous design (and to modern building codes, obviously). No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. I am one of those, and take extreme umbrage at the damage — physical, historical, and emotional — that this rash destruction has caused.

I believe the razing of our White House East wing was done without authorization and needed permitting. It is a disgrace that this administration took it upon themselves to destroy our Historic White House. No ballroom should be built and the structure should be reconstructed as close to its original design without tax payer funds.

I am totally against building a ballroom that is planned to be built over the old site the East Wing used to occupy. I am also against having private donors fund a ballroom or any structure that is to be built over the old site of the East Wing. The White House is the People's house, not a billionaire project. Trump should be sued for the cost of what ever is going to replace the East Wing. What was done to the White House was illegal and horrid.

This "project" should never have happened. The deliberate destruction of the East Wing was horrifying. As history was bulldozed, it made me physically ill. While at times updates are needed, the history of our country must also be considered. Paving over the rose garden so lovingly developed by another first lady was just a start. There are other places for a ballroom. When has this president needed an area this large? Please do not allow this farce to continue. Bring back the East Wing and the national treasures housed there

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal.

There's been no accounting for what happened to all the stuff inside, and there was no conservation of the historical and valuable materials it was made of--the fixtures, tiles, stone, paneling, etc.

Thanks for listening. --Kevin O'Neil

East Wing Modernization????? My god, destroy hundreds of year cultural landmark in US history using the 'reason' modernization. I notice the project name has changed. instead of building a 'big beautiful gold ballroom that presidents have all wanted (no they didn't)' without going through all the reviews required is sacrilege.

He was so determined to 'remake' the White House to his Mar-a-lago image that he demolished without notifying Congress or National Preservation committee. Only a person who knows what he is doing is wrong would do something like this.

I haven't seen if paneling, paintings, flooring, etc have been removed and stored or he just destroyed. He is only known for destruction and that will be in history books as a horror.

He has destroyed the Rose Garden. He installed two HUGE flagpoles. He ripped up grass and pour a concrete patio. (you know, like Mar-a-lago). He put his name on the Kennedy Center; which is also illegal as something like that required Congressional action.

I say the 'ballroom' needs to be stopped. I think trump should be required to rebuild the East Wing exactly as it was, using historical records to try to make it so. I also think the concrete patio needs to be removed. The Rose Garden should be restored. The flagpoles should be reduced to a normal size. His name needs to be removed from the Kennedy Center memorial to JFK.

I am so horrified by all his illegal actions I don't even know how to address them all but this 'ballroom' needs to be stopped! If nothing else, the site should be cleared and planted with grass so later administrations can rebuild the East Wing.

Spending $300 million on a project that bulldozed its way forward without proper authorization, permits, or design review isn't "modernization" it's arrogance with a price tag. Let's call this what it is: not an upgrade, but the reckless erasure of American history dressed up in bureaucratic spin.
You don't get to ignore the law, tear down heritage, and then expect applause. The East Wing wasn't some disposable eyesore it was part of our architectural legacy. Flattening it without due process isn't progress; it's vandalism funded by taxpayers.
Cancel this project. Rebuild and restore the East Wing to its original design. And hold accountable every official who thought the rules didn't apply to them. No one is above the law and pretending otherwise is a slap in the face to every American who actually follows it.

everything.
He should be made to put it all, painstakingly, back, including the inside, to how it was. It is not his to change - EVER. MAYBE, private living quarters, but that's it. There are years of historical structure beyond damage, that needs to be brought back to original.
That awful grand ball room needs to be stopped, in it's tracks, from EVER happening. He NEVER got permission, nothing to do it. He thinks he is Supreme ruler and no body can stop him. YES, we can!!!

There's an old adage that states that's it's easier to say you're sorry after the fact instead of asking permission. This current administration has done neither. To take it upon themselves to destroy a historical portion of The People's House for some gaudy, giant facility - something else he can rename for Himself - is an overreach that must be addressed. It was not necessary. It's offensive to every previous occupant of that house. That one person's need for spectacle, gilding and ostentatiousness can go unchecked is infuriating. I urge the NCPC to ensure that the East Wing restored to its previous proportions as well as all of the historical items that were removed/destroyed in the process.

I have no descendants of my own but many many nieces and nephews and I am hopeful of a great future for all of them. But because I am from a large family with a deep history in this country, going back to settlers who enlisted in the Revolutionary war, I am especially interested in preserving history. The White House, in all its aged glory is a relic of our glorious past and should be preserved as such. Please consider all reasonable repairs before demolishing our past.

I am amazed that anyone could have it torn town without permits, permission from Congress and many safeguards it is the peoples house, NOT Trump's. He just resides there during his turn. The millions of dollars that have already been spent and what it will take to repair what he has destroyed is in thinkable. Stop this nonsense now!!

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

As a taxpayer I highly object to the project to build a ballroom in the prior location of the East Wing of the Whitd House.
1. No legal procedures were followed and no proper permits were obtained for this project. I need permits to build a fence in my yard.
2. The president initially stated the cost would be $200,000,000. Now it's up to 300,000,000. His justice department wanted to indict Jerome Powell for remodeling cost overruns.
3. It is probably just the usual ignorance of American history, but a proper respect should be given to our national architecture and buildings. It is an affront to our history and national legacy. Dont want to hear about the addition of the east wing decades ago— it was done properly.
4. In our current economic doldrums this is sickening. Our country needs rational foundation and leadership, not Presidental vanity projects in search of a new wall to place the president's name. Look what this name has done to the KENNEDY CENTER.

I write to express concerns about the manner in which the East Wing has been razed and will be modernized.

I do not doubt that the East Wing would benefit from some modernization, as technology, security, staffing, and other requirements have evolved over the years and modernization of some of those elements could serve the American public well.

However, the way the current Administration has chosen to tear down the former structure leaves no doubt that:
--the Administration has not fully scoped out the requirements for modern, efficient operations;
--the Administration has not followed the law regarding changes to publicly-owned buildings owned by the Executive Branch (not by the current officeholders)
--the Administration has indicated they intend to ignore tradition and custom to create a garish facility not in keeping with the elegant style preferred by most Americans.

I urge you to hold the current Administration to the rules and traditions appropriate for an enhancement to The People's House.

I believe the East Wing should never have been demolished. Once history is erased, it cannot be recreated.

The proposed design does not reflect the architectural language or spirit of the White House, often called "the people's house." This building represents continuity, tradition, and shared national history. The new plans feel disconnected from that legacy.

History was lost in the demolition. I urge the committee to reconsider the direction of this project and prioritize preservation and architectural integrity moving forward.

My name is Michelle Smith, I am 48 years old, and live in Harrisburg, PA. Growing up within driving distance of DC, I have visited numerous times, and every single visit included the standard stops - the monuments and the White House. Once I had children, I made sure this became a standard in their lives too.

But then the fences went up. And it felt less friendly. And it felt less and less like The People's House. And now it is not our house at all. It is gold and gaudy and walls are labeled and a president's photo has been replaced by an auto pen. The Rose Garden is now cement. And worst of all, the East Wing was actually demolished with no permission, no thought to law, to history, to cost to the people in tax dollars or in our hearts.

The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was before. Exactly as it was before, as historically accurate as possible. Trump claimed he had the money to rebuild it, if that is true (which I doubt) that money should be used. If not, President Trump should have to pay for it himself. He alone is responsible for the destruction. If he does not have the money, a lein should be placed on Maralago, his businesses, etc.

Additionally, there need to be limits placed on what each President can do to the People's House and more of it must be passed through you. We are paying for his gold to go up, and we are going to have to pay for it to come down. It is senseless waste. Your group must have more control and a non-partisan historical focus on keeping the White House about America and not a President's personal home. The residence is one thing, but the rest should be under your control.

Please take the honor of the White House back. Rebuild it to its beautiful standard. Create new, strict rules for what can be done by each administration. Force changes to go through your committee with heavy penalties for evading rules. And most of all, hold Trump financially accountable for this senseless travesty of ego. American citizens should not have to pay for his temper tantrum.

I totally object to $400 million dollars being spent on a gilded ballroom. The White House was built in a classic yet simple style to represent THE PEOPLE. It was never intended to be a palatial building because our president is supposed to be a representative of THE PEOPLE, not a king. The president has said the building is being paid for by donations from billionaires. It would be so much better for THE PEOPLE if that money was used to help reduce the cost of health care or groceries. It may be true that THE PEOPLE's House could use an event center, but what is proposed is ridiculous as it destroys the classic look of the White House. Please reject this plan and keep the White House a symbol of THE PEOPLE, the everyday people of the United States.

home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I have stood at the gates of the White House, in awe of its beauty and what it represents. The People's House. Our house. It belongs to the country and its citizens, not to Donald Trump - a temporary resident. The demolition of the East Wing is absolutely tragic. This man, who never faces any consequences for any actions, should be held accountable for this tragic and irreplaceable loss.

To Whom It May Concern.
I am submitting this comment to express my strong opposition to the proposed renovation of the East Wing of the White House and the construction of a large ballroom on the White House grounds.

The White House is not simply a working building for any single administration; it is a nationally significant historic structure that belongs to the American people and represents our shared heritage. Any changes to it should therefore prioritize public interest, history, respect, transparency, adherence to established historic-review processes and care.

Rather than substantially altering or expanding the East Wing, decision-makers should focus on historically responsible improvements. Things that are necessary as building codes change and as the building ages - like modernization of electrical and mechanical systems, safety improvements, and accessibility in compliance with ADA standards where feasible — can and should be undertaken in ways that preserve the building's established exterior dimensions, architectural character, and historic integrity. Previous administrations have demonstrated that sensitive modernization can be accomplished while respecting preservation principles, and that process should continue to guide future work.

If additional large event space is genuinely needed, it would be more appropriate to construct such a facility elsewhere in Washington, D.C., rather than permanently altering one of the nation's most important historic sites. It is particularly concerning that the administration is taking buckets of money from private companies to fund it. There is ZERO reason for a 90.000 square foot ballroom which would be run at the public expense. Government should not be in the event management business and large ballrooms should be the domain of the private sector.

Equally concerning is the perception that significant changes have proceeded without sufficient public transparency or adherence to customary review procedures. The White House is the people's house and decisions affecting our shared history should reflect careful consultation, established preservation standards, and respect for public trust.

I respectfully ask the National Trust for Historic Preservation to ensure that any modifications remain historically sensitive and consistent with the long-standing stewardship responsibilities owed to this landmark. They should be careful and respectful, not the whim of one person.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.
Sincerely,
Jane Melvin, Citizen

I urge the commission to halt the construction of this monstrosity as soon as possible so the reconstruction of the East Wing, AS IT WAS, can be accomplished. The White House belongs to the people of the United States, NOT to the individual who currently (and temporarily) occupies it. I have walked in the halls and within the walls of the White East Wing; to think of their destruction on the whim of one person makes me profoundly sad.

The unthinkable destruction of the East Wing was done because one person wants a glorious 400K ballroom to entertain his MAGA sycophants. As is usual, he is thinking solely of himself. The White House does not need a 400K ballroom and the people of the United States do not want one. They want their house to be put back the way it was, in proper proportion to the main structure. As to his claims that this ill-planned project would be paid for by "donations", I do not believe it. Somehow, somewhere, funds for it will come out of the pockets of taxpayers. I absolutely have no desire to have my tax dollars go toward ANY project that the current occupant wishes to build to glorify himself.

This has been such a colossal waste of time, money, and resources. It has scarred the beautiful landscape at the White House. It has been one more thing to bring unneeded stress to the American people. One person has been responsible for this and you know exactly who it is.

Please stop this project so that the reconstruction of the East Wing will be accomplished with proper oversight, permitting and consideration of historical context.

NO 90,000 SQ FT ADDITION and NO BALLROOM!

Sincerely,
Lori Neilson

It belongs to the United States and it should represent what it was previously unless President Trump went through proper channels to get the approval to build a ballroom we do not need a ballroom. We need people to be fed and housed in America right now. Going forward with ballroom plans is a slap in the face to ordinary Americans, who are struggling under this regime.I

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It's not a modernization project but rather a tragic and complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Even the name is a misleading lie! There was no prior authorization, no public planning, no architectural or historical review, just lies and destruction … the most egregious that the ballroom wouldn't even touch the east wing! Now the east wing no longer exists and the scope and cost estimates of the project have grown exponentially. This project must be stopped, and the mess cleaned up at the personal expense of those who recklessly pushed it ahead.

I am writing to express my opposition to constructing a ballroom in the place of the already demolished East Wing. The White House is a national symbol that belongs more to the people of this country than the individual temporarily occupying it. Priceless history was destroyed with little consideration for what that history represents for the people of this nation. Building a ballroom larger in scale than the buildings lived in and built by our Founding Fathers undermines this country's past and sets the wrong tone for our future. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its previous glory.

The raising of the East Wing was a travesty on United States history. To tear it down with no input from the public was also a slap in the face to most Americans. My heart sank when I saw what the president had done. The ballroom design is overbearing, gauche and grotesque. I insist that the East Wing, the People's House, be built back to its original architectural design.

We all know that the destruction the WH east wing is illegal and did not go through proper planning procedure, because it would have been rejected out of hand. Nobody in the US wants this, not one person in the national capital region wants this except for the presidential overlord. This cannot be allowed to happen and must be rejected.

It is beyond belief that the proper authorizations and permissions were not obtained by the administration for a public building of such significance. For this action to be allowed represents a remarkable escalation in the unilateral powers of the presidency. Certainly major alterations to the White House are of concern to every citizen of the U.S.
The structure should be rebuilt to its prior specifications.

What President Trump has done at the White House by tearing down the East Wing, a part of the People's House, is horrible. This is not his house. He is a temporary resident. He destroyed the esthetics of the house and his plan for a ball room do not fit with the architecture of the area. Nothing about this project has been done legally. He did not get the proper permissions to tear down the existing structure. His statement to the press on TV said that the ballroom would not be attached to and would not disturb the original structure. Then he just tore down the East Wing. He did not get the plans for the new structure approved. He thinks that, just like everything else, he can bully his way to get what he wants, another vanity project that I sm sure he wants to name after himself. Please stop this travesty, this complete disregard for the rules, and the erection of a building that will not blend with the architecture of the White House and surrounding historical buildings. I am very against the building of Yrump's golden ballroom. Many of the donors were defense contractors who were "shaken down" for quid pro quo. This project (and any project) that over hauls the people's house should be reviewed by the proper Historical agencies for approval first. Having a ballroom which will dwarf the main structure would be ugly and send the wrong message about what the purpose of this building is- the location of the executive branch of a democracy, not a party room. It should be rebuilt with the original offices and purposes in mind. Trump should also not be able to name it after himself (or any other governmental building) as naming should be agreed to by Congress. Once a person is no longer serving. This is standard practice. Please stop the building of the big, bad ballroom before it is too late. No one is above the rules.

They should take the money for the ballroom that isn't going to happen anyway, because the court ordered it to stop. They should rebuild the Eastwing exactly the way that it was before because Donald Trump had no right to demolish that East wing he did not go through the proper avenues he did not get the proper permits. He just did it willfully. That is not his house that is our house and it belongs to the American people the East wing needs to be rebuilt as soon as possible, and Trump should be made to pay for it out of the money he got for the ballroom. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I would like a bipartisan solution to this. While I object to the way it was handled, the East Wing is no longer and it's my understanding that something bigger for political gatherings has been needed by Presidents from both sides of the aisle. In its place I would like a thoughtful design that captures what used to be there and keeps in mind the extra space needed. This should go through proper planning and historic design, input, and checks and balances with bipartisan oversight and input. I reject Trump's current design and plan.

I am a zoning and land use attorney. Before any significant construction, my clients have to obtain permits from a number of government agencies. Often, in New Jersey, one has to get a permit from the municipality, the county, and if the land abuts a state highway, a third permit from the state transportation service. Often multiple approvals are required. In the case of a historic structure, the local historic commission approval would be required. Approvals also must be obtained from the local sewer authority. Demolishing a significant part of a building without a permit is a crime. The municipality would issue a STOP WORK order immediately.
This demolition was done without a single permit. All work must cease. No work should be permitted until all necessary approvals are obtained.

I would like to see a study of why the White House needs a grotesquely oversized ballroom. I live and work in the Washington, DC, area, and I can't remember the last time the White House sponsored an event so large it needed to rent outside space. I consider it not just an ethical and aesthetic travesty, but a completely unnecessary one.

I've also not seen anything in the public plans about how the Secret Service plans on handling security there. There doesn't seem to be much space allotted for screening visitors or for security personnel. Such needs should be paramount in planning any changes to the White House.

Thank you for your consideration.

I object to permitting the East Wing Modification project. This is a complete rebuild of a historical building that was illegally raised. It should be rebuilt as it was at the expense of the perpetrator. Those who were involved in this illegal destruction of public property need to be persecuted to the full extent of the law.

To Whom it may concern:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Sincerely,
Adam Lowenbein

The White House is suppose to be the people's house. We the people did not and do not support the lawless destruction of the East Wing. Most certainly not to build a ridiculous, out of scale, over-priced and gaudy ballroom. The beauty of The White House has always been its understated elegance. Please stop this grotesque project.

The White House is the People's House. The purpose is to house a president, their family and the necessary workings for the executive branch. It is not a palace.

The White House was designed to be modest to reflect that a president is of, for and by The People. A president is not king or royalty.
A new East Wing should be constructed to replace what was destroyed. It should maintain the size, design and symmetry of the original.
The current president, a temporary resident, has billions of dollars. He is free to build a ballroom at any of his properties not at our historical building.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Rebuild the East Wing exactly as it was. It was illegally destroyed so the person who ordered its destruction should pay to rebuild it. This is a historical structure that is part of the people's house. As such it shouldn't have been destroyed without approvals including permits. A huge ballroom isn't needed. The White House has hosted many large gatherings with the use of the East Wing.

No plans were submitted prior to demolition of an historic landmark prior to demolition, clearly making the act illegal and an affront to the people of the United States. The White House belongs to the taxpayers and citizens of the USA not its occupant, therefore NO actions should proceed without citizen committee oversight and ALL proper documentation including costs (no matter where they claim to be coming from) are made public and reviewed by historical architects. I oppose the proposed $300 million project, which appears to have moved forward without the appropriate authorization, permitting, and preservation review required for historically significant structures. This is not a modernization effort — it risks the irreversible loss of an important part of American history.

Historic preservation standards are clear. Projects involving significant or landmark structures should follow the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties, which emphasize:

• Preservation over demolition whenever feasible
• Repair rather than replacement of historic materials
• Restoration based on documented evidence, not redesign
• Protection of original architectural character and craftsmanship
• Review by preservation authorities and public oversight

When demolition or major alteration occurs without this process, cultural heritage is permanently lost.

I urge that this project be halted immediately and subjected to proper legal, preservation, and public review. The East Wing should be restored in accordance with recognized historic preservation standards and documented design, ensuring its architectural integrity is retained for future generations.

No project should proceed outside the rule of law. Allowing work to continue without accountability for procedural violations would undermine public trust and the preservation protections designed to safeguard our shared history.

Dear Commissioners,
I object to the unpermitted and illegal demolition of a historic property of which I am an owner: the West Wing of the White House. If this kind of demolition of a historic wing of a local property were carried out in my neighborhood, a stop-work order would be posted and the owner required to rebuild in kind, filing plans and having them reviewed by historic planners.

I also request a complete inventory of salvaged items, destroyed elements, fixtures, historic ornamentation, and other contents, with information on where the materials ended up. Full HABS (Historic American Building Survey) documentation of the West Wing should have been updated and must be on file with the Library of Congress.

I may only own 1/343,000,000 of the West Wing, but nonetheless I am an owner. Please safeguard my property. Thank you,

Naomi Schiff

I write to formally express my opposition to the $300 million expenditure associated with this project. Based on available information, the project was initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or appropriate design review. Such procedural failures raise serious legal and ethical concerns that cannot be overlooked.

This undertaking has been characterized as a modernization effort. However, in substance and effect, it constitutes the complete demolition of a significant element of American heritage. Projects involving historically important structures demand transparency, strict adherence to regulatory processes, and meaningful public oversight. Those standards do not appear to have been met.

Accordingly, I respectfully call for the immediate cancellation of this project. Furthermore, I urge that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored in a manner consistent with its original architectural design and historical character.

The rule of law is foundational to public trust. No individual, agency, or contractor is above the law. To allow this project to proceed without proper review and without accountability for any violations would undermine public confidence and disregard the principles that govern responsible stewardship of our shared history.

I request a full investigation into the authorization and permitting process, public disclosure of all relevant documentation, and appropriate corrective action.

Respectfully submitted,
Brent Sherman

In addition, the modernization project should be investigated for criminal and unethical acts. Given the sizable monetary donations from private companies and people and the lack of planning for the project, it seems like a front for policy favors.

To NCPC:
It was shocking to see the East Wing destroyed overnight without any thought to the impact to all Americans regarding 'their'house.
The White House is a unifying monument , visited by all , rich in the history of all the presidents who held office and respected the history of our country.
If it truly needed an update and restoration , it should have been done with thoughtful consideration by professionals and with respect to its history and events celebrated within over the decades. Here we are anticipating our 250th anniversary and at least a third of the White House is in rubble. A disgrace. Every state should be recognized by contributing to the effort. The nation should have a voice in the use and design. Sorry it is very upsetting that this could be something just thrown together to appease a single person's ego.
Please save the White House!

I am appalled that the current president had the temerity to just demolish the historic east wing without review, permits, Congressional oversight or apparently salvaging any of the historic details. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people. The current president is not the owner of the property, and this demolition is clearly a violation of the law. It is also a violation of the American people who were not given any opportunity to comment on what would best serve our interests, not the current President's ego.

The lawless destruction of the East Wing broke my heart. As a retired Senior Foreign Service Officer I had occasion during my career to visit the White House. It felt such a privilege to enter the East Wing of the people's house by special invitation. I cried when I saw the rubble.

As a citizen who served, I would like to see the East wing restored to its previous state. Mr. Trump should cover the expense as the crime of destruction of federal property is his. Presidents may reside in the White House for 4-8 years when elected to do so by the people. That does not bestow permission to violate rules governing the preservation and renovation of our cherished White House. Restore the traditional building. Make it whole.

Thank you for the opportunity for the public to submit comments regarding the East Wing Modernization Project. I strongly oppose the current plans for the East Wing. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. As it has been for decades, it should continue to function as the office space for the First Lady and her staff, official functions and social projects and remain the official visitors entrance. There is no need for a gilded ballroom that can hold 1000 people.
I sincerely hope that the members of NCPC considers deeply the thoughts and public comments for this

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

The East Wing Modernization Project should be scaled back to be in alignment with the current White House structure. The White House is a symbol of our democracy. The addition should not overshadow the facade of the iconic front entrance.

I am outraged that the East Wing was torn down without proper planning, permits or oversight. The cost for the replacement wing must be contained to replicating the original wing, with upgrades for security as deemed necessary by the proper authorities.

The cost and plans proposed are outrageous, unnecessary, and an insult to the citizens who are expected to pay for this ill conceived project.

The White House the “people’s house” and should never be demolished at the whim of any president. It is the White HOUSE, not a castle.

National Capital Planning Commission

The destruction of the East Wing was nothing less than an act of vandalism. The people's Capitol was destroyed with no approval or oversight.

The only solution is to halt all construction and order that the East Wing be replaced as closely as possible to its original configuration.

All historic articles must be recovered and returned to the premises, if they have not already been destroyed.

This restoration must be financed by the "donors" who promised the money for the ballroom. If they can't be made to pay, DJT must foot the bill through his vast wealth, which has been multiplied through the family crypto currency schemes, also illegal.

This is a complete travesty and everyone with any common sense or decency knows that it is indefensible.

The East Wing was a beautiful representation of US history and should never have been razed without authorization or permits. Rather than building a tacky ballroom, we need to rebuild the East Wing as a sign that nobody is above the law and that the American spirit will not be repressed by powerful men who feel they can do whatever they want whenever they want. Jail those who break the law, and restore the East Wing and the Rose Garden as a tribute to the Constitution, which is currently being trampled.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

This project is an assault on our national heritage and an attempt to eradicate more than a century of American History. In this structure, lives were lifted up, stories were weaved into our national identity. It was not some useless appendage, without purpose or warranting a place in our national identity. It was our gathering hearth, where light, and life and the humanity of this most august office in the land could put on display its warmth and charm. To rip it down so thoughtlessly, to literally tear at the fabric of our most historic residence is to lay waste to who we are, to steal our voice, our choice all for the vanity of the current resident. I object.

Dear Commissioners
I am writing to protest the destruction of the White House East Wing before the Trump Administration obtained review and approval of the project. The plan itself is horrible and will destroy the classical look of the White House. Given that the construction is being funded by billionaires, the White House will no longer be a symbol of the American people, but instead will be a constant reminder of the current autocratic oligarchy. Under the current administration, it only makes sense that the law is being flouted (so far with the silent consent of the National Capital Planning Comission) while one of America's dearest national treasures is being horribly mutlated on the whim of a criminal President.

I, like thousands of fellow Americans, have great concerns about the destruction of the east wing of the Peoples' House- the White House. Ignoring the procedures required such as acquiring proper authorization, permits, as well as building design review is an affront to the People and the rules by which this nation was conceived. No one… absolutely NO ONE is above the law and to not only allow this project to continue but to expect Americans to support this illegal process AND support spending at least THREE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS is a total slap in the face of every law - abiding American. This is not modernizing the White House. This is a complete razing of AMERICAN HISTORY. I am unabashedly OPPOSED to this project and any continuation there of. I am writing to urge the National Capital Planning Commission to reconsider and scale down the proposed expansion of the East Wing of the White House. The physical form of our most iconic civic buildings has always carried symbolic weight, and the White House in particular stands as a visual expression of the American character. Its proportions, restraint, and human scale have long communicated the virtues we claim as a nation: humility in power, stewardship rather than excess, and a belief that public institutions should remain accessible to the people they serve.

A significantly enlarged East Wing risks undermining that symbolism. While functional needs evolve, the architectural message of the White House should remain grounded in the principles that have guided it for more than two centuries. A more modest footprint would still allow for necessary modernization while preserving the clarity and dignity of the historic composition.

Scaling down the expansion would demonstrate a commitment to thoughtful governance—one that values efficiency over grandeur, prudence over spectacle, and continuity over unnecessary enlargement. In an era when Americans are increasingly sensitive to the size and scope of government, the built environment should reflect a disciplined, measured approach.

I respectfully ask the Commission to champion a design that honors the White House's historic proportions and reinforces the values that define our democratic identity.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

While tax payers will not be left "holding the bag", any corporations giving money for this should be seen with suspicion as it begs the question, "What will President Trump give them in return?"

Every time President Trump goes against the law to get what he wants, I shake with anger!

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through public forums and transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom that had not gone through any known design review which is to be funded largely by private donors, this neglectful demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns. Historical aspects of this building are now gone forever simply to appease the unchecked whims of the current administration.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, which belongs to the citizens of the United States and not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight and follow the standards in place and expected of every other historically significant project.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I strongly oppose the spending of $300,000,000 on this ballroom project. It was initiated without the correct authorization, permits, or design review.

It is a destruction of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I am opposed to this project which is falsely billed as modernization of the East Wing. There is a process in place for any changes to the White House and every other historic building. The process was not followed, the National Historic Register was not consulted, there was no archiving of the hundreds of historic artifacts in the East Wing prior to its complete demolition! I demand that any further work be stopped immediately and all funding be rescinded pending a full investigation.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant ,whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States. The destruction of this property should be seen as a crime and the person committing it should be convicted and imprisoned.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the spending of any amount, whether the sum is $300 million or more (from any sources) on this so-called “modernization” project, which was initiated without proper authorization, design review, or permits. The current Whitehouse occupant illegally demolished a wing of the people's house and treated our public property as though it were his personal private property. Even projects proposed for private property require planning review prior to the issuance of demolition and building permits.

Is there an itemized inventory of what was inside the demolished structure? Was a photographic record of the structure and its contents created prior to wrecking the building? Have any of the historic materials, including fixtures, tiles, stone, furniture, windows, doors, flooring, paneling, etc., been preserved?

This is not a modernization project. The term “modernization" suggests simply updating an existing building to bring the structure up to current building codes or to install new carpeting and drapery, apply new paint, and perhaps install new plumbing and electrical components. What has taken place instead is a brutal razing of American history. A public building has been demolished without review or permits.

This so-called “modernization” project must be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design with the full expense of restoration paid by those who illegally destroyed the historic structure. No one is above the law and to allow this project to continue forward without penalizing those who broke the law would be an insult to all law-abidingAmericans and to the history of our nation.

