I am opposed to changes to the East Wing of the People's House. There was no approval for the demolition nor is there any need for a privately-funded playroom for wealthy donors or others making payments, potentially for favors in exchange.

I think it is imperative that the original layout be restored with sustainable energy modifications included as the only modernization. Additionally, every person who was involved in deciding to and implementing the demolition should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Tearing down the People's house for a dictator-like vanity project is not in the best interest of the People for whom the government should be working.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration. It was sickening to watch the destruction. The administration seemed to know it was doing the wrong thing when it ordered government employees not to document the destruction from their office windows.

As a person of faith, I pray you will use your authority to protect Creation and our democracy. Thank you for your service to the People and to the rule of law.

I strongly oppose the expenditure of $300 million on this project, which was undertaken without proper authorization, required permits, or a thorough design review. The manner in which the East Wing was demolished is inexcusable and heartbreaking.

This is not a modernization effort. It represents the wholesale destruction of American history and a profound disrespect for “the People’s House.”

This project should be canceled immediately. The East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its original design, consistent with its historical and cultural significance.

This should never have occurred. No one is above the law, and allowing this project to proceed without holding those responsible accountable would be an affront to every law\u8209 -abiding American.

I am writing today to oppose ANY spending of funds on President Trump's vanity Ballroom project, whether the funds were donated, or not. His project was initiated by Executive decree without Congressional approval, without oversight from the National Park Service, or from the Committee for White House preservation. The East Wing of the people's house was torn down without an any attention to the preservation of any part of it, including its original brick foundation, or parts of its interior. I don't think anyone knows what has become of anything that was inside those rooms.

To the best of my knowledge the permits necessary for this type of demolition were not pulled, there was little attention paid to the creation and disposal of hazardous waste, there was no prior architectural design review by the Commission for Fine Arts, nor was the Commission allowed to select an Architect. This is not a modernization project, but rather a completely unnecessary razing of our American History. I want this vanity project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

I also insist ALL of Trump's unauthorized changes to the White House be restored, and all the grey marble and fake gilt crap be removed. I also oppose Trumps stated intention to build an Arc of "Triumph".

The President is not above the law and to permit this Ballroom project to proceed would be an affront to all Americans. He has destroyed enough already, please do not allow this monstrosity to be built. The President is not a King. The law and usual government processes must hold or this noble experiment will be lost.

It was devastating to watch as the East Wing was leveled. It was part of the People's House and it was coming down not out of necessity but to make room for one man's vanity project. Then I found out he didn't have permission or even pull the appropriate permits and I got angry because it's the People's House. He is a short term tenant in the overall scheme of things and the historical significance of the building should be far more important than one man's desires. Please reconstruct the East Wing as it was and restore The People's House. Thank you.

This is not a modernization project. It’s a destruction of history we see repeatedly in favor of the top spenders in America: reversing policy, cutting taxes on wealthy corporations, and making life less accessible for Americans. The East Wing demolition is no different. This massive project is a waste of time and money that will only benefit those wealthy enough to access it. Additionally, preservation is important! The more historic structures we destroy, the less we can revisit and appreciate from our past. History is unifying. We all share it, and the sooner we forget, the sooner we repeat its greatest mistakes.

This man has deemed it totally unnecessary to follow any laws he feels gets in his way and the damage he has done to our nation is incredible. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

How is this abomination even happening? No review, no finished plan, no care for the historical significance of the East Wing or even the White House, no public funding (and therefore no audit or accountability), just bulldozers and a giant slush fund? This would be considered brazen even in so-called Third World dictatorships. It is THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE to preserve, not Trump's to destroy as he wishes. What he has done is criminal and a crime against the entire country, an attempt to erase history by debauching and debasing our national House like it was a casino. Please stop this insanity in its tracks! I know it will take time to rebuild what he has rushed to destroy, but we have to start somewhere. If you let him get away with this, what's next? Please do not allow a revision of the original east wing of the White House, except for those necessary for safety codes. The WH is an historical building, and as such, it should not be recklessly replaced or redone in a fashion which is not in line with the historical architecture. This house belongs to all of us, not one party or one man, but none of us were consulted.

I am opposed to President Trump's plan for a ballroom. This is The People's House, not the President's property. I assume that some upgrades are necessary - energy efficiency, security, etc. and I support those upgrades. But my support is directly tied to restoring the East Wing to its original appearance. The destruction of the East Wing is a travesty, and a slap in the face to the people and laws of our great country.

I am against the unauthorized razing of the East Wing of the White House and subsequent, also unauthorized, construction of a ballroom. This is publicly owned property and anyone, including the president of the United States, must use legally authorized channels to make architectural changes. Money's collected should be used to restore the East Wing to its previous specifications until such time as legally authorized changes have been PREapproved.

Trump is acting like a king, a life-long tenant of "the people's house." He has ruined the historic touches of earlier occupants, including many that have sentimental value for Americans (like the rose garden). On top of all of that, his taste is horrible. His decor looks like it came from a whore house. (Sorry, but that is what it looks like.)
As a temporary resident of OUR house, he had no business ruining it just to replace other, loved, presidents' contributions (that those previous presidents handled the correct way.)
Nobody wants a ballroom. Nobody wants millions of our tax dollars spent for this project. Nobody was asked for our approval. He spends our money without regard for budgets or laws. Trump should be personally responsible for all of the cost involved in tearing the place down AND all of the cost of returning the East Wing to its pre Trump state. (He should also be personally responsible for the costs of his illegally acquired jet from Qatar.)
Trump has made billions of dollars since he returned to the White House. He should use it to correct his illegal actions.

This is not modernization. Not 1 check and balance of destroying this incredible historic site. It's appalling this was not stopped the minute Trump decided to tear it down, it went against all protocol and procedures. $300 million probably isn't even the amount, maybe $400 million. Trump doesn't know budgets..he doesn't know what's sacred. No do not allow him to build the new east wing. We do not need a ballroom. It's ridiculous. This is not a club, this is the United States, the peoples house is the White House. A minor change is ok for Presidents to do. But this wrecking ball approach is vile, vulgar and disrespectful to all Americans. He already has violated the White House, it must end now his biased direction.

I'm writing to oppose the plan to build a ballroom on the site of the East Wing of the White House. This administration had no business tearing down part of the White House, it does not belong to any one President, but to us, the people of the United States. Each President is merely a temporary resident of this historic building. This building is not just stone and wood, but a physical representation of our entire country! They should not only be blocked from their ridiculous scheme to build an unneeded ballroom, but should be made to rebuild the East Wing according to its original design. And not use our tax money for this rebuild, but some of the cash a certain President has grifted since returning to the White House.

I fully support the construction of a ballroom as an addition to the White House. For decades I have marveled at images from State dinners hosted in other countries and the beauty of their facilities. It seems rather embarrassing to have foreign and domestic dignitaries being hosted in tents and provided with porta potties no matter how "nice" they are. I especially appreciate the fact that funding for the project is private. I also believe if this were any other politician that this project would be enthusiastically supported. Alas, of course because some people just can't get over the 2024 election results from Democrat voters, years long embedded bereaucrats, Media and elected Democrats House and Senate members there is ALWAY a whining problem that then gets trotted down to court. It's garbage behavior and embarrassing. Get the shuw on the road. It is a perfect example of why projects in Democrat controlled states and cities spend more time complaining than doing. Moreover, it was clearly conceived and promoted by one individual without airing the plans with the public. The White House is a public trust that is passed down from president to president. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and part of our national park system. It belongs to the American people. While it serves as the residence and workplace of the president, no president is the owner of the property or its structures. Any president is a temporary steward, bound by law and by public trust to respect the history and shared ownership of this place.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without public review, required permits, or congressional oversight represents a serious breach of that trust. Decisions of this magnitude should be presented transparently as proposals, with the opportunity for public input, not carried out unilaterally after the fact.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require that the East Wing be reconstructed in a manner consistent with its historic design and scale. Any future construction on this site should be clearly subordinate to the original Executive Mansion and compatible with its historic character, not in competition with it.

Respectfully,
Cheryl Medlin

Build the damn ballroom.
Install urinals along all available space on the inner perimeter of the walls, all shaped in the likeness of President Trump's head, with the open mouth as the receptacle.
Charge one dollar per use.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

Every old building has meaningful materials and relics, and that was not just any old building. The idea that all the paneling and tilework, fixtures and molding, and all the rest was either looted or trashed disturbs me a lot. If this was a normal presidency WHAT HAPPENED TO THE CABINETRY would be a major scandal.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The razing of the East Wing was done without following the proper guidelines and is an affront to the American people whole house has been defaced The East Wing must be rebuilt as it was and all other unlawful modifications such as the rose garden should be returned to their former state. I was appalled, outraged and saddened to see the East wing destroyed…especially with no discussion beforehand. Shouldn't it been presented to Congress for a vote before destroying a part of our historical buildings? Who gave Trump the authority to tear down a portion of our history to build a ballroom monstrosity in its place? I am totally against its construction. I encourage those who have the power to veto this whole idea to please do so! I would like to see the East Wing rebuilt as it as prior to its demolishing…the cost of which ought to be covered by President Trump himself, since it was his idea in the first place. If we don't stop these kinds of actions by our Apresident, I very much fear to think what building, edifice or monument might be next on his agenda!

I strongly oppose the destruction of the Esst Wing for so many reasons, some of which I hope will be considered.
Primarily, the destruction was accomplished without the proper permits, as I have read in the media.
It was intended as a display of total disregard for funding, timing, design process, historical significance, and the questionable need for such an unnecessary ego statement.
Secondly, now that the destruction is obviously irreversible, someone needs to take responsibility for the appropriate redesign that reflects the context of the White House itself.
We should never ever have come to this point. It is of paramount importance that the proper authorities take back this project before it becomes an abomination.

Trumps design sense is somewhere between Russian Oligarch brothel and a Las Vegas trendy maximalist imperial feel. This is NOT what Americans want, this is not what should represent American's taste.This is for someone who wants to be a "King" and in America we do not have kings.
Trump should be impeached not only for his design sense but also his morally corrupt way of running this country.

This is absolutely outrageous!!!! Done because he “wanted it “ without any permits, congressional oversight and approval, and the amount is ridiculous!!!!! Believe me when I say, we don’t need it, but plenty of people need healthcare, food, and homes. Put it back the way it was. It should be historically preserved the way it was.

The destruction of the historic east wing by the current President was unlawful. He did not go through the proper channels to have the east wing destroyed. It was an historical part of American history and now it is gone all due to his vanity. The current President should pay for the full restoration of the East wing without help from his billionaire donors. My question is, where are all of the furniture and pictures being stored? Or did he destroy those historic artifacts too?

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I am highly opposed to building a giant "ballroom" for the cost of $300million. The east wing was illegally ripped down. The only worse atrocity would be to build some hideous monstrosity that would be built to try to fill the empty soul of one man. A structure that would dwarf the current buildings! This is unconscionable, especially as the project began with zero regard for the process or respect for the history of the Whitehouse. It is also clear that any building appears it would be thoughtless and a mess with many problems at the whim of a moldy brained narcissist.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this Donald Trump ego vanity project. The Gilded Ballroom plan and the East Wing's demolition were initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history to satisfy the cravings of a malignant narcissist as a gaudy monument to himself. This "Epstein Ballroom" project must be cancelled in its current form, and the East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its former design. If an entertainment space is really needed, the mass and scale should be in alignment with the Secretary of Interior's guide for historical buildings.

Trump and company should be fined and locked up for the destruction they have caused! This whole matter was likely to serve as a distraction to wear down Americans into submitting to fascism, as well as providing the Trump Crime Family another avenue to solicit bribes from billionaires, corporations and foreign governments, like Russia, perhaps.

Also, the president appears to be determined to destroy the Kennedy Center because not too many truly patriotic citizens want to perform in or attend productions there since Trump slapped his name on it. Like a banana republic dictator, he installed a cabal of sycophants on the board to "Putinize" it.

If you can, please be proactive and put up legal and procedural roadblocks against this destructive nonsense.

Respectfully,
Ed Courrier

I am submitting this comment to express my strong opposition to the proposed $300 million expenditure for this project. The initiative was launched without the legally required authorization, permits, or design review, and therefore should not be allowed to proceed. This is not a modernization effort; it represents the complete destruction of a significant piece of American history.
Public projects of this scale must follow established legal and regulatory processes designed to protect taxpayers, ensure transparency, and safeguard our shared heritage. Allowing this project to continue despite clear procedural violations would undermine public trust and send the unacceptable message that some individuals or agencies are exempt from the rule of law. No one is above the law, and failing to hold accountable those who initiated this project improperly would be an affront to every law\u8209 -abiding American.
I urge the responsible authorities to cancel this project immediately and to commit to rebuilding and restoring the East Wing to its original design. Preservation, accountability, and respect for due process must guide our decisions, especially when our history and public resources are at stake.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on a ballroom. The destruction of the East Wing was unapproved/unauthorized, had no authorization, proper permitting or design approval. We, the people of this nation, have lost history that was important to me and others. The East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one, including the Executive Branch, has the ability to ignore the laws of the District of Columbia and/or this nation. Those who broke the law should be penalized as any ordinary citizen would be had they destroyed public property without permit an proper authorization obtained. Do the right thing. Restore the East Wing. Any modernization to the East Wing should consist of meeting ADA guidelines for new builds and renovations. The idea of a ballroom should be scrapped in totality. If we are concerned about waste in government, the destruction of existing building and creations of new buildings or monuments should be ceased. Maintain what we have. Any alteration to existing buildings must follow the proper channels of historic and architectural review, approval, and permitting.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

To me, tearing down a part of the White House without any overview or even allowing the public to voice their opinion is a huge sign that someone needs to reign in the very person responsible for this. A large part of history was in that section. I think it should be rebuilt exactly like the one before and more controls put on any further projects.

In the interest of American history and the preservation of its significance for future generations, I encourage stopping any additional destruction of this historic landmark. The East Wing should be rebuilt to original historical design to include restoration of the rose garden and the replacement of the trees that were removed. If possible, this should not be done at taxpayer expense, but assessed to the individual who is responsible for causing the destruction of government property. If need be, confiscate personal property to cover restitution costs.