I write today to strongly object to the East Wing ModernizationProject which, undertaken without prior authorization or approval, has already led to the partial demolition of one of the most recognizable buildings in the world. From its earliest days, Washington DC was scrupulously designed to project not only a sense of awe, but also a sense of grace, beauty, and symmetry. To destroy the symmetry and grace of the White House, the PEOPLE'S house, to satisfy the whims of a single individual using funds donated by would-be oligarchs eager to curry favor and consolidate power, is not only an aesthetic travesty, but a betrayal of the foundational principles of our country. I urge not only a halt to the project, but a restoration of the wing which was demolished in a monumental, unparalleled act of vandalism. Thank you for this opportunity to comment.

Hello, I am writing in opposition to the Trump ballroom project and the fact that the historical East Wing was destroyed without any opportunity for public comment and public input into any alternative. If I understand correctly, there is some type of organization in charge of our national heritage in these matters, and they were not consulted, and did not consent. The East Wing as it previously stood was part of our national heritage and national history. I think it is important to preserve the history of the White House as this reflects our history as a nation. I believe the original East Wing should be restored. I am also concerned about the financial resources for the project. This is public property and a public treasure, and I am concerned that private donors for the ballroom project would be either directly or indirectly seeking political favor for their significant financial contribution. These type of matters need to be handled properly to assure no impropriety or even the appearance of impropriety.

I myself have visited the White House. It was many years ago, when I was a student attending a university in Washington D.C. I was moved by the history and significance of all that I saw, and I felt this was a living museum, blessed by the weight of history and the import of the decisions of the Presidents who lived there, and the events which took place there. This building, including the wings, should continue to be, for all of the people of the United States, and any changes should be properly vetted and agreed upon. Any one president is a temporary visitor, the White House belongs to the generations of Americans.

Demolition should never have been started until the entire project had been approved. And no way should this project have been approved without sign off of all pertinent parties. If this is allowed to proceed, anything from now on will be subject to the corrupt whim of the President. We can then write off this brief 250-year attempt at American democracy as a good try, but there will be no second chance. Regarding the East Wing Modernization Project
Comment from Sue Ellen Tuttle - [redacted]

I'm strongly concerned that the project 8733 as presented at Jan 8 meeting of National Capital Planning Commission (1) physically overwhelms the White House (and I already thought this before I heard comments in this meeting) and (2) fails to provide ADA accessibility in a meaningful, equitable way.

I am also concerned that there is an overall plan that includes additional projects (West Wing and others on the campus) but the Commission (and public) are being provided information on a piecemeal basis instead of the framework of the overall plan. Starting with the big picture would be much better.

I feel strongly that this project should be halted and the East Wing returned to as close to original as possible. Not only is it far beyond what President Trump originally told Americans it was going to be in both size and cost; It seems to be a lot more than a modernization of the East Wing. It is my understanding this proposed project was not done according to legal requirements, as so many things in the Trump administration seem to be done. Proceeding with a project of such magnitude that has not met legal parameters sets a dangerous precedent. Laws seem to have no meaning to this administration. It also feels like an insult to the American people and an unnecessary extravagance for someone who seemingly has no sense of what the average person in our country lives like.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The East Wing project was launched unlawfully without the necessary approvals, permits, or design oversight. This is not a modernization effort—it amounts to erasing a significant piece of American heritage. I call for the project to be halted and for the East Wing to be reconstructed and restored to its original design. Allowing this effort to continue without holding those responsible accountable would be an insult to every law-abiding American. This is not how we do things.

I am both angry and heartbroken over this project! I feel like it was a desecration of the beautiful White House.
Transparency, obviously was not very forthcoming from this president, many of us woke up to find it was already being destroyed,as I'm sure millions of Americans did.

We heard him talking about the big beautiful ballroom, and the next thing we know it's all being torn down. No rolling out the plans, no heads up, no what do we think about this?? Nothing just rip it down.
That is the American people's house, not his, we pay his wages, we pay to keep that house looking the way it looks. And now we're being forced to pay for a ballroom we knew nothing about, and probably most of us didn't want.
Heartbroken only word that I can come up with. Besides the fact that I shake my head at what he has done.
And as long as I'm on a roll, let's talk about the rose garden. Sickening.

I think it's a terrible project! The removal of the East Wing without any advice from any Architect, demolition expert or even advice from the governmental agency in charge of our valuable buildings is completely wrong!
Was there lead testing? Were lead abatement procedures followed? Were people working in the building exposed to toxic products?
In my opinion this project needs to be halted immediately and rebuilt in the original way.
Thanks for giving me an opportunity to comment on this important issue.

I oppose the building of a "ballroom" at the expense of the east Wing of White House. Spending $300 million on this project, donated by billionaires is simply another vanity project for trump and which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Not one of us could begin a project of this magnitude without permits and authority by a temporary resident.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history and one of our historic buildings. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. I oppose the wasteful spending of $300 million on this project. It was not authorized, didn't have permits or any input on design. It is the people's house, not a personal property for the current or any president. It was done for the ego of one person and has severely damaged the history of OUR White House. This project needs to be canceled and the structure restored. We have protocols for a reason and NO ONE has the right or authority to single-handedly rip up monuments at will. The people responsible for this destruction should be held accountable both monetarily and lawfully.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

Having taught American History for almost 40 years and having had the honor of decorating the White House for the holidays in 2015, I revere the Executive Mansion and the architectural balance and symmetry it exhibits. That included the East Wing which was demolished in 2025.
I have followed closely the proposed replacement for the demolished wing and the creation of what is termed a ballroom but more closely resembles a convention center. I am adamantly opposed to this plan. The beauty of the White House will not only be eclipsed by the new construction, it will be hidden from view from certain vantage points.
Please do not approve this proposal. Rebuild the East Wing as it was.

The destruction of the East Wing of the People's House is an affront—to history, to aesthetics, to ethics, to law, to fiduciary responsibility, and to common sense. No temporary occupant has the right to make unilateral decisions about such a space. This is hallowed ground. At the very least, it warrants review and process—not bulldozers in the night. The "modernization" plans should be scrapped, the ballroom and reception rooms restored. Restoration, not renovation.

Calling the demolition of the people's house a modernization project is like calling for the Statue of Liberty to be put in a mini skirt and high heels. This abomination is not modernization , it's an ugly erasure of American history and complete disrespect to this nations people who cherish the real history of this nation. Nothing about this atrocity is respectful or proper. No permissions no permits, no following the rules. If my house is on the national historic registry, I have to have permission to change the paint color, this awful man has destroyed an American treasure that WAS NOT HIS to destroy. When I heard that I could comment in the ballroom being built in the White House grounds, I realized that I needed to comment. But it took me awhile to find the right place and then to find the appropriate project to comment on. What is being called the East Wing Modernization Project should be called what it is being called by the President - "The Ballroom the likes of which no one has ever seen".

This project is an affront to everything I've been raised to value about being an American. I value our heritage with all its glory and its dark periods. As a military brat, the current project clearly is being undertaken without proper planning, authorizations, permits, or design review. This project should be canceled. The East Wing rebuild and restored.

It is just awful what is being done to American institutions and the historic White House grounds. It is a shame that MY tax dollars are paying for this. It is almost worse that private funds are being used to partially fund the project and that these funds BUY access to the occupant of the White House. Our democracy should not be for sale.

I am a law-abiding American…the President and his administration should follow the law too. This project is a disgrace and shameful beyond words.

Cancel this colossus abomination.

I cannot understand how the east wing of the White House was torn down without any process or review. To see it, flattened without explanation and without any legal ability to stop it from happening without proper oversight, is in my opinion, a stunning tragedy.

Where are all the historical objects, documents, photos, and artwork? Are they being stored someplace? Were they just thrown out with the trash? Please do everything in your power to hold this administration to account.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I am in agreement with the spending of $300 million on this project, it will provide a secure, safe and beautiful gathering place for attendees. We have needed a larger venue in which to host formal events including state dinners. A place that is not only functional but one that can provide security for all. I see it as a lovely addition to our beautiful White House.

I object to the scale of the proposed East Wing, especially as it was originated without the proper design and heritage review!! The latest iterations of the plans show an addition that completely dwarfs the original building and is so disproportionate and UGLY that it would bring shame to all Americans. These plans MUST be amended to ensure that the architectural integrity of the original design of the White House is balanced (at least from the front or facade view of the entire building). It is absolutely imperative that the design and improvements be fully vetted by architects sensitive to the historical legacy of the White House, along with experts who can ensure that security features and public access and accommodations will be fully reviewed and considered.
Thank you.

I am a 65 year old U.S. citizen who grew up thinking that The White House was a living historical museum. I was confused and horrified when I saw the bulldozers ripping off the East wing. I had thought there were tight controls on this museum of our history. For one person to take control and raze a part of our history shocked me. I think he should be held accountable and restitution to the building should be made. If the President needs a ballroom it does not need to be attached to the White House and could be built elsewhere. The ongoing, unauthorized gaudy accoutrements he continues to add to our White House is cheapening it and I am anxious for someone with historical taste to once again be in charge.

The White House is the people’s house. Any sitting president is merely the steward and should not be making unilateral decisions to destroy history. This is absolutely shameful. The money being used for this project can go so far in helping fight hunger, homelessness, and many other urgent issues that we have in this country. I implore the powers that be to stop this insanity.

This is an historical building that 47 has given no respect, unsurprisingly. Nothing should be done without approval by the correct committees/Congress/The People.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Hello commissioners,

After lying that his pet project would not touch the East Wing, the president razed this historic building without seeking review or permission from anyone.
The president resides in the White House, the people's house, as a guest. He is its temporary steward, not an emperor or king who can act on any gold-plated whim.
My family toured the East Wing in the late 1990s, taking with us a foreign-exchange high school student from France. I along with most Americans were truly shocked and saddened to see it demolished.
I urge you to block all work on this ballroom, which is to be paid for with $300 million in bribes to this corrupt president.
Please require that the East Wing be rebuilt.
The gilded-ballroom scam belongs in the dustbin of history. It can't possibly be viewed as an East Wing 'modernization' project.

Sincerely,
Elisabeth Hoffman

The White House belongs to the American people, not to the president. Trump had no authority to order the East Wing to be demolished. He should be required to fund its restoration personally and to account for all objects and materials from the original.

The sudden destruction of the beautiful East Wing of the White House without prior authorization from those who are responsible for such decisions has been a shocking affront to the owners of that historical house—all American citizens.
This destruction has been not only reckless and wasteful, but those responsible for it assume, apparently, that taxpayers are okay with spending the millions of dollars necessary for replacing it with a huge (and probably gaudy) ballroom.
Although the Trump administration claims that all monies for the ballroom will come from private donors, I am concerned about what those obviously wealthy private donors will expect in return for their contributions. The general public will most certainly pay a price.
This Trump ballroom smacks of wealthy elitism and conspicuous consumption. That is not what our White House is all about. This project should not go forward. The East Wing should be reconstructed, and those responsible for its unlawful destruction should foot the bill—not American taxpayers.

The proposed "ballroom" is an atrocity and should not proceed. The subsurface shelter can be updated without this monstrosity above it. Rebuild the East Wing in proportion to the rest of the structure and in the same style. I can imagine nothing less compatible with American ideals than the proposed memorial to one man's inflated ego. If a larger meeting space is needed, there is ample room on the grounds to build something appropriate, following the established process and guidelines.

The White House is not merely a functional government building; it is a living symbol of American democracy and continuity. Major structural changes to such a landmark should undergo rigorous constitutional, legal, architectural, and public scrutiny. Circumventing established processes, including congressional oversight, National Historic Preservation Act review, and consultation with preservation authorities, undermines the rule of law and sets a dangerous precedent for future administrations.

Beyond the procedural concerns, this project raises serious fiscal questions. At a time when Americans face economic pressures, rising national debt, and urgent infrastructure needs across the country, allocating $300 million to a ceremonial ballroom expansion is fiscally irresponsible. Public funds should prioritize national security, veterans' services, disaster preparedness, border security, and critical domestic infrastructure before funding luxury event spaces.

There are also national security and operational risks to consider. Major structural changes to the White House complex require careful integration with existing security systems, blast mitigation standards, and emergency protocols. Rushing or bypassing established review channels could create vulnerabilities in one of the most sensitive facilities in the world.

Additionally, the architectural integrity of the White House must be preserved. The East Wing and surrounding structures reflect decades of carefully balanced historic design. A large-scale addition risks permanently altering sightlines, landscaping, and the historic character of the grounds. Once altered, these changes cannot simply be undone. Preservation of American heritage demands restraint, not expansion.

There is also the issue of precedent. If one administration can unilaterally initiate sweeping structural changes without proper review, what prevents future administrations from reshaping historic federal landmarks according to political or personal preferences? Institutional guardrails exist for a reason - to protect national symbols from short-term decision-making.

For these reasons, I call for the immediate cancellation of this project. Any work already initiated should be halted pending full legal review. The East Wing should be restored and preserved in accordance with its historic design and applicable preservation laws. No individual or administration is above the law, and allowing this project to proceed without accountability would erode public trust and diminish respect for our constitutional processes.

Our national landmarks belong to the American people - past, present, and future - and they deserve protection grounded in transparency, legality, fiscal responsibility, and respect for history.

I lived in the DC area for many years. During that time, I visited the White House many times to see this beautiful building where Presidents have lived since John Adams. Yes, there have been renovations to the building, but never the destruction such as the East Wing by the current president. This is a travesty for a the history that has taken place in the East Wing since it was built. Supposedly many of the current president's friends are paying for this after he had it bulldozed without proper authorization. He wants this ballroom to look like another tacky room such as those at some of his other properties. This should be stopped and the current president should have to pay to have it restored. I do hope your committee will take this into consideration .

The White House, the People's House, does not need a ballroom. It is neither a hotel nor a convention center; DC has plenty of those.

There is public space available nearby (at the Commerce Building) and the central space at the National Building Museum is huge. Union Station has a lovely and large space. The White House, the People's House, is not a Palace. It was deliberately designed and built with modest dimensions and restrained aesthetics. Visitors to DC are often surprised at how small it is.

The original Georgian style of the White House is intentionally symmetrical. A new East Wing should be constructed to replace the East Wing that was demolished. It should be similar in size, shape, and placement to the West Wing, to maintain the symmetry of the entire structure. It should not occupy a larger footprint nor should it exceed the previous East Wing in height or other dimensions. If it is determined that the East Wing should house a ballroom, so be it--but it should be made to fit into the original footprint and design.

The occupant of The White House is not a King; he works for us and lives there as our temporary guest. He should not be able to rebuild it to his own tastes, no matter who is paying for it. The occupant of the White House should not be allowed to trash the People‘s House by plastering it with fake gold and gimcrackery of all kinds. The current occupant should be required to remove everything he has added all at his own expense.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Please do everything allowed by law to stop or delay Trump's vanity project at the White House until the present administration is forced to abide by public process and appropriate agency oversight, review and collaboration. The illegal East Wing demolition shows a blatant disrespect for the government itself and its existing protocols.

There are so few examples of accountability for this rogue regime to the principles of public service, separation of powers, and constitutional law. Let this project be one of the few examples where a democratic government and its damaged institutions can still hold in check the unbounded hunger for power of a would-be autocrat.

The White House belongs to the people of the United States, not any of its temporary residents put there by the voters.

I was appalled at the reckless, impulsive destruction of the East Wing. The failure to submit this change for review and approval through established channels and to arbitrarily decide to build a ballroom in its place is absolutely inexcusable. The expenditure of $300 million dollars to complete construction is excessive and the funding by wealthy corporations and individuals implies the expectation of future favorable treatment to the donors. Nothing about this project is good. My wish is to have the East Wing rebuilt, to appear as closely as it appeared prior to the destruction and thus restore the design and integrity of the people's house. In a perfect world, this would be entirely funded by he who destroyed it without authorization.

I oppose this project and the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars (whatever their source) on the construction of a ballroom that will dwarf the White House in height and scale. I am outraged that the historic East Wing was destroyed without reference to any historic preservation standards or ordinances and would like to see it restored as closely as possible to its most recent form.
I gather that the WH needs a larger facility for large state occasions and believe that plans for an appropriately-scaled structure should pass through regular channels for approval--channels that include politically-neutral experts in architectural history and the history of the WH complex.
I am not an American historian (my field is European history), but as a champion of preservation and appropriate review of changes to historic landmarks, I was devastated by the lawless and rapid destruction of a building that has witnessed so much of our nation's twentieth-century history. Modernize the interior spaces, sure, but do not allow the current president to erect a garish monument that would dwarf the White House itself without serious review and the imposition of tasteful, historically appropriate, constraints on its scope and scale.
Sincerely,
Ellen E Joyce, PhD

The East Wing of the White House was illegally torn down without the approval of the appropriate agencies. A ballroom would desecrate the space, be completely out of character with the stateliness of the White House and would be a monument only to this corrupt administration and those who support it. Additionally, it would not be a place for the people as the White House was intended to be but would be only for those who are wealthy enough to curry favor with our hypocritical politicians who care only about themselves and maintaining their own power rather than the good of the American people. I venomously oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was started without the proper authorization, permits, or a design review. It is not an updating project but rather a complete demolition of American history. I want this project stopped and canceled immediately, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding citizens.

Please stop this. Trump destroyed and demolished without using any of the proper channels. The American people want healthcare, safe schools, environmental protections and Trump to stop doing whatever he wants without proper authorization. This East Wing was not his to destroy. This should have been properly restored and persevered if that was his desire. I hope this can be stopped. This is the People's House not Trumps mega billion ballroom with bunker.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

This building belongs to the PEOPLE of the United States and is on loan to the individual selected as president for the duration of their tenure. It is not the president's house - it is the United States' house. No proper building permits were filed prior to this destruction. Demolition of the East Wing happened without permission, without permits, and without any consideration for what the American people wanted, nor the history behind this iconic building.

After-the-fact denial of this project doesn't really help a whole lot, given that the American taxpayers will be paying to clean up this mess created by Donald Trump. Whatever moneys he managed to fundraise for this project should be used to clean it all up and put it back together the way it used to be. Thank you for your consideration.

Destroying the East Wing of the White House should never have happened without the proper input from the American people, permitting and authority. The White House is the PEOPLE'S HOUSE — NOT the property of the temporary occupants. I oppose spending of $300 million taxpayer dollars without recovering it from whoever broke the law to tear it down in the first place. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design and historical accuracy so that we can have continuity of history. To do otherwise would be a stain on the American story. There should be proper and strong accountability from those that tore the place down in the first place

To Whom It May Concern,

I oppose this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Furthermore, the private funding of this project raises concerns about corruption and special treatment that the donors will undoubtedly wield over the occupants of the White House. We have already seen that favors can be bought with this administration and is the case of the jet from Qatar and the new military base given to that country on American soil.

This ball room is a bribe and must be stopped.

With all seriousness,
Dr. Nicole Stanclift

This is not a modernization project. It is an erasure of history. It’s shameful and a real affront to the American public.

A total waste of money. It's been torn down already (who approved that?) so we do need to put something there. But a ballroom? Who needs that? It's anachronistic and sends a horrible message. What about a greenhouse and botanical garden? Grow flowers, fruits and vegetables and give tours. We could have areas that represent the flora and fauna of every state. Maybe something along the lines of the California Conservatory of flowers at Golden Gate Park. This would be especially fitting after the destruction of the Rose Garden.

I was distressed when the West Wing of the White House was torn down without proper paperwork and approval granted. We have lost more than a wing of the White House; we have lost the history of the structure and the loss of the respect for American History.

I do not want the Trump Ballroom, it does not belong on the White House property as it is a Trump structure not an American property!!

Hello,

The proposed ballroom for the White House is completely out of scale to the existing building, and would not be an appropriate addition to this historic structure. In my opinion, it would be a complete eyesore because it would overshadow the existing White House. The symmetrical East and West Wings were/are extremely functional, as well as pleasing to the eye.

Additionally, I am vehemently opposed to the idea of tearing down our national structures on the whim of one person, and without the proper input of the national historical people's involvement.

And how necessary is a ballroom anyway? We've managed to entertain people from across America and across the globe in the existing structure. I think the East Wing should be replicated and rebuilt (with the necessary updates to building codes as required by law). But no further or larger construction should be made to the White House structure.

Thank you,
Sue Hohler

First of all to call this debacle the East Wing Modernization Project is an attempt to mislead the American People. This is an ill conceived project which includes the total demolition of the historic East Wing without requesting or receiving the proper authorizations. Additionally it was estimated at $400M and now is estimated at $300M. In any event this is an unwarranted and unnecessary expense when this administration has embarked on a total annihilation of our federal government without the usual efficiency studies supposedly to save the A.erican taxpayers huge sums of money. This maiming and defacing of the People's House (the White House) must stop. Any further money spent must be used to totally restore the East Wing to its former historic glory and the miscreants must be brought to justice for scaring our People's House. Please do not approve this project as it is currently proposed. We are counting on you to do the right thing by restoring the East Wing and preserving our history for us and future generations. Thank you.

An abuse of power and unnecessary project for Trump to boast in his position of power.

Where are the checks and balances to stop the demolition of an historical government building. The East Wing should have never been demolished and whatever is built in its place should be regulated and to preserve the integrity of the White House campus. The next leader of the free world likely doesn't want an elitist party room covered in gold.

The renderings submitted depict a structure that is completely out of proportion with the White House.

Additionally, the National Park Guidelines were developed to be followed - so structures would be built with consistent parameters - and the designers of the ballroom did not adhere to the guidelines. They should be required to submit new designs that follow the guidelines. Lastly, the demolition of the East Wing took place without congressional approval. That is unacceptable.

I live in a community with an HOA. The HOA has certain guidelines that I must follow - and I knew that when I moved into the community. If I were to thumb my nose at building guidelines, landscape faux pas, or encroach upon my neighbor's setbacks, I would be going against the HOA policies, and I would incur fines. Why should our President not adhere to the guidelines set forth by the NPS?

Why do rules not apply to him, yet they apply to me?

Thank you for your time and consideration.

I completely oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300 Million dollar project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I am opposed to the "East Wing Modernization Project" The White House belongs to the people and what makes it great is that, while it is a very nice house, it is, when it comes down to it, a relatively plain house. The President lives there. The President is "first among equals" in a nation where even the President is not above the law, but is rather a citizen, elected by the citizens in order to carry out the wishes of the constituents. No! I wholly and completely reject the project of a $300 million ballroom. This is the people's house, not Mr Trump's. The old east wing needs to be rebuilt to historical standards. No to a palace for more grift and scandal.

Very sad to see Trump bulldoze the East Wing with out permission or any thought of preservation. We do not need to spend tax payer money to build the monstrocity perprosed by Trump. I think he should pay to replace what he destroyed in his temper tantrum.

At this point what options are most needed, office spaces, not ball rooms.

Greetings,

Donald Trump's destruction of the East Wing looked like the aftermath of a terrorist attack, because that's what it was. How disgusting that Donald Trump was able to do what the 9-11 hijackers wanted to do, but couldn't accomplish- the destruction of our White House.

His reckless destruction of one of our enduring national symbols was both enraging and heartbreaking. There are certain parts of our nation which belong to all Americans, and are symbolic of our commitment to democracy and to the rule of law under the Constitution. The White House is one of those things. Donald Trump has defiled the people's house in unspeakable ways, both figuratively, and now literally.

I demand that every legal means be brought to bear to not only stop the grotesque, self-aggrandizing abomination of his "ballroom" from being constructed; but also that the East Wing be re-built in its entirety, down to the inch, to the way it stood before the impulsive destruction of Donald Trump.

Thank you.

I strongly oppose the $300 million being spent on this project at a time when there are far more urgent national priorities and critical infrastructure needs demanding attention. Roads, bridges, public safety systems, disaster resilience, and community investments across this country require funding. Choosing to allocate this level of taxpayer money to this effort reflects misplaced priorities.

This building does not belong to any single individual or administration — it belongs to the American people. It is part of our shared national heritage. Decisions of this magnitude must reflect stewardship, transparency, and respect for the public trust.

There are established legal processes, permitting requirements, and design review standards specifically created to protect our national buildings and historic assets. Those safeguards exist for a reason. They were not properly followed here. Ignoring these procedures undermines accountability and weakens the very systems designed to preserve and protect public property.

No one is above the law. Allowing this project to proceed without consequence for bypassing required authorization and review would set a dangerous precedent. I call for the immediate cancellation of this project and for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored in accordance with its former design — through lawful, transparent, and properly reviewed processes.

Public resources deserve public accountability.

Please prevent more destruction of the East Wing of the Whitehouse and restore it to the important and historic residence it is. This is the people's house, our house.
I toured the East Wing with my adult daughter 2021 and it was a wonderful experience. You can feel the intelligent influence of the First Ladies and their staff at work. The history displayed is thoughtful in its layout, and wonderful to witness. The tour was an experience I won't forget .
I was sickened by the thoughtless and violent destruction of the East Wing and its history. Please restore it for future generations.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

By no means should the party who unlawfully destroyed the East Wing have any role in its reconstruction except for paying for it from personal finds.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

It is of absolute necessity that the East wing project not be allowed to proceed as planned. It is a grotesquely oversized proposal which totally disregards the vernacular of the site and the elevations of the existing White House.

If it is critical to the nation's interest to have a ballroom addition, it must be drastically reconsidered and re-drawn so that it fits the scale and historic context of the site.

If allowed to go forward in it's current buffoonish scale, it will only end up being torn down in short order when a new administration with a far more respectful sense of aesthetics comes to Washington.

I am outraged by the reckless decision to spend $300 million on this project, especially considering it was started without any proper authorization, permits, or thorough design review. This is not a mere modernization; it’s a blatant destruction of our American history, a sacrilege that cannot be tolerated. There are important and valid reasons there is a review process and one of those is protecting the public trust. The historical preservation and responsible design and execution of any proposed changes to the White House, "the People's House," falls under this umbrella as an important symbol of the American Experiment. I demand this project be canceled immediately, and the East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its original, historic design. No one should be above the law, and allowing this lawless act to proceed without consequences is an insult to every law-abiding American.

I am personally very disturbed by the actions being taken by President Donald Trump to change the White House, the People's house of the United States, into a different building. A project of this size requires input, review, authorization, and approval at several levels before it can be started. What I just said is a matter of the law of the United States, and not just my opinion. It is clear that Mr. Trump has quietly made plans for this, and then rushed the project to a point where it cannot be undone. This was not an accident, but rather a plan to make his will come to pass rather than following the law.
It is my strong recommendation and appeal that the project be stopped at this point and submitted to the proper steps. I realized that the East wing has been destroyed. But what takes its place should be decided properly, rather than have a gilded ballroom designed to entertain wealthy people and foreign governments who capitulate to Mr. Trump's whims.
Thank you.

This project was begun without any of the standard protocols for an historic building renovation. It wasn't being renovated, it was RAZED. To move forward with this 300 million dollar expenditure is an affront to the American public (as it could easily be spent elsewhere) and sets a dangerous precedent for disregarding the rules, protocols and regulations required for maintaining an historic building.
As a historian, I am stunned that this has progressed thus far and the damage is immense. I want this project cancelled and the East Wing of the House (The PEOPLE's House) to be restored.

Commission Members:

I oppose the spending of $300 million on the East Wing Modernization Project. This Project was launched without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. There has been no accounting or review of what was on the inside that was razed. I absolutely protest and oppose the spending even ONE SINGLE DOLLAR ($1) on this 'East Wing Modernization Project'. It is a PAY TO PLAY TRUMP PET PROJECT. This project has not been authorized, budgeted, permitted or approved by any recognized democratic process. This new-build project must be canceled, and all funds submitted by (drooling-in-anticipation-of government cooperation for donor's benefit) corporate sponsors applied to the rebuilding/restoration of the East Wing to its former historical design. Any other funding needed for the restoration should be paid for by Trump personally.
Also, all who participated in any way with the destruction of this historical building shall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I submit this comment in strong opposition to the expenditure of $300 million on the destruction and replacement of the East Wing of the White House. This project was initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or the transparent design review process that federal law and long-standing preservation standards demand.

This is not a modernization effort. It is the complete razing of a historic structure that forms part of the architectural and civic heritage of the United States. The East Wing is not merely functional office space; it is an integral component of a nationally significant historic complex that symbolizes continuity of government and respect for institutional history. Demolition under the guise of improvement undermines the preservation principles that federal agencies routinely require of states, municipalities, and private citizens.

Allowing this project to proceed despite procedural violations would set a dangerous precedent. Federal planning and preservation laws exist to ensure accountability, public participation, and careful stewardship of shared national assets. When those entrusted with public authority bypass these requirements, the appropriate response is enforcement—not retroactive approval.