I strongly oppose anything being built to replace the original East Wing of the White House. There has been no public design review. There has been no study of historical context. We do not even have details on how much the project will cost, and how much private funds have been secured. This structure belongs to everyone in the United States. Any work done needs to be subject to public review and comment. And the project scope and definition needs to be appropriate for our times, and our needs. This project is one man's concept. Whether his concept is good or bad is irrelevant. We did not need a new building, and we certainly do not need such a large building. The project should STOP, and a thorough and throughtful design and review process should commence. And one possible alternative should include rebuilding the original structure.

Please stop the advancement of this building project. The razing of the People’s East Wind was completed without proper authorization. It should be rebuilt as it was, with the most historical accuracy as possible, and at the expense of the responsible parties. The vast majority of the citizens of the US have no interest in an ostentatious ball room even if taxes will not be used to build it, nor are we interested in the cost of maintaining such a structure. However, we do value the history of the People’s House, and while it is too late to rescue that history, a close reproduction of what was taken from us is the closest possible solution.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on the East Wing Modernization Project. This project was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but in fact a complete razing of American history. Please do whatever is necessary to get this project cancelled. No one is above the law. Permitting this project to go forward without penalizing those who have broken the law would be grossly unfair and an insult and injustice to all law-abiding Americans. The East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its former design.

Donald Trump had no authority to demolish the East Wing of the White House. Now that it has been done, Congress should oversee a process of designing and building some appropriate structure in its place. It should be at Donald Trump’s expense. I doubt if a ballroom with a bunker underneath would rank high on a list of potential projects.

Good afternoon, I just wanted to write in to say for the record that as an American taxpayer of the last ~25 years I do not agree to the demolition of the East Wing of the people's house, the White House. What's done is done, but if it were up to me I would rather leave it as is - but seal up the walls of the remaining structure that's there - than spend $300 million or any amount of money on rebuilding it to some lavish, out of touch, grotesque reminder of the whole affair.

Make it right! Return "The People's House" back to it's former stature. No sitting president has the unilateral right to destroy any part of the White House without authorization from Congress and following proper channels of preservation, careful teardown, and redistribution of materials.

Trump went too far and now he should foot the bill for the restoration of the East Wing in full. It was not his building to tear down.

I oppose the modernization project for several reasons starting with the fact that the appropriate steps were not taken before razing the East Wing. Secondly the White House is the nation's and needs to be treated as the historical centerpiece it is, not a gawdy political ballroom to be used to honor anyone. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt to the elegant style that it has been since being renovated. The Rose Garden also needs to be returned to its beautiful glory rather than a concrete patio. There are regulations and expectations to keep our beloved White House beautiful.

The White House is the people's house, it does not belong to Donald Trump or his morally bankrupt, crooked cronies. It belongs to every citizen of the United States of America, and again, should be restored to its former glory. I also think all the tacky gold Home Depot trim he had added throughout the White House should be removed and the pristine white restored as well.

I was deeply saddened to see the East Wing destroyed, especially without following the normal process. Numerous citizens like me, with a sense of historical responsibility, are concerned with what happened to the contents of the East Wing. The fixtures themselves should have been saved. Deconstruction would have been the correct method, not razing by bulldozer.

Given the lack of proper procedure in removing the old building, I want this project canceled. As a preservation architect with more than 40 years experience in the field, I do not support the east wing project for the following reasons:

1. The design is not in compliance with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties and the associated Guidelines.
2. The project has not followed the required permitting and review processes.
3. The south elevation of the addition and connector is unattractive and too massive, and it visually overpowers the historic Mansion.
4. It does not appear that there are an adequate number of rest rooms for the intended occupant load.
5. Existing and new landscaping will not compensate for the excessive scale and massing of the additions.

Sincerely,

John Volz, AIA

You've got to be kidding. A ballroom! When people are having trouble feeding their children, funding their schools, providing adequate medical care to children and elderly citizens. The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

In honor of Eleanor Roosevelt who carved out a co-equal partnership with FDR from her office in the East Wing - and all the First Ladies who came after her: including Betty Ford who advocated for the Equal Rights Amendment and Michelle Obama who advocated for military fanilies and children's health I demand it be reconstructed as a memorial to them.

If that is impossible, then certainly, no giant $300 million ballroom should be created in its place as that would destroy the memory of the work these mothers of the nation did for us - for free - for all these years.

I am one of the millions of American citizens who are flabbergasted and appalled at the reckless destruction of the White House East Wing with no regard to appropriate planning, required consultation with applicable authorities or oversight of the process. And by rights the President should be required to restore what he destroyed, at his own expense. But if in fact updated security features and even a ballroom would be beneficial, I appreciate having competent professionals, which I presume you are and hire, to do a proper analysis and develop a plan that meets the actual needs of the government and the public, not the fanciful notions of the president.
Thank you!

The current president will be out of office in less than three years. There is no possible way a project of that size will be completed in time. While debates will go back and forth as to whether it is a good idea, the most likely outcome right now is the current president leaving office with a few acres of rubble where there used to be an East Wing.

This construction project won't happen. To pretend it's going to happen assumes that the president can focus long enough, that the next administration will support it, that the funding won't be challenged in court as a bribe, etc., etc., etc.

The project was begun without proper authorization, permits, or design review. it's defacement. Vandalism. The project will never be completed and should be canceled sooner rather than later.

I am writing to ask that the East Wing be restored to it's prior state. No president, just a tenant in a building we all own, should have the right to make these kinds of changes to federal buildings without going before the National Trust (and any other agency that has a say in this) for approvals. It was shocking to see this done with no warning, no hearings, and seemingly no environmental consideration for proper disposal of the building debris. No work of this sort should be done without protecting the historical integrity of the building, and also taking in the alteration to the landscape (the view being historical in its own way). The Rose Garden area should also be returned to its prior state.

Thank you for your consideration in this serious matter.

Unfortunately, we've learned that the current president feels he his above the law on all levels. He ignores protocol, tradition, and processes. The East Wing should never have been demolished. It needs to be replaced, but updated, to its former glory.

Do not let him ruin this, too.

I believe that the proposed addition will destroy the People's House. It is out of proportion with the rest of the design - and most of "The People" will bever be inside the ballroom. If they need an event space - they can rent one - It is a waste of money - money that could be better used elsewhere. It is nice the White House is in a city - you can look at through the fence and imagine what's going on -it will look awful and not respect the history of the building. They should rebuild itvwas it was - on their dime

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States...something that was totally ignored by the current occupant. The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal--instead of asking forgiveness instead of permission.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Like any other project, this project should have been subject to the proper reviews, especially since the White House belongs to the citizens of the United States. President Trump illegally desecrated this structure. While I believe that a ballroom is necessary, it should not come at the cost of losing any part of the exiting White House structure. This is not a modernization, it was destruction and quite frankly, vandalism. The East Wing must be rebuilt and returned to its original state and any plans for a ballroom must go through the proper channels to ensure the protection and preservation of the entire White House.

I am requesting this project be halted as it did not go through the proper approval process of making renovations to the People's House. Additionally, it is unclear if those who donated to the project did so for self gain. Lastly, it has become abundantly clear that the person who is currently the president has the mental ability to make wise decisions not only for our country but in tasteful design and decor options. This project should not continue until the American People decide to move forward after we heal from the monstrosities we have been subjected to by this administration.

To think of how much this president has put our country into further debt for no other reason than personal ego. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House is the People's House, and its structure is historic and intentional. The unlawful destruction of the East Wing left DC with an obnoxious looking hole, but a huge ballroom that overshadows the rest of the White House is NOT the fix.

This administration seems to think that they do not have to follow protocol or observe established guidelines. The East Wing "modernization" is a case in point. No request was made to the National Planning Commission and instead of following proper procedures, the East Wing was demolished. I don't care if the funding for the project didn't involve public funds the White House is the People's House and not the private residence of any President. For the fact that the proposed monstrosity is out of proportion to the White House, is a clear indication that the proposed structure is not only in bad taste but is a clear indication how President Trump views his personal taste as the only thing that matters. Ever since the gilding of the Oval Office and cramming it with framed art and vulgar appliques, is a clear indication that his imperious tastes are out of touch with the historical architectural value of the White House. I have no doubt if the project is given the go ahead/approval, the West Wing won't be far behind. I would hope that the NCPC would put a stop to this raping of a historical landmark.

Furious at the destruction of pieces of our history. The day the news reported the first bulldozer move against the East Wing I called the congressional switchboard to state my personal demand that the razing stop, and that only complete restoration to the original condition would satisfy me.I think that anyone who would do this should experiencing legal repercussions, for it was not done in compliance with rules, laws and procedures. And I think tight a clear rules need to be in place to prevent any future such efforts, with built in procedures to obtain people's input.

The demolition of the East Wing, in addition to being illegal, was an affront to all Americans. Given the history of misogyny and sexism perpetrated by #45 and his cronies, it is no surprise that so little respect would be afforded to the First Ladies' historical headquarters. To call this project—the construction of a gaudy self-indulgent ballroom—an East Wing Modernization is a further affront. Those responsible for the destruction of a national treasure must be held responsible. The creation of a senseless vanity project must be halted, and the East Wing must be returned to its former condition. Anything short of this would be a further abuse of the People's House.

Respectfully,

Professor Emeritus Steven Parlato

At a time when American citizens are suffering, the last thing that money should be going towards is a project mirroring the extravagance of monarchs and dictators. Those who are bypassing the procedures put into place should not be rewarded for their attempt to "ask for forgiveness, not permission." That sets an awful precedent. We have procedures and permits in place for a reason. If they get away with this one, they'll keep going. If you give this mouse a cookie, he's going to want much, much more than a glass of milk.

To all concerned:
As an American citizen, I am utterly appalled at the destruction of the White House East Wing, done with flagrant disregard for the legal and ethical processes any historic structure requires. That part of the White House was destroyed by fiat is beyond any rational explanation. The entire process needs to stop immediately and those responsible held accountable.

As a registered architect (Tennessee and North Carolina) with deep respect for historic design, historic preservation and new construction in historic styles, I am still further appalled by the tasteless, utterly unredeemable design proposed for the outsized ballroom. A large, new, multipurpose event- building in classical style for government functions would be a lovely addition to Washington D.C. but that monstrosity is an embarrassment.

Stop this insanity. The entire god-forsaken project needs to be scrapped and the East Wing restored, if not exactly to its previous design, then at least a replacement in scale and style to the now-lost structure should be the only acceptable alternative.

Sincerely
William S. Dunklin

It is wrong the "donations" were made of $300 million dollars and rumors are it's well over $400. Please listen to the American people. The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I formally object to the $300 million allocation for this project, which has proceeded in defiance of mandatory authorizations, permits, and design reviews. This is not a modernization but the unauthorized destruction of American heritage. I demand an immediate cancellation of the project and the restoration of the East Wing to its historical specifications. Allowing this to continue without legal accountability is a fundamental affront to the rule of law and all citizens who abide by it.

The demolition of the East Wing was done without a review process from Congress or any agency with oversight of the historic buildings, There was no public comment or proper authorization for the wanton destruction of a believed structure that does not belong to the POTUS, but to the American people who granted him the privilege of occupancy and responsibility of respectful stewardship while in office. Indeed, his actions betray a promise not to touch the East WIng to build a ballroom that also has not been through a review or approval process. All of this has been shocking and, frankly, criminal.

I and many other citizens will only be satisfied when the East Wing is rebuilt and completely restored to its original design.

I feel the 'ballroom' should be blocked, and the East Wing re-built at Trump's expense.

This project is unnecessary and, for lack of a better word, foolish. The demolition of the East Wing was without any necessary authorization or approval. The East Wing was an important part of the White House (The PEOPLES House) with enormous historical value...much as the Rose Garden. The proposed ballroom is disproportionate to the original structure and does not improve the aesthetics whatsoever. Its purpose seems to be to assuage an ego. The proposed"modernization" will only lead to further demolition and "modernization" in order to balance the appearance of the overall structure. The People's House may need some renovation, it does not need a ballroom of this size and cost. The East Wing should be rebuilt as close as possible to the original. The ballroom is an insult to the every day American who struggles with the rising cost of necessities like food, gas, as healthcare....you know "The People". We say no, actually, HELL NO. Thank you

Having read and watched the available documentation and video I fail to see how this process is in stage 1 and yet the East Wing has already been demolished without permission and work is apparently going apace on a project that is in the very beginning stages of "review" and certainly hasn't taken even a preliminary step toward approval, by anyone, certainly not by the owners of that great builing, the American People. I understand that the current members of the Commission have been carefully put in place to make approval a likely outcome, but isn't approval still something that should be done first? Silly thought I guess. I also see that not only has the East wing already been demolished and the project been vastly enlarged, but now the West wing is under discussion to have a "modest" new story added for the sake of symmetry. Does that simple statement mean that the West wing will soon be demolished when no one is looking like the East wing was, as originally the East Wing was simply going to be "improved" too? Shame on all of you for this travesty on American history and American justice. I am ashamed that this has happened and that you have allowed it to happen and continue to allow it to go forward. It is such a sad day in the history of our Nation.

To the National Capital Planning Commission:

I adamantly oppose the replacement of the East Wing of the White House and construction of a ballroom in its place.

I cannot imagine a more apt metaphor for this administration’s disregard for law, its apparent conviction that the White House is a private palace rather than the “People’s House,” its grotesque grandiosity, and its disdain for the tenets of democracy than the images of the East Wing reduced to rubble.

I demand that this project be halted, and the East Wing be restored to its former state. Further, that the administration be enjoined from any other structural modifications to the White House or its grounds without the legally required authorizations.

The above provisions ought to be paid for by the billionaires who pledged to fund the destruction of historic public property, rather than by taxpayers.

We have committees, preservation boards, and building laws for a reason: to keep rich history of out past. We also have separation from bribes or kickbacks when it comes to government to favor one while in office. Both of these things has been broken but this administration who thinks they are about the law. I'm sick of seeing architecture being destroyed for someone's "ballroom" that we have not needed for the last 250 years of our great nation. It is outrageous that we was a county need to build this, over other priorities that need to be done to keep our county running (roads, telecommunications, electricity, housing, health care, and many other things). This project is absurd, and this projects needs to be stopped.

An acquaintance of mine put this very well, and I borrow his words with his permission:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I am submitting this comment regarding the proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House complex. I respectfully oppose the construction of a structure of that scale, as it would significantly alter the proportions and visual balance of the historic Executive Mansion.

For over a century, the East Wing of the White House served both public and private functions. It was not only an architectural component of the complex, but also an important part of the public's access to what is often called "the People's House." As the entrance for tours and public events, the East Wing represented the connection between the presidency and the American people.

If restoration of the East Wing to its pre-2025 condition is feasible, I strongly encourage that approach. Should architectural salvage have been undertaken, original materials and design elements should be incorporated into any reconstruction to preserve authenticity and historical continuity.

If full restoration is not possible, any new construction should remain consistent with the previous footprint, scale, and proportions of the East Wing. A significantly larger structure risks overwhelming the historic mansion and diminishing its architectural prominence. Maintaining the established balance of the complex is essential.

Additionally, any new building should adhere closely to the existing architectural style of the White House complex. It should blend with and enhance the historic structures rather than compete with them. If any portion of the original colonnade foundation remains, incorporating it into the new design would provide a meaningful connection to the past.

While updates to historic properties are sometimes necessary, they should respect the character, scale, and public function of the original spaces. The East Wing was part of the lived and shared history of the presidency for generations. Its replacement should honor that legacy and continue to serve the public in a manner consistent with the White House's historic role.

Thank you for considering these comments.

Return the East Wing back to what it was prior to being demolished. Though, now with some modernization of electric and internet related things. Since it will need to be rebuilt, making it more green and energy efficient would be lovely. Do NOT build a ballroom that will be an eye sore and gives the wrong impression of the work that should be going on under that roof. Put the East Wing's rich history back in place. NO ballroom. I vehemently oppose both the demolition (without Congressional approval -it hit the public literally as a wrecking ball) and the construction of a ballroom. First, the cost is obscene, especially at a time when the Trump regime is stripping funding from SNAP, CDC, ACA, USAID, FEMA and other programs vital to the well being of our citizens and of the world; second, it will be unsightly and will overshadow the White House; and third - our country was not built to serve kings and emperors; a ballroom goes against everything the United States stands for, as do the gaudy gold embellishments that Mr Trump is plastering all over the People's House. Please make it stop!

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million dollars on this project. The demolition of the East Wing and the disregard for the history of this part of The People's House. This was begun without the proper authorization, permits, or any sort of design review. Calling it a "modernization project" is absolutely wrong. What has happened is a complete razing of such a precious piece of our history. I want this "project" cancelled, and I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to the original design. I have long dreamed of seeing The White House, and now I never shall. I believe that the law was disregarded and BROKEN by people who aren't interested in preserving history, and who seem to believe that laws do not apply to them. No one should be above the law. It's difficult to find the words to convey how upsetting this is. This project was not reviewed or authorized and did not go through any kind of oversight process as far as I know. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I visited the White House years ago, when visiting DC from Oregon state. As I toured, I could imagine myself back in time. In my head, I could see our forefathers dining in the East Wing, as well as State Dinners that I saw photographed over the years - from Kennedy forward. In my opinion, a ballroom is unnecessary and tramples upon the history of “the people’s house”.

I stand in utter disbelief concerning the demolition of the East Wing of the White House not to mention the Rose Garden and the cutting down of healthy and historic trees. I assumed that the White House and grounds were governed by a separate entity that had the last word of approval and circumventing this process would be impossible. Apparently I have been sadly mistaken. For any individual to be able to impose their will without oversight on what should be considered a sacred trust is absurd and blatantly criminal.

I oppose the East Wing modernization project as it constitutes a willful erasure of our nation's architectural heritage. By demolishing significant portions of a landmarked structure for a massive ballroom, the administration is prioritizing temporary utility over permanent historical integrity. This project sets a dangerous precedent for the treatment of federal monuments and I demand the original historic building be reconstructed. I work at a historic house museum in a historic district and this flagrant disregard for the safeguards would never be permitted by the organizations and government bodies charged with enforcing them here.

As an Architect with over 36 years of private practice in urban settings, many of my projects have been subject to review by public agencies, planning and zoning boards, building departments, landmarks commissions, and neighborhood interest groups. I have watched numerous other projects progress (and fail to progress) through the entitlements process. While sometimes frustrated by regulations, I have respect for the interests of those for whom the regulations protect. I have never witnessed such an unabashed afront to established process and protocol. The demolition of the East Wing would never be permitted if the proper sequence of application, review, and approval had been followed.

While titled a "modernization project", the obliteration of the historical East Wing structure was performed with absolutely no regard for the historical significance of its Architecture and its Historical Record of events. The East Wing serves as a memorial to the memories of the individuals - political figures and private citizens - whose projects, events, and activities were held there. This has been obliterated. In my universe, I have been subject to laws, ordinances, codes, and regulations and would expect the same for all those associated with this project.

The wrongdoing here can only be rectified by canceling the proposed (unlawful) project. With a possible exception for non-public, and non-visible "underground facilities, the East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its former design.

The proposed design is ridiculously out of scale, and the proposed solution of tearing down and rebuilding the west wing should go in the trash bin where it belongs. This entire project should never have been started - no one asked for this, and the project costs are astronomical. Since the east wing is no more, and something needs to replace it, a MUCH more modest structure needs to be built. The sketches shown in the latest attempt are at least actual architectural renderings and not AI fever dreams with staircases to nowhere and doors on the second floor that would open into thin air, they still lack any details that would justify either the cost or the immensity of the structure. This is not a $400 million structure, so something is out of whack.

Also, regarding the environmental issues: at what point will it be acknowledged that the reckless way in which the demolition took place needlessly exposed dozens of people to dangerous levels of asbestos, lead, and mold, and the continued state of the gaping hole will exacerbate this issue? Given the time frame of the demolition, I cannot imagine that proper studies were conducted, and mitigation performed, even on an expedited schedule.

The fact that the building was demolished without anyone giving the people footing the bill (the taxpayers) any warning, is beyond the pale. Expecting us to then pay for a gilded 900-person copy of MaraLago is a disgusting overreach. I hope this commission does the right thing and rejects this outright.

The project does nothing to enhance the existing building and is at best a vanity project for the current resident.
As with any project of this scope on a historic building no less there are many procedures and permits which were not followed or even applied for.
If I as a citizen tried this there would be an immediate halt to any work.
Unfortunately the East wing was demolished before anyone could stop it.
It is my hope that it can be restored to its former glory.

New plans should make the rebuild seamless with the rest of the White House for visual balance and beauty. This is The People's House, not any presidents!
I feel the creation of a ballroom of the size trump proposes on the White House grounds is inappropriate; is there no where else in the Washington DC environs that can hold that monstrosity?

I was raised in Alexandria, VA in the 1950s and during that time period I visited the White House many times and toured several times in the 1960s and 1970s. The White House is a symbol of the United States long history, both the good and the bad. During its existence it has undergone many renovations and upgrades. I wonder what John Adams would think of indoor plumbing, electricity, or Ethernet cable. These changes both the need for retaining historical significance as well as expansion of space as the number of people running/guiding our country.

I am oppose to the East Wing Modernization Project.for

1. The proposed structure does not fit in with the architecture of the existing building.
2. The proportions of the building are such as to diminish the historical and architectural significance of the white house.
3. ;The structure does not honor the history of the United States, instead it assuages one individual's insecurities.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I am so heartbroken that this part of history was just destroyed without any authorization, without any plans... just on the whim of a madman who did this because he could.... we need to make sure this NEVER happens to any public building again... this is the PEOPLE's House ... not his ... the East wing needs to be restored to its full glory, what happened needs to be immediately investigated, those responsible need to be held accountable.

I am vehemently opposed to this project. Demolition of the East Wing was done without authorization or permits, lacking blatant consideration for environmental concerns, such as asbestos abatement. Asbestos abatement, "after the fact" must take place immediately. The footprint of the East Wing and adjacent grounds are now contanimated and must be rectified. No considerations have been made for the impact that a massive ballroom would have on the historic structures that make up The White House. Such a ballroom would dwarf the White House, leaving a shameful scare on our country's most significant historic building.

The White House, the "People's House," has a storied history that reflects the tumultuous years that followed the founding of our great nation. It is unique, irreplaceable, and of tremendous cultural and historic value to the American people.

Renovation over time will always be required to maintain older structures. Sometimes, this renovation is dictated by needs like personnel security or national intelligence, which require materials and methods not in keeping with the historical character of the building. When this is the case, the work should be carefully planned and executed so it can later be covered with appropriate facades and structures so that the appearance of the building remains in character with its historical origins.

This proposed project, however, is not something that must be done to modernize the building for safety or security reasons. It is being done to replace a historic wing with a facility that the current sitting President wants more. This type of project requires much more scrutiny before approval is granted. If every President modified the White House to suit their own whims, then the unity of the architecture and its historic continuity will be lost -- forever. The People's House will become a hodgepodge of conflicting and dissonant styles.

Moreover, an optional project such as this should be subject to strict architectural limitations to ensure that whatever facility is built, it is entirely in keeping with the architecture of the rest of the structure. If a modern office building were desired, for example, then by all means build one somewhere in the beltway. But do not demolish a one-of-a-kind historic building on a whim and replace it with whatever structure the current administration thinks is in vogue. The same logic applies to a ballroom.

It seems we're a step too late by just now voicing concern over preserving our national heritage, given that a portion of the White House has already been destroyed. But despite the state it's in, every effort should be made to return it to what it was, exactly as it was, as seamlessly as possible.

Additionally, those who broke the law by destroying the national monument should be held accountable. In short, the Orange Menace and his hate-fueled band of sycophants should be prosecuted for this crime, though it may seem modest among their many daily assaults including brazen murder of American citizens.

I am in opposition to the East Wing modernization project (ballroom) that is being considered as an addition to the White House and would like to share my views. We are currently having financial difficulties in funding many of our current programs (i.e. Medicare, Medicaid, VA benefits, etc) and therefore to build a very expensive ballroom to the White House at this time is not appropriate. It is also not appropriate to have large corporations offer large amounts of money for the project since it could lead to "deals" for business ventures that would create a quid pro quo situation and exclude other businesses who did not give funds. In addition, the whole project is not appropriate for the site since it is substantially larger than the White House which should never be in the "shadow" of another structure. The White House is the main "feature" on this property and should physically be the focus when viewing the area. The whole idea that a president can, without any oversight simply decide to demolish a wing of the White House is inappropriate- this is quite an understatement. Every president in the past has had to have any changes to the original structures approved in advance by the historical society in charge. To allow someone to simply act as though the property is his to change and demolish as he sees fit goes beyond any boundary set for presidents. There is a protocol and it needed to be followed by this president and others. The East Wing was historical and had meaning for many of its citizens and the people, past and present who spend their time working there meeting the needs of the American people. It was not his to destroy. We cannot allow this precedent to continue and there should be a formal rebuking of the actions that were taken. I believe that the original purpose of the East Wing should remain and a space redesigned to reflect that. The White House was never supposed to resemble a palace which is what our current president is trying to create.

Thank you for your time,

Brenda L Goudreau

I am writing to voice my concern over the desecration of the White House historical East Wing. My understanding is the White House belongs to the American people, not a sitting president.
I ask, why was this destruction ever allowed without any formal review from historical architects, preservationists or necessary federal agencies?

Additionally, as with much of current day political finances - I have concerns with the funding to this new $300 million project. Where is the transparency of the finances?

Limits to presidential power in the alteration of historical sites should never have been allowed to proceed and is a travesty to our American heritage.

I was once deeply moved by my visit to the White House many years ago, but now am only saddened as my grandsons will never have this experience of Americas history

The destruction of the East Wing (part of the people's house) was done without proper permitting or consultation with the citizens of this country simply to stroke the ego of a single man. When I watched the demolition I also was struck by the lack of any kind of asbestos abatement present. Knowing when this structure was built, surely there would have been asbestos somewhere in it. Due its lightweight nature, there's no telling how far this could have spread. What about the debris and dirt dumped at the East Potomac Park Golf course? Won't that become a EPA clean up site. In addition to destroying a historic property, the public is now at risk. Hold the administration accountable and do not let the ballroom be built! Rebuild the East Wing!

Re: NCPC File No. 8733 – East Wing Modernization Project
Public Comment for March 5, 2026 Commission Meeting

Dear Members of the Commission,
I am writing to express my opposition to the proposed design for the East Wing Modernization Project (NCPC File No. 8733) due to its negative impact on the historic architectural character of the White House and its significant landscape.
The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties are clear that new additions to historic structures must be subordinate to the original building. The proposed ballroom addition is not subordinate. Its footprint appears substantially larger than that of the historic Executive Mansion, diminishing the primacy of one of the most significant historic buildings in the United States. Rather than reinforcing the architectural hierarchy of the site, the proposal competes with it.
The proposed new connector and East Wing are also out of scale with the existing West Wing and its connecting colonnade. The increased height relative to the West Wing creates an imbalanced symmetry. Given that the White House is a classically composed building, where proportion and symmetry are central organizing principles, this imbalance is particularly problematic. The lack of visual balance between the east and west components disrupts the carefully ordered composition that defines the White House complex.
Equally concerning is the impact on the historic landscape. The 1935 plan prepared by Frederick Law Olmsted Jr., which remains largely intact today, established the spatial organization and circulation patterns of the South Lawn. The proposed addition encroaches into this primary open space. The Secretary of the Interior's Standards further state that new additions shall not destroy spatial relationships that characterize the property. By infringing upon the primary lawn and shifting the main pathway to accommodate the addition, the proposal awkwardly throws off the symmetry of this central space and compromises the historic landscape framework. The South Lawn is not incidental open space. It is a character-defining historic landscape whose spatial order should be preserved.

For these reasons, I respectfully urge the Commission to require a significant reduction in scale of the proposed East Wing addition. Any new construction should align more closely with the scale and height of the existing West Wing and colonnade, and it should clearly defer to the historic Executive Mansion as the dominant architectural feature of the site, and leave the South Lawn and its perimeter path intact.
Preserving the architectural hierarchy of this National Historic Landmark and the integrity of the Olmsted landscape plan should be paramount.
Thank you for your consideration of these comments.
Respectfully submitted,
Jason Smit

I am opposed to constructing the proposed ballroom to replace the demolished East Wing of the White House.

This project was conceived and launched with no planning or oversight by Congress or the American people. There was no planning, no review of proposed plans, and no permits from any agency obtained for this project.

I am also opposed to funding this project with donations from wealthy patrons as these donations are ethically questionable and can be perceived as bribes to the sitting president.