I urge the Commission to cancel this project immediately and require that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored to its former design, consistent with historic preservation standards and lawful review procedures. No individual or office is above the law, and permitting this project to continue without consequence would be an affront to the rule of law and to all Americans who are expected to comply with it.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide public comment and for your responsibility in safeguarding the nation's capital and its historic character.

I am vehemently opposed to the destruction of the entire east wing of our White House. One would think that the President of the United States would know better than to destroy a piece of history, especially when he DOES NOT OWN IT. He does not have the wherewithal to realize that it would be illegal to do this. He does not care, so he proceeded to bulldoze this part of the people's house. It needs to be replaced immediately and it needs to be restored exactly like it was before it was torn down. And the cost of this restoration project needs to be taken right out of the presidents pocket.

First of all, it is a travesty that the East Wing of the White House was destroyed.
Secondly, it is a piece of USA's history and a place for our First Ladies to meet and utilize.
Thirdly, it has NOT gone through the normal processes of authorizartion, permits or design review.
It should be rebuilt as it was originally before it was razed.
I vehemently oppose to the spending of $300 million on the giant ballroom project.
Listen to the National Trust for Historic Preservation and stop this ballroom project now. It needs to be rebuilt as it was.

I vehemently oppose any spending for this project. This is not a modernization it is vanity. This project did not receive the approvals or authorizations that are required and as such everything that has been done to date was illegal. I want the East Wing restored to its original state and I want everyone involved in its demolition held accountable for those unlawful decisions and following illegal instructions. As a law abiding, tax-paying citizen of the U.S., this is an affront to all that we represent. This is the people's house and the people have spoken loudly on how we feel about these horrific actions.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this 'modernization.' The historic East Wing has been bulldozed without the typical authorization, permits, or design review required for any public project using public monies. There was no justification for bulldozing the People's House without due process. This is another of the President's glitzy vanity projects. I hope that this ill-conceived project is halted and the East Wing rebuilt and restored.

I am strongly opposed to the plans for the East Wing renovation/ ballroom project as communicated by the current President.. It should be rebuilt and restored to a state that reflects it's previous appearance & function. The White House is the people's house and so should not be subject to the design and destructive whims of an occupant without going through appropriate approval and funding processes. The destruction of this historic structure was accomplished under the cover of darkness with no required steps taken for review, approvals & funding. Those responsible for this disrespectful destruction of The People's House should be held accountable and this part of our history restored to its original state at the time it was destroyed. There is no need for a garantula sized ballroom. There is a perfectly beautiful and useable ballroom within DC should one be needed. Also private donors carrying favors are not appropriate. The funding process should be transparent and under the management and control of an independent organization. Thank you the opportunity to share the perspective of a concerned citizen.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which never went through the proper authorization, permits or design review processes. It is a complete razing of the most important historical living artifact of our country. It does not belong to the current occupant, it is the People's House and is to be used by the current elected President and his family during his term of office. I want this project cancelled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. If allowed to continue wrecking this building to glorify himself is allowed, it is an affront to all Americans, past, present and future and a desecration of our country. Anything constructed on this demolition site must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. All of the paneling, tilework, fixtures and molding along with everything else must be located and replaced. Where did all the china cabinets, dozens of sets of state dishes, etc... disappear to? That needs to be investigated and any nefarious actions to the people's property must be prosecuted as well. Thank you for allowing we, the people of the United States to have our say on this critical project.

And I would add, having had the privilege of being a long-term student in France, the rest of the world rarely intentionally obliterates buildings so fundamental and intertwined with its legacy and history in this fashion, nor does the majority of this country. They modernize the interior and update the structure in conjunction with safety/current building codes and IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE DESIGN ESTHETICS OF THE ERA IN WHICH THE BUILDING WAS DESIGNED AND BUILT!!!! The man that has initiated and inflicted this anathema on A BUILDING THAT HE DOES NOT OWN had no right to take this action in the first place and should not be allowed to continue this process nor be mollified by being allowed any further participation in this process. I would hope that you prosecute him, but we've seen how little regard and respect he, and the people around him, have for law or for following it.

Thank you for the opportunity to speak my mind. Regards, Kim Van Allsburg, Bothell, WA.

Aloha,
I oppose the spending of $300 million on this crazy project. The American public does not need a ballroom that they will never get to enjoy. The East Wing was the "People's House." Enjoyed visiting there, especially during Christmas time, and it should not have been destroyed. This project was initiated without proper authorization, permits or design review. It is not a modernization project; it was the complete razing of American history. I want this project cancelled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The East Wing of the White House should have never been destroyed. It belonged to the entire country. It is the people's house and no one person had the right to do with it whatever they wanted. Do not build a ballroom. Rebuild the East Wing. Include a multi-purpose center/ballroom in proportion to the rest of the White House if qualified people's representatives decide it's really needed. There should also be an accounting for the historical artifacts that were in the East Wing before it was demolished. Please do not allow the proposed ballroom to go forward. Please take time for the best plans that these buildings and the American people deserve.

The East Wing did not need to be modernized and it certainly didn't need to be torn down without permissions, proper permits, etc. It is a violation of the trust we the people are supposed to have in our elected officials...to follow proper procedure. I am opposed to a ballroom. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to it's original form, and DJT needs to pay for it out of his own pocket. The economy is bad for regular people and he wants to spend MILLIONS on this little glamor project? Shame on him and shame on the people who are just doing his bidding.

The White House is the People's House—the president resides there by grace of national election, held every four years. The president is a temporary tenant in our house, which is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; as a temporary tenant, the president's actions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

One of the most American things about our nation's capital is its scale and light. Each monument around the National Mall and nearby reflects the dead person it honors at a scale that fits with the whole. Not necessarily humble but sufficiently remarkable to cause quiet awe. The White House causes pride because of its beauty and place withn the whole. The vistas from it and of it are unobstructed and an American can stand awestruck on the Mall, grateful that we do not need a Versailles or Arc de Triomphe to honor our heroes or leaders. This new building is a silly thing that no one needs at this self-glorifying scale.

The White House is OUR house. The President is allowed to live there, but its OURS.
Stop this project until it is approved by the appropriate people. Forty-six presidents have not needed a ballroom or a gigantic bunker. And if we do need a ball room. - it does NOT need to be attached to the White House!

The White House does not belong to 47. It belongs to We The People of the US. I know he is thinking of staying forever. We are not having that!
He acted without seeking approvals, and is using it to get bribes from his big private contributors. 47 really can't be trusted. He is trying to tie it to the "hidden" Situation room, that renovations have to be completed, because it is a "matter if National Security".
Please do not approve the Ballroom! It makes me gag just to think of it and all it stands for. Please require him to pay for restoration.

I have lived in the United States my whole life. Here I was born and raised. For the first time in all my decades in this country, I was able to visit the White House in person on a trip to DC a few years ago. I was in awe, amazed, and so grateful for the opportunity. I feel so deeply saddened now, knowing that this temporary resident in our nations/my nation's capital is treating it with disrespect and complete disregard for what all of the owners, who are we the people, want for it and our nation. I am so tired of watching this one man trying to put his name on everything, to acquire everything for himself, and to tear things down and build monuments to himself. It is disgraceful and embarrassing. The greedy narcissism needs to be reined in by those who represent the people and have the voice and the power to do so. I implore those in a position to do so to make it stop as quickly as possible. \u-10179 ?\u-8625 ?\u-10180 ?\u-8196 ? Please! Please stand up for what is right. Hello, I am writing to state my complete opposition to this awful (and unlawful) "project" which is designed to benefit a few privileged folks at the expense of the historical part of the "people's house" that was illegally razed. I will borrow the words of another commenter as they reflect my opinions eloquently:

The proper process for a building project of this magnitude was not followed. The East Wing was precipitously torn down before the process had even begun. The private donations to fund it are opaque and smell of impropriety. I am against the building of the oversize ballroom which will dwarf the White House, and I am angry that the president treats the White House as his own, rather than belonging to the citizens of the United States.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you for your time.

Please, PLEASE stop the building of the ballroom!! This project was undertaken without using the proper channels or proper authorization. It should never have been allowed, but of course we have a felon heading our country, who doesn’t care about using proper channels and pushes through things that he wants done without proper authorization. He must be stopped. He must be stopped from making this worse than it already is! The White House belongs to all of us. One man should not be allowed to make unilateral decisions and changes to a building that doesn't belong to him!

I oppose the spending of ANY MONEY on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete DESTRUCTION of American history and The People's House. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt (using the money donated by billionaires for the ballroom) and restored to its former design and structure. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. This president has done so many unconstitutional and illegal things already so prosecuting him for this crime against the American people will have to get in the line. But it will be worth the wait to see justice brought. In the meantime, please make sure that the East Wing is restored to its former beauty and function.
Best regards, Barbara Andree

Public Comment on the Demolition and Proposed East Wing Modernization
Submitted for the Administrative Record

Introduction and Standing

I submit this statement as a citizen of the United States and as a retired federal professional with over three decades of public service experience in federally funded infrastructure, historic preservation, environmental compliance, and statutory oversight. My concern is not partisan. It is procedural, legal, and civic.

The White House complex is a nationally significant historic resource owned by the United States and held in trust for the American people. The demolition of the East Wing warrants careful examination under applicable preservation and environmental law.

I. Statutory Preservation Obligations

National Historic Preservation Act (54 U.S.C. § 306108). Section 106 requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of undertakings on historic properties and afford the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation an opportunity to comment. Implementing regulations (36 C.F.R. Part 800) require identification of historic properties, assessment of adverse effects including demolition, consultation, and mitigation.

National Environmental Policy Act (42 U.S.C. § 4332(2)(C)). NEPA requires preparation of an Environmental Assessment or Environmental Impact Statement for major federal actions significantly affecting the human environment, including cultural and historic resources.

White House Preservation Act (Pub. L. 106 580). This statute reflects congressional intent that the White House be preserved systematically under formal oversight mechanisms. Major federal construction in Washington, D.C. traditionally involves review by the National Capital Planning Commission and the Commission of Fine Arts to ensure architectural integrity and continuity.

II. Character and Cultural Significance

The East Wing historically served as office space for First Ladies, ceremonial and reception functions, and as a public-facing entry for visitors. Its architectural scale reflected dignity and civic symbolism rather than spectacle. Replacing such a structure with a substantially larger entertainment venue would alter institutional character in ways that preservation laws exists to prevent.

III. Stewardship and Constitutional Trust

The White House is federal property. It does not belong to any officeholder. The President is a temporary steward of a permanent national institution. Public stewardship imposes heightened obligations of compliance with preservation and environmental law.

IV. Questions for the Administrative Record

• Was Section 106 consultation completed prior to demolition?
• Was NEPA review conducted and publicly disclosed?
• Was the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation afforded opportunity to comment?
• Was review conducted by the National Capital Planning Commission and Commission of Fine Arts?
• What mitigation measures were implemented to preserve historic materials? If the materials were preserved, where are they?

V. Civic and Moral Considerations

The White House represents democratic continuity and shared national ownership. Alterations or destruction that dramatically change its historic character should be approached with transparency, humility, and fidelity to law.

Conclusion

Federal preservation law ensures that historic resources are not altered without deliberate and transparent consideration. As someone who spent over three decades working within federal systems, I respectfully urge full public disclosure of the legal and procedural steps undertaken in connection with this project. Institutional integrity depends upon adherence to process.

Respectfully submitted,
Steven M. George

I am in opposition to the destruction done to America's beautiful White House.

The destruction of the Rose Garden is horrific, as is the demented razing of the East Wing. This is far beyond restoration or renovation. This is the wanton criminal act of a demented madman who thinks he will be a monarch for life and is determined to build as many tacky, tasteless edifices as a memorial to himself as he can. He must be stopped, now. This will be something that denigrates the building, and diminishes it's historical value.

This is not Mr Trump's home. This is America's home. I don't care how much phony gold gilded baubles he hangs in the Oval Office, that can all be remediated once he's gone. But the willful destruction of the structure itself is horrific. Can the East Wing even be rebuilt?

A ballroom is not needed at this point. It is to impress other oligarchs, not the majority of American people.

Prior residents of the White House seemed to support elegant parties and state dinner in the existing White House. Especially after Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's tasteful renovation.

To willfully destroy an American Landmark used to be a felony. While that doesn't stop this lunatic, and his slimy bottomless pit of lawyers....you must stop him now. Next will be an arch. Where? Will he willfully destroy the Washington, Lincoln, MLK or the Vietnam Memorials? When does it stop?

I think of how excited school children would get, for a class trip to The White House. For his 8th grade class trip, my great grandson's class will be visiting Boston. D.C. is NOW considered unsafe, and we're not talking about the ghetto anymore.

I'm 81, and disabled. But I still march. I believe in our magnificent Constitution, and it is incumbent on all of us to protect everything that makes our democracy workable. I cherish our Federal buildings, and seeing them denigrated is so demoralizing. We have to keep hope alive, and it's things like our wonderful White House that encourage us to keep on believing in America's promise, especially during the dark times.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

To Whom It May Concern,
Pursuant to Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, I submit this statement regarding the proposed construction of a ballroom as part of the White House East Wing Modernization project.
The White House is not merely a functioning government building—it is one of the most significant historic properties in the United States and a symbol of national identity. Historical record demonstrates that nearly every major construction or modification to the White House and its grounds over the past 235 years has involved congressional authorization and formal oversight. Even comparatively modest additions were reviewed and approved through established processes. This longstanding practice reflects an understanding that alterations to the White House demand exceptional restraint, transparency, and adherence to preservation principles.
While the East Wing has been demolished, reconstruction is not synonymous with expansion. There is no demonstrated necessity requiring the addition of a 90,000 square foot ballroom. The proposed scale appears disproportionate to the existing Executive Residence and risks altering the architectural balance and historic character of the White House complex.
Section 106 review is not a procedural formality—it is a safeguard designed to ensure that historic integrity, scale, and character are preserved. A ballroom of significant size would represent a substantive change rather than a sensitive reconstruction, potentially diminishing the historic context of the property.
For these reasons, I respectfully urge decision-makers to carefully evaluate reconstruction within historically consistent dimensions and function.
Sincerely,
A Concerned Citizen

The only way the East Wing should be rebuilt is with the same blueprint as the one that was torn down because of a whim. Whim because it was without forethought, permission, building permits, approved plans, and without funding.
It should NOT be allowed to be built without approvals of the correct commission, engineering specifications, approved plans, funding that is in place, and strict monitoring.
His history of building is to cut corners on safety, defy regulations, & to make a mockery of it all.

The destruction of the East Wing of the people's house without congressional approval, and the people's approval was and is against the law. No permits were filed, no concern about potential hazardous materials that could harm any of the workers. A blatant disregard for environmental preservation and historical preservation was shown. The East Wing needs to be restored to its original state with the entire expense coming directly from the presidents pocket not the tax paying dollars of we the people. The president is at complete fault and in violation of the destruction of the east wing and he should pay from his own pocket to rebuild it to its former glory. The president should also be heavily fined financially for the distruction of the east wing.

Thank you.

This entire thing is a vanity project for a man who attempted to incite a riot and overthrow the transfer of power after losing an election. He did not do any proper permitting or public comment prior to destroying an entire wing of The Peoples' House. This should have nothing done but the restoration of that which he destroyed. There is no world in which that man should be allowed to do a single thing just because he wants to. He is there to serve The People and to be a caretaker not a destroyer. Restore the East Wing. Even if outside money is paying for it, which I highly doubt, the White House is the people's house, any president is just a temporary resident and has no right to decide what to demolish. The east wing should be restored exactly as it was and on President Trump's dime, not taxpayer's.

It is important moving foreword to replace the demolished East Wing, that we the people, have input on the replacement building. The design imagined by the current President seems to meet only a narrow spectrum of possibilities to replace what the East Wing housed. Funding for any replacement by an uncommitted group of private benefactors is NOT IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY NOW OR FOR THE FUTURE. The White House and all its grounds are not the property of rich oligarchs or any political party or this current President. He was totally out of line demolishing the existing structures including the bunker. Exactly how all that happened and was funded MUST BE INVESTIGATED. Erecting a huge ballroom MUST NOT proceed without public comment plus immediate and constant communication with this Committee. I understand that some of it must be confidential if not secret. All the more reason that the current President must not be the driving force directing what will be built. Please take control of this project immediately and use the mandates that you have to block any further demolitions OR remodels this President launches without due process.

It is hard for me to fathom the ludicrousness of allowing this "modernization" to occur. From what I have read the proper steps were not followed. It would seem that we all must jump through the same hoops and no one is above the "law" so to speak. It is a tragedy that needs to be returned to design prior to the destruction of the east wing.

We, as a nation, allow too many historic structures to be destroyed...as they go so goes our history.
Please, please, please so what is right. Surely 300 m could be used in a better way.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose spending 300 million dollars on a project that was not submitted with correct permits or any design in place. It is a project that has destroyed part of our American history. I want the people's house to be restored to its former glory instead of the disgusting pit is currently is as of late today. No one is above our government's law and command. It is a horrible stain on our country the way the White House has been razed. Why would the people of the United States feel obligated to follow the laws anymore if the current administration does not feel the need to at the highest level. Please stop this corrupt project and bring the people's house back to how it should be.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I am vehemently opposed to the current administrations plan to build a large ballroom where the east wing of the white house once stood. It is time to return the east wing to its previous look and function, with increased efficiency and security. It is important that the White House, which represents the United States, be symmetrical and return to its original look. A ballroom detracts from the architectural elegance of the building, makes it appear lopsided and is unnecessary.

Dear Commission Members,
When I saw the rubbled remains of the East Wing of our White House, my heart was broken. My family and I visited the White House 55 years ago on a tour. This has remained in my memory for all these years and I was so sad and so angry to see the destroyed wing and the destruction of our American history. This was done illegally. It was done without permission. It was done without any type of approved plan in place. My understanding is that the White House belongs to the people of the United States and the President is but a temporary tenant and caretaker of this historic property. This is no different than if I had leased a home from a landlord and proceeded to desecrate and destroy said property without approval from the owner of the home. As such, I would be legally liable for damages and required to make restitution to the owner of the property. Please don't let this illegal action go forward without a cease & desist and a plan to rebuild and restore a cherished part of the history of this country.

This is not a political issue. This is a legal and moral issue.

Thank you for your consideration,
Donna Long

Hello
Thank you for this opportunity to comment on this project.
I grew up in the Virginia suburbs and walked, drove by or visited the White House many times. I remember the first time I heard it called The People's House, understanding that we the people oversaw construction of this building and that whoever was elected President was granted temporary residency there for as long as their Presidency lasted. When I visited our House, I was proud and in awe of so much history that resided within the walls.
I don't think I can adequately convey my horror to awaken one morning and find that the current resident had somehow authorized complete destruction of the historic East Wing, seemingly to fulfill a personal whim of a grand ballroom twice the size of the original structure. I understand that the demolition, which occurred apace, may have been undertaken without an oversight review or building/demolition permits. And, what was the fate of all the historic furniture, artwork and mementos that were in the East Wing?
The current Resident has just over 2 years remaining in his second and therefore last term. Drawings I have seen of the proposed project are totally out of character for the our historic structure. I have no problem with upgrades to our House that improve comfort, efficiency and/or utility. I do, however, strongly object to the unpermitted destruction of the previous East Wing and to the proposal to replace it with a monstrosity of a ballroom.
The People's House is not a vehicle for anyone's vanity project.

Additionally, the spending of such a sum on this project while people in this country struggle with rising bills, loss of jobs and increased housing insecurity is a slap in the face. The White House is a place where those in it should be serving the people of this country, not displaying their riches and their power in the building of new walls only the elite are allowed to enter.

I strongly oppose the proposed project for multiple reasons. First, this project was initiated (and demolition of the East Wing occurred) without proper oversight, planning, review, and authority -- on that basis alone it should not move forward, as illegal actions should not be rewarded. Our collective history was destroyed without due consideration for the historic values embodied and reflected in the East Wing. Second, the proposed structure is of a scale and design that is inconsistent with the setting and aesthetic of the White House and surrounding grounds and monuments. That is, the proposed building will undermine the values that distinguish the White House as an historical structure and landmark. Third, the use of private funding for this endeavor will result in a lack of checks and oversight if the project is allowed to proceed and raises the specter of influence and grift to the entire endeavor as a stain that will not be washed away over time. Finally, there is no need for such a structure on White House grounds. If the need for such entertainment space exists, it should be built elsewhere, following all relevant laws and regulations pertaining to potential adverse effects to setting and other values in any location so proposed.

Calling this a modernization project is absurd. This was complete destruction of an important American historical landmark. There was no discussion, no authorization, just one man's need for his own satisfaction. I think that the destruction of the East Wing was criminal and should be halted immediately and the East Wing rebuilt. When you add in the continually rising cost of this project, and the fact that people are struggling to maintain housing and food, this project is an embarrassing stainon our government's operation and concern for its citizens. Not only do I think that the project should be stopped and the original structure rebuilt, but I also believe there should be fines and other consequences for going ahead without authorization.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. It is owned by the American people and has served as a home to all presidents since 1800. Never is the current president at any given time the owner of the property or the structures thereon but rather serves as a steward to the property of the time they are in office. The interventions to the land and the buildings are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing happened without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight. This is clearly a violation of the law and an insult to the country. It is also a violation of the trust of the American people. We were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal. Rather the East Wing was demolished one day and now sits in ruin.
I advocate for the East Wing to be restored to its historic design and size and urge the National Capital Planning Commission to oversee the project. I also advocate that any further 'work' done on the property or buildings go through the proper channels before demolition.

How sad/angry/aghast I felt when I first learned of the unauthorized destruction of the East Wing of the People's House. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. This project was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It's deeply offensive that this erasure of American history is now being framed as "modernization." I want the East Wing to be restored to its former design.

Furthermore, permitting this project to move forward given the many laws that were broken at its start would be an affront to law-abiding Americans everywhere.

I oppose the $300 million East Wing project to build an unnecessary ballroom.

The administration didn't follow the established law or protocols before destroying part of the most historic building in our country. Besides the unlawfulness, it is a moral travesty as well. The amount of history destroyed without care is appalling. This is The People's House, not the President's to do with as he wishes for another vanity project.

I believe the $300 million, if it even exists, should be used to rebuild the East Wing back to its original, historic state.

Thank you.

I oppose this project in its entirety. It was illegally initiated -- without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Despite the bland "modernization project" designation, it has already involved tearing down a part of the People's House, and the proposed monstrosity of a ballroom is more appropriate for a 19th-century potentate than the President of the United States.

I call for this project to be canceled and the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored. I am not averse to an actual modernization project -- if the First Lady's office needs better security or if the window treatments need replacing, so much the better. But everyone involved in ripping apart the White House should be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

In America, all people are created equal, which means that no one is above the law. To allow this unpermitted and thoughtless gouging out of American history to move forward would be a violation of that most sacred truth.

Wouldn't it be nice if we had a system of checks and balances to protect our laws and our institutions? Take the East Wing--who approved this? Belonging to which committees? Is it really true that this nation is run by a lot of gutless bureaucrats and one nasty, vindictive, egotistical person? I don't believe it. I believe we are a diverse nation that respects the law--or I used to believe it. I can see that isn't true now. Let's put up an arch, let's carve clowns on Mount Rushmore---all of this is a disgrace. I'm waiting for the day when we are all bankrupt by the unwillingness of his own party to stand up for anything.

I always thought the White House was beautiful in its symmetry and dignity, Can we turn it back to what it once was? Can we turn America back to what it once was?

It is a betrayal of our country's history!! As you know it was done illegally. Who hired the demolition crew? Doesn't demolition require permits? Is the demolition company negligent? And the Rose Garden!! Shame, shame, shame. I fervently urge you to reconstruct the East Wing. If need be with updates but still in keeping with the original style. Do not, do not, DO NOT let the abomination known as Trump's Ballroom to be built. It is an atrocious plan; even architects think it is unworthy to be built. AND the money with which to build it!? No. Not the corporations who want to buy favor. Why was there no immediate stoppage of the carnage? Perhaps there needs to be a first responders team to stop the work at first wrecking ball swing so that you do not wait until after the destruction, Keep America. Thank you.

The Ballroom being built by Donald Trump is a symbol of dominance not democracy. It replaces the East Wing which was torn down without proper permits or permissions. The White House does not belong to the President who inhabits it during their term, but to the country and the American people. That is why there are rules, regulations and a specific process that the White House was supposed to follow. I applaud the National Capitol Planning Commission for holding a hearing on this matter. And I agree with the National Trust for Historic Preservation who I understand has led the charge for studying this project and perhaps stopping it.

It is my understanding that laws were broken and that over 300 million has been spent. The ballroom should not be built. I would love to see the East Wing rebuilt. We do not need a ballroom.

I am very disappointed that the current administration chose to destroy the historic East Wing of the White House with no public input. This was not appropriate in a representative democracy. There should have been a public comment period and a chance for all voices to be heard - especially since once it is destroyed, it cannot be recovered.

Now that it is destroyed and there is a plan to replace it with a massive ballroom, there should be public input on the design and naming of the new structure. I would suggest that it be named the Barack Obama Ballroom to honor the first African American President.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The language that is used in this project, calling it a "modernization", is deliberately misleading. This is not a modernization but rather a complete razing of American history.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States. I should not even have to say this, but clearly the current President of the United States needs to be reminded of this fact. He does not own the country, his is a public servant.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli. The President, once again, DOES NOT OWN THE WHITE HOUSE AND DOES NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO DEMOLISH HISTORIC PEICES OF IT TO DO PERSONAL VANITY PROJECTS TO STROKE HIS OWN EGO. I SHOULD NOT HAVE TO REMIND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT OF THIS FACT.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. Personally, I believe the only proper course of action from this point would be to reconstruct the East Wing exactly as it was pre-demolition. However, if you are dead set on entertaining this child's vanity projects, then at least ensure the extension will actually serve a purpose and not just be an ugly, authoritarian monument to a single billionaire pedophile cannibal's desire to have his cock sucked on by the American people. We do not need a gold-plated ballroom in the white house. Keep it historic and practical.

I live in an historic district in Dubuque Iowa. We renovated late 1800's rowhouse. We followed the rules, we got the permits. We went to the meetings. We converted a rowhouse to something that will last generations into the future. We are Middle America.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all of America.

"East Wing Modernization" is a misnomer, considering that the historic East Wing was torn down without any consideration or public comment. The replacement build was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or design review. When I listened to the January meeting of the CFA, the goal of the newly appointed members was encapsulated in a comment about giving the President what he wants. It's time to consider what the American people want, which I'm pretty sure is not a $300 million behemoth that overwhelms the White House. Those responsible for tearing down the East Wing broke the law; this project should not move ahead.

I object to replacing the historic East Wing of the Whitehouse with a $300 million "grand ballroom" that only feeds a malignant narcissist's ego. He has wiped out decades of history in order to build a ridiculous vanity project. I want to see the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original glory. He is a lawless abomination that must be reined in; do not let him get away with this.

Thank you.

The new structure should be of a size that is proportional to the remainder of the White House and West Wing. There should be no overwhelming gold filigree, providing an understated elegance and formality. The grounds surrounding the new addition should be a reflection of past First Ladies. Beautiful gardens with walkways would honor these great women who served our Country. The building should reflect the history of the East Wing in a respectful manner. I wish that the idea and comments were proposed before the demolition. Please keep a tight reign on the design elements and proportions. I would have been more enthusiastic about a renovation project than a demolition.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

Calling this project the East Wing Modernization is offensive. I strongly object to this vanity project, whether it costs one dollar or $300 million. It was initiated with the unauthorized razing of an historic building that belonged to he American people, not Donald Trump personally.

This is not a modernization project. Rather it is a total razing of American history to construct an awful gilded monstrosity out of character and scale with the White House.

Because this project was initiated without without the proper authorization, I am opposed to its continuance. It not needs appropriate congressional approvals, it also needs design review if it is going to be lawfully permitted. It does not appear to be a true modernization project but rather an unfortunate erasure of beloved American history. The best solution is to cancel the project and to require restoration of the East Wing to its former design. Since no one is above the law, to permit continuance of this project without penalizing those who broke the law would be a belittlement of American values and trust.

I am opposed to the East Wing Modernization Project for several reasons:
* It will dwarf the rest of the building and look ridiculously out of character with other architecture in Washington, D.C.
* As designed, it will have a negative visual impact on other historic and deeply important memorials and structures.
* The project was begun -the former East Wing demolished- without congressional approval.
* It represents an unnecessary expense and a "solution" to a problem that doesn't exist

Like so many actions by the current administration, this is another example of unilateral action taken in service of self-aggrandizement rather than in service of the good of the country. In a democracy, decisions are supposed to be made in consultation with interested and affected parties. That process is sadly lacking in everything the current administration undertakes and we are the ones who pay the cost, both literally and figuratively.

Respectfully,
Mary Raynard

This wing serves the next generation of Americans, not the current administration and should've honored and preserved assuchfir the American people.

The American people own the White House, a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, home to presidents since 1800.

No president owns the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by US law.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, permits, or Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law.

In addition, the American people were not given an opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal before our National Historic site was destroyed.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size, and issue the order with strict repercussions for any further illegal, unpermitted actions.

Anything constructed on the demolition site must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I believe the East Wing should be restored to it's previous design. The project was initiated without the proper approvals. A portion of the White House was intentionally destroyed, just as if someone had set fire to it. While this can't be undone, I don't believe we should reward the inappropriate act by moving forward with a ballroom. The money raised for the ballroom should be returned or put toward restoring the East Wing to it's former historical value. Those responsible for putting the illegal destruction into action should be fined an amount at least equaling the reconstruction cost.

The White House and all other federal properties are held by our government in trust for the American citizens. No single individual, even if that person happens to be the current occupant of that facility, has the authority to make changes of a permanent nature to our property. I urge you to consider taking these steps:
1. Deny approval of the plans to build a ballroom or any other project requested by the current administration. They have demonstrated their lack of trustworthiness- believe them.
2. Seek payment for the costs of rebuilding from the President in his personal capacity. The American people should not have to pay to restore what he illegally destroyed.

3. Appoint a commissioner to oversee the reconstruction of the former East Wing.

Far from a modernization project, we've seen the outright demolition of "the heart of the White House" which was, absolutely, a slap across the faces of law-abiding Americans who treasure our history and traditions.
Without a word to anyone charged with the preservation of our heritage, and after telling the public that his "ballroom" would not impact our White House, Mr. Trump went ahead and bulldozed. Where—and for that matter—if the contents were preserved and stored, no one knows.

I do not support the new East Wing Modernization Project. The destruction of the historic East Wing was abominable! The President acts like he owns the White House. I would like to remind you that it’s the people’s house! Trump works for the people we don’t work for him! He needs to be told that the gigantic ballroom that’s bigger than the White House isn’t going to happen!

The proposed new East Wing as depicted in drawings is too large relative to the existing remaining White House. The new East wing should be an actual "Wing" of the White House. If it's too large the White House will become a wing of the East Wing, which would be very unwise and architectural garbage.

Dear Sir/Madam:
As a citizen of the United States, I am writing to register my strong objections to the destruction and rebuilding of the East Wing of the White House. This is the People's house, and does not belong to any one President. History must be preserved and honored, and the proper historic channels should have been consulted/should be consulted for any further restorations. This should not be a vanity project of any one person.
Thank you for your time-

I am married to a former contractor. There is NO WAY he would have ever done demolition without proper permitting ahead of time, even if it would have spared him paperwork headaches. Why? Dear Commission members,

Please do all you can to stop the construction of the Trump Monstrocity Ballroom on the site of the former White House east wing. The presence of this proposed building will dwarf and detract from the historic, symmetric beauty of the White House. It may be true that a larger, grander space is needed for Presidential entertaining. It may even be the case that our First Ladies should have better office space. There should be no disagreement, though, that this scheme is not the proper way to accomplish these aims.

Public Comment on the Demolition and Proposed East Wing Modernization
Submitted for the Administrative Record

Introduction and Standing

I submit this statement as a citizen of the United States and as a retired federal professional with over three decades of public service experience in federally funded infrastructure, historic preservation, environmental compliance, and statutory oversight. My concern is not partisan. It is procedural, legal, and civic.

The White House complex is a nationally significant historic resource owned by the United States and held in trust for the American people. The demolition of the East Wing warrants careful examination under applicable preservation and environmental law.

I. Statutory Preservation Obligations

National Historic Preservation Act (54 U.S.C. § 306108). Section 106 requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of undertakings on historic properties and afford the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation an opportunity to comment. Implementing regulations (36 C.F.R. Part 800) require identification of historic properties, assessment of adverse effects including demolition, consultation, and mitigation.

National Environmental Policy Act (42 U.S.C. § 4332(2)(C)). NEPA requires preparation of an Environmental Assessment or Environmental Impact Statement for major federal actions significantly affecting the human environment, including cultural and historic resources.

White House Preservation Act (Pub. L. 106 580). This statute reflects congressional intent that the White House be preserved systematically under formal oversight mechanisms. Major federal construction in Washington, D.C. traditionally involves review by the National Capital Planning Commission and the Commission of Fine Arts to ensure architectural integrity and continuity.

II. Character and Cultural Significance

The East Wing historically served as office space for First Ladies, ceremonial and reception functions, and as a public-facing entry for visitors. Its architectural scale reflected dignity and civic symbolism rather than spectacle. Replacing such a structure with a substantially larger entertainment venue would alter institutional character in ways that preservation laws exists to prevent.

III. Stewardship and Constitutional Trust

The White House is federal property. It does not belong to any officeholder. The President is a temporary steward of a permanent national institution. Public stewardship imposes heightened obligations of compliance with preservation and environmental law.

IV. Questions for the Administrative Record

• Was Section 106 consultation completed prior to demolition?
• Was NEPA review conducted and publicly disclosed?
• Was the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation afforded opportunity to comment?
• Was review conducted by the National Capital Planning Commission and Commission of Fine Arts?
• What mitigation measures were implemented to preserve historic materials? If the materials were preserved, where are they?

V. Civic and Moral Considerations

The White House represents democratic continuity and shared national ownership. Alterations or destruction that dramatically change its historic character should be approached with transparency, humility, and fidelity to law.

Conclusion

Federal preservation law ensures that historic resources are not altered without deliberate and transparent consideration. As someone who spent over three decades working within federal systems, I respectfully urge full public disclosure of the legal and procedural steps undertaken in connection with this project. Institutional integrity depends upon adherence to process.

Respectfully submitted,
Steven M. George

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

Hell no! I am adamantly opposed to spending $300 million of our tax dollars on this disaster. This is an example of a dictator circumventing the rules to force his will on this project. The commission should enforce following the rules, including requiring proper authorization, obtaining all necessary permits, and conducting appropriate design review. or design review.

Those who have high-jacked this project will destroy American history and erect a "monument" completely out of scale with the location. As a taxpayer and citizen, I DEMAND THAT THIS PROJECT BE CANCELED. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. This should be done at the President's expense since he has squandered and destroyed a public federal building that was built by our tax dollars.

Further, the "Ballroom" design is a grotesque, oversized royal fantasy, oozing with Trump's ego and vanity. Designed based on the Tsar's throne room, complete with the throne, and imbued with the aspirations to total power. Putin still uses it for that purpose, and we all know what a lapdog Trump is for Putin. Sadly that's the only "me too" Trump understands. Plastered with the same tacky gold curly-ques he has coated the Oval Office with, even the design sketches are an appalling eyesore.
Cancel it. Don't allow it. Put the people's house back in order. Demand an accounting for every item in the East Wing, and for every dollar wasted.

I totally oppose spending any amount of money on this project! The initial destruction was completed without going through the legal process required. It seems like those responsible thought they would destroy everything and then would be free to do whatever they wanted afterwards. I am tired of rich and powerful people thinking they do not have to follow the laws and guidelines that other citizens have to follow. I believe that in order to send a clear signal that everyone has to follow the legal process, the construction should be halted and the previous East End needs to be restored.

I'm seconding a comment made by another opponent of this project: Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States of America.
Demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight was clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it was a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
Thank you.

I strongly oppose this project in concept and design. A ballroom is not needed for the White House. Such a plan is an affront to American values of democracy and the purpose of the residence that the East Wing once served. Instead of squandering resources on a vanity project, the White House should be restored to its original glory and the East Wing to its function as a residence.

Any such project should pass a legal and permitted design review and not be hastened into shoddy reality by an administration unbound by law, etiquette, and process.

The nation's money must not be spent on this project. A felon illegally pulled it down destroying the nation's house. Despite being president he had no right to destroy the house provided by the nation. He neither owned nor rented it. Nor does he have the right to demand this monstrosity be built to replace what was there. Instead he must repay the public fisc for the entire cost of demolition and rebuilding and the new building must comply with all required laws and regulations and subject to the approval of the legal authorities which do not include anyone in the administration including but not limited to the president, the vice president, or anyone reporting to either individual. This plan must not be approved.

The project was initiated without proper authorization, destroyed important history, and seems to have been merely a way for the current occupant of the White House to aggrandize himself as a "builder" as well as a means of takng in money.
Return our history to us!!

Similarly, I am deeply opposed to building any type of a grand triumphal arch at the end of the Mall which would dwarf the other monuments placed there.

I was invited to an event in the East Wing several years ago. I remember walking up the gracious entrance, and down the halls with rooms filled with history and magnificent furnishing. The razing of this historical venue to build a gaudy, self-aggrandizing "monument" to a would-be dictator, is reprehensible. The fact that it was demolished without the proper authority is unconscionable. I have lovely photos I took of the portraits of the first ladies in one of the parlors. I hope that the furnishings and these portraits were preserved, along with the other magnificent works of art. I believe that the East Wing should be restored to as close to the 1942 version as is practicable, and that the furnishings and portraits that graced its halls and parlors.

As an Occupational and Environmental physician, I find the fact that proper containment of asbestos, and other hazards at the site was not achieved in the demolition, will make the restoration of the site extremely expensive, and has risked the wellbeing of the workers, and those passersby who unwittingly inhaled asbestos fibers that became airborne in the demolition.

I believe that Mr. Trump should be forced to pay for this out of his own pocket, and restore the peoples' house to the people, without the use of their tax dollars.

Thank -you,
Dr. Victoria Cassano

There is much to be considered of the history behind the construction and uses of the East Wing of the White House.
From Teddy Roosevelt's construction of the wings through first lady Lady Bird Johnson dedicating the Jacqueline Kennedy Garden. It has been a beautiful, exceptional area for receiving important guests.
After roselyn, Carter moved her offices to the East Wing, becoming the first presidential spouse to do so, Congress passed the White House Personnel Authorization Act creating the official office of the First Lady. Every first lady since then has utilized the offices as they have gone about implementing important programs for the people of our great country.
Aside from the value and history of the East Wing, there is absolutely no need for a giant ballroom in the White House. It is the people's house, it is the house the president as he serves the people of thls country. It is not a building for just one family to adorn with gilt and self-agrandizement. Especially considering that by law they will no longer be in residence when it's completed.
I would urge the commission to deny any further building of a"ballroom" in the space left after the obscene demolition. But rather the funds allocated to that construction be used to re-beautify that section of the people's house and recreate offices suitable for use by future First Ladies and their staffs.

As a minister I am a proponent of open dialogue, discernment and discretion when considering any contentious project.
The East Wing Project never engaged public comments until after the demolition occurred. It is appalling in a country where freedoms of all kinds are championed, that neither we nor our elected representatives! were given voice about destruction and reconstruction. The lack of thoughtfulness is an affront to the knowledge and creativity endowed by our Creator.

We are created equal. When the president declared the East Wing should come down, he claimed a position of "better than" which he does not hold. He is not outside the laws of the United States and yet behaves as though he can.

I oppose this new model for the East Wing and support a simpler design that fits aesthetically with the rest of the building.
Thank you.

Dear Committee,

The White House belongs to We the People, we are the landlord. To make changes to it there is a process. DJT didn't bother with that process. Just went ahead and bulldozed history without including we the people in advance. And he did it all to create an out of scale, huge, grotesque, monument to his ego. And to force a lasting legacy to himself on the nation. And he chose to do it at one of the most historic residences in our nation. Indeed a national historic treasure. He's only a temporary occupant. He had no right to just demolish the historic east wing. Especially by just going ahead and arrogantly doing it. As if we the people don't exist or count. It's an insult to we the people, and our nation. Please do not give him permission to continue this out of proportion monstrosity. I'd like to see the east wing rebuilt, and restored, as best as possible, to how it looked before, within reason before.

Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to submit a comment.

I am writing to express my strong objection to the construction of a massive ballroom on the former site of the east wing of the White House. Building a structure that is out of character with the present building would be an insult to the history and the beauty that is the current people's house. Additionally a massive ballroom designed to entertain the ultra rich is contrary to the spirit of our country and does nothing for the people. If built with tax payer dollars I believe it is a poor use of taxpayer money. If built with donations I believe the opportunity for corruption is high. Please do not approve this project rather insist that the east wing be rebuilt exactly as it was but perhaps with improved more environmentally friendly systems.

It is a disgrace what Donald Trump is doing to build or name historical or public facilities to himself. He is undeserving of naming any US with his name.

I am devastated by the destruction of the historic East Wing. I have no words. On any structure moving forward, the first step should be to restore the facade, and the entire building if possible.

I oppose the outsized ballroom altogether. It is not in the nation's interest. It is a monument to one man.

I oppose this project, in it's totality. It was initiated without seeking public feedback, nor did the President and his administration seek the proper prior authorization from congress and/or other governmental bodies which may have been required. Additionally, to my knowledge they dod not seek in advance the necessary permits, or design review. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its former design. If the donors no longer wish to be involved under that premise, then the President should be on the hook for the $ to restore it back to what it was. By all appearances this was a highly illegal vanity project that no one was asking for other than the President.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
Thank you for upholding both history and the law.

I am submitting this comment regarding the proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition and associated underground construction at the White House.

First, any prior demolition or alteration of the East Wing should be fully reviewed for legal compliance and historic preservation standards. If changes were undertaken improperly, the East Wing should be restored to its original condition in accordance with federal preservation law and the long-standing responsibility to protect nationally significant historic structures.

Second, the scale of the proposed addition is deeply concerning. A 90,000-square-foot ballroom complex would rival or exceed the scale of the historic Executive Residence itself, fundamentally altering the proportions, character, and historic integrity of the White House grounds. The White House is not a private estate; it is a public symbol of the nation's history and democratic institutions. Its architectural balance and restrained dignity are part of that symbolism.

There has been no demonstrated operational necessity for such an expansive and grandiose addition. Existing federal facilities in Washington, D.C. are more than capable of hosting large ceremonial events when required. Constructing an oversized ballroom and underground structure would represent an unnecessary and disproportionate expansion that risks permanent harm to a historic landmark.

For these reasons, I respectfully urge decision-makers to:
1. Ensure full transparency and legal review of any prior alterations to the East Wing.
2. Restore any improperly altered historic structures.
3. Reject the proposed ballroom addition in its current scale and scope.

The White House belongs to the American people, and its preservation should take precedence over unnecessary expansion.

When my husband and I were renovating our home, we had to seek permission and approval from the city in which we live. Changes to the people's house should be more stringently overseen than those to our private home. The White House is not a home, it is a government building in which a president resides for the duration of his or her term. There is no mechanism for an individual, including the president, to unilaterally make sweeping changes to this historic building.

There is a massive financial and cultural cost to this action, and it should not be permitted to proceed as proposed.

this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

I oppose the illegal building of a ballroom for the use of the "elite". The White House is the People's House and should reflect that in it's structure and purpose. I would like to see the East Wing restored to it's former, beautiful proportions. That this was done without approval and ignoring all precedent is (another) stain on this presidency. If the government cannot afford to provide for the people in terms of healthcare, social safety nets, etc, then we cannot afford this. We do not want it. To whom it may concern: It’s so troubling how our historical buildings are being transformed without proper oversight and planning. For one, I strongly oppose the construction of a huge ballroom where the White House East Wing used to be. It’s a waste of major proportions! The E. Wing served a unique purpose for the First Ladies and the future should continue to support the works of those to come. We are a proud nation built on humble but ever lasting truths. We don’t need ostentatious party rooms to send messages of mockery to the poor in our country. The money making ties, so called donations, only weaken the integrity of a democracy. Rich donors don’t go ‘‘unpaid ‘‘.

This "East Wing Modernization Project" that destroyed a full wing of the peoples' house was done without review, permitting, planning, safety and health evaluation, or any of the processes in place to prevent exactly this. Were any of the national artifacts or historical objects even preserved?? We don't know, because we the people were never allowed to even know about this, let alone give our input--until now. The ballooning cost of this ballroom is ridiculous and exorbitant.This project needs to STOP, NOW, and the East Wing needs to be restored to how it was. I don't mind historically accurate and safe remodels, or the bunker being upgraded if that is truly needed, but just willynilly taking a wrecking machine to a national landmark and historical building with the attitude of "easier to ask for forgiveness than permission" is a deep betrayal of the trust that a president owes the US people. It was wrong, and that wrong needs to be righted.

To whom it may concern,

Thank you for the opportunity to voice my concerns regarding the East Wing Modernization Project.

Although the East Wing has already been destroyed, it was done without regard for the historical nature of the building. It was done without permits from the National Park Service or any national historical entity. The People's House does not belong to it's current occupant, and should not have been tampered with.

I am writing to inform you that I oppose any further construction on this site unless the plans have been fully approved by the National Capital Planning Commission, and in agreement with the White House Historical Association and any other historical or governmental entity that has jurisdiction over it.

Sincerely,

Monique Rubin

Good evening, first, let's address the title you have imposed on this comment section; it is not a modernization project, but a complete and unlawful destruction by a "renter" for the next few years without the permission of the owners. We the people, and our duly appointed administrators, were completely removed from the process. I understand that many may have wanted a larger space, more accommodating for state functions, yet none of them bulldozed without thought an historic building. The current inhabitant of the White House cares for nothing beyond his own glory and grandeur, needing gold and glamour to prove his worth. The building should be updated, back to its original design but up to current standards, with maybe some more space added (but not up to 900 people!) and the sitting President should have no say in any of the decisions, especially when it comes to the bunker provisions. He should in no way be allowed to know how future presidents will be provided protection.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. The White House belongs to the people, and is not "owned" by its current occupant to be treated as his "pet project", or to feed his ego.

The fact that this project was started without the necessary reviews and authorization is wrong and un-American. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Please know I oppose the modernization of the East Wing of the White House. This is "the people's house". It does not belong to any one person or president.

The building that was torn down was full of a rich history of American traditions and memories. It is sad it is now gone.

The funds to build this new building are exorbitant and unnecessary. I understand some of the funds come from private entities, but these entities could have put those dollars to use in much better ways to help society and the people. If any safety features of the previous building needed to be updated, that could have gone through the appropriate process and funding.

However, the tearing down and current plan to rebuild has not gone through the appropriate processes. I am appreciative of the ability to now provide feedback, but it is unfortunate that the building has already been torn down. Moving forward, all rules and laws related to demolition and rebuilding need to be followed whether they fall under, state, or federal laws or ordinances.

I would like the East Wing rebuilt as how it was. Again, if safety features are needed, then they can be remodeled or added when the building is rebuilt. Historical architects and anthropologists can help to rebuild the building to capture how it was and ensure that all the memories that were created there previously can still be seen if the people were to walk those halls again.

Thank you.

Spending $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, is ludicrous in my opinion. It doesn't look like a modernization project, but rather an attempt to alter American history. This project should be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Those who broke the law by starting it without proper authorization process, must be penalized. It is People's House after all!

I oppose this project in its entirety., It was initiated on the whim of one person without legally required study, authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history, and is a grotesque vanity project without any architectural merit and/or sensitivity to its historic surroundings, and that will not serve the broader public or public interest.

This entire scheme must be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans and to the rule of law itself.

I appreciate your attention to this comment, and hope you will uphold the principle that the law applies equally to everybody.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I absolutely oppose the destruction of the historic East Wing of what is supposed to be the People's House. It's bad enough that this project started in the first place, why should we allow this obviously unfit president continue to be rewarded for tearing down something he didn't have permission to wreck? I want to see that building restored to its former glory, and people in office who will actually respect the laws and our nation's historical buildings.

We do not need a ballroom.

The East Wing may have needed modernization, but taking a wrecking ball to a historic building is not the way to do it. A careful, thoughtful, and properly planned and vetted update of the building would have been a far better use of tax payer funds. If any funds are spent on this project, it should be to restore the previous building as much as possible while updating it to modern electric and other utility needs. Funds should by no means be used to build a massive vanity project of a ballroom which would likely be plastered with the logos of its corporate sponsors.

Remember the East Wing

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose the spending of any amount of money from any source to replace the East Wing of the White House with any other structure. The East Wing was demolished without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project, but a project to gratify one very sick man's ego through aggrandizement and glorification. Destruction of the East Wing was a razing of American history. Replacing it with anything else would be an erasure of our nation's past. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The persons who authorized the destruction of the East Wing and who intend to move forward with a new construction project without undergoing the proper reviews, authorization, and permits need to be penalized for breaking the law. No one is above the law. To do otherwise would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Please take whatever legal action is possible to stop the spending on this project; initiated unlawfully and "at his own expense" without the proper planning, review and authorization from Congress demonstrates once again the recklessness of the current administration and the occupants. It is not a modernization project but rather an ego-induced razing of American heritage. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design at no ones expense but his own and the so-called donors we must insist he identify. No one is above the law. As the project is currently at a stand-still, penalizing those who broke the law is, again, the least the NCPC should do.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Kind Regards,
Mary Sherman

The shocking destruction of the East Wing without any planning or oversight by Congress or other agencies is appalling. The proposed "ballroom" is hugely out of proportion to the White House itself. This wing should not be replaced with a ballroom by the administration that tore down the East Wing without authorization. The $300M pricetag is obscene, for a structure that will be out of scale with the national treasure that is the White House. A subsequent administration should replace the East Wing. This administration's paving over of the Rose Garden and tacky redecoration of the Oval Office proves that they do not have the requiste good taste required to make these modifications to The People's House. Let them spend the next three years looking at the ruins they have perpetrated upon the DC landscape.

I consider the unapproved demolition of the East Wing of the White House to be a travesty, not only because it is dismal architecturally, ruining the symmetry of a national treasure, but also because it seems to be an attempt to turn the people's house into a party house or convention center. The aggrandizement of the individual in the White House is totally contrary to the traditions and spirit of the United States of America, but tradition and spirit seem to have no standing our current administration. I encourage the National Capital Planning Commission to halt all current construction on the grounds of the White House, and implement a plan to restore the White House to its former grandeur.

It is a true disrespect to many of the historical First Ladies (i.e. Eleanor Roosevelt, Laura Bush, Michelle Obama, Jill Biden) who utilized this wing for a multitude of personal uses and to serve the people. Although there is an exemption for the White House, every other President has respected the essence of the people's house and the preservation of history and the voices and opinions of the people of this country. I am writing to oppose the proposed East Wing demolition and ballroom construction project.
The East Wing of the White House is not merely government property—it is a sacred trust held on behalf of the American people. Jacqueline Kennedy understood this when she fought to preserve our nation's historic architecture and founded the White House Historical Association. The East Wing has hosted historic events from suffragist meetings to civil rights gatherings, from state functions honoring world leaders to moments of national mourning and celebration.
This project bypassed established processes that exist precisely to prevent impulsive decisions about irreplaceable historic architecture. The absence of proper authorization, environmental review, and design oversight is not a minor procedural matter—it represents a fundamental failure to respect both the law and the public trust.
Three hundred million dollars spent to destroy American heritage and build a private event space funded by billionaires is not modernization. It is vandalism dressed in contemporary language.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to reject this proposal and require that any future work on the East Wing follow established legal procedures, include proper public input, preserve the historic structure, and serve the genuine needs of the American people rather than the social ambitions of wealthy donors.
Our national heritage deserves better than this.

The White House is a representation of our countries history. The White House should be treated with respect and dignity and reverence for those that inhabited the premises prior to the current administration. I am very opposed to this project. It should be treated like a project conceived by any other American citizen or American government body: it should have proper authorization, permits, and a full design review. The demolition should never have happened without any of those pieces in place; it should never have happened without a review of how to preserve as much history as possible. Discussion of a new wing needs to be as transparent as possible -- including ensuring that any donors are not getting "pay to play" benefits that most Americans cannot afford. Instead of a buildings Americans can be proud of, part of the People's House, it will be an enduring monument to the hubris of one man. No one is above the law. Those who broke the law to get this far with it should be penalized just like any other American building without authorization or permits would be penalized.

My heart broke when the East Wing came down so suddenly, and at the direction of one person. The White House is supposed to be the people's house. It is one of the most significant pieces of architecture which tells the story of our history, good and bad. I don't know what you can do now that it is gone, but a lavish ballroom is not in keeping with a house for the people. I'd rather see administrative offices than a gaudy ballroom.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The concept of an enormous ballroom beside our White House gives the false impression that our government is more interested in partying than governing. The White House was never intended to be a palace.

I strongly oppose the proposed expenditure of three hundred to four hundred million dollars for the ballroom project. The White House is a historic public institution, not a palace, and alterations of this scale should reflect its civic and architectural significance. This proposal does not represent a modernization effort, but rather a substantial and inappropriate alteration to a nationally important historic structure.

Any project affecting the East Wing should be subject to proper authorization, permitting, and rigorous design review consistent with established preservation standards. Given the building's historic value, the East Wing should be restored and maintained in a manner that respects its original design and character. And the cost must be borne completely by the sole perpetrator - Donald J. Trump.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.
The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I strongly support the modernization of the West Wing; however, I urge that any replacement closely reflect the architectural character and historical integrity of the original structure prior to demolition. The West Wing was more than just a building — it represented a specific design era and carried significant historical and aesthetic value.

Modernization and preservation do not have to be at odds. It is entirely possible to incorporate updated infrastructure, safety standards, and modern functionality while still honoring the original appearance, scale, and architectural details that made the structure meaningful to the community.

Rebuilding in a manner that closely resembles the original design would demonstrate respect for history while responsibly planning for the future. I encourage decision-makers to prioritize architectural continuity so that the new West Wing reflects both progress and preservation.

I strongly oppose a larger, more extravagant building & bunker.

The East Wing, as it existed, was a national treasure. It was part of the institution that the American people have built to house our government. It was built over time as a part of the living history of our democracy.

The destruction of the East Wing was against the law. We have processes for the renovation and reconstruction of our historic structures. None of these processes were followed. Many parts or our government utilize a "notice and comment" process to explore the impact of potential changes. No input was sought by this administration.

Trump acted as if he has plenary authority over the building that belongs to all of us. He does not have such authority, As has become clear, our system does not have mechanisms in place to address a chief executive that abuses his authority. All those that have previously held that office have maintained at least some respect for the rule of law. Trump respects nothing, and has seeming disdain for the rule of law.

The East Wing Modernization Project, as presented, is against the law. We have processes for the design and planning of federal buildings, and extensive design review processes when constructing our national monuments. Again, none of these processes were followed. Again, there was nothing resembling a "notice and comment" process, and no input was sought by this administration. Generally, the Trump administration's response to any input or criticism trends toward the aggressively hostile.

The East Wing Modernization Project is an abomination. It dwarfs the White House, placing our landmark in the shadow of Trump's Gatsby-esque ego project. It's purpose is opposed to the principles of democracy: Trump is planning the atrocity so he can continue to rule by socializing with billionaires.

I believe that the East Wing Modernization Project should be rejected, and the East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was before Trump destroyed the people's property.

One of the first things that invaders do to demoralize citizens of their target territory is to demolish art and architecture that holds the soul of the people. This is what the demolition of the East Wing feels like - an attack on the very spirit of our people. The White House is the People's House. It is an historic site that has represented the heart of our democracy throughout most of our history. To tear it down without any kind of consultation/hearings/permission was obscene, and to construct a ballroom in its place - even more so. Ballrooms are symbolic of royalty and wealth, privilege and personal power. This stands in opposition of the intentionally humble nature of our White House. It will be bought and paid for by undeclared donations from people seeking influence, and dramatically change the iconic structure which is historically protected. As a taxpaying, voting citizen - I demand to see the planned ballroom denied, and the East Wing restored to its previous con! tours.

The White House, the People's House, does not need a ballroom of the size and scale proposed. It is neither a hotel nor a convention center; DC has plenty of those. There is space for large gatherings available nearby.

Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style, update infrastructure and make interior ADA accessible where possible. Follow past processes for making necessary but historically sensitive changes.

The White House is not a palace. It was deliberately designed and built with modest dimensions and restrained aesthetics. Visitors to DC are often pleasantly surprised at its human scale. The Georgian style is intentionally symmetrical.

The occupant of the White House is not a king; the president works for us and lives there as our temporary guest. No occupant should be able to rebuild it to their own tastes, no matter who is paying for it.

A new East Wing should be constructed to replace the East Wing that was demolished. It should be similar in size, shape, and placement to the West Wing, to maintain the symmetry of the entire structure. If it is determined that the East Wing should house a ballroom, so be it--but it should be made to fit into the original footprint and design.