I support rebuilding the East Wing to match its previous appearance but with modern and up to date construction such as energy efficient lighting, energy efficient HVAC, and modern and secure electronic communications capabilities.

Hell9,

The project should be killed in its entirety for several reasons. First, the demolition of the White House East Wing occurred without proper permitting and public notice making it essentially an illegal destruction of Federal property. That behavior should not be rewarded. Second, the proposed structure is not in architectural harmony with the existing building, dwarfing it in proportion and clashing with the historical style of one of the United State's original public buildings. Third, financing for this project was not approved or appropriated by Congress and the proposed donor financing is not transparent and riddled with potential conflict of interest and waste, fraud and abuse. Fourth, management of the proposed project is poorly defined and much appears to be placed beyond Federal control, including competitive selection of contractors making the entire proposal questionable with regard to acquisition regulations. I urge you to kill this project and begin the process of investigating how the decisions leading up to this application occurred without necessary public review and comment for possible criminal violations. I also urge the planning commission to initiate an independent process for restoration of the damaged structure that is in full compliance with law and regulation and that places the burden of cost on President Trump, not on the taxpayers.

To whom it should concern:

I vehemently oppose the spending of $300 million on this East Wing ballroom project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Demolition occurred without any approved plan, as required by law. This monstrous ugly ballroom replacement for the elegant multi-use East Wing is not a modernization project. It is a disgraceful complete razing of American history and does not comply with requirements for changes (including demolition) to federal buildings. I want to see this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law abiding Americans. The "do whatever you want and make excuses after" is shameful. The "donations " for construction are also abhorrent—a shameful pay-to-play scheme.

I truly hope this review process recognizes the attempts to skirt the law and regulations and puts an end to the construction of this massively outsized and completely unnecessary ballroom.

I would like the project stopped immediately and the present plans rejected and denied permanently as the administration and other involved parties did not go through the proper channels for the callous and unlawful destruction of the East Wing. In conjunction with this, all parties involved need to be prosecuted and pay reparations to rebuild the East wing to its former dimensions and historical presence. These parties also need to be fined heavily for actively working against the set requirements for building renovation and destroying an historic landmark.

This building belongs to the American people and should be built for all the generations of presidents and people yet to come, not for one current tenant.

I am opposed to a ballroom of any size or any cost. This destruction was done without proper review or authorization. If any construction is going occur, it should be to rebuild the East Wing to it's previous state, with only necessary upgrades (for efficiency, durability, etc). It could be a model for green architecture, using solar power and sustainable materials... That would be lovely. However the character of the monument needs to be maintained

Additionally, because this was an illegal act, the perpetrator needs to foot the bill from his own resources, not from the tax payers.

It would be lovely to restore the gardens, too, if possible. Everything has been trashed, and it is truly an shame.

The demolition of the East Wing is a terrible blight in our nation's history. This is the people's house, and it demands that renovation follows protocol. No single person has any right to change without review, and I am devastated that this action happened without proper review. This is a historic monument, and to disrespect the history is to disrespect the people of this country. I implore you to please take every necessary action to remediate and demand any presidential request be properly evaluated and processed. Over 50 years ago, I visited Washington DC with my parents. We visited and toured the White House and Capitol. As a young woman, I was thrilled at the beauty of the President's residence. The columns, the setting, the perfect balance of the East and West wings as well as the stories connected with the building itself fascinated me.

That building and its historical significance to the country and to me as a citizen made such an impression Many years later, I was asked to serve on our local Historic Preservation Commission. I couldn't help but remember my visit to Washington.
As I learned what was required for a home in a historic district to be changed, I grew to respect the care and duty we were given as public servants. As I write to you I remember too the importance of preserving our nation's historic home, perhaps the most loved and revered landmark in this great country of ours.

The current resident's decision to destroy the East Wing is, quite frankly, obscene. It is an insult and I wish it was considered a crime against all American citizens. If any of us were to destroy property belonging to someone else, we would be facing a court of law.
Respectfully, I ask that the East Wing be rebuilt as it was using the funds donated to build one man's ball room.We can replant a rose garden, but it would be shameful to ask the citizens of this country to fund the repairs to our history. Should this not occur, I request that the National Capital Planning Commission step forward and take control of the design and development of any structure erected on the ground of former East Wing.

Thank you.

Do not dwarf the historic People's Mansion with a giant gilded hall that will be used a few times a year.

If the White House must have a ballroom, can't it be put across the street? The EOB can use a little help. Or make a deal with Hay Adams!

Now that East Wing was unceremoniously demolished, can I suggest a new use for that space? The Rose Garden.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
I think the person responsible for the demolition should be required to pay for the rebuild.

I strongly oppose the spending of hundreds of millions of dollars on this project, regardless of whether the funding is from private donations of public funds. This project was rushed forward without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is NOT a modernization project but rather a complete obliteration of American history.

I want this project canceled. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. As a result, the East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its former design.

The precedent of allowing national monuments to be altered without following the formal process of design submission, engineering and aesthetic review, public input, etc. is disastrous.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
Thank you for your time.

I want the project cancelled and the East wing restored to its former glory. NOT a gold plated embarrassment to our future presidents and families. This is the peoples house and should be treated as though.

To permit this to go forward is an affront to all the law abiding citizens of the United States.

I strongly oppose the $300 million East Wing project. According to publicly available information, this project was initiated without the required authorization, permits, or design review. Proceeding with demolition or construction under these circumstances violates established federal preservation and planning laws.

The East Wing is a historic structure, and its destruction represents an irreversible loss to the nation's architectural heritage. Any project of this scale must undergo proper review, including compliance with preservation statutes and public oversight requirements.

I urge the responsible agencies to halt this project immediately, require full legal compliance, and pursue restoration of the East Wing's historic design. Allowing this project to continue without accountability would undermine the rule of law and set a dangerous precedent for future federal actions.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

While these words above are not mine, permission given by the author to use them has been given and express my sentiments.

Additionally, this is NOT a monarchy where exorbitant amounts of money are spent to glorify a king or queen. Even in modern day England, this kind of thing would be frowned upon, not to mention that the monarchy there would never be so vain nor blind to the historic significance of the People's House that it would be demolished in their honor.

Programs to feed the poor, care for the disabled and provide life saving financial asssistance for health care have been gutted. It is obscene that this is happening.

I trust that this commission will see the value of Ms. Guard's words and mine and do the right thing.

An abomination. A slap at history and grace, done without public comment or input. The White House and capitol area are historical treasures that belong to all of us.
The increasingly expensive "ballroom" belongs in Vegas, not here. The loss of the East Wing is a physical manifestation of the loss of equanimity and balance that is occurring all over the government right now. (Just asking- who is the President going to get to perform/play in the new ballroom?)

He is a tasteless boor in every way, and he is spreading his dreck on all of us.

I strongly oppose the spending a minimum of $300 million on this project. The statement that this project will be privately funded through donors is nothing but a smoke screen. This project was started without proper authorization, proper permits, or any type of design review or oversight.

This is not any type of modernization project, but instead a complete obliteration of our nation's history. This project needs to be cancelled, with the East Wing being rebuilt in its former design, with the inclusion of the proper improvements to carry it another 200+ years.

Allowing this project to continue to move forward without penalizing all that broke the laws, would substantiate the belief that there are those above the law.

I felt the need to share my feelings about the destruction of the East Wing of the White House. This damage has already been done, gone in the dust of history but, there is still time to renew the east wing, carefully and with forethought. Modernization is sometimes necessary, and every effort should be made, to create a space that respects the historical aspects of the building and creates balance. An addition that is too large will not be visually pleasing. Symmetry is key. I'm sure there are experts that can create a functional space, that is also historically accurate, and beautiful. It is more important to get this right, than to get this done. After all, the White House is an important symbol of our constitutional government.

I have been horrified to see the east wing of the White House demolished. And I ask that no taxpayer dollars be used to build the monstrosity of the ballroom that is completely out of keeping with the White House. How is it that normal people can’t replace windows without getting permission and yet this current administration demolished part of our historic past without that permission. I ask that the previous Eastwing be rebuilt following it’s original guidelines and that proper assessment and preservation take place in any future moves to change the White House.

No Trump Ballroom. If you'd like further explanation for why I feel this way, I've borrowed more eloquent words from a friend. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size.

The projected $300 million to construct it is morally reprehensible when our government cannot guarantee health and safety to our people. Plus nowhere in the projected budgets have I seen anything that mentions the ongoing cost of maintaining such a structure. Its infrequent use for only major state events hardly justifies what is bound to be a huge expense. Talk about waste and abuse of government resources!

This is such an affront to the American public and calling it a modernization project is part of the problem. The White House is an historical treasure and an architectural history lesson. The footprint should never have been altered without congressional approval.
The East Wing deserves to be restored to its original architectural design, with all design elements, including trim, lighting and paint colors historically accurate.
If this travesty goes unchallenged it will set a terrible precedent for all our other historical treasures. What is next? The Lincoln Memorial or the Washington Monument? The National Gallery or the whole Mall itself?

Dear NCPC,

I am so grateful for a chance to weigh in. I'm just a small-potatoes Grammy from New Hampshire, and my two cents is probably worth even less now that pennies are on their way out.

Please, please, please I beg you to do all that you can to restore the East Wing to its former condition. That was a vital part of our heritage as a nation and a people. Modernization is for technology, or for personal tastes if they run that way, I suppose, but the White House belongs to the people and the wanton destruction on that terribly sad Monday had all the appearance of someone acting out on a spiteful impulse rather than a decision which reflected any respect for its history and meaning - especially since reportedly plans were never submitted nor legal permission sought?

That wing embodied the warmer, gentler, more nurturing side of our national character, and its loss, especially in such a rapacious manner, feels like a violent violation of the caretaking responsibilities incumbent on those fortunate enough to reside in the People's House for their time of service.

I cannot fathom the cold-heartedness involved in its destruction, but I can understand and appreciate the astute and loving care you take of our historic properties, and I hope you get the chance to fully restore the East Wing.

Thank you for all you do. This wasn't any oversight or shortcoming on your part.

Sincerely,
Wanda I. Turcotte

I oppose this project that was started without the appropriate reviews, approvals, and studies in place. The White House belongs to the people of the United States and not any one President. The East Wing demolishment was undertaken without any regard for anything or anyone and not as a tenant of a building, but the owner. A ballroom is not an upgrade to the existing structure and should only have been undertaken with the gravity a project of this scale demanded. Instead the East Wing was demolished without any regard for the history that was destroyed alongside the physical structure. Not only do I oppose the project, I believe the President should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I am appalled and sad that the White House, which belongs to the American people, is being destroyed by one man who is single-handedly ignoring the laws of our great country in so many ways. Please do not allow this terrible destruction to continue.

It is mislabeled as “modernization” but is actually destruction of property owned by the American people. Rebuild and restore the East Wing. This project is not lawfully permitted and should not be allowed to proceed. I live in an historic home in Charleston, South Carolina, and I'm very familiar with restrictions and limitations regarding repairs and maintenance following historic guidelines and limitations. While they can be inconvenient, they serve a purpose in maintaining the integrity of the city. The White House is the People's house, and as such represents the people's history to both United States, citizens, and people throughout the world. It is unconscionable if one transitory figure could make the decision to desecrate that space."Modernization" should be confined to upgrading wiring and plumbing, while rigorously maintaining and preserving the original structure and design. Restore this symbol of national pride.

This project must be stopped and the East Wing restored and renovated to meet codes, of course. Not abiding by the approval laws for changes and taking a wrecking ball to the White House before any approval or even actions to obtain approval shows such hubris. This country does not need a 900 person ballroom with gold leaf and marble to prove greatness. The classless vanity of one man does not trump the class of the White House.

He then keeps increasing the size and cost. We do not need a Ballroom that seats 1000 people that would only be used a couple of times year. It started out with a capacity of about 700. I categorically oppose the expenditure of $300 million on this project, which proceeded without lawful authorization, required permits, or mandatory design and historic-preservation review. This is not "modernization"; it is the unlawful demolition of a protected piece of American history. Proceeding after the fact does not cure these violations—it rewards them. The project should be immediately halted, cancelled, and the East Wing reconstructed and restored to its prior historic design at the expense of those responsible. Allowing this project to continue without enforcement or accountability would signal that compliance with the law is optional for those with power, undermining both historic-preservation statutes and the rule of law itself.

It is very concerning that appropriate reviews and authorizations were circumvented by the Trump Administration so that the President could have his way in what he claims is a modernization project of the East Wing. We all know that there certainly are approval processes that he should have taken before he totally bulldozed the People's House and the rich history surrounding it. Thank you for the opportunity to submit public comment regarding the proposed ballroom project at the White House.

The White House is not a private residence—it is the People's House and one of the most significant historic properties in the United States. Any major alteration to this National Historic Landmark must follow established federal preservation laws, regulatory review procedures, and transparent public processes.

I oppose the proposed $300 million ballroom project. Based on publicly available information, this project appears to have been initiated without the full and proper authorization, permitting, interagency consultation, and design review required for work of this magnitude on a nationally significant historic property.

Federal undertakings affecting historic properties are subject to review under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, consultation with the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, and compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act where applicable. Additionally, projects in the National Capital region require review to ensure consistency with the Comprehensive Plan and federal design standards. These safeguards exist to protect irreplaceable public resources and to ensure that changes are deliberate, transparent, and consistent with preservation best practices.

This proposal does not appear to represent a thoughtful modernization. Rather, it risks irreversible alteration of historic fabric and character-defining features that embody American history. The East Wing and associated historic spaces should be preserved, maintained, and restored in accordance with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties—not demolished or substantially altered without due process.

No individual or administration is above the law. If proper procedures were bypassed, that failure must be addressed before any further action proceeds. Allowing a project of this scale to move forward without full compliance would undermine the integrity of federal preservation policy and erode public trust.

I respectfully request that the Commission:

Require full compliance with all applicable federal preservation and environmental review laws.

Ensure robust public transparency and consultation.

Halt further action on this project until all required reviews and approvals are properly completed.

Prioritize restoration and preservation of the East Wing consistent with established preservation standards.

The White House belongs to the American people—past, present, and future. Its stewardship demands adherence to both the law and the highest preservation standards.