This is not a modernization project, but an illegal, unapproved destruction of a significant portion of the People's House.
I oppose spending a single dime on this project, let alone $300 million. The destruction of the East Wing was initiated without the proper authorization, permits or design reviews. The razing of the East Wing was an attempt to erase American history.

I want this project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt, restored to its former design.

No one is above the law; to permit this project to move forward not only offends law-abiding citizens, but encourages further destruction of federal buildings which tell our story - the story of "We the People."

The East Wing was demolished illegally without permits or safety measures, and I am opposed to any money spent on an antiquated ballroom. Any money spent should be to restore the East Wing as it was. It is the People's house and one person does not get to decide how to paint a wall, make renovations, or tear down a historic building. The President resides at the People's house as a guest and is a tenant. We, The People are the landlords. Full restoration of the building as it was and upgrades to whatever was beneath it for security measures is the only path forward.
Thank you for your time.

I'm am writing to oppose the East Wing modernization project. There is no need for a ballroom. There is plenty of space within the White House to host diplomatic events. If a bigger space is needed, there are plenty of event spaces in the area that can be rented. The East Wing should never have been knocked down to begin with. It should be rebuilt as it was.

Hello,

I am appalled by the destruction of the East Wing. Donald decided to wreck it so completely and so abruptly, without consulting the People or going through the proper channels. Please keep up the pressure to stop any further progress on the bunker and gigantic, gaudy ballroom. The renovation plans do not reflect the needs of the United States of America, and the gross display of wealth at a time of economic uncertainty, cutting funding for science and support to those who need it, is unnecessary at best and nefarious at worst (taking bribes in plain sight).

Signed,
A concerned citizen

This project is not about modernization; it is the unlawful destruction of part of the historical People's House. It was begun without design review, appropriate authorization or permits. I believe this project should be canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design using the money that was supposedly donated to build a ballroom. If the ballroom is allowed to be built it will signal to those in powerful positions that they are above the law.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to REQUIRE RECONSTRUCTION of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the insanely expensive ballroom project that was conceived by the current administration and President. This is not a modernization, this was a wrecking ball and unpermitted travesty.
The East Wing should be rebuilt because it has an important history.
The fact that this work was done without permits and Congressional and Senate approval means that it's been done wrong.
If I built something on property in Seattle where I live without permits they would make me tear it down.
This is "the people's House" and such major changes need to be legal, and voted on by Congress. Anything else is authoritarian.
I'm not a writer and hope that I have made my opinions clear.
No Ballroom financed by billionaires attached to the White House.
The current President should have to pay for the rebuild of the East Wing. He's the one who tore it down.

I was allowed to adopt the following words. They accurate express my understanding of the role of the White House as property of the people and my sentiment that reconstruction of the historic East Wing is necessary. As a citizen and voter these are my wishes.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

This project is not a modernization of our Whitehouse but has completely destroyed what was there with intentions of replacing it with the vanity project of one man. The design models shown to the public so far, have been totally out of scale with the rest of the building and out of character with the stately presence of the original Whitehouse. It has trashed our American history, not preserved or honored it.

Our elected leaders should work and live in buildings that accommodate official government functions with the dignity of the offices they hold, but also spaces that honor our nation's history and remind those office holders that they are privileged to be the temporary servants of the people. They are not kings and lords chosen to rule over us in gilded palaces.

I want this project to be canceled, and any money already appropriated to it be used toward rebuilding and restoring the East Wing in keeping with its former scale and design while allowing for updated mechanical and technical infrastructure within that framework. All artwork and historic furniture and fittings that were destroyed or that still exist must be accounted for.

In future, there must be stringent laws and restrictions on what changes can be made by any sitting president or officials to any historic building without approval by a non-partisan independent review board. Criminal charges, including jail time and fines should be established for any future infractions.

In this case, legal charges should be brought against those who planned this project and began the demolition without proper authorization. Fines should be equal to the cost of rebuilding what they destroyed and come from their own resources, not the taxpayers' funds. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you for allowing for public input in this matter.

It breaks my heart that the East Wing was destroyed! I grew up in DC and have taken many a tour of the White House during my school years. Such amazing history in all of those walls and the surrounding grounds! I learned so much from this institution of our government on those tours. This was THE place that We The People could claim as OUR House where OUR government did its work to serve The People of Our country.

The fact that this destruction of the East Wing was done illegally, without any proper authorization, any permits or even a design review just boggles my mind! I truly hope that the good people who are making these decisions honor this building - and our country - by restoring it to the original design instead of adding an outsized over inflated ballroom that will dwarf the White House making a mockery of it. Please do not build something that was so illegally instigated, is so utterly unwanted and would only serve to state that Our House has become completely broken in its promise to The People Of the United States.

Thank you for looking deep into your hearts to rectify what was done to East Wing.

I would like for this project to be cancelled. It did not go through the proper channels of being reviewed and approved, getting permits and everything else one has to do to build a new structure. There should be fines and penalties for tearing down the historical East Wing without going through the proper channels. I don't want a gaudy, gold-filled "ballroom". I don't think it is appropriate in the current time when everyday people are struggling to house, feed and clothe themselves.

I oppose this project on the grounds that it did not go through the many legal requirements of review at any point and I also oppose spending money and time on something that is of such low importance in terms of the infrastructure needs of the United States. Finally, when rules are broken in one area, what is to stop rules from then being broken elsewhere in our country by others.

The lack of transparency is quite shocking. And I'm a former Republican.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I'm furious that there's been no accounting for what happened to all of the items inside, and there was no conservation of the historical and valuable materials it was made of--the fixtures, tiles, stone, paneling, etc. And the idea that this grotesque bonfire of the vanities would rise up like a giant goiter on the neck of democracy. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I cannot object more strongly to the allocation of $300 million (or even $1.00!) to a project that was launched without proper authorization, required permits, or basic design review. This was a wholesale destruction of a significant piece of American history and I'm tired of hearing it compared to a pool or a basketball court. Even to call it "modernization" is a form of gaslighting which is quite disturbing.

I demand that this project be halted immediately and that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored to its original design.

We have to enforce the law. We have to honor our past. We absolutely have to follow the rules when it comes to buildings and monuments owned by the US Public. Allowing this project to proceed without holding accountable those who destroyed it (essentially in the dead of night), would be a profound failure. We cannot reward those responsible by letting them avoid accountability or installing an unneeded and unnecessary ballroom. The rule of law is not optional, and it cannot be selectively enforced. Your decision will make or break public trust. Please do the right thing.

Please require all renovations to go through an independent commission, not beholden to the president. Members should be nominated by both parties and approved by 2/3 vote of Congress. This is only temporarily one president's house. It is permanently the house of the people. One person should not be allowed to make such drastic changes.

I am completely opposed to this project. The proper permitting and reviews were not held prior to the demolition of the East Wing, the people's house, our American history. It does not matter that it will be paid for by billionaires. It is an affront to the American people. The proper historic preservation groups need to be involved if this project is to move forward, now that it was demolished without permission.

I was absolutely horrified by the blatant disregard for the laws protecting the historic structure known as the East Wing of the White House. This residence belongs to the American people, not to any person. Not even the president should have unilateral authority to modify any part of the people's White House without review of duly authorized, independent, organizations which have been empowered to protect our historic capital structures. It should be restored as close as possible to the East Wing which was unlawfully destroyed. If this administration is allowed to destroy the East Wing, what is to stop them from destroying the entire residence, and replacing it with something totally horrendous.

I am very upset that this building was razed with no oversight, no permits, no approval by Congress, and apparently done on a whim.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

White House belongs to the people of the United States…many are angry. Watching the demolition was gut-wrenching.

That being said, I appreciate allowing the people to comment on the remodel of the East Wing. There should be no gaudy gold on structures. There should be representation of all our former Presidents of the USA. This remodel should be the people's not the current administration's.

Rumors are flying that under neath the ballroom Mr. Trump is doing his own thing. Could you clear-up the plans for the space under the East Wing Addition.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

As an American citizen and a taxpayer, I oppose the governmental spending of $300 million on this "modernization" of what was the East Wing of the White House. This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project, but rather a complete erasure and physical razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design, or one of similar size and scope.
Years ago, when I took the tour, I was amazed at how small the White House was. A secret service member who was on security detail in the State Dining room overheard me commenting in the size of the room to my sister and said to us, "remember this was built at a time when we were rejecting the monarchy and the founding fathers didn't want something ostentatious and grand, because this house, was to be the "people's house". "
When the bulldozers and excavation equipment ripped the East Wing off the people's house, laws were broken and lies were told. No one should be above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing the liars who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans..
Honor what our founding fathers wanted. Honor what was planned when America said NO to giant and ostentatious spaces, and restore the East wing to something that closely matches the West Wing in size and scope and harkens to what was destroyed.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and National Park, owned by the American people and stewarded by the National Park Service. It has been home to our presidents since 1800 and is perhaps the most significant historic site in the United States. The East Wing should never have been demolished and most certainly should not be rebuilt as a self-glorifying, gilded palace ballroom. It should be reconstructed and restored as closely as possible to its of-the-people appearance before the demolition to help the people of our nation feel connected to our history and remind visitors to our nation's capital of our commitment to democracy. Restoration of the East Wing, as it was, would demonstrate our respect for our democratic heritage and our rejection of the idea that kings or autocrats should ever rule our country. I am appalled and personally offended by this careless and thoughtless demolition.

Dear Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed "East Wing Modernization Project," which would authorize construction of a new ballroom on the grounds of the White House.

The White House is not merely a residence or event venue; it is a symbol of our nation's history, continuity, and democratic values. Alterations to its historic footprint must be approached with restraint and with deep respect for architectural precedent. The proposed ballroom is, by all accounts, too large in scale and inconsistent with the established character of the Executive Mansion complex. Such a significant addition risks setting a troubling precedent for future expansions that could gradually erode the historic integrity of this national landmark.

Beyond concerns of preservation and precedent, the fiscal implications of this project are equally troubling. At a time when the nation faces pressing budgetary constraints and competing priorities—from infrastructure to veterans' services—it is difficult to justify the substantial expenditure required for a new ceremonial space. Taxpayer resources should be directed toward essential public needs, not toward expanding event capacity at the Executive Mansion.

Many Americans value the White House as it stands and would prefer to see careful restoration and preservation of the original East Wing rather than a dramatic modernization. Protecting and restoring existing historic structures reflects both fiscal responsibility and respect for the building's legacy.

I respectfully urge the Commission to reject the proposed ballroom construction and instead prioritize restoration efforts that honor the historic character of the White House grounds.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Rachel L. McGruder

I was heartbroken to see videos of the heavy equipment destroy a part of our great nation's history. The White House has long been a recognizable symbol of our country. Today, the East Wing serves as a metaphor for the crumbling wreckage of our Constitution and how quickly one person can decimate an iconic building that belongs not to him, but to the people of the United States.

If the true reason for a renovation is to modernize the underground home of the Presidential Emergency Operations Center, that is somewhat understandable. That work, one would assume, could be done without such drastic measures. I would imagine architects with experience in such renovations could come up with a much more reasonable design that would not cause such devastation. However, if adding a more secure "bunker" with the latest (and possibly futuristic) top-secret technology is a ruse to construct a golden ballroom that costs many millions of dollars, the plan is highly unacceptable to much of the American public. If this demolition was done without permission or oversight from any federal agency designated to make such decisions, it should be restored to its former glory as soon as possible with funds from the one that ordered the destruction.

I feel sure that my opinion is shared by many across our country. As most of us have been taught as a young child, you do not take something that does not belong to you and if you break what you took, you fix it or find someone who can. I certainly hope this broken "toy" can be fixed so that the "cracks" can become invisible, like they never happened.

Thank you for your time.

To Whom It May Concern,

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. It is incomprehensible that this would even be allowed to happen.

Sincerely,
Darren Guyaz

The East Wing of the White House was an irreplaceable part of our nation's story. For generations, it held the footsteps, memories, and quiet moments of history being lived, not just recorded. It belonged to all Americans — a shared landmark that carried our collective identity and the stories passed from one generation to the next. Now that it has been demolished, the loss is felt deeply. We haven't just lost a building; we've lost a piece of our shared heritage.

I oppose the demolition and proposed new structures of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300+M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates the appearance of influence-seeking and preferential access. That appears no different from illegal bribery and it must not be tolerated in our public buildings, and least of all in our highest office. It undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns. That alone is cause for a full-stop until thorough reviews are completed.

I am asking for clear disclosure of ALL donor funding, as well as disclosure of environmental and design review, and full public accountability of this public office structure.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I am incensed by this reckless, callous disregard and disrespect for the People's House. The White House does not belong to its intermittent residents. I am hopeful that The National Trust for Historic Preservation will be able to stop this and prohibit the current occupant from laying any more waste to our public buildings.

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Moreover, it would encourage the current administration to believe it can continue to destroy public buildings to suit the preferences and whims of the President, who is, and needs to understand that he is, a TEMPORARY occupant. He was not given this building; he was granted the use of it for the duration of his limited tenure, for the convenience of the public, not for the convenience of the president.

Temporary occupants of a space that doesn't belong to them are expected to leave the premises in good condition, virtually the same as when they arrived, or pay for restoration of damages. Mr. Trump, not his donors, nor his excessively wealthy acquaintances, should be required to pay to have it restored to its original condition.

Thank you.

I am writing to express my opposition to the East Wing Modernization Project. It is a travesty that this project was undertaken in the first place, a gross disrespect to the American people, and clearly a violation of law. I understand the White House is a National Historic Landmark. US Presidents may live in the White House, but they do not own the White House. The people own it. The people were not consulted on this project. There has not been congressional oversight or proper permitting.

Please, I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to immediately halt any further demolition, and require reconstruction of the East Wing that will be in keeping with the historic design of the White House.

Please do not let this terrible affront to the American people continue.

with regards,
Deborah Page

I oblect to the destruction of the East Wing with no notice given to the American people; it's supposed to be ours, not the property of any one President. There has been no accounting for the contents that were inside or what was done with it apart from bulldozing, and we were not given a voice in the proposed replacement, which sounds to me like a repulsive vanity project that says nothing about us and a lot about only one man. Rebuild and restore the original as best as can be done, and incorporate a memorial reminder that this was a big mistake we must all prevent from ever happening again. It's just one thing on a long list of them but it's an important one. Give it back to the people, we did not consent to this.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

In addition, I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. The demolition of the historic East Wing without proper authorization, design review, or permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent take over.

The west wing, the active office of the executive branch is around 33,000 square feet. The east wing was around 16,000 square feet. What is built at the site of the unapproved destruction of a National Historic Landmark should not be anywhere close to the 90,000 square foot proposal. The White House is not a castle or palace and a ballroom should not loom over the purpose of this working monument.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

While I wish the East wing remained, I don't believe a building bigger than the rest of the Capitol needs to be built. Make it a functional space again. Not a ballroom. While Trump may want dances, this isn't normally what presidents want. This building should be for all upcoming presidents. But whatever is designed, just none of that ugly gold everywhere. It's extremely tacky, and not at all presidential.

This project conflicts with the rule of law in a number of ways.

The East Wing, as it existed, was a national treasure. It was part of the institution that the American people have built to house our government. It was built over time as a part of the living history of our democracy.

The destruction of the East Wing was against the law. We have processes for the renovation and reconstruction of our historic structures. None of these processes were followed. Many parts or our government utilize a "notice and comment" process to explore the impact of potential changes. No input was sought by this administration.

Trump acted as if he has plenary authority over the building that belongs to all of us. He does not have such authority, As has become clear, our system does not have mechanisms in place to address a chief executive that abuses his authority. All those that have previously held that office have maintained at least some respect for the rule of law. Trump respects nothing, and has seeming disdain for the rule of law.

The East Wing Modernization Project, as presented, is against the law. We have processes for the design and planning of federal buildings, and extensive design review processes when constructing our national monuments. Again, none of these processes were followed. Again, there was nothing resembling a "notice and comment" process, and no input was sought by this administration. Generally, the Trump administration's response to any input or criticism trends toward the aggressively hostile.

The East Wing Modernization Project is an abomination. It dwarfs the White House, placing our landmark in the shadow of Trump's Gatsby-esque ego project. It's purpose is opposed to the principles of democracy: Trump is planning the atrocity so he can continue to rule by socializing with billionaires.

I believe that the East Wing Modernization Project should be rejected, and the East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was before Trump destroyed the people's property.

This statement sums up my thoughts on the East Wing of the presidential residence in Washington D.C.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you for your attention to this matter!

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

The historic and beautiful wing was torn down illegally w/o any consultation or care to the National Historic Committee. The "renovation" should be done in the same tasteful design as the pre-existing style. Our Present Congress has ignored many things that have been done to our government facilities. It is too late now, you cannot put it back together. I would like to see the new ballroom done in a tasteful way, vs the gausch plan in existence.
Also the American people need to have a constant assessment of the cost.. and cost overages (there will be many) .. WE should not have to pay any money for this disaster.

I oppose the building of a ball room, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a destruction of American history. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its former design.

If a new building is permitted, I expect that it will be thoroughly scrutinized to follow rules and restrictions for the locality and that it will not be allowed to overshadow the White House.

I am writing in opposition of the East Wing project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a destruction of American history. I would like to see this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The East Wing has been a cherished piece of American history for over 100 years. It is particularly important to women's history as this part of the White House has traditionally been used by the First Lady for events related to her work. The fact that it was torn down without any consideration of the processes in place for historical properties shows utter disregarding for the history and laws of our nation. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ginny Ritchie

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The people responsible for this destruction need to be held accountable.
Nobody is above the law. Nobody.

Dear members,

I oppose what is laughingly called "East Wing Modernization" because I don't live in the 18th Century when kings spent millions of taxpayers' money to build gold-crusted ballrooms where the rich could play with their rich buddies while normal folks were unable to buy bread. The White House does not belong to any individual president; it belongs to the country. Trump is merely passing through. And if his previous building projects are any example, he is likely to stiff the workers and pocket our money on the process. Please cancel this horrendous project. Please restore the East Wing to what it was before Trump took a bulldozer to it and please make him personally pay for the full cost of the restoration from one of his off-shore Venezuelan oil theft accounts.

Thank you,
Cathy Beyer

The White House belongs to the people. It is and always has been the people's house. The presidents who come and go are simply 4 year renters. Sometimes they get to extend their lease. No owner would allow a renter to demolish their property. Stop this insanity.

The historic and beautiful wing was torn down illegally w/o any consultation or care to the National Historic Committee. The "renovation" should be done in the same tasteful design as the pre-existing style. Our Present Congress has ignored many things that have been done to our government facilities. It is too late now, you cannot put it back together. I would like to see the new ballroom done in a tasteful way, vs the gausch plan in existence.

Also the American people need to have a constant assessment of the cost.. and cost overages (there will be many) .. WE should not have to pay any money for this disaster.

I am very concerned that this project got no pre-approval, and that demolition was done seemingly without anyone from Congress being notified. The proposed structure it far too large. It dwarfs the size of the main residence. It's ugly and ostentatious. The new ballroom needs to be in keeping with the character of the original structure, and it needs to be built with the understanding that it is not Donald Trump's personal residence. He is a temporary resident. His taste, such as it is, should not permeate the entire thing. The White House was originally designed, not to be a palace. That choice was purposeful. The founding fathers didn't want anything that reminded people of a king's palace. We are a democracy not a monarchy, and they wanted that reflected in the architecture. It is the temporary residence for the current democratically elected leader of this nation, nothing more. While President Trump may enjoy gold, tacky and gaudy his opinion should not be the one that wins out. Why you ask? Because he will only live there less than 3 more years, that's it. The people will have to live with this for significantly longer than that. If you were a landlord, and someone signed a 3 year lease, set in stone, would you let them make decisions about significant changes to the structure of the home, of course not. The current president already destroyed Jackie Kennedy's Rose Garden, and let's not get into the disaster that is the Kennedy Center. how many more permanent changes are we going to let this temporary resident make?

I am writing to formally oppose the proposed ballroom project associated with the White House complex.

This project—reported to cost between $300 and $400 million—represents an extraordinary misuse of resources. At a time when Americans face real economic pressures, directing hundreds of millions of dollars toward a massive, non-essential construction project is indefensible.

More troubling is the manner in which this project was initiated. Major structural changes to the White House complex—particularly those affecting the White House and the East Wing—require proper authorization, permitting, historic preservation review, and design oversight. Any attempt to bypass those legal and procedural safeguards undermines the rule of law. No administration, no official, and no president is above those requirements.

This is not a modernization effort. It is, by all accounts, a dramatic expansion that would overshadow and potentially alter the historic character of the White House itself. The East Wing is part of the architectural and symbolic integrity of the White House complex. Demolishing or substantially altering it to accommodate a grand ballroom risks erasing important elements of American history rather than preserving them.

Additionally, the prospect of private donors or corporations funding such a project raises serious ethical concerns. Large-scale financial contributions tied to proximity to power invite the appearance of "pay-to-play" politics. Even the perception of impropriety erodes public trust in our institutions.

The White House belongs to the American people. Its preservation should reflect transparency, legality, and respect for history—not personal legacy-building or political spectacle.

I respectfully urge the appropriate authorities to cancel this project in its entirety, restore and preserve the East Wing in accordance with its historic design, and ensure full accountability for any legal or procedural violations associated with this proposal.

Respectfully,
Tiffini Sorcic
South Jordan UT

No one is above the law. Their are processes and laws around demolition and construction of buildings, which all people and businesses must follow to ensure the public safety and preservation of history. This includes the president and the white house. They must be held accountable for breaking the law with the unsanctioned demolition of the east wing of the white house.

Having private (?) funding doesn't mean you get to break the law and destroy public property and waste government (i.e. taxpayer) resources. Let the space remain unfinished in remembrance of the wounds this regime has inflicted on the nation, its people, and the world.

The historic and beautiful wing was torn down illegally w/o any consultation or care to the National Historic Committee. The "renovation" should be done in the same tasteful design as the pre-existing style. Our Present Congress has ignored many things that have been done to our government facilities. It is too late now, you cannot put it back together. I would like to see the new ballroom done in a tasteful way, vs the gausch plan in existence.
Also the American people need to have a constant assessment of the cost.. and cost overages (there will be many) .. WE should not have to pay any money for this disaster.

I was honestly utterly shocked to learn that the current president - a temporary resident of the White House and its caretaker and historical steward of all within it on behalf of The People during his time there - razed an entire wing of a historical building with no proper process, public input, or presumably legal review. At the very least the Congress should have been consulted as a representative of The People and, by extension, The People's House. I live an entire continent away, but the White House is a hugely meaningful symbol of the country, and of obvious immense historical significance. To treat it like some kind of personal fixer-upper as though no one else matters but the desires of the current president to have an enormous ballroom, is both a huge collective insult and a further tear in the fabric of one of the last remaining symbols uniting this increasingly fractious country.

I urge the National Capitol Planning Commission to find a way to mitigate this grievous error and establish a process whereby the trust of the American public can be regained going forward. Please understand that the damage done has been real, is vast, and must be attended to by those in a position to have a voice in this that clearly none of the rest of the country have.

Thank you for the important work you do in overseeing this process.

They did this without permits, without regulatory approval, and without public input. This is illegal.

I want the East Wing restored back to the way it was, at the occupant's expense. I want the occupant punished in some way, to help them understand that the White House belongs to the people on the United States. It does NOT belong to anyone who lives there for 4 years at a time.

I strongly oppose the $300 million being funneled into this project, which was launched without lawful authorization, proper permits, or any legitimate design review. Calling this a modernization is misleading — it is, in effect, the destruction of a historic part of our national heritage. The White House is the people’s house — it belongs to We the People, not to any president — and no administration has the right to remake it unilaterally or outside the rule of law. This project must be stopped immediately, and the East Wing should be rebuilt and faithfully restored to its prior design. No individual or office stands above the law, and allowing this unlawful effort to proceed without consequences would be a direct insult to every American who expects accountability, transparency, and equal justice.

Then he rolled out the plans for the ballroom, a building forced upon us without any adherence to protocol or approval. The ballroom dwarfs the White House, a historic symbol of our country. I have lived my entire life in Montgomery County, MD, taking day trips to DC throughout the years to visit museums, enjoy DC restaurants, and take in festivals, concerts, and sporting events. I have often, over 48 years walked up to the gates of the White House to see it's beauty and meditate on its historic significance.

The day that Trump demolished the East Wing of The People's House, I sobbed.

Who gave him the right to behave worse than any tenant of any rental property? How can he get away with that?

There has to be some accountability. Some sense that Democratic principles mean something and dictator wannabes won't win. That we can expect and enforce decorum, decency, and respect for the law.

Please demonstrate that that still exists by doing whatever is in your power to enforce.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing - without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight - is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you for your consideration.

Not even one thin dime should be spent on Trump‘s ballroom. Destruction of the east wing of the White House was not done with permits or architectural planning or design or authorization and it’s still a mystery what happened to the contents. The project has not followed legal guidelines. The destruction of the east wing did not follow legal guidelines.

This was destruction. The ballroom project needs to be canceled, and the East wing needs to be restored to its former glory. Investigations into who allowed this to happen who ordered this to happen and who participated in its happening are overdue.

The idea that this is a renovation is an insult to America.

The “ballroom” is hands down the most awful addition to the White House. The horrific destruction of the rose garden was bad enough but the destruction of the east wing was just on another level tragedy. This ballroom idea makes the White House sound like it’s a kings palace and not “the people’s house” this is not trumps house, it’s a lease.

This project was launched without review from the proper agencies and organizations. There was no review or planning. The funding is mysterious as to where the money came from, where it is kept, who has control of it or anything else. It was a total shock to see a section to one of our nation's iconic buildings torn down with a bulldozer on a whim.

Please stop this construction and demolition. Impound the money this is supposedly "donated." Let the proper commissions and historic planning authorities take charge.

We are horrified about how this got as far as it did and must be put to a stop and the damage restored. Nothing should be torn down or built without proper review.

The destruction of the East Wing is a great loss to our most iconic national treasure, the White House. It was done without any consideration by the planning commission. The current president seems to think he personally owns every federal building, but he's wrong. These historic buildings belong to the people of the United States, and they should be preserved for those who come after us.

Trump must be stopped from building his vanity Ballroom as a token to himself. Especially when he will be using taxpayers dollars as he pockets the donations from other countries and billionaires. Nobody wants the Trump Ballroom other than Trump. Trump claims that they United States been wanting a Ballroom for 150 years as if he was around for a150 years to know that. Trump is expected to renovate the John F Kennedy Cultural Center most likely to tear down the John F Kennedy Cultural Center as he did the East Wing. Trump will most likely build his 250 foot tall Arc de Trump in place of the John F Kennedy Cultural Center. Trump needs to be removed from everything that has to do with Washington DC and that goes for the White House.

If President Trump wanted ballroom, at the very least, he should have remembered he is a "renter" and the American public is his landlord. There was and is a proper way to make changes to "our" home. Permits should have been secured, bids taken and plans submitted. The Whitehouse is an important historical structure (all of it) and should have been treated as such. In place of a ballroom what he took down should be replaced.

Aesthetically speaking, the replacement for the East Wing of the White House proposed by the Trump administration is a disproportionate eyesore that will destroy the beauty and symmetry of the entire campus. Even worse is the lawless behavior of the Trump administration in destroying the existing East Wing--of the People's House--with no approved replacement plan. It's an ugly vanity project with no useful purpose other than to glorify one man, who has demonstrably gaudy and vulgar sensibilities. Approval of the Trump administration's project will become a source of infinite regret once Trump leaves office.

As an American woman, I am heartbroken and enraged at the destruction of the East Wing of the White House. This building does not BELONG to the President, but rather, it is a historical building that belongs to the AMERICAN PEOPLE.

The East Wing was the location of the history of our nation's First Ladies. Where are the historical artifacts from the East Wing? Why were we, the PEOPLE, not given an opportunity to speak or give an opinion before tearing our house down?

I do not want a $400 million ballroom erected in it's place. I want it RESTORED, and it's contents returned to their rightful location, so that future generations of American children can learn about our nation's amazing First Ladies, as it was intended.

I was shocked by the destruction of the East Wing of the White House. The destruction was undertaken without input from the public in any way. It violated the requirements for construction/destruction of a National Monument. The person responsible should be in jail until the East Wing is restored and paid for 100% by that person. Because the area is above the White House bunker, and degrades the security of that bunker, the person responsible should be considered a National Security risk and prosecuted accordingly. All that aside, I feel that there is absolutely no need for a "Ballroom" at the White House. The area should be restored and improved to better allow public access. The everyday citizen will never set foot in a "Ballroom" and there is no need to reward this crime by allowing it to proceed.

No one approved of this except for trump. History has been razed! The East Wing needs to be rebuilt to its former glory, no ballroom for ogliarchs! The administration is destroying the history of America bit by bit. I oppose spending $300 million. Those who are allowing this should be penalized! No one is above the law but some believe that they are. Stop yet another madness in America! Stop the destruction NOW!

I am writing because I want the so-called modernization project of the East Wing of the White House to be canceled. It was really the destruction of the East Wing and of American history. Spending $300 million on this project is obscene and it was started without proper authorization, permits, or design review. I would like the East Wing to be rebuilt in a way that honors the original design and history of the White House. I feel it is imperative to penalize those who broke the law while permitting and destroying the East Wing.

The reckless razing of the historic and cherished East Wing of the White House is not modernization, but desecration. With no regard for worker safety, no thought to environmental or human hazards, no input from government agencies that should be involved in a project of this scale, and a complete disregard for the historic and national significance of this structure, the President ordered a wrecking ball taken to the East Wing much as a toddler might topple building blocks.
The only reasonable course of action, given the circumstances, is to rebuild the structure with careful and detailed attention to replicating the original as much as possible.

I want this project canceled, and for the public to be able to review a set of design proposals that would place a modernized office space on the original footprint of the East Wing. The New East Wing should include significant design elements similar to the Old East Wing, and several historical markers commemorating the important events in American women's history that took place in the Old East Wing.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I would respectfully ask for the proper environmental and design review given that the White House belongs to the American people.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Hi, I want to object to the east wing ballroom construction. We dont need seating for over 900 people and a ballroom that dwarfs the capital. How would the ballroom be staffed? Event staff? Full time? part time? Maintenance? How will it pay for itself? Ive read there are about 4-6 state parties per year and only about 2 are 400-500 people. If you have a smaller dinner of about 100 they will be lost in a building that large. I see this as a want issue not a need issue. If you have a large party of over 400 put them in a tent like most large gatherings. Tents can have flooring. We dont need an eyesore that looks like a hotel ballroom. Please decline the ballroom request. Thanks for all you do!

How dare he? A tenant in a leased house decided to demolish a third of it. He didn't ask permission from the owners - the American people - he just razed it. What happened to all the historic contents inside? Anybody's guess. What happened to the historical materials used? In a landfill somewhere. The First Lady's office? Apparently First Ladies are not nearly as important as entertaining in a grandiose fashion. Can no one control the rogue occupant of the White House? Can no one reign in him, reminding him that he is not the supreme power of the land; that he is one of three branches of government that answer to US citizens? I would say a pox on his house, but it would only be two-thirds effective.

Dear National Capital Planning Commission,

Please oppose the building of a very expensive ballroom where the East Wing used to be. "Modernization" of the now destroyed East Wing area may well be needed, but creating a place where only the rich and famous will be served does not speak well of our country and our government, which should be for "all people." We work with homeless people and people in recovery. We daily see places where public and private funds could go a long ways in helping create and sustain faith-based recovery programs (such as the men's and women's recovery houses we recently opened in our small town in NE Washington State) and helping create and sustain affordable housing, something sorely needed throughout this nation. I feel the $3 Million that will be spent on this extravagant building, even if it comes from private funds, is a waste of money. The upkeep of this facility will rest with the taxpayers for generations to come. We didn't ask for it. We will never use it. I would like you to stop this project if at all possible.

Thank you for listening.

I oppose this project continuing. Sadly, much damage has already been done.

Due Process in this country should include having a plan in place before the destruction of a property such as the East Wing of the White House. And Due Process should also penalize those who ignored laws and standards and chose to move forward with irreversible steps without necessary approvals in place.

Pledges of Financial Support from businesses without any transparency raise many more concerns about how this project is theoretically being paid for. Moving forward without full understanding of what will be done, who is in charge of changes, how it is funded (with full disclosure) and assurances that it won't continue to be a plan that expands on the whims of one person is unacceptable.

This project is a travesty in every sense of the word. The American people, who own this house, we're given no choice in the matter. Historical building destroyed for the ego of a tyrant. We do not need a $400M ballroom. We need lower costs of living, universal Healthcare and a president who respects and defends the Constitution. This project MUST be stopped and trump made to pay for the restoration of the East Wing.

The East Wing was destroyed with no input from anyone. There is no reason for a large ballroom only to satisfy one person's ego. The East Wing must be replaced with its original design or a design that is pleasing and is more closely aligned with the rest of the Ehite Housr.

I write to express my strong support for ensuring that the rebuilding of the East Wing remains fully consistent with the historic design, scale, and architectural character of the White House.

The White House is one of the nation’s most important and iconic civic symbols. Its proportions, materials, and understated elegance reflect values of continuity, stability, and democratic stewardship. Changes to the East Wing should reinforce, rather than disrupt, this harmony.

Specifically, I urge that future plans:

Respect the existing scale and proportions of the White House complex, avoiding additions that would visually dominate or diminish the historic structure.

Use materials, detailing, and architectural language that complement the original design.

Preserve clear visual relationships between the East Wing and the main residence.

Prioritize preservation and thoughtful stewardship over expansion driven solely by short-term functional needs.

Seek guidance from preservation experts and uphold established historic preservation standards.

The White House belongs to the American people. And we, the people, expect it to be treated with reverence and with the greatest of care to maintain its architectural and aesthetic integrity.

I am writing to strongly oppose the inaptly named East Wing Modernization project, which was started without proper authorization, permits and design review. It is, in fact, NOT a modernization project but rather a complete razing of a part of American history - a building that belongs NOT to the President of the United States, but rather to its people. We only loan it to the president for his or her use for a period of four to eight years; it is not his or hers to with as he or she pleases. I want this project cancelled and the East Wing of the White House - the people's house - to be rebuilt and restored to its former condition. I do not support this project under any circumstances. I would love to share this comment which was posted previous because it precisely states my own opinion on this matter. I suppose I would just add that, with the suffering in our country at the moment - from the high cost of medical care to all the programs that help those in need which have been decimated by this administration - even considering a project like this is despicable. I suggest, the National Trust order the East Wing fully restored and paid for personally by the president.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I further urge the National Capital Planning Commission to pursue litigation against the current occupant of the White House, to recover expenses for the restoration of the East Wing.

There are SO MANY more worthy projects to spend $300 million on (or is it $400 million now?).
He is selling Presidential influence to billionaires, a million dollars at a time.

But first, it was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The People's House was partially razed, live on TV.
The aim of this project is not modernization, but the erasure of previous history to put a faux gold veneer on an ego project.
This project should be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to a reasonable design.
As anyone who deals with the government and history would tell you, deliberation is expected for changes to a historic building.
No one is above the law. They tore down the PEOPLE's HOUSE!
To permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law is an insult to the American people.

For me, a “grand ballroom” is entirely inappropriate for the American executive branch building. A ballroom is a display of excess, wealth, power, elitism, and performative grandeur. That’s the domain of royalty and the like… not a temporary public servant. The executive is not a king. The president is a servant. The White House is the People’s House not his personal house to do with as he wills. How he can get away with just bringing a wrecking crew and demolishing a whole historical building, a wing of our great house with no oversight and no repercussions is beyond me. It should be built back as it was to spec and modernized within those confines, and Trump should pay for it with his own money, lord knows he’s made enough off of this presidency to do so. We cannot allow a wanna be dictator who is an employee of the United States People to do as he wishes with no input from historical societies and the people he serves. Our governing documents start “We the People…” the White House is ours as a collective. In this country, we have fought and won against Kings who would try control us, this should be no different!

I strenuously oppose any construction in place of the historic East Wing. The demolition and redesign were enacted without following the proper process and with corrupt fundraising activity. The project is not modernization but as self-serving and self-aggrandizing construction serving only the interest of Trump, not the American people. Any legitimate project should follow the traditional review and approval process. I urge this body to prevent any further work on this or any other alteration projects on the White House until such a process has been completed. The original and historic East Wing should be restored as closely as possible to its most recent form, and the cost for that restoration should be borne by Trump personally and the other private parties who contributed funds to the unapproved and unofficial project accounts.

It would have been nice if the public comment period had happened before the East Wing was bulldozed.

I would have liked to see a design that represented the aesthetic the founders had envisioned instead of this ridiculous gaudy ballroom meant to show opulence while a significant portion of Americans struggle to make it paycheck to paycheck. I do NOT approve of this project nor the "donors" buying favor in a government that should work FOR the common man. And not for the billionaire elite.

I am writing to add my name to the list of people who see the White House as a home for rent to the President of the United States by the people of the United States.
The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
Respectfully,
Julia Markel

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House in this manner is a destruction of American history. The East Wing of the peoples house/White House was destroyed arbitrarily and without any notice or buy in from any body or officials with any legal authority. There was no structural reason to destroy it, only an arbitrary decision by the current resident (not owner) that he would prefer to have a 300 million dollar ballroom instead! This project needs to be stopped immediately, and the east wing of the White House needs to be rebuilt to replicate, as much as possible, what was destroyed - without the personal taste of the residents considered. They are, after all, only temporary residents in the White House, not owners.

Thank you for your consideration.

I strongly oppose the allocation of $300 million for the East Wing project. This initiative appears to have moved forward without proper authorization, required permits, or an appropriate design review process. While it is being described as modernization, it instead represents the irreversible destruction of historic American architecture.

Historic buildings are living witnesses to our national story. They embody craftsmanship, artistic vision, and the cultural values of the generations who came before us. Once demolished, authentic historic architecture cannot be recreated — it can only be imitated. The loss is permanent, not only structurally, but culturally and symbolically.

Preservation is not about resisting change; it is about stewarding our shared inheritance responsibly. We hold these landmarks in trust for future generations. To dismantle them without lawful process or public accountability erodes both our architectural heritage and our civic integrity.

I urge the immediate cancellation of this project and a commitment to restoring the East Wing to its former design and historical character. No individual or institution is above the law. Upholding established review processes and preservation standards is essential to maintaining public trust and honoring the legacy entrusted to us as Americans.

Thank you for your consideration.

No funds should be spent on the project as it is currently envisioned. The very existence of this project is legally suspect. A wing of the People's House was demolished, and the work has proceeded to date without proper authorization, permits, or design review. "Moderization" is a misnomer; this project is a razing, not just of a building but of the history we as Americans share. The project must be cancelled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored as it was. Those responsible for the demolition are not above the law, no matter how high their office. How is it that all projects on national and historic treasures must undergo a vetting and planning process to ensure that history is preserved, updates are done with an eye to preserving our history and national treasures, EXCEPT for the one that is attached to the White House. The East Wing WAS a valuable piece of our collective history. Just like the Rose Garden. But the temporary occupant of the White House thinks he has the authority to bypass the laws and customs of our country. This is the dude who claims to be the “law and order” president.

The destruction of the East wing is a crime. Please do not compound that crime by allowing a “ballroom” - a monument to vanity - to be built. We need to restore the East Wing and reject any proposal to add a ballroom.

Thank you.

Since Trump has taken ownership of the Kennedy Center why not use the Kennedy Center for events?
The Trump-Kennedy Center is only 10 min from the White House and has parking.

As a member of the Closter Historic Commission, I I am tasked with the preservation of historic building. When learning of the then proposed demolition of a section of The people's House, I immediately checked preservation guidelines and was shocked and dismayed that the White House, Supreme Court and congressional building are exempt from Section 106 review. Along with the American flag the White House represents America both here and around the world.
To have one man unilaterally deciding to alter a building that has stood for decades should have never been allowed . It is up to you to right this assault on our national treasure. I implore you to rebuild the west wing or at minimum oversee the construction for an addition that is sympathetic t the White House.
Thank you for your time and I would appreciate being kept appraised of your hearings.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Respecting our nation's history, I am appalled by the wanton destruction of the White House for the purpose of adding an unnecessary"ballroom". While the cost of restoring the east wing to it's previous state may be alarming, it must be done. If funds are needed for restoration I am sure the American people will chip in. But first, the person who demanded the demolition needs to commit to fund the cost of restoration before any additional public funding are solicited. The rule in our house is "you broke it, you fix it".

As a U.S. Citizen and voter, I oppose the planned East Wing replacement with a Ballroom. While I am not opposed to a ballroom for use by the executive and other branches, I am opposed to the manner and disrespect of this process to the People's House, up to this point. I strongly encourage the Commission to return the East Wing of the White House to something befitting both the history of the location as well as the architecture and scale of the rest of the White House complex. To build a ballroom of this scale and proximity to the People's House, sends a message that this is not a working location for the Executive Branch but has become a grand palace for billionaires and the elite. May you do your duty and return this house to the people, ALL people, and not just those who prefer to lavish themselves with luxuries at our financial and democratic expense.

Please be so kind to represent me by rejecting and cancelling the "modernization" of the East Wing. Surely millions of people have entered (this casually destroyed building) as they began their White House tour. Those memories of charm, nostalgi, and connection are sullied by an unauthorized destruction of the entire wing. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, regardless of how it is intended to be funded. The White House should reflect the stately but humble beginnings of this nation--one without gild and excess. This project proceeded without proper authorization, permits, or NPS design review according to media coverage. No single person has the authority to initiate and/or fund any such project as a personal preference for grandeur. As I understand it, no permit or NPS advice was sought for this project; de-construction equipment simply showed up, interrupting dreams and fond memories of the East Wing. Please cancel the project and hold accountable, by formally charging, all those who broke our tender laws for preservation of our national history.

The destruction of the historic East Wing of the White House is a crime without a purpose except for aggrandizement of the President's ego. His ego will perish someday and so will the history of this amazing building that witnessed so many epic events in American history. The process of its destruction met no standards or public comment. The plans for the new building are grotesque. The GSA should endeavor to restore the building as it was with improvements to efficiency and security and the ballroom should never be completed.

Dear NCP Commission:
I wish to hereby give my full-throated and emphatic objection to the planned "Modernization" project of the East Wing of the White House. This project was initiated without the consent or input of the people who own the East Wing of the White House, i.e. the citizens of the United States of America. Its implementation was initiated with a callous and cynical disregard for history, due process, or respect for existing rules, regulations, or aesthetics. The only thing that could make the demolition of the East Wing worse would be to allow the construction of the planned ballroom in its place. I hereby voice my request that the East Wing be rebuilt and that the plan and implementation of such plan be done with due deference to the building's extraordinary history and the architectural aesthetics that give the buildings of our nation's capital a sense of dignity, grandeur, modesty, and gravitas. The building that was torn down belonged to the people; any building that goes up in its stead must likewise belong to them.
Sincerely,

Sean Branney

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you so much for all that you are doing to fix the damage that has been done to our historical Peoples House. My hope is that something similar to the original East Wing can be constructed and the First Ladies portraits will have a place of recognition again. There was so much history in that hall and those rooms. I can't actually believe that the need for a seldom used ballroom outweighs the importance of the work that was done in the East Wing. Please don't let a massive oversized ballroom diminish our White House. I don't think adding a second floor to the West Wing to balance the ballroom is a legitimate fiscally appropriate solution either. Two wrongs don't make a right.
Thank you so much for helping us save our most important historical building ~ our White House.

Somewhere there's an explanation of how the current President came to believe that he alone could choose to tear down the East Wing and replace it with a $300 million ballroom designed, no doubt, to reflect his ostentatious personal taste. though I haven't bothered to chase down that wretched tale, I'm sure that other presidents would have consulted any number of experts and, perhaps, the public, before embarking on such a significant re-making of the „People's House." That he failed to do so is just another expression of his arrogance and contempt for democracy. I suggest that any further work be held to the strictest standards by the government body created to oversee such projects.

This project should be killed in its entirety for several reasons:
First, the demolition of the White House East Wing occurred without proper permitting and public notice making it essentially an illegal destruction of Federal property. That behavior should not be rewarded.
Second, the proposed structure is not in architectural harmony with the existing building, dwarfing it in proportion and clashing with the historical style of one of the United State's original public buildings.
Third, financing for this project was not approved or appropriated by Congress and the proposed donor financing is not transparent and riddled with potential conflict of interest and waste, fraud and abuse.
Fourth, management of the proposed project is poorly defined and much appears to be placed beyond Federal control, including competitive selection of contractors making the entire proposal questionable with regard to acquisition regulations.
I urge you to kill this project and begin the process of investigating how the decisions leading up to this application occurred without necessary public review and comment for possible criminal violations. I also urge the planning commission to initiate an independent process for restoration of the damaged structure that is in full compliance with law and regulation and that places the burden of cost on President Trump, not on the taxpayers.

The East Wing should not have been allowed to be destroyed! Proper guidelines were not followed prior to the razing of this historic building. Rather than allowing a vanity ballroom to be built, the East Wing should be rebuilt as it was designed. This is the People's House and the People did not want or need a huge ballroom. Just because the current occupant desires it, is not a justification. Procedures for modification of historic structures were not adhered to. Trump lied about the ballroom not touching the East Wing. He never had the authority to proceed with his plan. This must not happen!

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I live in a historic district in my town. Buying or living in a house here means I accept the guidance of the historic commission and agree to abide by the strict approval process. Failure to adhere can have big consequences including returning the property, at my expense, to the former status. And / Or fines paid by me to compensate the loss of what I ruined in our historic district.

The White House belongs to WE THE PEOPLE and should be under the guidance of the commission assigned

Please do not shrink from you role in protecting the public property and history

First of all, it's not a modernization project; they destroyed the entire East Wing without permits or notice and want to spend $300 Million for an ego project for the current president. It's shameful the way they went about this and they should be forced to use that donated 300 million to rebuild it as it was. Bad behavior should not be rewarded . They decided to ask for forgiveness rather than permission because this president thinks he is above the law.

If there is anything left over from that 300 million, it should be used for reparations for all the damage ICE's illegal search and seizures caused.

To the Esteemed National Capital Planning Commission,

I am writing in opposition to the current plan to turn the illegally destroyed East Wing of the White House into a ballroom. It is a sacrilege and betrayal of the American people that this historic wing, where so many First Ladies led programs that improved the United States for the better and provided soft diplomacy abroad, has been torn down. I strongly urge the Commission to take control of the restoration/modernization project to ensure that a team of historical experts, architects, and education specialists, working with the park service and with public representation, lead the development of a plan that is in better keeping with the purpose and history of the White House. The American people are not interested in ballrooms. They do want to visit this cherished landmark and learn more about the history of the great events that have occurred there and the leaders who did them. No one person has a right to make the decision to destroy American history. I respectfully ask that the NCPC ensure this project is done according to the exacting standards that are the hallmark of your work and that have led the preservation of our national history.

Very Respectfully,
Susan Douglas

This wing of the White House should be restored to its earlier glory. This current president, without permission, decided to tear it down without acquiring and filing the correct permits and build a ballroom. The demolition was done without any congressional oversight and has left a gaping hole where history once stood. The current occupant of the White House is not the owner of this property; the citizens of the USA are. I hope that the National Capital Planning Commission will rebuild and reconstruct the East Wing according to its historic blueprint.

First, it is unconscionable that our east wing of the White House was demolished without any announcement of how the contents inside were preserved (or destroyed, which I only assume is the case). Early 1900's construction was sturdy and irreplaceable and the hastily designed, unnecessary gaudy ballroom to be built in its place is heart wrenching. A cheap, quickly designed structure full of one man's cheap, gaudy taste will embarrass us all and we will all result in regret once this horror show of a presidency is finally over.

I remember being taught that that the houses never belonged to us and that we couldn't put a thumbtack into a wall without repairing it when we moved out. I'm now 69 years old and appreciate historic buildings. I am aghast that a president would willfully destroy an entire wing of the White House without any approval. I am confused as to how you modernize a historical building that is no longer standing. I have looked at the renderings of this project and find it to be an abomination that would dwarf the elegance and symbolism of the White House. These buildings were built to house the government employees to complete the work for the American people. To build such a frivolous monstrosity that will be used for a very narrow populace of the American people is bizarre. There are tons of alternate locations that it can be built at, but next to the White house is not one of them. I want the history and purpose of the East Wing restored before one more cent is spent on a ballroom.

He should be made to rebuild the east wing. To the National Capital Planning Commission:
I strongly oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing - because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration, which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.
The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.
The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration. Major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth Feldman, MD

I respectfully suggest that the Tech bros get their bribes back, and the East wing be restored. The building of a golden ballroom without prior approval or normal protocol is bad enough. Spending huge sums on a vanity project which the American people have not requested while Americans are losing healthcare, Medicare, Veterans support and global respect swell as dealing with skyrocketing costs is unconscionable. The Easy Wing was a beautiful historic part of the White House that the American people cherish. Even Donald Trump understood that testing it down was not going to be approved - evidenced by his promise that it wouldn't be touched followed swiftly with a secret demolition. It's time to stand up for right and say no more! And while you are at it, could we please get JackievKrnnefy's elegant rose garden back instead of the Panera wanna be food court. Thank you!

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. No president is the owner of the property or the structures thereon; instead, the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The proposed "modernization project" is in no way modernization of an existing building. The East Wing has been completely razed. American history has been razed alongside the building itself. Finally, the East Wing contents, which include historically relevant and culturally meaningful materials, relics, and other items, have been trashed or spirited away as a result of the destruction of the East Wing — a travesty on its own.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight clearly violated existing law. Moreover, it violated the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require full reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Allowing this project to move forward as proposed despite the violations of law and the public trust would be a blight on American history and a slap in the face of the American people. This must not be allowed.

I want this ballroom project cancelled and desire that the East Wing be restored to its original form. This president disregarded the procedures to get plans approved, he disregarded the historical importance of the building, and he lied about even having the money to replace the wing. We absolutely DO NOT need a ballroom that seats 1,000 people! Waste of money, costs of HVAC would be a monumental cost to our taxpayers.

The Whitehouse belongs to the American people... NOT TO THE CURRENT RESIDENT. Trump had no right to destroy 30% of the Whitehouse. The ballroom project must be stopped and the East Wing must be rebuilt with Trump's personal money. It must be rebuilt under the direction and by the design of the appropriate historical agencies and commissions.

It began without proper authorization, the demolition was done without appropriate mitigation in place (i.e. asbestos) which also indicates a lack of design review all the way down to a lack of proper permits.

The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was and properly modernized so it can be enjoyed for decades to

This project needs to be immediately stopped. The destruction of the East Wing in the first place was illegal, ignoring review policies permits and even toxic debris disposal. The proposed replacement is an abomination that destroys the historical nature of the site, which belongs to the country. It is bigger than the actual White House. It, too, does not have the proper permits or approvals. Additionally, the funding mechanism of "donations" is nothing more than pay-to-play shakedown for corporations to gain political favors. Everything about this project is wrong and it cannot proceed. Rebuild the East Wing on a proper scale, in consultation with historical associations and the planning commission. This is a vanity project of the current president and it will be torn down once he is gone; save everyone the hassle and don't allow it to be built.

What has been done to the East Wing of the White House was a wasteful, selfish, insult to the US and all US citizens. At a time when the country is in turmoil, when health care is unreachable by many, when our children are poorly cared for and poorly educated, the last thing we need is an immense ballroom which serves no significant national interest. No matter what party's representative is occupying the White House, such a tasteless, wasteful, vandalism or our nation's heritage is scandalous. It is a gross and decadent monument to a monumental ego.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.
The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.
The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I OPPOSE the spending of $300million on this project.
This project so far razed American history.
I think it has been done so far illegally.
I lived in D.C. when my dad was at the Pentagon and I am disgusted by this destruction of our White House.
I want the East Wing restored to its former design.
Those who broke the law to destroy Our Property should be penalized, these law-breakers offend me and everything my family sacrificed a normal life for.

The travesty this project brings to the American People's Whitehouse is horrific. It destroys hundreds of years of history and does so without getting permission from any of the proper authorities. It is a slap in the face to all Americans and needs to be stopped and immediately returned to its former glory. And that should be paid for by the perpetrators of this crime
Thank You

When I was 11 years old in 1980, my parents took me and my sisters to see and tour the White House. It is a very precious memory to me. Now, I am saddened and disgusted by the destruction that was done to the East Wing of the White House, which is not any president's personal property. Donald Trump had that demolition done without any authorization or permits, and without taking care to preserve historic fixtures, materials, artwork, etc. I believe it should be fully restored to its 2024 condition at his personal expense. By no means should a gaudy ballroom be constructed.

I would think that ANY sort of renovation that an occupant wanted to do to the White House should have to pass through a careful assessment and approval process — just as a pastor isn't free to renovate a parsonage without permission from the congregation; a faculty member living in university housing isn't free to renovate without permission from the university; and a common ordinary renter isn't free to renovate an apartment without permission from the landlord. If any such occupants destroyed the housing in which they were living, and which they did not own, they would have to pay the cost of full repairs. That should be the case with Donald Trump as well. No one should be above the law. Thank you.

I strongly oppose the construction of the ballroom in the site of the former east wing. Thie east wing was destroyed without any public review, authorization, or permits. This is the people's house, not President Trump's personal property to do with as he pleases. The east wing should be restored. If Mr. Trump thinks a ballroon is necessary, he can go through the proper channels and, if approved, build it somewher it will not ruin the profile of a beautiful historic building.
Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

I am writing to express serious concern regarding the reported destruction of the East Wing of the White House and the proposal to construct a $300 million ballroom funded by private technology companies.

The White House complex is not merely an active executive residence; it is a designated National Historic Landmark and a property of exceptional national significance. The East Wing, though constructed in the twentieth century, forms an integral part of the historic composition and functional evolution of the Executive Mansion. Alterations of this magnitude raise substantial concerns under federal historic preservation law.

Under the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA), federal agencies are required to take into account the effects of their undertakings on historic properties and to provide the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation an opportunity to comment (Section 106). Demolition of a contributing historic structure within a National Historic Landmark complex represents one of the most adverse effects possible under the statute. Such an action would require rigorous review, documented analysis of alternatives, and meaningful consultation with preservation authorities and the public.

Destruction of a historic structure without clearly demonstrated necessity contradicts the core preservation principle of avoiding adverse effects where feasible alternatives exist. Rehabilitation, adaptive reuse, or sensitive expansion are long-standing preservation strategies encouraged under federal guidelines and the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties. Wholesale demolition should be a last resort, not a convenience.

Equally concerning is the proposal to replace the structure with a $300 million ballroom financed by private technology companies. Even if privately funded, the project would still constitute a federal undertaking on federal land, thereby triggering NHPA review and other applicable compliance requirements. Private funding does not exempt a project from preservation obligations, nor does it diminish the federal government’s duty to steward nationally significant historic resources.

Moreover, introducing a privately financed ceremonial structure into the White House complex raises governance and ethical concerns. The White House is a public symbol of democratic government, not a venue for corporate patronage. Accepting substantial funding from private technology firms for a permanent structural addition risks creating the appearance of undue influence, preferential access, or symbolic branding within a national monument that belongs to all Americans.

From a preservation standpoint, such a ballroom would also alter the historic setting, feeling, and association of the property — key aspects of integrity under preservation law. The White House grounds have evolved carefully over more than two centuries; major new construction must be evaluated not only for utility but for long-term impact on historic character.

Federal preservation policy is rooted in stewardship — the obligation to pass forward historic resources unimpaired for future generations. Demolishing a contributing structure within a National Historic Landmark and replacing it with a privately sponsored ceremonial hall undermines that principle and sets a troubling precedent for other federally protected properties.

I respectfully urge the National Park Service and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation to ensure full compliance with all preservation laws, to demand transparent public review, and to prioritize rehabilitation and preservation over irreversible demolition and privately influenced development.

The White House is not simply a building complex; it is a living symbol of constitutional continuity. Its stewardship requires restraint, legality, and unwavering commitment to the public trust.

Respectfully,
A. Bovee

The White House East Wing project has moved forward in a reckless, uninformed way, both symbolically and literally taking a wrecking ball to a process that is supposed to center the priorities of the people. This approach isn’t about modernization; it’s about ego. Instead of safeguarding the historical integrity and public significance of the White House, the project has been driven by the desire to make a mark rather than to be a responsible steward.

Updates matter. So do oversight, transparency, and collaboration.

Once again, a privileged few have shaped the outcome while the public has been sidelined. Whether the concern is democracy, preservation, or responsible management of public property, this project should be transferred to a neutral, collaborative body. It must be handled with fiscal discipline and never at the expense of funding essential government services.

In regards to the East Wing “modernization “, more correctly titled as rebuild, I strongly disagree with the project as it is. To make the unapproved demolition of the East Wing more palatable, the Executive office has included improvements to various parks surrounding the White House grounds. These projects are not related, and should not be included in the rebuild of the East Wing.

In addition, this project is for an ever-expanding ballroom, whose use will be limited. Offices and smaller use spaces were demolished but are not being replaced in any form, nor recommended for replacement in the future. Historical artifacts previously displayed in the East Wing are now in storage without plans in this new “wing”.