Respectfully,

The razing was, besides illegal, an affront and insult to US persons.
If the east wing was rebuilt to modern standards and recovered and rebuilt unique architectural features, that would be the place to start, to even consider altering the design. What could be restored and why. Altering is fine as long as it follows the process which was supposed to keep nitwits from trashing the place.
When will the Rose garden be restored?

To Whom It May Concern:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

It was initiated in complete disregard of proper authorization, permits, or a design review by the proper agencies. This is obviously not a "modernization project." It is a bizarre, thoughtless and premeditated erasure of a beautiful, storied piece of American history in exchange for a foolhardy, bloated pile or unnecessary eyesore. Cancel this project. Use the fund instead to restore our beautiful East Wing, as it was before it was so callously destroyed. The expertise, technology and skilled craftsmen are available to accomplish it. Those who launched into this fool's errand should be allowed nowhere near it, and should be penalized for their destructive folly! This is an insult to every law-abiding citizen who has had to secure permits, permissions and inspections for any building, repair or modernization of their own properties. Sir/ Madam,
I'm a retired Naval Officer, and close student of history. I cherish our democracy for it's ability to move us away from flaws when we have effective balance of powers and open avenues for participation. The destruction of the East Wing on the whim of a single person who feels unaccountable is a symbol of what is wrong in our politics. The man who has transformed the White House into a Baroque Era bordello should not be allowed to dwarf the historical seat of our executive branch with a massive baroque excess.

OUR White House was, and should remain, a symbol of the neo-classical spirit of democracy, and the relative modesty of the executive branch in our constitutional system. The replacement of the destroyed area should be stopped immediately until a thoughtfully compatible structure in the same style, that doesn't overwhelm or unbalance the rest, can e reviewed and approved. It should not emulate a European or other nations royal palace. What is the actual need for a 90,000 sq ft ballroom? It isn't a convention center for Presidents to entertain the wealthy and connected. And it should not be financed by a cabal of billionaires trying to curry favor with any single occupant of the peoples house. President Trump, and his father have used the tactic or preemptive destruction of cherished structures and arts before. Let's have a public vetting and compatible design for replacement consistent with the law, and the spirit of the place.

I was horrified by the images that were displayed as the demo team moved into to destroy the East Wing of the White House. Without notification, without public discourse, with bids, and most importantly without a justification of why this Ballroom Project was more important than the historical value and function of the existing building. There are other facilities available in DC for hosting gala events, and considering the White House kitchen and staffing abilities cannot support the magnitude of the proposed celebrations.
I realize that there is no UNDO button to put the East Wing back, but continuing the ballroom fiasco is absolutely the wrong direction.

To the Council,

I am writing in support of the consideration being held now as required by law. The destruction of a significant element so layered in the nation's history and culture. Consider the millions of people through media or the privilege of attending a tour or a cultural event with the First Ladies, and on. The serious violation constitutes malicious destruction of the East Wing of "The People's House" government property calls out for justice and the rule to prosecute the figures involved in what was generally a felony- before you even get to the violations of Secretary of the interior's standards for restoration, or new building additions. Tens of thousands people have been held to these standards for their project. For the administration to ignore every rule and laws as well as national American customs is unacceptable They must follow the review process fully comply or face the consequences.
Please do not allow a ballroom of the proposed scale as a renovation to go forward. The only acceptable option should be to restore the East Wing exactly as it was in its previous construction with modern HVAC and plumbing Accessible to the range of abilities people might need to work or visit it.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment, I hope my comments are useful.

Sincerely, Rich

The East Wing should never have been demolished.

The ballroom is an abomination, and the plans for funding are no better than bribery.

Please don't let the White House and its grounds be further desecrated.

Scrap the ballroom, and rebuild the East Wing to its former appearance, with any necessary security updates.

This project MUST be at a scale and design in keeping with the existing White House. It MUST not dwarf the original building. The White House was never intended to be a palace in a European style. There should be no gold gilt or enormous chandeliers.

Please preserve “the people’s house” to the style and scale that is historically accurate.

How utterly devastating will be the effect on American history and psyche if this ill-conceived, inappropriately designed, monstrosity of a project is allowed to continue. It is the equivalent of a big-box concrete shopping warehouse dressed up with gold lame, pretending to be modern - when in reality it is an ego project based on the whim of uneducated individuals. The American people deserve an East Wing that is culturally fitting, with a design that acknowledges the best of our history. One that is considered and fitting to host those we seek to pay compliment to. We, the people, deserve better. I disagree with this project 100% and for the sake of our national heritage and future, wish the East Wing to brought back to its former glory, not reduced in standing, image or design.

I am deeply concerned that the East Wing of the White House was demolished without authorization, permits, design review, and public comments. Our national historic monuments matter to the public and should be preserved and treated with respect, not as real estate that can be destroyed on a whim by any individual. They belong to the people in perpetuity, not to any individual or any administration. Please address this grave mistake and fix it.

Dear Committee,

What's happend to the historically important East Wing of the White House—The People's House—isn't renovation, isn't updating, it's arson, vandalism, lawlessness. The cavalier and negligent approach taken to the East Wing project would get any project manager in the business world fired, and their career would be ruined.

Renovations and updates must proceed through the proper channels, especially with a building of such singular public importance. That the current occupant of the White House felt no need to obey the law is not a reason to let his plans—are there plans or merely 'the concept of plans?—proceed.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I am deeply opposed to this project. It has been pushed through without the proper architectural review, or any meaningful public input. The various artists' renderings released to the public are inconsistent, some showing a large but potentially feasible addition to the White House, others a colossus that would utterly and permanently disfigure one of our most important national historic sites.

In addition, the information about funding for this project has been opaque. We are assured that it will not be provided by tax dollars, but we do not know which mysterious "private donors" are involved, nor whether they can be relied upon to cover the full cost, including the inevitable overages. We have no assurance that these donors will not represent corporate interests seeking the favor of the Administration or, much worse, foreign intelligence services seeking leverage of some sort.

The project as it has been presented to the public thus far appears to be ugly, overpriced, and under-planned. It also presents an obvious opportunity for corrupt practices or worse.

The East Wing was demolished without authorization from Congress and without permits. The president of this country should not be able to treat the people's house as his property. Why do we need a 300.000.00 dollar ballroom when people are unhoused and can't afford healthcare or groceries? The answer is that we don't. The billionaire donors should have to fund the replacement of the East Wing and restore the White House to it's prior state

Modernization of the East Wing will not affect my daily life much. I live in a western state and don't get to DC often. However, I was heartsick to see demolition of this historic wing of the People's House without proper prior authorization. (These controls are put in place for a reason.) I expect the East Wing was due for renovation and modernization. However, I am unconvinced that the American people need a lavish ballroom to replace vital office space, including the First Lady's Offices.

I oppose this $300 million project. I question whether the proposed lavish ballroom will be used often and whether it is a wise use of the space? I am also concerned about private donations purported to finance this renovation. Perhaps this donor finance method was employed in the past? But at the least, this project's scope and hefty cost beg for independent governmental oversight, to insure that the players do not benefit from influence peddling.

Lastly, I hope that any approved renovation is congruent with the White House's historical style and does not reflect gilded ostentation. It should embody and blend with the understate elegance of the White House. Razing the East Wing without prior proper authorization and public input deeply affected many Americans. It was as if a part of our government was being torn away. Please approve plans that modernize the East Wing space but keep its historical integrity. If a ballroom is needed, please approve a reasonable multipurpose-type addition that meets the needs of those doing the people's business at the White House; and a plan that taxpayers can afford. Thank you for your time and attention.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the wholesale destruction of the East Wing and the nefarious plans to erect an unnecessary party room, or ballroom as some might call it. Normal planning reviews and vetting for historic and public buildings have been ignored when the original wing was destroyed without congressional authorization, reviews by the planning commission, or public comment periods. The perpetrators should be held responsible for the damage to the historic buildings, and made to replace them, at no cost to the government, with contextually appropriate structures that serve the purpose of the original property. These properties are not personal property or real estate that can be destroyed or modified to reflect the whims of whoever is in power at the moment. They should be protected for posterity by the congress of the United States for the sole purpose of community use and posterity. The destruction of these facilities without warning was a terrible affront to the very idea of a responsible public review process that should have been conducted. The proposed project is out of scale with the context of the rest of the White House complex and the resulting oversized structure will threaten the historic nature of the whole complex.

I write in opposition to the reported demolition of the White House East Wing and the proposed construction of an 89,000-square-foot ballroom without full compliance with established historic preservation review processes.

The White House is not simply a residence or event space; it is one of the most recognized civic structures in the world and a symbol of American democratic continuity. Changes to such a historic and nationally significant site must be handled with transparency, adherence to preservation law, and respect for public participation.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation has alleged that the project is proceeding without required review and public comment. If accurate, bypassing these processes undermines longstanding safeguards designed to protect historic resources and ensure that decisions affecting nationally significant landmarks are subject to expert evaluation and public input.

Historic preservation review is not a procedural technicality — it is a legal and civic safeguard that protects cultural heritage, architectural integrity, and public trust. Regardless of the merits of any proposed addition, compliance with federal preservation statutes and review protocols is essential.

I urge that all construction activity be paused until the appropriate review boards have evaluated the proposal and a public comment process has been completed. The integrity of our national symbols, and the rule-based processes that protect them, demand nothing less.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
The East Wing needs to be rebuilt exactly as it was before the unlawful demolition!

I oppose the wholesale destruction of the East Wing and the nefarious plans to erect an unnecessary party room, or ballroom as some might call it. Normal planning reviews and vetting for historic and public buildings have been ignored when the original wing was destroyed without congressional authorization, reviews by the planning commission, or public comment periods. The perpetrators should be held responsible for the damage to the historic buildings, and made to replace them, at no cost to the government, with contextually appropriate structures that serve the purpose of the original property. These properties are not personal property or real estate that can be destroyed or modified to reflect the whims of whoever is in power at the moment. They should be protected for posterity by the congress of the United States for the sole purpose of community use and posterity. The destruction of these facilities without warning was a terrible affront to the very idea of a responsible public review process that should have been conducted. The proposed project is out of scale with the context of the rest of the White House complex and the resulting oversized structure will threaten the historic nature of the whole complex.

Greetings,
I oppose the spending of 300 million or more donated OR taxpayer dollars on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. I am deeply saddened by this complete destruction of American history done without input from the American people. I am hoping this ballroom project can be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design without the gilded extras that seem to be appearing all over the rest of the White House. They go against the intent of our Republic, making it more like a monarchy in the style of Louis XIV, not, say, George Washington.
No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law in the destruction of the East Wing of the People's House and who would rebuild it to reflect their personal, not national, desires would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans and to the Nation.
Thank you for your consideration.

I strongly oppose the tearing down of half of the White House without permission and the proposed massive "ballroom". What a travesty, when so many Americans are struggling to get by, in debt, dying from lack of proper medical care, going hungry and homeless. No one is above the law! Any money raised should be used to restore the original historic structure right away. Please keep me informed of your decision and timeline. Kayla Starr, Talent, Oregon

I vehemently oppose the complete remodel of the East Wing of the people's house otherwise known as the White House. This travesty was done with out the people's consideration and without going through the legal process. This was not only a failure of this administration but a failure to take into account that its history is our history. Not Trumps to make into a grotesque piece of tacky pimping of our house. We insist that it be

This is NOT a "modernization" project, but rather a complete destruction of a significant part of American history. In the name of all Americans, this project must be cancelled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

No single person is above the law in this country, and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who violated the law is both a tacit approval of this historic destruction, and an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

This should be a project reviewed and decided by many and not by one.

I DEMAND that HE BE HELD FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE REBUILDING of this historic property that he had no right to destroy, remodel, or whatever he wishes to call it. NO RIGHT WHATSOEVER. And there MUST NOT BE ANY IFS, ANDS, OR BUTS ABOUT IT! The law is CLEAR! It is an American Property that belongs to the AMERICAN PEOPLE AT LARGE!! PLEASE MAKE HIM PAY!! And don't take any IOUs from him either. He needs to pay UPFRONT, IMMEDIATELY, IN CASH!! NO TIME PAYMENTS. NO EXCUSES! UP FRONT. WITHIN 30 DAYS. PERIOD!! PLEASE DON'T LET HIM DRAG YOU ON. The illegal tearing down of the East Wing is a tragedy and a crime. No permits. No permission. No review. No hearings. History destroyed. For what? For a gaudy enormous unwanted golden ballroom? How about we rebuild the East wing instead? What a waste of money. Melania just had a movie come out talking about what she was doing in the East Wing. Now it's gone. Same with the rose garden. I submit this notice in opposition to the proposed East Wing Ballroom. There are many reasons this project should not move forward. One immediate reason is there is no necessity for it. I find it odd that we cannot find funds to take care of our citizens but we can find funds to build a monstrosity that is nothing but a diversion and attempt to grift with and for oligarchs. The White House is the People's House. Which means it is partly mine. Will I be able to utilize or visit or attend events there? Will any non-oligarchical citizen? This project was started and acted upon prior to gaining any legal authority. A ballroom is not a matter of national security. It's just another way to steal what belongs to all. The White House is not DJT's house. He is a temporary tenant. Even regular homeowners must obtain proper licensing to build additions onto or begin demo or building their homes. Renters are not permitted to make structural changes without express written consent from the property manager/landlord. As a self exclaimed "real estate mogul," President Trump is aware of this. I am not okay with "Rules for thee but not for me."

As a lifelong Washingtonian I will always support work to maintain and upgrade the infrastructure of our most cherished national buildings.

Changes proposed to the site of the demolished East Wing are not this.

Making a monstrously oversized ballroom adjacent to an 18th century mansion is unnecessary, extravagantly wasteful, and disrupts the visual harmony of the President's mansion, the Ellipse, and the historic vistas designed and laid out by L'Enfant.

I am writing with my real name here - taking the risk that speaking out will land me on one of this administration's grotesque and growing "enemies" lists. But you have requested comment. And I, as a public historian, who has filmed significant documentaries on this site, feel compelled to weigh in. Much good may it do.

The White House does not need a grand ballroom. It is the people's house, not a castle or palace. And the fact that the East Wing was torn down for no apparent reason, without approval is disgusting. The only thing I would update are those items necessary for safety or access, such as electrical and wheel chair ramps. Other than that, I would defer to those experts in historical buildings.