The demolition was hastily thought out and accomplished and the rebuild is much the same. What use, other than a grand ballroom, will we have? I would rather have the empty ground than have this monstrosity built.

Please help preserve our White House and our history for the American people. It belongs to us.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Many years ago, I was contracted to do some special event work on the south lawn. We attended meetings in the East Wing. These beautiful rooms were respected. We all knew how fortunate we were to be able to represent our companies and to be asked to participate.
The idea that remodeling these rooms was not discussed and planned with staff and Presidential Historians is wrong and those who involved should be punished.
Please stop all construction until experts, preservationists, and White House Historians can be involved with planning the rooms' restoration.

I totally object to this project being built without proper authorization from Congress, permits or a design review from a restoration committee. This $300 million could well have built a smaller project while truly modernizing the East Wing without having destroyed the historical value as well as its antiquity. We were told by the president that the East Wing would not be destroyed and yet it was- another lie from this administration who doesn't care about procedure or the law. Or the truth. A smaller project would have cost much less and the leftover monies could have paid for health care through the ACA for some time. I demand as a taxpayer that the East Wing be restored to its former glory and that the entire project be canceled. Whoever razed the East Wing without permission should be tried and punished as its destruction is an affront to all Americans. Restore the East Wing to what it was before it was ruined.

Not to mention that it was originally listed as fully funded when in fact it has no funding at all. I have had the privilege of visiting the White House on three separate occasions to tour the Christmas decorations during the Biden administration. The beauty, history, community and spirit of this country and the holy season were on full display for thousands of lucky visitors. I am heartbroken that others will no longer be able to enjoy that unique experience. This disaster must somehow be remedied in a controlled, responsible, and thoughtful manner.

I echo the words of another concerned American:
"The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion."

I strongly object to this illegal project. The tearing down of the East Wing was not authorized and caused great emotional harm to those of us who believe in our country and the rich history of the White House. Please do not allow a “ballroom” to replace our national history, we do not need a ballroom, we need to remember who we are and where we came from, do not allow our history to be errased.
Thank you

I respectfully oppose the proposed East Wing Modernization project.

The East Wing of the White House is not simply a functional annex—it is an integral part of one of the most important historic sites in the United States. Any intervention at this scale should prioritize preservation, continuity, and restraint. As currently proposed, this project appears to go well beyond modernization and risks permanently altering or erasing historically significant fabric that cannot be replaced once lost.

I am deeply concerned that the scope, cost, and intent of this project are not aligned with established principles of historic preservation, transparency, or public accountability. Major changes to a National Historic Landmark should be subject to rigorous review, full public disclosure, and clear authorization before any irreversible action is taken. That standard has not yet been met.

The White House belongs to the American people. Decisions that affect its historic integrity must reflect the highest respect for the law, for preservation standards, and for future generations. I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to reject the current proposal and require a plan that recaptures what has been lost.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

This plan for a ballroom addition to the White House is an obscenity. It is a bloated and vulgar architectural statement, which represents Trump's ego more than a real need.

Furthermore, this President had no right to destroy an historic element of the people's house.

The White House is both a historical landmark and the physical embodiment of America. To raze a portion of its structure for your whims is both a slap in the face to both your predecessors and America itself.

If you are truly about to"America First", you would preserve the White House and not make it an unfortunate byproduct to your insatiable vanity.

To Whom It May Concern:

I write to express distaste for demolishing the East Wing of the White House to create a tacky gold ballroom. The White House is a historic building that is resplendent in U.S. history. This history needs to be carefully restored—if not to what was there when Trump tore it down, then to some previous and historically relevant time period. If it is not to be the offices of the first person, perhaps it could be reimagined in other, historically appropriate ways. The proposed ballroom is too big for the site and inappropriate. The White House will outlast the current president and should not be Mara Largo 2.0.

Thank you for your kind consideration in this matter.

As far as I'm concerned the destruction of the East Wing happened illegally and without Congressional or public approval. We still don't even know what has been preserved historically and there are pieces of this building that are gone forever. The East Wing should be rebuilt to reflect what it looked like prior to this illegal action.

No ballroom should be built without historical preservation approval, Congressional approval, and public approval.

It's also devastating to know that trees of historical significance were removed and can never be replaced.

The White House is owned by the American People not any one person.

What Donald J Trump and his band of enablers have done (and are continuing to do) to the White House (the Peoples' House) is travesty, and most likely criminal. Donald J Trump and his enablers have destroyed the East Wing without approval, in order to erect a "ballroom" designed merely to feed his pathetic ego. This "I'm Above the Law" and "I Don't Need to Follow the Law" attitude in regards to the White House needs to be addressed, and Donald J Trump and his enablers thoroughly rebuked.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

I am appalled at the blantant disregard of the guidelines normally followed by past presidents when making changes to our nation's home. I believe these guidelines are in place to maintain the sanctity and historic value of the building. The ballroom project should be stopped and the wing restored to its former beauty. During my visit to Washington, DC, I made it a point to see the White House. Standing before it, I felt immense pride in the United States. However, ever since the East Wing was destroyed, I have experienced a deep sense of sadness. It's difficult to grasp the idea that a part of our history is disappearing.
I am strongly against allocating $300 million to this project, which began without proper authorization, required permits, or a thorough design review. This is not a modernization effort—it is a complete demolition of an important piece of American history. I urge that this project be canceled and that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored to its original design. Upholding the law is essential, and allowing this project to move forward without holding those responsible accountable would be a disservice to every law-abiding American.

I oppose the $300 million East Wing project. Here's why:

They broke the law. This project started without proper authorization, permits, or design review. That's not how government should work.

This isn't modernization. They're tearing down American history, not updating it.

What I want:
- Cancel this project
- Rebuild and restore the East Wing to its original design
- Hold accountable whoever authorized this without following the law

No one is above the law. If we let this go forward, we're telling every law-abiding American that rules don't matter.

Tank you for allowing comments.

I am against this plan for the White House, it has not been planned with support from the people of the country, nor organizations dedicated to the history and architecture of the country. The building is being rushed through, rather than planned with consideration for what could be used, if anything at all is needed. Obtaining funding from select donors, aligned with the president versus with the project, is detrimental to achieving an outcome that will be wanted by the country.

I have visited Washington, DC several times and always with strong emotions regarding what I see as the sanctity of the place. I often tear up and have a lump in my throat when viewing the monuments, the museums and the White House. There is a sacredness to the place. A place that honors America—all of America—and the sometimes arduous path it took us to get where we are today.
In my view, physical changes to any public space in Washington, DC should be taken with great care. Careful planning with public and professional input from experts should be garnered before moving forward on a project. With the East Wing project, I do not think we have lived up to that standard. There is no sense of place or proportion in a proposed building adjacent to the White House. It diminishes and overwhelms rather than enhances the existing structure. Change and expansion are fine, but only when done so with more care.
Let's go back to the drawing board.

This entire property belongs to ALL of us and any president is just a temporary tenant. It's physical structure should be changed only thoughtfully and with respect for its history and with an eye to the future. I would not want you to approve or authorize the building of a $300,000,000 ballroom that the people of the United States do not want or need.

The destruction of the east wing of our White House was a certain violation of law. It's a historic tragedy. I don't know what the most appropriate action is for you. The only option that is absolutely unacceptable is the construction of any ballroom of any size or cost on that site. Period.

I see other comments requesting it be rebuilt exactly as before. That's not in our best interests either. Surely upgrades were on the wish list. It's up to an experienced group such as yourselves to determine what would be most respectful and reasonable.

No private funds for projects at the White House.

Thank you to the NCPC to stop this abhorrent overreach of Executive Power on demolishing a portion of our White House. It was absolutely appalling that this Administration believed that they could move quickly and unilaterally to destroy the People's House without any discussion or following systems put in place for people's safety and opinion. It is unacceptable that the demolition of the East Wing was done in such a half hazard, careless manner. The fact that no checks and balances were allowed is even more offensive. If a Ball Room is erected, it will become a source of contention for majority of our country. It should not be allowed to be built. The raising if monies for this Ball Room is also questionable. The East Wing should be restored as the Rose Garden that was also destroyed without public comments. An absolute shame.

Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style, update wiring etc. and make interior ADA accessible where possible. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes, ensuring new structure is compatible with and does not compromise visual and historic integrity of the White House building and grounds. Include complete catalog of historic and cultural resources impacted by project and demolition. Also include environmental impact, with particular attention to lead and asbestos.

If a ballroom is needed, provide justification and construct it elsewhere in the city.

Make entire project transparent to public, including, but not limited to: justification, cost benefit analysis, complete project budget (including soft costs), funding sources, design, bidding process, selection process, and construction.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I do not support the building of a ballroom. We are no longer in a world that dances and dines. We need a people's house that is welcoming to students, diplomats, and tourists. We need a balanced structure that separates a warm home from the stoic monuments. There are other places to hold a large gala. The White House needs to be preserved and no more torn down. I would support a rebuild of the same size with different interior or a nice lawn, perhaps a rose garden. We lost that too.

I'd love to see the East Wing simply modernized.

This means modernized offices for the First Lady, a grander entrance for the public, and a state-of-the-art movie theatre that can sit up to 100 guests. Also, perhaps a small garden adjacent to the public entrance.

Perhaps a small kitchen annex and a formal sitting room for the First Lady to entertain any guests she may have.

What's most important is to stay true to the current architecture of the White House, keeping the modernized East Wing in accordance with that architecture. Also, the new East Wing MUST NOT OVERSHADOW the actual White House in size.

And please, NO tacky gold decorations on the walls, doors and windows!

I oppose the spending of $300 million (or any amount of money, actually) on this project. I oppose this project completely. It was initiated without proper authorization, without permits, without design review. It is not a modernization project. It is a complete razing of American history. The destruction of the East Wing without regard to history or existing / ongoing usage is appalling. The White House is the PEOPLE'S HOUSE, the AMERICAN PEOPLE'S HOUSE, and not the property of whomever the current, temporary occupant happens to be. The current occupants are living there only by the graciousness of the American taxpayers. We do not take kindly to tenants willfully destroying our property! I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design (and that should be paid for by the criminals who destroyed it). I also want a full accounting of what happened to the contents of the East Wing -- what happened to the furnishings, the artwork, etc? Where is it now? Who absconded with it or destroyed it? I find it utterly ridiculous that the proposed building at 90k square feet is larger than the White House itself at 55,000 square feet. I also do not believe private donations are going to pay for the new building. US taxpayers are going to have to pay for something we will never even see, let alone use. The former east wing needs to be rebuilt to the former specs. It should have never been torn down before permission was given.

I oppose spending $300 million on this project. The demolition of the East Wing was done without proper approvals or oversight. The White House and all federal property belong to the American people. To be allowed to destroy and rebuild without proper permission violates the rights of all Americans as an affront to the rule of law, separation of powers, and the constitution of the United States. To allow the project to move forward as is essentially permits the president to continue to operate outside of the law established by the constitution, congress and separation of powers. Good day,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the East Wing project.

I am opposed to spending any amount, let alone $300 million, on this so-called modernization project. This is the peoples house, enad this wanton and sudden destruction was started without authorization, permits, or a design plan for review. It is a destruction of our history, and it makes one wonder if it is perhaps a way just to move our money around in ways that are not transparent.

This project should be cancelled, and the wing rebuilt and restored to what it was. I believe any other path makes it seem that we are not all equal in the eyes of the law.

Thank you,

Monica

The actions is this administration are illegal. The White House destruction must stop, the unauthorized damage repaired and the property returned to original condition with no further modifications allowed. These United States are better than this behavior- the actions of President Trump are an embarrassment to our country and its people.
Any steps to prohibit this group of renegades from further efforts is justified. The money involved to restore the Kennedy Center will be astronomical.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. This is the people's house not the house of one person and I want this project canceled. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Obviously there could be areas that need updating but it should be restored to its former glory. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

As a lifelong Washingtonian and American citizen, I oppose this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project, but rather a complete razing of American history. I find it unconscionable that we don't even have information on what has become of the contents of the rooms that were demolished. The White House does not need a facility large enough to host an inauguration - those take place at the Capitol. Please put a stop to all work on this project.

The White House is known as The People's House. I oppose the destruction of the historic section known as the East Wing. This was done suddenly and without the will of the people, or approval of plans submitted to any of the governing entities. We the people say NO to a ballroom, and ask that they replace the East Wing as it was before the unlawful, unauthorized demolition.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

There is a certain sacredness in the buildings of our government, especially The White House. I have seen more than 65 years of the history of our nation. History should be preserved by people entrusted with its care and protection through non-partisan institutions.
The White House is OUR house, not its occupant. Please stop this project and restore the East Wing, if possible.

I oppose spending $300 million for a project that was begun without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The president has already marred a historic building and now plans to proceed without permits, without meaningful public input, without a vetted team of designers.

Its destruction was a slap in the face to all who pledged their minds and muscle to build the East Wing.

If our Congress wants a ballroom-- or some other addition to the White House-- let members of Congress propose it, study it, get consent, seek permits, and use public money for a house that belongs not to President Trump but to the American people.

Please block this project.

Our 250 year existence as a republic should be honored and cherished. The complete destruction of the White House East Wing by Donald Trump and the commencement of an immense White House ballroom, without sufficient study or review by experts, indicates blatant disrespect for the people's house and for the citizens of the United States. Americans are proud of the White House but Trump has tried to personalize it to his taste alone. While not everyone will agree with me that the excessive gold paint and geegaws he has already added are tacky, I believe the majority agree that the decor should remain as timeless and traditional as possible.
The ballroom project should be immediately halted until architects and historians can determine:
1. The manner in which any additional space for whatever purpose can be added to the White House. Do we want to establish a precedent by which any president can increase the footprint of the White House for any reason?
2. If an addition is approved as necessary and beneficial how should the final design be determined? Professionals, no presidents are best suited to keeping the overall look harmonious.

The East Wing should immediately be reconstructed. Donald Trump lied and assured the public that the ballroom would require only minor modifications to the East Wing. His promises are meaningless so the ballroom project needs to be halted until the conditions outlined above are met and the East Wing is once again intact, in as close to its original appearance as possible.

I adamemtly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt under the independent authority and all decisions to be made by the National Trust for Historic Preservation restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding citizens.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose this project, for cause. The project was initiated without the proper consultations, authorizations, permits, or design review. The razing of the East Wing took place without the proper consultations, authorizations, permits, or review; indeed, it is our understanding that the contractor who executed the work has not been paid for the work, either. This is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design with the $300 million set aside for the project, plus any additional pledged monies the President secured in support of the so-called "modernization." No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on the "modernization" of the East Wing of the White House, which was initiated without legal authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather an erasure and attempted re-writing of American history, an offense and insult to every prior President or President's family who occupied and worked in the space. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people, not any current or past temporary resident.

I want this grandiose project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I want the artifacts that may have been destroyed when the wing was razed restored. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Thus, instead of the American people footing the bill for restoration, the persons responsible for the harm should be held liable and required to pay.

The White House belongs to the people of America…. NOT DONALD TRUMP. He destroyed public property. If you or I did something like this without permission we’d be in Prison for a long, long time.
This project should be stopped and the East Wing should be restored at Donald Trump’s Own Expense. His properties should be seized to restore what he destroyed.

We the people should have been allowed to give our opinions on this before he arbitrarily tore down the East Wing. And now he wants to use OUR taxpayer dollars to fund this. What he's proposed is so oversized, so gaudy, and horrendously expensive. The East Wing should be restored to the original and that is the only course of action that I support.

This project should be rejected. It is shocking and outrageous that the East Wing was destroyed. It is an ill conceived vanity folly, undertaken without proper review, permitting or consultation with historians or experts. It is a tragic mistake of epic proportion already, but the monstrosity proposed would be an obscene affront on a precious national monument. The property should be restored within reason to its pre demolition proportions. We do not need a ballroom. Donations must be returned and 'benefits' to donors investigated.

I would like to make my opposition to the East Wing Modernization project. I feel that since wasn't a project that was submitted to or approved by the Committee nor was it approved by the people of the United States & the fact that it is apparently being paid for with Taxpayer funds, this Administration should have went about this through proper procedures & channels. I don't not feel that we need a ballroom that holds 3-5 hundred people . We have already lost our beloved Rose Garden, which now looks like some sidewalk cafe & feel that spending $3-400+million to entertain the President's personal friends is not in the best interest of this Country. I wish to see the East Wing restored to its original state as much so as it can be. Thank You for allowing me to express my feelings and thoughts.

"East Wing Modernization Project" in itself seems like a phrase straight out of Orwell's 1984. The East Wing of The Peoples' House has been razed without public plan or notice at the whim of an authoritarian who has been given no consent from the people of the United States to destroy this architectural history. Likewise, he has no consent to replace it with a project whose design has been only vaguely presented--vaguely, that is, with the exception of the promise of its grotesquely outsize proportions.

Trump has bulldozed the East Wing to create yet another monument to himself. Do not let him also bulldoze the NCPC permissions apparatus that would keep him from accountability in similar actions. I want this project canceled. Rebuild the East Wing and restore it to its former design. To permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law by destroying this building would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I object to this project . This wing of the People's House was destroyed without permit and without submission of a plan . The so called “modernization “ is not a plan , and would have been possible without destruction of this wing. The plan for a large ballroom is not part of my American Vision. It is the vision of an Oligarch , who decided without presentation of choice , to the citizens of the United States, to proceed with pursuit of his dream. I support a rebuilding plan to restore the People’s House to its original footprint and to be paid for by the person who decided to destroy part our American Heritage.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in precise, unvaried keeping with its historic design, size, appearance, and materials. Restore to the reconstructed East Wing all of the properties and artifacts originally found therein. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion and must appear to be as organic a part of the structure as the original building.

I object to $300 million being spent to destroy the East Wing of the White House and replace it with a ridiculous ballroom.

As an American citizen my experience of this was we were told that it was in discussions. Then we heard that the ballroom would not even be touching the White House it would be off to the side somewhere. And then one day I woke up and the East Wing was being destroyed. I do not think that every law, tradition or norm was followed when this happened. At a time when our country pretends to find crime an extremely important policy I am distressed at the thought that the highest leader and his staff feels that he is above the law. That is the people's house. I do understand that renovations have happened in the past but in my 67 years I have never watched something like this happen. This is on a completely different level and is very upsetting to see it happening with no oversight.

I think the East Wing should be rebuilt to its previous design and then maybe somebody can discuss a ballroom that doesn't involve destroying our historic White House.

Thank you for allowing comments on this subject.

I categorically oppose the expenditure of $300 million on a project that was initiated in clear violation of the law—without proper authorization, required permits, or a legitimate design review. Labeling this effort as "modernization" is a misrepresentation; it is the wholesale destruction of American history disguised by bureaucratic language. This project must be canceled in its entirety, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original design. No individual or institution is above the law, and allowing this illegal action to proceed without accountability would be an affront to every law-abiding American and a dangerous precedent for the Commission to endorse. I ooppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

The proposed $300 million expenditure should be rejected. In other words: follow the legal process that every other project of this massive scope has had to follow. I also oppose the East Wing being larger or taller than the West Wing. The East Wing is a major part of the White House. The White House is officially the People's House and the President is a short term tenant. Tenants do not have the unauthorized permission to remodel the house. This total disregard for the White House is a major overreach of the President's authority and cannot be condoned. I oppose this project. It is costly. It was begun without proper authorization, permits, or design review. That is wrong -- the White House belongs to the American people, and the occupants are merely custodians for a period of time. I would like the project to be halted, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I would also like to to see the people who made this illegal decision to begin work to reimburse the American people for their mistake.

The White House is not real estate owned by the President. It is the People's House. That the East Wing was demolished at the whim of Donald Trump was a slap in the face to the People. The renderings for the ballroom are yet another slap. The ballroom will dwarf the White House and emphasize entertainment and wealth for the few. The renderings suggest the ballroom will look like an ancient Roman temple. We are not Rome. The president is not an emperor. Donald Trump should be held accountable and made to build an exact replica of what he so brazenly destroyed..

The White House does not belong to the sitting president. It belongs to the American people.
For that reason alone, the reported destruction of the East Wing under Donald Trump is indefensible.

The presidency is a temporary assignment. The building is permanent national heritage. Any significant alteration to the White House complex must meet an extraordinarily high threshold of necessity, transparency, and respect for historical continuity. Personal preference, aesthetic rebranding, or political symbolism do not meet that standard.
The East Wing is not decorative excess. It houses the Office of the First Lady, serves ceremonial and public functions, and forms part of the architectural and institutional integrity of the Executive Mansion. Its demolition — if not driven by clear structural necessity — represents an alarming assertion that a president may reshape national symbols to reflect his own will.
That is not stewardship. That is entitlement.
The White House has endured war, fire, structural reinforcement, and careful restoration. Those interventions were made to preserve the institution — not to project personal dominance over it. The distinction matters.
Allowing substantial destruction or reconstruction without compelling public interest sets a dangerous precedent: that future presidents may treat shared civic landmarks as extensions of their own legacy-building projects. The White House is not a branding opportunity. It is a constitutional symbol.
The Commission's role exists precisely to prevent unilateral executive overreach in the stewardship of the nation's capital. This is one of those moments where that responsibility must be exercised with clarity and resolve.
No president is larger than the office.
No administration is larger than the Republic.
The American people deserve transparency, restraint, and reverence when it comes to the preservation of their house.
I respectfully urge the Commission to scrutinize this action to the fullest extent of its authority and to reject any proposal that prioritizes personal ambition over historic preservation and institutional continuity.

Trying to erase our history and heritage is unacceptable. This should have been stopped when the equipment arrived. The House belongs to the people and this individual!

I also can't imagine 200 important people wanting to be in the same room. No amount of security could protect that many important people.

Not to mention there are so many other problems that need addressing monetarily. This is a travesty for our country.

I sincerely hope we the taxpayers will stand up and be counted.

I am strongly opposed to the construction of a ballroom in place of the historic East Wing of the White House. Instead I want the East Wing rebuilt as it was. This is the People's House. The East Wing was razed illegally. Further, private funds should never be allowed to finance construction of historic properties that rightfully belong to the citizens of the United States. The destruction of the East Wing was an appalling example of the hubris of the current occupant of the White House. Do not approve a ballroom, particularly one that is completely out of scale to the remaining structure of the existing White House.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is NOT the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States. What the current president has done is dishonest, an authoritarian personal money grab, a purely narcissistic, egotistical action made to reflect his own legacy materially.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. All items removed from the building must all be reinstalled in the exact places they were stolen from. All speed must be made to rein in the illegal authority this administration has used to blatantly disfigure America's house.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House without going through proper channels was in direct violation of the law. Therefore, it should be rebuilt as it was with the proper ascetic balance with the West Wing. It, also, should not have anyone's name put on it because it has always been known as the East Wing. I can only hope that efforts to stop this ridiculous "modernization" are successful.

It's outrageous to me that the beautifully historic East Wing was bulldozed out of existence with no meaningful oversight or protections. Memories of the destruction and the aftermath fill me with disbelief. How could this have been allowed to happen?

The East Wing has served an important function throughout our history that deserves better acknowledgement than unfinished, overpriced, badly proportioned, grandiose visions of gold plated everything. Our people deserve to have their tax dollars respected. Those in charge of this important restoration are public employees who need to remember that they are servants of the public, bound to respect and honor those who have come before whatever their political differences.

Humility and self restraint need to be part of any plan going forward.

The simple of the building that used to exist reflected quite a lot that is good about American ideals. Destroying it at a whim is totally in line with the poor judgment of those who seem to think the nation's house only exists as a backdrop for photo opportunities.

We must now rebuild it with a clear eyed awareness that the work we do will be a reminder to future generations that this nation deserves to survive and thrive because of our diversity and willingness to work together, not because one group in one moment of our history managed to force their judgements on everyone else. Heavy handed bully tactics do not reflect well on our government or ourselves, and it's beyond time for such behavior to end.

Much has been written about how times have changed, how our values have shifted, how we need to look forward, but it's my belief that the buildings surviving from our past have much to teach us about how to endure despite the pressures of the moment.
It is my hope that plans made going forward will be more prudent, respectful and aware of the centuries of historic events that have taken place on that site, and that will continue for generations to come. Our nation deserves better than slapdash cronyism, financial and structural mismanagement and bad judgement.

I vehemently object to this grossly misnamed "East Wing Modernization Project." From its inception, the White House has been more than a building - it is an idea and a symbol. It was designed to be and has remained modest and unassuming in order to reflect the fact that the President is not a monarch who rules but a citizen who serves ... it is THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE. President Trump's callous razing of the historic East Wing was initiated without the proper authorizations, permits, or reviews - with no regard to history, public sentiment, or environmental safety. Clearly, the project is not intended to reflect or enrich our cultural heritage - no such discussions or explanations have been forthcoming. It exists simply for President Trump's further self-aggrandizement and the opportunity for wealthy individuals and companies to funnel money to him with little or no meaningful transparency and oversight. The fact that the cost of this debacle keeps ballooning along with the size of the building testifies to the embarrassing lack of both planning and purpose. Presidents cannot be allowed to unilaterally alter The People's House in any way they see fit. As mere custodians, they must receive meaning permission (not rubber stamping) before irrevocably changing the building and grounds. If not, what's to stop Trump or another President from simply pulling down the entire complex and using private funds to build a palace? No one is above the law. To permit this project to move forward as-is and to fail to penalize all those involved who broke the law would be an affront to everyday law-abiding citizens and to all that The White House symbolizes. The historical beauty of the East Wing, a part of the White House, The People's House, was demolished without the proper authorization, permits or design review. In its place is a proposed structure which will cost over $300 million. The new structure is unnecessary and all work on it has been done without proper authorizations, permits, or design review. Demolishing the East Wing was an assault on our American history and an erasure of part of our shared national identity. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose the destruction of the east wing, I understand that it was in possible dis-repair but from everything I have read, Trump as usual did not take the proper steps to make changes to the Whitehorse structure. His claims that it will be paid for with donations by his friends seems to me as if people are buying favors from Trump. I am sure that if they want to make charitable contributions through the proper channels or to the department of Parks & Recreations which I believe should have been consulted prior to making any changes then that would be the correct way to do it. I oppose the tearing out of the rose gardens by Melania as well, those were part of the history of the White House, neither of the Trumps seem to have any respect for our history. I hope that something can be done t stop any more destruction to the grounds or the White House.

Sincerely
Brenda Lephart Slate

The reckless demolition of part of the White House is more than construction — it's vandalism of history. That building isn't just brick and plaster. It's a living symbol of the presidency, the people's house, and the continuity of American democracy. You don't "tear down a wing" of a 200-year-old landmark like you're flipping a hotel.

And let's be clear: any so-called "modernization project" should never have even been proposed — let alone put in motion — without full review by the appropriate historical preservation authorities, including the National Trust for Historic Preservation and the established federal preservation process. That exists for a reason. There are procedures, oversight mechanisms, and historical impact reviews specifically to protect irreplaceable landmarks from impulsive decision-making. Those avenues exist to prevent exactly this kind of damage — and they were treated as optional.

Modernization is not the problem. Responsible preservation with thoughtful updates is possible — it's done across the country every day. But modernization without oversight is just destruction with a press release.

Generations preserved that structure through wars, fires, and national crises. It survived the burning in 1814. It stood through Lincoln, FDR, JFK. Leadership requires stewardship. Instead, this was ego over legacy — treating American history like disposable property rather than a trust handed down to be protected.

The White House is the property of the American public, not any temporary resident, and as such must be treated in trust for its true owners. I vehemently oppose the use of any amount of money being spent to build a Trump ballroom where the East Wing was illegally destroyed. Since Trump illegally had it torn down, he should pay OUT OF HIS OWN POCKET, to replace the East Wing to the prior glory that it was. He destroyed a historical building which belonged to the people of the USA and needs to replace it with his own funds, not that of the American tax payers.

The historic East Wing of the people's house was destroyed without going through the proper channels. A $300 million ballroom is not necessary to our country, not necessary to a president running our country. It is NOT his house to destroy & build as he desires, he is only a temporary resident. The East wing should be rebuilt with perhaps a smaller addition to host a large group.

As a Washington State voter and concerned citizen, I would like to add my comments about the unauthorized destruction of the East Wing.

I want to see the East Wing rebuilt as it was pre-Trump, with original decor, pictures and furniture restored, but now with modern, hidden mechanics added in the rebuilding process. I want to see it done prior to our nation's 250 Year Celebrations. And paid for, not by working Americans, but by Trump and his family and any of those who contributed financially to the idea of building an obscene ballroom NOT wanted/asked for by Americans.

The East Wing is just one part of all of the Federal government's public buildings owned by The People of our great nation, not by one man and his family, temporarily living in the White House.