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history, and a vanity project for the current administration. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design, preferably paid for out of the pockets of the administration who felt it was appropriate to demolish the structure without necessary approvals. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose the spending of $300 million, donated or not, on this ballroom project. The East Wing -- a WING OF THE WHITE HOUSE -- was razed to the ground without authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project. It is the erasure of American history using backhoes, bulldozers, and dump trucks. I want this project reversed, and to see the East Wing rebuilt and restored. American citizens deserve no less.

No one is above the law, no matter how much private money they throw at a project. No federal building is personal property to be destroyed at will. This project is illegal, and to allow it to proceed would be an insult to all law-abiding Americans who honor our nation's history. Please demand that the building be restored and the White House made whole again.

I'm writing in opposition to the plan to build a large, tacky ballroom on the site of the former East Wing. The East Wing was demolished without prior planning, public discussion or attempts at preservation. The source of funding for construction of a new ballroom remains unclear, with some nebulous reference to "private donors" mentioned as the source. This sounds like an attempt to curry favor with the current administration in anticipation of advancing the donors' private legislative agenda. It is certainly a break from prior sources of funding for renovations to the People's House.
The drawings of the proposed ballroom are not in keeping with the architectural style of the White House. As far as I can tell, there's been no solicitation of any architectural firm of any standing to submit competing visions of the project for public review & comments. It looks like it is solely the product of the lurid tastes of the currrent POTUS and will resemble a gilded outhouse patched onto the facade of the White House. It is an embarrassment to all of the citizens of this country.

Dear Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed "East Wing Modernization Project," which would authorize construction of a new ballroom on the grounds of the White House.

The White House is not merely a residence or event venue; it is a symbol of our nation's history, continuity, and democratic values. Alterations to its historic footprint must be approached with restraint and with deep respect for architectural precedent. The proposed ballroom is, by all accounts, too large in scale and inconsistent with the established character of the Executive Mansion complex. Such a significant addition risks setting a troubling precedent for future expansions that could gradually erode the historic integrity of this national landmark.

Beyond concerns of preservation and precedent, the fiscal implications of this project are equally troubling. At a time when the nation faces pressing budgetary constraints and competing priorities—from infrastructure to veterans' services—it is difficult to justify the substantial expenditure required for a new ceremonial space. Taxpayer resources should be directed toward essential public needs, not toward expanding event capacity at the Executive Mansion.

Many Americans value the White House as it stands and would prefer to see careful restoration and preservation of the original East Wing rather than a dramatic modernization. Protecting and restoring existing historic structures reflects both fiscal responsibility and respect for the building's legacy.

I respectfully urge the Commission to reject the proposed ballroom construction and instead prioritize restoration efforts that honor the historic character of the White House grounds.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Brian Carr

Dear National Capital Planning Commission,

As a lover of history and of the architecture in Washington, D.C. I urge you to reject the current plan that was started without approval by the President. The White House is not owned by the person in the office. Any changes needed should have been submitted and approved. The current drawings indicate that the president plans to build a ghastly ballroom that is even larger than the White House itself. The White House is not Versailles. It is the people's house and all architecture and decor should represent this fact, not the fantasies of a tacky man with delusions of grandeur and monarchic rule.

Please put a stop to what has been started. Reject the plans.
Thank you.

It is completely unacceptable. That any part of the White House was demolished without going through the correct process. It is an extremely manipulative tactic. This is the people's house. It is not the decision of one person or a small group of people. It is also questionable what the money is truly being used for. It is something that is above board. Regardless, this part of the White House has been described as the heart of the White House. It should be rebuilt as much as possible to honor its history at the expense of Donald Trump, the destroyer. This should not be paid for by taxpayers. I repeat this should not be paid for by taxpayers. This whole process should be out of his hands or the hands of his friends or those that owe him something. As an American citizen and a lover of history, I am disheartened at this act. I think it is a blatant disregard for our country, our history and our values.

Count me among the voices of angry Americans who oppose the building of a ridiculous ballroom where the historic East Wing of the White House used to be. The demolition of the East Wing was done without proper permits or authorization of any kind. What is sorely needed is the restoration of the East Wing as it stood for decades. There is nothing we can do to replace the historic trees that were planted in honor of two of our past Presidents. But we can restore the building itself --- as it should be, as it has always been!

This was done without proper consultation, permits, authorization and is an abhorrent misuse of executive power. Nothing less than the complete rebuilding and restoration of the East Wing AS IT WAS before its destruction will satisfy--and even then who knows what historic and cultural artifacts were destroyed during its demolition. ALL the money supposedly raised for the palatial "ballroom" should be devoted to this restoration.

Do not build an out of size ballroom to dwarf our White House. If you have a gigantic ballroom, it would no longer be such a special privilege to attend an event there.

I oppose this complete destruction of the East Wing of the White House which was done illegally without permits or permission from Congress. This is MY house, "WE THE PEOPLE" own it and must protect it.

History was made here and this project must be reversed.
Please cancel the project, and hold the people who ordered the horrific act responsible and see that they are appropriately punished,.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. The entire wing was razed in what seemed like the middle of the night. There was no proper authorization, permits, or design review, and it blots out very valuable history, history which I, my children, and my grandchildren valued. It is a terrible loss to the people of the United States. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I am an urban designer and land use planner in the San Francisco Bay Area, practicing for thirty years. I have been appalled to observe from afar the demolition of the East Wing of the White House. Although the imagery of what might replace the East Wing does not convey the type of building I would envision there, my primary issue is with the planning process (or lack thereof). For decades, rules have been in place to guide the planning, design, budgeting, and construction of such renovation or reconstruction projects. I am particularly upset by the fact that such a process has been abandoned for this effort. Additionally, the mish-mashing of public and private funds to achieve this project opens the door to the possibility for too much funny business. The White House grounds and environs should be treated with thoughtful respect, not funny business. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Since when is it appropriate for a temporary resident of a government building to authorize tearing down part of that building and employing an unauthorized architect to replace it with a structure that dwarfs the original building? I strongly object to the allocation of $300 million for this project, especially given that it was launched without appropriate authorization, required permits, or a formal design review. This is being framed as modernization, but in reality it amounts to the destruction of a significant piece of American heritage. I urge that the project be halted immediately and that the East Wing be reconstructed and restored to its original design. The rule of law must apply to everyone; allowing this effort to proceed without holding accountable those who bypassed legal requirements would undermine public trust and disregard the many Americans who follow the law.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The space being proposed is too large. It should be no larger than the East Wing which was previously demolished. The replacement addition should be in the same proportion as the remaining structures. It should preferably be a replacement of the East Wing. How many times a year would a ballroom be used as compared to the office space and exhibit areas which were housed in the East Wing? Huge waste of money! Donations given are nothing but bribes being paid to the current administration.

Please do not approve or agree to spend $300 million on this project--The East Wing Modernization Project. Not only was it initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, it's makes a mockery of American history and the integrity of the National Capital Planning Commission if the project proceeds.

This project has nothing to do with modernization or useful space; rather what has occurred destroys everything the White House has historically represented--including tradition and good taste. Please cancel the project, stop it now. The intelligent thing to do at this point is rebuild the structure of the East Wing and return it to the more tasteful former design. Proceeding with this project will indicate that certain people with more money than God are above the law and can do what they want, when they want, to property they don't own or control. You must realize what a dangerous precedent moving ahead with the "East Wing Modernization Project" will be if it proceeds as indicated by it's present unapproved and illegal plan. Furthermore, establish the means by which those who broke the law by moving ahead without proper authority or permission will penalized. Thank you for all you do and for allowing the American people to submit our comments.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a unit of the National Park System, held in trust for the American people and serving as the residence of every U.S. president since 1800. The president, as a temporary occupant and constitutional steward of the Executive Branch, does not own this property. That office carries a solemn duty to safeguard the nation's history and to govern in accordance with the rule of law, democratic principle, and public trust.
The unlawful demolition of the historic East Wing, conducted without required review, permits, or Congressional oversight, constitutes not only a clear breach of federal preservation statutes but also a profound violation of the confidence placed in the presidency by the American people. The public was given no notice, no opportunity for comment, and no chance to defend a landmark that belongs to them.
I therefore urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require the full reconstruction of the East Wing, faithful in design, proportion, and materials to its historic form. Any future construction on this site must remain subordinate in scale and compatible in character with the original structure of the Executive Mansion, in respect for both the law and the enduring heritage of the United States.

Dear National Capital Planning Commission,

Destroying the East Wing and building a gaudy ballroom is called the "East Wing Modernization Project"? DISGUSTING. The White House is the People's House and should not have been touched without congressional approval. Those "investors" giving $400 million to build a ballroom....where is the money go? Bribe's to our corrupt, felon President? I won't even get started on all the tacky third world dictator gold and demeaning portraits of past presidents in the White House and a concreted over Rose Garden from a con man who grifts Bibles (the hypocrisy!), shoes, and watches and has made billions for him and his family from the presidency. It's not his house.

I hope that when this evil administration is gone, the East Wing can be rebuilt and the offices that were there can return, like the National Park System.

Sincerely,
Dr. Julie Wiebell

Destroying the East Wing of the White House should never have happened without the proper input from the American people, permitting and authority. The White House is the PEOPLE’S HOUSE — NOT the property of the temporary occupants. I oppose spending of $300 million taxpayer dollars without recovering it from whoever broke the law to tear it down in the first place. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design and historical accuracy so that we can have continuity of history. To do otherwise would be a stain on the American story. I oppose the current plan such as it is, because its scale is completely out of proportion with the remains of the existing structure. Additionally. as an engineer recently retired from the steel industry, I know this is not following the steps that lead to a successful outcome. As far as I am aware, no actual architectural drawings or structural plans exist at this point. That process typically takes months if not years. Design development drawings at least should have been done before anything a major as the total demolition of the East Wing. This is, however, a vanity project for the current occupant of the White House, who has had many failures than successes in his commercial endeavors. I fear this will become one more of those failures.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

This is not a "modernization project". It is an attempt on the part of a mentally ill president to put his stamp on everything around him, with no consideration of the expense or utility of his projects.
The White House is the People's House. Trump does not own it, and his actions in destroying it as far as he already has should never have been allowed to proceed.

A ballroom financed by corporate tycoons with business before the government smacks of bribery. And what happens when we have a new president with a genuine, full-time first lady who needs her own office space? I support rebuilding the East Wing and, if necessary, including a party space that is architecturally proportionate to the rest of the White House. Although I must say that all this is far down on our list of national priorities, given our enormous debt burden.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my thoughts on the "East Wing Modernization Project".

I absolutely oppose the spending of $300 million on this project.

This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Even the razing of the structure was attempted with as little public transparency as could be managed.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House is a pillaging of American history.

This project should be cancelled in its entirety, and the East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its former design.

As an equally concerning issues, no one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law is an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Everyone associated with this incident should be reminded that our country follows the Rule of Law, and that we are loyal to our Constitution and not a single leader.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on the proposed ballroom project, which was not only unnecessary, but was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review required for modification of historical buildings. This is not Modernization (which implies fixing something that was broken) but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Apparently the money has been raised to build the ballroom so there should be plenty to rebuild a cherished piece of our history. I ran after President Johnson's beagles in the East Wing as my parents and aunt looked on from behind the ropes as a nice man in a suit gathered me up and returned me to them. I want my history restored. And, I believe that those responsible for the destruction of the original East Wing should be held accountable. Please stop this wasteful and unattractive project.

This project needs to be stopped. It's not a "modernization" of the historic East Wing - it's an obliteration of it. There was no authorization, or review, or permitting of this abomination that will forever destroy the symmetry of the White House while wiping out 125 years of history. It is an unlawful proposal and the perpetrators should be held to account. The American people did not ask for a gaudy ballroom. Rebuild the East Wing the way it was, and restore the contents if they have not already been trashed.

I beleve he has self made visions of grandeur. Comparing himself to Putin or as a King living in a palace. The White House belongs to the people of the United States and the president a representative of the people. Trump never went through the proper channels to even bring his idea to the table. I strongly oppose the expenditure of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or an appropriate design review process. This is not a thoughtful modernization effort, it is the wholesale demolition of an important piece of American history.

Public projects of this magnitude demand transparency, legal compliance, and respect for established preservation standards. Skirting these safeguards undermines public trust and sets a dangerous precedent. No individual, agency, or administration should be permitted to bypass the rule of law, especially when taxpayer dollars and historic structures are at stake.

I call for this project to be immediately canceled. The East Wing should be rebuilt and faithfully restored to its former design, preserving its historical integrity for future generations.

Allowing this project to proceed without accountability for those who authorized or executed it unlawfully would be an affront to every law-abiding American. Equal application of the law is foundational to our democracy, and it must be upheld.

We all know this is another attempt by Trump to ‘honor’ his ego and take over the property, the power, the history and the decency of the American people.

This was a criminal misstep by a totally arrogant and corrupt president. The White House is NOT his house. He is an occupant like every preceding president. He completely ignored precedent and the law by pushing forward without securing the needed advice and permission to destroy the East Wing and attempt to raise money to "build a disgusting and un-needed ballroom." He should be arrested and prosecuted for his wrongdoing and sued PERSONALLY FOR DESTROYING THE HISTORIC EAST WING. He should be forced to cover at his own personal expense all expenditures incurred so far and to personally cover the total cost of restoration by seizing assets if necessary. He also needs to account for the 300 million that he raised from his billionaire friends to supposedly cover the cost of his proposed ballroom. He failed to get permission from the appropriate authorities, and he betrayed the American people for a personal and completely unnecessary development. The $300 million that he raised is missing and should be collected as partial penalty for his betrayal and wrongdoing. He should also pay taxes on that. Throw the book at this moronic asshole.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The full demolition of the historic East Wing of the White House without any consultation of Congress and the National Trust (and it's responsibility of Historic Building Preservation) by Donald Trump and his administration is not only a tragedy it is a national TRAVESTY!

Thank you so very much for working to preserve our American history!

I oppose this $300 million project, and here's exactly why it should be canceled. The East Wing demolition violated established legal procedures at every turn. No filing with the National Capital Planning Commission. No comprehensive environmental assessment. No congressional approval. No public comment period. That's not how federal construction on historic property works, or at least, that's not how it's supposed to work when everyone follows the same rules.

This isn't a modernization project. Modernization means updating systems while preserving the structure. What happened here was the complete demolition of a 120-year-old wing built in 1902 and expanded in 1942, along with the East Colonnade, the Jacqueline Kennedy Garden, and several historic magnolia trees. You don't get to call it "modernization" when you raze the entire structure to the ground. That's reconstruction, and the distinction matters.

The procedural violations alone should halt this project. The National Trust for Historic Preservation filed a lawsuit citing violations of the Administrative Procedure Act and the National Environmental Policy Act. A federal judge has already expressed skepticism about the legal authority to proceed. When your project can't withstand basic legal scrutiny, the system is working exactly as designed to prevent this kind of unilateral action.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark. It belongs to the American people, not to whoever currently occupies it. Every previous president who made significant structural changes worked with bipartisan commissions, consulted stakeholder groups, submitted to design reviews, and secured congressional funding approval. The process exists because the building matters, and shortcuts around that process set a precedent that any future president can demolish historic federal structures without oversight.

The proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom would be larger than the entire 55,000-square-foot White House residence. Architectural preservation experts have stated this scale would "overwhelm" and "permanently disrupt the carefully balanced classical design" of the original structure. Size matters when you're talking about architectural harmony and historic preservation.

The timeline demonstrates the problem. Plans announced in late summer, demolition commenced October 20 without warning, and the entire East Wing was gone by October 23. That's less than three months from public announcement to complete demolition of a structure that stood for more than a century. According to a Yahoo News/YouGov poll, 57% of Americans disapprove of this demolition.

I want this project canceled. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to match its former design using the documented architectural plans that exist in the historical record. And I want accountability for those who authorized demolition without following established legal requirements. If federal law requires congressional approval, environmental assessments, and design reviews for construction on federal parkland, then everyone, including the President, must follow those requirements. No exceptions.

Permitting this project to proceed rewards illegal shortcuts and establishes that compliance with federal law is optional if you have enough power. Law-abiding Americans followed the rules. The people behind this project should be required to do the same.

I oppose this project for the following reasons: the demolition and design was not properly permitted, the building belongs to the citizens of the United States yet they were not invited to participate in the decision to demolish the East Wing, gutting the East Wing erases the history of all events that have taken place in this historical building, and finally, this administration does not need a huge ballroom for lavish dinners while citizens cannot afford doctors and medicine. This is a slap in the face of all working Americans.

My suggestion is quite simple. Put it back together exactly the way it was. I'm sure you have photos. I'm sure you have the original plans. Put it back exactly the way it was. It's historic. It was balanced with the rest of the White House. It was perfect for visitors and especially for the First Lady.
It was disrespectful to demolish it, without even a consideration for its historical significance. This is the people's house. The people of America are not about extravagance. We are a humble people. That is the character of the White House. It's not Maralargo. We are not Maralargo. The people will never be part of a massive ballroom. It's not in our culture.
The only way this can be addressed would be to return it to its original glory.This is the only way our country can begin to heal from such a desecration. I hope with all my heart that you will consider.
Sincerely,

In September of 2024 my wife and I visited Washington,DC to visit the many historical sites, the Smithsonian museums, tour the Capitol and the White House. We did this in apprehension that the magnificence of these places might not survive if Donald Trump was re-elected. It was very moving to enter the East Wing of the White House and to begin our tour walking past the Rose Garden (now destroyed) and to walk along a corrider framed by photographs of the daily lives of pasr presidents (were they preserved?, then to be led on a stately tour of the individual rooms of the East Wing.

Our choice to be proactive was rewarded with a last look at the East Wing before it was destroyed by an exceedingly vain figment of a human being.

The White House, the People's House, has now been partially destroyed. Donald Trump in Washington a stately ballroom has decreed. He tore down the East Wing without authorization. He's taking funds for his ballroom from rich people seeking government funding. The whole operation is quid pro quo. For the US Government to firther this travesty is criminal. When this administration and all of the supporters of its regime is defeated, I look forward to the call of all of them to justice. If Kubla Don's Stately Ballroom is built, at that time of justice it wiill be torn down and the East Wing of the People's House will be restored.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was begun without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project, but rather a complete razing of American history.
This project should be canceled. The East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its former design. There should be nothing additional built above, beside, or below.
The White House is the People's House. Any change should require the People's consent.
The cost for the restoration should not come from the taxpayers or any part of the Federal government.
The current administration is responsible and should be duly penalized. No one is above the law.

I object to this project. It does not have proper authorization and is a design nightmare. The Peoples' House deserves more. I want the East Wing restored to its former size. Strongly Against!

The East Wing demolition was done without permits, without asbestos abatement, without saving precious slate roof tiles, who knows what else was ripped out and dumped. To build a ballroom larger than the current White House is a ridiculous scheme to flaunt the disrespect for process, oversight, integrity and architectural design standards. The ballroom is not needed, a rebuilding of the eatery wing with updated security features and modernization is the only path forward.

Thank you

It is a horrific affront to The People's House, and I humbly request as an American citizen that this project be immediately canceled and that the East Wing be meticulously restored to its prior design, using the funds already pledged as what could very easily be considered a bribe to the President of the United States.

As an American citizen, I strongly oppose moving forward with the proposed East Wing ballroom project at the White House (chatgpt://generic-entity?number=0).

While I understand the desire to expand or modernize facilities, this project does not reflect the priorities that many Americans believe should come first. At a time when our nation faces pressing economic, social, and infrastructure challenges, allocating substantial resources to construct a new ballroom sends the wrong message about fiscal responsibility and stewardship of taxpayer funds.

The White House is not merely a residence or event venue — it is a historic symbol of our democracy. Major structural expansions should meet a clear public necessity, not simply convenience or prestige. I urge you to reconsider this project and instead focus attention and funding on initiatives that more directly serve the American people.

I respectfully ask that this proposal not move forward.

The White House, the People's House, does not need a ballroom. It is neither a hotel nor a convention center; DC has plenty of those. There is public space available nearby (I believe it's the Commerce Building) and the central space at the National Building Museum is huge. Union Station has a lovely and large space.

The White House, the People's House, is not a Palace. It was deliberately designed and built with modest dimensions and restrained aesthetics. Visitors to DC are often surprised at how small it is. The Georgian style is intentionally symmetrical.

The occupant of The White House is not a King; he works for us and lives there as our temporary guest. He should not be able to rebuild it to his own tastes, no matter who is paying for it.

A new East Wing should be constructed to replace the East Wing that was demolished. It should be similar in size, shape, and placement to the West Wing, to maintain the symmetry of the entire structure. If it is determined that the East Wing should house a ballroom, so be it--but it should be made to fit into the original footprint and design.

I also believe that further renovations should be funded by Donald Trump NOT the American people. I also believe what has already been paid by the people for the construction/demolition should be returned to the appropriate U.S. government funds.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I don't think a house needs a ballroom. If the president and that many people need to meet then there are lots of places in DC that can be rented. The increased security that would be needed to have hundreds of people meeting in the presidents home would be expensive. The president needs a place to live, not a mansion with a ball room. The president is not royalty.

The White House is the People's House. It is one of the most iconic symbols of the United States and a physical reminder that the power of this nation belongs with the people, not the occupant they elect from time to time. This project is an affront to that symbolism, taken with utter disregard for the orderly rules and procedures necessary to make changes. It glorifies excess in a time of national want, and converts the stately timelessness of the People's House into a grotesque event venue for flaunting wealth and privilege. To allow the renovation to continue would create a permanent monument to the willful contempt for the rule of law. The East Wing Modernization Project should be denied and the building restored to its state as of the day the unapproved construction began.

I can understand that modernization and changes to the White House may be necessary over time to meet the current and future needs of the property. That said, there is and should be a process to make these changes. And, the changes should be considered from multiple perspectives. As I understand it, major construction projects in Washington, D.C. must be reviewed by the NCPC and the Commission of Fine Arts.

Demolishing the East Wing would be considered major, yes? The changes need to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and receive congressional approval. These safeguards exist to ensure transparency, accountability, and meaningful public input. If the current President has undertaken all of this, it should move forward. If he or his administration has not, then a full review MUST be done.

I oppose this project—unauthorized, neither reviewed nor permitted. This is not "modernization" — what a perjury of language! It was a demolition. There's no modernization, as proposed it's a totally new, metastasized building. Jus cancel the thing. Now that it's demoed, let's start a proper process to determine an appropriate new building. Meanwhile, how about obtaining and cataloging every item that was in the demolished building for safekeeping? And, arrange to prosecute any and all who engaged in the demolition.

I am opposed to this project for many reasons. First, it's my understanding that the project was started without going through any review process. They didn't even apply for a demolition permit. It's also my understanding that, since the East Wing was on the National Historic Sites Register, there should have been an even more stringent review process BEFORE any demolition took place. The President and his staff are NOT above the law. They need to follow the rules and regulations just like everyone else.

In addition, I'm concerned about the cost of maintaining the proposed structure. Even if only private funds are used to build it, the taxpayers will be stuck with the cost of maintaining it.

Please do not allow this project to move forward.

All proposals should be allowed for public comment, and subject to rigorous design review. The White House is a building which belongs to all citizens, and stands as a symbol of our democracy. Any change to it should be done by in a way that is sensitive to its history, and yet looking to its future for all, not just for the this of one. Additionally, it should have been sufficiently documented before any demo or change took place. There should be an immediate effort to document as musch as possible of what has been destroyed for public record.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Permits are required for projects that impact a historic landmark, which should have been reviewed by the Historic Preservation Office and its Review Board at a public hearing.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. In addition to being disrespectful to the American people, it has resulted in the loss of both Tangible and Intangible History. No

Tearing down the East Wing without the voice of the people who actually own it is absolutely abhorrent. The only thing more abhorrent is to build a structure that dwarfs the White House itself. There should NEVER be a building on that property, of the people, that stands taller and larger than the White House its self. And just who foes this maniac think he is to destroy property than he is only a temporary tenant. Changes and additions made to the White House have historically been done in a way that can be reversed and certainly not destroyed the outward building its self. Even when Jackie Kennedy renovated it was done to preserve the history and not be a monument to a single habitant. Make trump pay to re-establish the East Wing, we won't need a ballroom for quite a while, nobody cares to come a-dancing.

I strongly oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability. He has literally demolished history. History of OUR NATION. This is not right. This is not what the American people deserve.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I oppose using $300 million of bribes on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Before DOGE fired me, I worked in the Department of Design and Construction Management (DDCM) at NIH. The levels of studies and approvals from many different organizations (MNCPPC, Historic Preservation, environmental offices, etc, etc.) we had to get for every project was daunting. This is for buildings on a closed campus that generally can't even be seen unless you're inside the gates. This admin tore down part of the White House, without a single study, or permit. The White House is The People's House, not the president's. The people have not agreed to the razing of the East Wing of Our House and the Rose Garden. We have not agreed to the building of a personal place of entertainment, in lieu of the East Wing, for this or any president.

The East Wing did not require renovation at all, and certainly not its decimation. Congress did not approve this nor have they approved funding for it. The demolition of the East Wing of the White House was, thus, illegal.
The entire East Wing and Rose Garden should be rebuilt as they were - with needed infrastructure updates to code, of course.
We the People want our house back….. in as good shape as it was given. Private funds from the donations for the ballroom project should be used for the restoration, or funds from those responsible for ruining Our House - not public funds.

As a US citizen, I vehemently oppose building the East Wing to be larger than the rest of the White House. My preference would be to rebuild the exact structure that was there before Trump tore it down.

I would like to respectfully submit my comment regarding this project! I oppose this project on the following grounds 1) no plan was submitted and or approved 2) no permits were granted for this project) there was not a need to modernize this particular part of the peoples house.
I propose that it be rebuilt according to the previous design and purpose. The people that went forward with the destruction of the peoples house are held accountable for the destruction!

Thank you,

This demolition to the People's House was done without using the proper channels and the proposed replacement is also being put forth without proper review and consultation. I would suggest restoring the East Wing to it's former scale and design and enforce future tenants of the White House to follow the rules and laws in the future.

The size and style of the ballroom is distasteful. It to large and inappropriate. We do not need the president to hosts parties for billionaires while average Americans struggle. Taking moneys from industry to build this inappropriate structure is a kin to bribery. This administration should not be rewarded for destroying a preserved historical structure. Reject this monstrosity and rebuild the east wing as it was.

I am deeply opposed to the proposed East Wing Modernization. This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. No consideration for the history of the existing East Wing has been show - just reckless destruction of part of the people's house. Rather than spend $300 million on a nebulous, and ill-defined ballroom, the East Wing must be restored to a design that has been considered by EXPERTS on this historical and significant structure.

I'm so disgusted by the East Wing having been completely destroyed under cover of last fall's shutdown. CONGRESS is supposed to oversee any changes to the WH, coordinating with the National Capital Planning Commission.

I don't want a single penny spent on a ballroom, a vanity project if ever there was one. I want the East Wing rebuilt, with the full input of the Commission and with the approval of Congress.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project because:

1. It is unclear how this is being paid for. If it's all through private donors, currying favor with the President, then this is nothing more than corruption.

2. The scale of the proposed ballroom is outsized, destroying the classic symmetry of the White House.

3. There is absolutely no need in a democracy for a gilded ballroom, reminiscent of Versailles and a system of monarchy which the United States has never aimed to emulate. Who are the thousand or so guests who will have the privilege of attending events in this grandiose ballroom? Certainly only the well-heeled bourgeoise. This is not a project that speaks to most Americans. Most Americans do not feel a need for this addition. This is a vanity project for Donald Trump. This is not what democracy looks like.

Please do not approve this project. Return the East Wing to its former glory.

Thank you.

I strongly oppose the proposed ballroom design and more importantly the way that the project was proposed and implemented.

Buildings of such historic significance deserve the proper planning and design process that is traditional to buildings of such importance. Blindly destroying 1/3 of the White House complex without going through the proper permitting (asbestos mitigation for instance) was a travesty and the rebuilding process requires that the same thoughtful process be followed as was done for every previous renovation on the White House.

Money for this project should not come from investors who will garner favor from this administration. When it is rebuilt it needs to be in the architecture and scale of the previous building to host the necessary events, not grand showcases. There needs to be more transparency and there should be accountability for the demolition that was done without the proper authority.