This project should not go forward as planned. There should be significant time and consideration placed into the space & design, with multiple past administrations contributing thoughts on what space would be most valuable to the American people. Congress should be involved in approvals & funding. If nothing else, the destroyers of the East Wing should not be allowed or entrusted to move forward with the project. Their illegal action should not be rewarded with their choice of building. I have no faith that they will build something historically valuable.

The destruction of the East Wing was unauthorized and an extreme waste of resources. The money spent to destroy a historical building without consent and without consideration of impact was irresponsible and sets a norm of erasure.

The East Wing should be restored with renovations for need of the people, not for the whim of a short term resident.

A bipartisan team of experts from archives, architecture, National Parks, and American history should be consulted as experts for design of the new East Wing.

The historic and beautiful East Wing of the White House was an excellent functional building for the First Lady's office, other administrative activities, and space for mid-sized functions of the executive branch. There are plenty of high quality governmental and private spaces within just a few blocks of the White House for very occasional larger functions, as well as the expansive and secure facility grounds for appropriate large tented functions.

The East Wing should be rebuilt largely as it was, but modernized, with flexibility to stay current into the future.

Part of the “people’s house” was destroyed illegally by a sitting president without following the legal processes for obtaining permits, permission and approval for the destruction of the East Wing and the required legal steps to build a “ballroom/bunker.” All of the White House is owned and maintained by “the people.” I’ve paid taxes for over 50 years for my house and if I followed the same path of destruction without authorization and approval, I would be heavily fined and likely arrested. In this country, all men / women are created equal and no one person, no matter their position, is above the law. I humbly request that the people’s house be restored to its prior state with financing provided solely by the perpetrator of the illegal destruction of our house.

We all want to put our stamp on history. The East Wing Modernization Project expresses that desire. But the history here is more than the desires of one president. President Jefferson's colonnades were part of that history, drawing inspiration from Monticello, built by the people he enslaved. It carries with it the echo of Rome, Greece, and great empires. But since our Independence, we have never been anything but a Republic. And the people, under law, decide what will shape their house. The descendants of the enslaved are not all prospering as their ancestors dreamed. And the promise of the Republic is not lived by many Americans of all origins. For this reason, I strongly oppose the continuation of this Project. It is imprudent, wasteful, and unlawful. And I urge you to restore and preserve the East Wing to the state it was before this demolition.

The design for the ball room, not only is not in keeping with the White House, but it is way too large and will dwarf the historic White House. Also, the person who started all of this did not obtain permission to do any of this. The East Wing of the White House should be rebuilt, as much as possible as it was. This is the People's House NOT the personal home of the President of the United States. The East Wing has been demolished by the current tenant in the White House. A proposed huge ballroom is to be constructed in the same area. From all reports that I have seen, I believe that it will overpower and, most concerning, diminish the stature of the current White House and West Wing. The East Wing complimented the White House and added a pleasing aspect to the building.
While a serving President can make small changes that do not change the overall structure, I do not believe that a temporary tenant should be able to drastically change the view of a building that serves as a symbol of our Nation. This Building is the very reason for Americans to have a Historical Preservation Society! Suppose the next tenant decides to build a 40 story tower in place of the original building!
As expensive as it might be, I would like to see the area returned to the same footprint as the original East Wing. There are numerous venues throughout Washington and the surrounding areas that are more than capable of hosting diplomatic parties and huge “balls”.
The expense of hosting an event at these venues is a one time expenditure. The proposed ballroom would leave the government with a “debt” to the donors and would leave taxpayers with the continuing cost of the maintenance of this rarely used and usually vacant structure.
Please deny the approval required to complete the monstrosity that has been proposed and require the East Wing to be rebuilt as close to it’s original design as possible.
Thank you for the opportunity to voice my concern.

I too oppose this new remake of the White House. I was brought up to believe that the White House belonged to the people - certainly not one man who decided to tear it down without proper authorization. The new ballroom will stand so much higher than the current building and doesn't fit in with the historic properties of the building. I suggest that our current President - who took it upon himself to do exactly what he wanted - put back the east wing the way it was. Then he could go about proper channels to build whatever he wants and not take it upon himself..

I oppose the spending of $300 million on the East Wing project! This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but instead an attack on a historical site that is lent to the First Family by the National Park Service. This project must be canceled, and the East Wing restored to its former design. There is no reason that the whole East Wing should have been demolished. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding citizens.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. As a former judge and licensed attorney at law, I take particular offense at this egregious violation of the rule of law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I wish to register my opposition to this project. I am heartbroken at the loss of history that has already occurred because it is obvious that this is not simply a “modernization”. The East Wing belongs to the citizens of the United States, not to any temporary resident of the White House. Please demand on behalf of all Americans that it should be restored and returned to its former footprint. I am angry and disgusted about this ballroom construction. Thank you for your attention.

Hello. I am writing to oppose the spending of $300 million (or any amount of money!) on the ballroom project. The United States doesn't need a big, huge Ballroom. This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. And, it isn't even a modernization project, it's a brand new building! I was devastated when I saw the East Wing get demolished. That building was a part of our history and then it was just gone! In the best of all worlds, the ballroom build would be canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. That would be an actual modernization project and I could support funds being used for that purpose, as long as all the legal authorizations, permits and reviews took place. Our president is not above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing the administration would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The East Wing Modernization Project is a misnomer and should not be allowed to proceed. The destruction of the East Wing was done without approval and is an insult to all citizens of this country. We need to be protected from individuals who take the office and residency as their own and not as the property of the people. The integrity of the history of this building must be preserved. The 300 million should be used to rebuild and restore the original East Wing. This project would then be truly an East Wing modernization.

This is NOT modernization of the East Wing of the Peoples' House. It is brazen bastardization. If Trump wants a ballroom, it should be designed by the appropriate agencies and align with the character of the White House - inside and out - and definitely should not overpower the remaining, historic portion of the White House.

East wing demolition sounds more accurate than modernization. I am totally opposed to the building of a ballroom. First of all, the amount of money spent on it could be used in many other wiser and more humane ways. Second, there has been no proper procedure followed as they try to build this. Third, the esteemed history of the east wing is destroyed for the building of a structure that we do not need. This is supposed to be the people's house. It does not belong to the current occupant.

To Whom it May Concern:

The White House does not belong to any one person; it belongs to us, the American people. By wantonly destroying the East Wing without going through the official process the Trump Administration committed an illegal and unethical act.

Most of the changes that have been made to the White House since January 2025 have been tacky degradations to the people's house. Some, like the presidential walkway between the residence and the West Wing, are egregious acts of partisan political trolling. No one wants or needs a huge ballroom that dwarfs the other buildings, and certainly not one designed by this President and his abysmal taste.

I hope the National Capital Planning Commission can find a way to slow this process down, and to develop a path for Americans to weigh in on what is actually needed, and wanted on the White House grounds. I also hope that someone was able to save for posterity the history and art of the East Wing before it was bulldozed.

Thank you for your attention to this matter,
An American citizen, residing in California

It is not a modernization project but rather a razing of American history. The White House is the people house, not the personal home to any who might temporarily occupy it. I want this project canceled, all materials that were blindly removed and thrown out returned and inventoried and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I would like to see "the Ballroom" project cancelled in its entirety, as it is grotesquely out of proportion to the rest of the White House. Also, whether intended or not, it's primary effect will be to constantly stir up bad feelings and remind the people of an extremely controversial period in our nations history. A new wing similar to what was destroyed should be constructed in that area.

There is no need for the "people's" house to have a 90,000 sq ft ballroom. I am opposed to the proposed building of a massive ballroom on the White House grounds. The East Wing was demolished without appropriate authorization or review by relevant authorities, destroying a structure which was of literal historical relevance. Whatever replaces the destroyed East Wing will likely be part of the White House for decades or centuries, and so should reflect the needs of future administrations. My understanding is that the East Wing, as it previously existed, served such a purpose, and so it should be re-built.

I am physically ill over the East Wing being torn down, losing all that incredible history, and being replaced with a gaudy ballroom that's larger than the rest of the White House. How they were allowed to destroy a third of the White House without getting proper permits or approval is beyond my comprehension.

I suggest the country uses the “donation” for humanitarian services. If the “donation” has not been made already, the public should know the East Wing was destroyed not only before getting approval, but also before getting funds.
He should be sued to pay for rebuilding it to its former condition.

Trump's " plans" are a travesty, what plans there are. The new East Wing should be a remake of the old one that he torn down illegally. The First Lady's offices should be restored, as well as the public rooms. If there absolutely needs to be a "ballroom", then it should be about a quarter of the size that Trump wanted. It should not eclipse the White House, the people's house, in size or grandeur. The hideous Rose garden club that he built, and I use built loosely, should be ripped up and Jackie's rose garden should be restored. And please for the love of all that is holy, remove all the gold crap he's hung everywhere. I oppose spending $400 million on this project, which is the most recent estimate of its cost per CNN's report of 2-14-26. This is particularly egregious since the funds come from private donors who, according to reliable news outlets, will likely be repaid with political favors and/or appointments. Moreover, the project was initiated without any oversight, design review, authorization, or permits. A 90,000 square foot ballroom is not modernization; it's a destruction of our country's history. The White House, the East Wing, and the grounds do not belong to any one president or one person -- they belong to the people of this nation. I call on the NCPC to refuse this project and restore the East Wing to its former design. While I understand the need for a larger ballroom attached to the White House so that more social functions can be accommodated, nothing should overshadow the grandeur of the original/central/main structure. This means that the overall size and height of the new East Wing should not exceed that of the central building. The new structure should also match the overarching style and design of the central building and West Wing. Anything other than that will draw attention away from the existing structures and introduce completely new elements.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I strongly object to the allocation of $300 million for this undertaking, which moved forward without the required approvals, permits, or design oversight. This is not a matter of modernization—it represents the wholesale destruction of a significant part of our nation's heritage.

As a designer who has personally navigated extensive landmarks review processes, I understand firsthand the rigor and responsibility required when altering historically significant structures. Those processes exist for a reason: to safeguard the physical history that connects us to our past. The integrity of historic architecture is not an obstacle to progress—it is a public trust.

I call for the immediate cancellation of this project and for the East Wing to be reconstructed and restored to its original design. The rule of law must apply equally to everyone, and allowing this effort to proceed without holding those responsible accountable would undermine the principles that law-abiding Americans rely upon.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you for your consideration,
Christine Iovannicci

This is a very concrete example of what happens when we have a leader who thinks he's above the rules that the rest of the country is obligated to follow. The White House is known as the "people's house." It is historically and culturally significant. If he wants to build a giant ballroom, he has the funds to buy virtually any real estate he liked and then built it on his own, privately held land--land which he would actually own and then continue to own afterr his term in office ends.

Most American adults would know you can't just do whatever the heck you want to do to a PUBLICLY OWNED BUILDING of which you are merely a temporary occupant. This must be undone immediately so as to stop distracting people from matters like the Epstein files, the illegal attacks on the populace he's conducting via poorly trained, armed, masked and dangerous border control personnel, and his constant grift.

He lives to thumb his nose at civility and the rule of law. Please exercise every bit of power you can to say that this action will not stand. It might just feel symbolic, but his constantly arrogant and deceitful messages need to be contradicted--loudly and clearly.

Thank you,
Katherine Wyman
A U.S.-born citizen and taxpayer

Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style, update wiring etc. and make interior as ADA accessible where possible. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes. Restore the gardens, specifically the Rose Garden and lawn around the original East Wing. Avoid gilding interior surfaces throughout the entire White House, restoring decorative treatments to the style and overall decor as it existed prior to January 1, 2025.

If a ballroom is needed, construct it elsewhere in the city.

The White House is the people's house and not the private home of a President. The Living Quarters exist to meet the First Family's needs and personal style should not exist outside that particular space.

There is a process that is set down to make renovations and improvements that this president has disregarded in hopes that once the damage was done he would be allowed to move forward. I want the East Wing rebuilt to its former design (with a lens toward using modern system needs for sound, lighting, & electricity.) Maybe the $300 million "from donors" would begin to cover that?

I oppose the spending of any amount of money, certainly not $300 million, on this project which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The super-sized proportions make the proposed ballroom more than twice the size of the White House itself which is a mistake any way one looks at it. Events that occur in a ballroom pale in comparison to the work that has been and does take place in the White House, particularly the Oval Office.

This proposed ballroom is definitely not a modernization project but rather a complete erasure of our American White House history and an attempt to glorify the current occupant rather than promoting any gravitas the White House already has in spades. The East Wing was lovely and was completely adequate to use for banquets most of the time. When more people were going to attend a function tents were placed on the WH lawn. Tents were not only acceptable they were also budget-friendly - the cost was not hundreds of millions of dollars and the tents were removed immediately after events and no alterations to the building itself have been necessary in quite some time.

I want this project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former lovely, historic design. Though we have been told "tech bros" would foot the cost, we've been told untruths about just about every aspect so I do not believe that We The People would not have to foot the bill for this vanity project. To be potentially on the hook to pay for this travesty is an affront to all us law-abiding citizens whose tax dollars are used on so-called government projects often without our knowledge or consent.

Please scrap this project as the affront that it is and restore the White House to its former glory. You might consider having them remove the gaudy golden swirly faux Baroque bits that have been added to a colonial style building while you're at it. Tasteless and tactless.

Thank you.

It is unclear as to why the modernization of the East Wing seems to be rushed and not well thought through. The plans as they have been shared are out of all proportion to the existing structure. The size of the new East Wing should not dwarf the size of the Residence. In fact, the structure as proposed would also obstruct the view of the main building. The scope of the project as well as its cost should be cut.

As a matter of less importance, the aesthetics seem unoriginal. The mockups I have seen appear to be a cut-rate imitation of Versailles. Although the hall of mirrors at Versailles has its charms, for a such a momentous project, there should have been a process that would provide a few options for which the people could provide input.

I oppose the ballroom and any funding to make it happen. Given the demolition and ballroom project in many ways was illegal, the entire project should be scrapped. Especially given one of its real purposes was to rewrite some of our history. We should restore as much of the East Wing as possible to its original form while making practical modernization improvements such as better construction materials, functionality, and exhibits and/or plaques acknowledging the history of the East Wing and its previous tenants/purposes. These are the only acceptable “improvements” taxpayer funding should go to. Now is the time to correct the mistakes, and outright destruction, committed against the People’s House.

I am greatly dismayed by the wholesale demolition of the East Wing. I seemed to be a unilateral action, taken without proper historical considerations and in complete disregard of any established legal process. Perhaps it was the most expedient course for a builder longing to supplant our iconic public building with his own bigger than life legacy, but it was clearly unnecessary. Even the modernization project of the White House undertaken during the Truman administration, where the interior was completely gutted and rebuilt, maintained the historic building's facade. In addition, I fear that the gargantuan dimensions of the planned ballroom, grossly out of scale with the residence, will forever change the East Wing into a behemoth, rather than a coherent component of an architecturally balanced complex. Please continue to oversee this project to protect the integrity of our beloved White House. It belongs to our country, not a group of private donors.

In addition all persons who have failed to follow the law on this should be charged for the cost of this repair work to be done. And be responsible for all costs of the destruction. No matter who it is, president down to management company of the destruction teams, all should be charged and find accordingly. But the largest part of the responsibility should be at the top. He lied to us. He promised, and his spokespeople promised, that the East wing would not be touched at all. Yet they tore it completely apart. They broke the law and procedure rules of such changes, and need to pay every single penny of cost that this has incurred. The citizens of the United States should not have to pay a dime.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The current tenant, in addition, was publicly witnessed inciting an insurrectionist attack on January 6th, 2020, and should therefore have been disqualified from either running for or holding office; furthermore, all his actions and those of the nongovernmental underlings and the executive administration over which he currently presides have shown zero regard for law, regulations, court orders, rudimentary decency, the Constitution, fairness, or rational debate.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I am strongly opposed to continuing the current plan to spend $300 million on this project. This project does not reflect the historic value of the most sacred house in this country, the White House. This respected house belongs to the people of the United States of America, not to the current or any president, who is only a temporary resident.

The East Wing was demolished illegally, without the proper permits and approval. To continue with the current plans for a ballroom is disrespectful to the American people, and shows that the rule of law is not valued. The president is not above the law. I demand that the project be changed to restore the East Wing to its historic former beauty and function.

I oppose the building of a $300 million grand ballroom where the East Wing once stood. The level of brazen ostentation of the mammoth building proposed is completely out of line — and out of touch — with the spirit of a place where Lincoln once spoke to people gathered on the lawn, from an open window. The White House was intended as an antidote to the ornate and festooned palaces of Europe. It is, in its own way, quite a humble building. The plans negate everything the building stands for.

I am writing to urge you to use your full authority to reject the illegal demolition and reconstruction of the White House East Wing.

This $300 million project was initiated without the required permits, design review, or public oversight. It is not a renovation or a modernization; it is a complete and unauthorized razing of a historically significant part of the White House. Allowing this action to stand would set a dangerous precedent, effectively encouraging future administrations to bypass the legal processes that protect our national landmarks.

I strongly urge the Commission to use its power to deny any retroactive approval and demand that this project be halted immediately. Furthermore, I ask that the illegally demolished East Wing be rebuilt and restored to its original design. No one is above the law, and to permit this project to proceed without penalizing those responsible would be an affront to every law-abiding American.

For starters the name of the project is wrong and misleading. It does not have anything to do with "modernization" or modernity for that matter. It is the vulgar, rococo, neoclassical, megalomaniac, gilded fantasy of someone more interested in branding and his name than the country, culture, history, education, art and the democracy these things should imply or anything remotely noble. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper design review, authorization or permits. It is not a modernization project but rather a heartless razing of American history. To permit this project to proceed without penalizing those who broke the law and trampled on our traditions would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. The project should be canceled and the former East Wing restored based on its former design at the expense of those who perpetrated this atrocity. Thank you.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

This project is not wanted by the American people and only serves the desires of an elite minority. Spending $300 to $400 million for this huge and gaudy ballroom — without any of the required review, authorization, or permits — just to stroke the ego of an arrogant, authoritarian leadership, its equally imperious enablers, and mesmerized toadies, is an affront to American sensibilities and ideals.

Touted as a modernization, it is nothing more than an ego trip on steroids for an administration out of control. It shows no respect for history, decorum, or the actual needs of the American people. It should be immediately canceled, the instigator rebuked, and a modest East Wing rebuilt and restored to its previous state... or otherwise, the area should be put to some purpose of actual value. To let this preposterous ballroom proceed as announced, especially while this administration cuts funding to so many programs of actual value to American citizens, is an affront to American values, its history, and especially to its people.

Cancel this obscene ballroom monstrosity.

The East Wing was torn down without prior authorization or approval. The country doesn't need a grandiose, gaudy addition to the White House that dwarfs it in comparison. If such a building project is needed, which I highly doubt, then it let go through proper channels and be built somewhere else, without tearing down a landmark structure.

I propose it be built back again, as it was before, at President Trump's expense.

Thank you

This isn't an East Wing Modernization project. This is the folly of a megalomaniac.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Do your jobs.
Thank you.

I am an American citizen. I have visited DC a few times and as a child toured the White House. I am appalled that the East Wing was torn down with no notice, no safety measures (possible asbestos contamination), and no regard for the historical and architectural significance of this part of the White House. Mr. Trump said that his proposed ballroom would not impact the East Wing. Then he turned around and destroyed it! The ballroom that is proposed to take its place is huge and will overshadow the White House itself. The ballroom doesn't "fit" architecturally nor does it serve the American people. It also appears to be an opportunity for buying favor with the president. Seems illegal to me.

I would like to see the East Wing rebuilt and restored to match its historic glory in every detail. It never should have been allowed to be razed. In fact, that was never allowed!

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, without effort to conserve its materials and history, and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. The historic White House, The People's House, was devastated so Trump could have a vanity project which he will surely put his name on.

This proposed ballroom will overwhelm what is left of OUR White House and be more costly to maintain than than the East Wing. All of the money that building cost our country could have been used for many other ways to benefit the people that support our country through our taxes.

This devastation was at the cost of millions of dollars that could have fed millions of starving people across the world and for children here in our United States

I propose that building be removed and the historic East Wing be restored-- all at the expense of Trump and his billionaires

The sneak demolition of the historic East Wing was a crime. I am in favor of a new East Wing only if an historic oversight committee appointed independently of Trump's administration is in charge. The architect should have had experience on historic buildings and be selected independently of the White House. Donations should be monitored to avoid interference. I would prefer the people's ballroom is paid for by the people rather than the donations go in Trump's pockets.

To the National Capital Planning Commission,

The White House is not just an historic house, but a symbol of American government - a government of the people, by the people and for the people. No one person is the owner of the White House to do with what he or she wants. The occupants of the White House are stewards of the people's house. They are there to preserve and to honor the people who came before them and who will come after them.

To raze the East Wing without public comment, public planning and with no regard for the history and beauty of the building was a tragedy and a crime. The East Wing should be restored to its former design, and any modifications to modernize the structure should go through a rigorous historic preservation and restoration process.

Moreover, there should be independent oversight of the financing, contracting and execution of the rebuild. President Trump is the most corrupt President in the history of this country and the East Wing of the White House should not be another vehicle for his personal greed and graft. The project needs much more T&A, and not the kind he seems to prefer, but TRANSPARENCY and ACCOUNTABILITY.

Sincerely,
A concerned American Citizen
K. White

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. I propose making the president put things back as close to possible as original. Jeff Trapp

To whom it may concern,
Please accept these comments regarding the East Wing modernization. First of all this historic portion of the White House was destroyed without any input by the American people, who consider this building a monument to our country. In order to assuage this concern the remodeling must preserve the buildings exterior integrity. The interior renovation to modernize the east wing is understandable BUT AGAIN, restoration must preserve it its historic integrity. We don't want or need a ballroom; what we need is to know that our image of our history remains unchanged. Many Americans have visited this site and want to share it with our children and grandchildren.

Think of it this way: when notre dame was accidentally burned it wasn't turned into the Sydney opera house. Its integrity was maintained so that future generations of French people could continue to enjoy the cathedral whose history dates back centuries.

Please listen to American voices. Vet American designers and select an American architect.

Sincerely,
Kristi Howard

I do not think we have $300 million to spend on this renovation. I also think that the sitting president taking donations for that amount of money is an extreme conflict of interest. I'd like to see this entire plan scrapped, and we start over. I hate that the East Wing was torn down as it was - that was incredibly disrespectful and wreckless and a brazen disregard for the fact that the White House is THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE. But now that it has happened, I hope that we will work hard to make the best of this tragedy. What is built as the new East Wing should be in line with our financial realities, the archetecture and design of the main building; It should be accessible and practical; it should be tasteful and not flaunt wealth while our veterans and neighbors go without dependable meals and medical care. A group of wise people from both parties and some experts in applicable fields should work together toward a plan that is full of compromise and moderation.
What ever happens, it should go through the process that is in place for these sorts of things. Slow. Deliberate. Thoughtful.

To whom it should concern,
I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. It was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Destruction of the current structure began without proper authorization and without an approved plan or guarenteed funding in place. The approach unlawfully challenged the historic preservation necessity and processes in place to reduce the risk of devaluation and desicration of historic sites and our collective Ametican history. I want this project canceled. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its complete former design allowing for select modernizations in regards to standard electrical, HVAC, communications, and technical security needs. No one is above the law. No individual should be permitted to break the law without penalty. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the razing and erasure of the East Wing with all the historic architectural features Americans love about OUR house. I have been fortunate to visit in person The People's House twice in my life. And while I have been more fortunate than many Americans I am disgusted and horrified that the current squatter is able to do what he does both inside and outside-- UNCHECKED. He is one of those folks that denies accountability at every step he takes and has an operating system that ignores the rules as his default mode that they do not exist for/apply to him. What he has directed to be done inside was bad enough. But to think he can just RAZE the East Wing is criminal and should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. His brazen disregard for The Peoples' House is an extension of his disregard for The People. Had someone stopped him in elementary school when he had others do his homework he would not be entrenched in the "I can do what I want to do" infantile cerebral processing stage from which he operates daily and we would not be here now. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project and strongly urge you to triple fine him for that price tag, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. While modernization projects may be necessary for such a historical building, it should be done following the rules set by The National Trust for Historic Preservation. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design at Trump's cost. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Elected officials are supposed to represent the people, not their own interests. The American public was never asked about renovations to the East Wing of the White House, and now we are being told the work is being funded by interest groups and private companies. That raises real questions about who government decisions are actually serving.

This reflects an administration that appears more responsive to a narrow set of voices than to the broader public. Congress should also be held accountable for allowing this to move forward without stronger transparency and public input.

The White House belongs to the American people. It should not be treated like a branding opportunity or a place for personal design statements, especially by leaders whose time in office is temporary.

I was surprised at my dismay and sadness to see the razing of the East Wing of the White House. As the house of the people of the United States, this building has historic significance in each brick and board. Clearly renovations and modernizations happen at times, but this was done without the input of the people designated to preserve our history on behalf of the populace and is not a modernization so much as an utter demolishment. The people in charge of this project have a demonstrated history of poor building practices and a complete disregard for history. I hope the NCPC can reinstate the East Wing as it was before, rebuilding and recreating as much as possible the historically important details so we do not lose them to gaudiness and gilded buffoonery.

I strongly disagree with the destruction Donald Trump has inflicted on the east wing of the White House and encourage to the commission to require the complete restoration to the design which was destroyed. The White House does not belong to Donald Trump, he had no right to make changes without permission of this commission and the design which he has apparently chosen as an update is aesthetically hideous, out of scale and pretentious. There SHOULD NOT be a structure/building that is larger than the main facility - the WHITE HOUSE. Just because the current POTUS wants something (and named after him) for entertainment and doesn't even have the proper authorization from the country it should be the decision of congress. It shouldn't be built just because one person wants it. It belongs to the people of the country - not just one person who happens to be the current president. The history contained in the East Wing has already been destroyed without approval of anyone other than POTUS. Do we now have a dictator? I thought this country was a democracy.

I adamantly oppose spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The haphazard destruction of the East Wing is a clear violation of the trust of the American people as is the planned monstrosity of a replacement.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size.

I absolutely oppose the destruction of the East Wing of the White House by Trump in order to build his vanity ballroom. It's bad enough he destroyed the Rose Garden. The destruction of the East Wing was done illegally and everyone involved should be prosecuted and made to pay for the damage and cost of restoring the site to its original state.

I would request the halting of the plans for the ballroom and respectfully request that the East Wing of the White House be restored to its original architecture due to its historical significance. I just watched the restoration of Mount Vernon and the work that was done to sustain and reflect the style and architecture of this home as a reference to future generations to understand our past. Please haunt further destruction of the peoples house, and insist that all administrations follow the protocols for renovations and additions as set forth by the people.

Respectfully submitted,
Kimberly E Hale

Please restore the East Wing this way it was—full of history and totally elegant.
To replace it with a tacky gold gilt ballroom does not represent the people of the United States…we fought the revolutionary War to get away from the pompous redcoats.
There are enough large venues in DC to hold balls as we have done forever and it helps with the DC economy.
Those ballroom dollars if they do exist can be donated for worthy causes,

WE the people are appalled at the destruction of the East Wing and embarrassed fir our country at the ever-more-garish and -expensive plans for its replacement.

This huge loss of architecture, art, and history is a travesty. So whatever you can do on our behalf, PLEASE be strong and strategic to slow construction, impose rules and limits, honor the People's House as it and we deserve.

Thank you.

Building a gigantic, out-of-scale ballroom to replace the East Wing of the White House is unconscionable. The demolition of the East Wing was done without getting any kind of review or permission and while ignoring the outrage of the majority of Americans. The money to build the ballroom seems to be coming from billionaires, which makes this a place for The Ultra Rich, not for everyday Americans. The mega ballroom is not being built in the spirit of the rest of the White House — we Americans owned the original White House, but we don't want any part of this mega-ballroom-monstrosity!

I oppose the spending any money on East Wing Modernization project, whether it be my tax dollars or donations from the wealthy. No matter how this current regime tries to sugar coat his actions, Trump has ignored every regulation and law by unilaterally tearing down a major part of our American Heritage. He has made it clear that he will continue to ignore the American Constitution in an effort to establish a authoritarian fascist regime, and is using the most inhumane and destructive means to do so. This project is just one more act if destruction as he tries to erase our history and become a dictator. Trump is now trying to make Orwell's novel a reality.

Please stop him.

I oppose the "modernization" project as the President did not go through any proper channels or reviews before demolishing the historic East Wing of the White House. He cannot be allowed to act in this lawless manner with our historic capital. I would very much like to know what happened to the contents of the East Wing. Was all the furniture, artwork and other government property destroyed with the building? If not, where is it? This would-be dictator needs to be stopped.