I would have opposed both of these things if anyone had bothered to ask my opinion. A historic part of The People's House destroyed to make way for a a bawdy, audacious party house with no oversight or approval from any of the appointed agencies and paid for with questionable funds that were and are entirely unaccounted for is beyond belief! Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I greatly object to the recent demolition of the East Wing of the White House and the proposed modernization and ballroom planned to be put in its place. The White House belongs to the people of the United States and has great historical significance in both its appearance and the fact that it was built by enslaved people; it is a monument to the work of those enslaved people. The White House holds the memories and artifacts of all of the first families who have lived there, and there are standards governing how it can be altered. Donald Trump does not own the White House, he is merely a temporary resident and will be gone soon, and no president has a mandate to change THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE to satisfy his taste. I find the changes he has made to the interior and exterior of the White House to be of poor taste; the White House is the history of our country, not a resort hotel to be covered in marble and gaudy, frivolous faux gold decorations. Trump has no respect for history, the previous presidents or the Constitution, and should not be allowed to make such huge changes to a beautiful and important part of our country. The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was and the ballroom should be abandoned.

The title of this project, and the project itself, is appalling. My heart broke to see the destruction and devastation of our nation's historic and iconic White House, a historic landmark known throughout the world. It is appalling that no compliance was done on this "project" neither am
I confident that historic elements of the building were saved, rather it appears they were taken to a landfill.

The Historic Preservation Act was put into law for a reason. We all have a vested interest in the historical and cultural heritage and resources of our country. I insist that the restoration of this priceless monument conform to all applicable laws and regulations, including the NEPA so that all American citizens can weigh in with our thoughts and opinions.

We the people did not ask for Donald Trump to demolish the East Wing for a ballroom. This is a disgrace. His plans are not feasible and it will never get done before he leaves office plus the price tag keeps getting bigger. We need to put a stop to it now! Please have him put it back the way it was. Thank you.

Re: The East Wing and the “East Wing Modernization Project”.

Far from a modernization project, we’ve seen the outright demolition of “the heart of the White House” which was, absolutely, a slap across the faces of law-abiding Americans who treasure our history and traditions.

Without a word to anyone charged with the preservation of our heritage, and after telling the public that his “ballroom” would not impact our White House, Mr. Trump went ahead and bulldozed. Where—and for that matter—if the contents were preserved and stored, no one knows.

I oppose the spending of $300 million (or whatever amount is stated today) on this project. It was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled. I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I would greatly appreciate the return of the former East Wing with no huge ballroom project. I'm not against ballrooms per se, but against destroying American history. There are plenty of places that a ballroom, even a huge one, can be built in DC.

I oppose this project because proper channels were not used and correct procedures were not even considered, much less followed. A ballroom may be needed and may even be a wonderful idea but the persons responsible for the current fiasco need to face severe retribution.

I think the White House needs to be rebuilt to in its original form. There should be no Ball Room in the project. I think the Taxpayers should not be on the hook for the rebuild. I think the National Historical Trust needs to sue Donald Trump and all of the people on the Published Ballroom donors list to fund the project. In addition that same lawsuit needs to fund the rebuild of all historical memorials at our national parks destroyed by the fascist regime.

I oppose the spending of $300 million+ on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. There will certainly be cost overruns, the current tenant has never built anything within "budget". Further, with the reputation of the current tenant, compromises in quality and craftsmanship are to be expected. For example, Corinthian columns of fiberglass or some other cheap composite instead of hand carved out of marble or limestone. That is beside the point though because I strongly oppose everything about this stupid vanity project.

I was an elementary school teacher for 35 years, and for most of them I taught 1st grade. First graders absorb information, they are enthusiastic and impressionable. I taught them how to read, and they learned it very well! I taught them to love math! I taught social studies through stories that I read to them about the founding of our country. I read about early explorers and brave colonists. I read about Native Americans and their cultures and hero's. I read about their great (great great) grandparents and why they came here and the struggles they overcame. I taught about our struggles to remain one great nation through the fight over slavery, and that we made mistakes but continue to improve. I read about our Presidents and their efforts to make us a good and proud country. I taught them that we have in our capital historic buildings and the Lincoln Monument and reasons to be awed and proud.
I abhor what is happening in Washington, DC. The desecration of the East Wing is despicable and wrong. History is being replaced with cheap looking gold bric-a-brac that could dwarf our country's tradition of tasteful elegance. I implore you to stop this destruction and insist that the East Wing be returned to its original size and structure. Eleanor Rosevelt graced those halls; let's not cheapen the seat of our government.
Thank you. Sincerely, Nancy Zamor

Also, as a 20-year practicing architectural designer, this wart of a design is an embarrassment to architectural precedent, grossly out of scale, lacking cadence in its relation to the rest of the building and it's surroundings.
Appropriateness must be weighed at its heaviest in relation to historical standards in this nation, given we are talking about one of the most relevant buildings in the U.S.
This construction project must be fully stopped. The fines should be placed directly on DJT, and the rebuild of the east wing as it was should also be a financial burden placed on DJT.

I object to the money that is being spent on a ballroom for billionaires and their cronies. Though I know it is a drop in the bucket compared to all the self-enrichment that many Republicans are experiencing, while many among us regular US citizens who are or were professionally employed stuggle to pay our taxes. Also, the end product of this renovation will be tacky, due to the lack of taste of the current resident--the grotesque gilding of the oval office, the removal of official portraits, the paving of the rose garden--are already bad enough. THIS IS THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE, and the White House should be a shrine to all who have served there and to the people themselves, not a place for Trump to host other billionaires and despots, while seeking to enrich himself. THIS NEEDS TO STOP NOW. Thank you and siincerely, Janice E MacRae

The demolition of the East Wing of the White House on the whim of one man, even the President, without any review or consultation, was totally unacceptable. That man’s plan to replace it with a ballroom - again without any review by any duly constituted body - is also unacceptable. The stated intention to build the ballroom using donations from a few wealthy individuals is nothing more than the acceptance of a bribe by the President. Please do what you can to derail and reverse this situation and make the White House truly “the Peoples’ House” again.

The message this project sends is that someone can destroy historic spaces and ask permission later. That is a model of chaos.

I strongly object to the White House's demolition of the East Wing as well as all other public monuments and properties that belong to the citizens of the United States. Any demolition or "remodeling" or building of ballrooms and arches, etc. must go through the already-approved procedures and committees to ensure that the voice of the people prevails.

The East Wing should never have been torn down. It was done with no proper research, consultation or agreed on purpose. it was done at the whim of one man who doesn't think the rules of law should apply to him. He basically chose to trample on the agreed on history of America and single handedly destroy a piece of The White House, which belongs to the American people, not to a temporary President.

The funding for this project is basically a corrupt money for favors scheme. It is an embarrassment to law abiding citizens.

I do not support the building of a large, ugly and not needed ballroom, that will not even blend in the with design of the existing building. I urge you to find the courage to stop this construction and initiate an educated, professional panel of appropriate professionals to develop a sensible plan to recreate what was destroyed as closely as possible, with the addition of the most modern infrastructure upgrades.

Please restore the historical White House building back to its former glory. It is a travesty that this administration believes they are above the law and do not need to follow proper procedures and permitting. This is the People's house and should any major changes be approved it should be by the proper process and by the People. The original architecture and scale were designed for a reason and a giant gaudy ballroom is inappropriate. It was truly a sad day watching as the original wing was torn apart without any care for the decades of history born within.

It's a travesty that the historical building was torn down and done so without going through the legal channels at the order of someone who does not own the property. If something must be build in its stead, it should be of the same style and material as the original structure with the needs of future first spouses in mind. A cohesive design is imperative. For 200 years, we have done fine without a ballroom, entertaining heads of state and hosting gatherings without issue. There is no reason to build a structure that dwarfs the White House by comparison. That's tacky. If the use of a ballroom is necessary, there are plenty of venues around DC. Build something that provides space for government employees to work on things that help the American people. Ballrooms are for parties, not business, and giant parties are an extravagant luxury for people who aren't in trillions of dollars of debt, i.e. not the US government. I'd rather see these funds go towards something useful, like healthcare, or space for people to focus on work that actually matters.

entities that oversee additions like this one. No permits were applied for or approved. The size of the proposed addition is wildly out of proportion to the White House. I highly object to the "modernization" of the East Wing of the People's House. No one is above the law, and it's apparent that our president has chosen to ignore the law and raise his own money (using others' money) to demolish and rebuild the East Wing of the People's House on Pennsylvania Ave., Washington DC. The proper channels with submitting plans and obtaining permissions and permits have not been met. I could not have built my own house without going through the proper procedures and this president is not above those laws either, especially in a house that does not belong to him, but the American People as a historic place in our nation's Capital. Therefore, I urge the East Wing to be rebuilt, at the expense of those that have already pitched in funds for its demolition, to its former glory prior to its untimely demise.

It saddens me that the East wing of the White House has been destroyed. The construction of a new wing needs to fit with the size, proportion, and style of the We hite House. Offices that were destroyed need to be replaced. If a reception area or banquet area is needed, a modest plan should be made. However, this is America. This is the People's house. We don't have or need grand ballrooms and extravagant castles. My ancestors fought in the Revolutionary War, not for grand palaces for the wealthy to gather in, but to escape the tyranny of a king and the class system that suppressed and exploited the "lesser". We, Americans, are tougher, harsher, determined, and humble as should our leaders be!

What Trump has done to the east wing is disgraceful to our history. The White House is NOT Trump's house. Trump is a tenant for 4 years. I understand modernization but the complete destruction of an historical part of the White House is not modernization. I believe Trump secretly planned this project hoping that it would get so far along that this committee could not stop the project. Washington DC is an archive to our nations history. Not a place where Presidents can simply put their name and style on everything. Once again Trump is showing that he will not follow the traditional norms, rules and regulations of this country and the constitution. We need to reign this President in. Private donations need to be approved by your committee so that the people know that our government is not for sale.

Please do not approve such a huge building. I believe a smaller building is appropriate since he tore it down, something with room for the First Lady and a small dining room for guests. That's all. If you can fine him enough to pay for it all the better. That money could be spent on the homeless or daycare

I completely object to what Donald Trump has done to the whole White House especially the demolition of the East Wing. I vehemently oppose the construction of the ballroom! The demolition of "The People's House" was initiated with no regard for process, public involvement, or design review. This project must be stopped because it is such a gross violation of the public trust in government offices to steward shared cultural landmarks. Allowing the project to continue would reward those who broke the public trust.
Further, the proposed ballroom dwarfs the Whitehouse and the symbolism of that is deeply disturbing

To destroy our nation's history for the ego of our sitting president is madness -- the rose garden paved over and the building a mockery of its former self. Hello,

I am writing to oppose any further progress on design and construction at the site of the now demolished East Wing.

I support a full review by the DC Historic Preservation Office and the National Trust for Historic Preservation on how best to move forward from here.

Any plans for major, structural changes to the People's White House and grounds must be fully vetted, coordinated, desinged and constructed by the proper agencies and organizations.

The demolition of the East Wing was undertaken without the required review or authorization. It is a nauseating exercise of raw power in defiance of all proper procedure, and a massive money-laundering scheme to boot. This is not “modernization”. It is wanton vandalism and historic erasure. The East Wing must be restored to its former state, at the expense of those who destroyed it.

I believe the East Wing should be rebuilt and returned to a similar configuration that was present before it was torn down. This is a historic building that was destroyed without any notice, without proper approvals. Historic properties in this country belong to the public. If " modernization" was necessary, then there is a process in place to accomplish it. Furthermore, the proposed replacement eclipses the White House in size, which seems architecturally and visually less than desirable.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House, a devastating act by any measure, represents a chilling testament to a reckless disregard for history.
To see it reduced to rubble is to witness the erasure of tangible links to our past, a callous dismissal of the generations that shaped this nation.
The East Wing is where for decades, the offices of the First Ladies and their social staff, were located. It was a space where their unique influence had been cultivated and exerted. A place for First Ladies to drive policy and social initiatives, shaping public discourse and impacting the nation in profound ways.
This reckless disregard for the history and erasure the importance of the position of the First Lady, is to ignore the vital role this very space has played. It is to diminish the contributions of women who, from within these walls, have often brought critical perspectives and championed essential causes, leaving an indelible mark on the American story.
The immediate and unequivocal demand must be its reconstruction to its previous condition.
This is not about vanity or sentimentality; it is about a fundamental obligation to safeguard our heritage. Recreating it faithfully ensures that future generations can still walk the halls that have shaped our nation, learn from its architectural and historical significance, and understand the weight of the past that continues to inform our present and future. To do anything less would be a profound betrayal of our historical trust.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.
The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.
The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

What has happened to the White House is a disgrace. Just bulldozed by a bully for some vanity project. I do NOT want my taxes to be used to build some ridiculous ballroom that will completely upstage the beautiful historic White House. I do understand that the ballroom is allegedly being paid for by private donors, but what do they want in return? This administration is not known for dong the right thing. Please make sure that the White House is restored to its historic beauty. Whatever is built should follow ALL procedures to ensure it is historically and architecturally appropriate.
Thank you!

All funds to built on the public, National Park, property should be deposited with a complete contingency fund prior to any further design or construction or destruction. The refuse of the destroyed property should be stored in a secure facility until such time as the conditions are resolved.

Those, and all of those, who are guilty of destruction of public property, destruction of National Park property, destruction to historic monument, all criminal offenses, should be held accountable to the fullest extent of the law. This would include but limited to the fence company, the equipment for demolition company and operators, tree removal company, the president and those representing the government.

Removal of trees from a National Park is illegal and a punishable offense. The historic magnolia and cherry trees belong to the public in the care of the National Park Service.

None of the evidence of these crimes should be moved, changed or altered in any way until these illegal actions go thorough the courts to resolution or incarceration and fines.

The bulldozing the East Wing of the White House was a criminal offense, in my opinion. There is no other building in our nation that deserves preservation more than OUR White House. Were historians and preservationists even allowed to be a part of the decision making? Whatever happens next needs the input of those people. A palace might need an oversized ballroom, but not the White House. Restore the East Wing !

President Trump has decorated the Oval Room like a brothel. The man has no taste.

I don't understand why a President is allowed to desecrate the White House without any review. If a ballroom is necessary (and its not clear to me that it is), and it is determined that the White House is the place to build it (which it is not clear to me that it is), any building should be in proportion and character with the rest of the building (residence and West Wing) and approved by the appropriate architects, historians and other experts. Please stop this President from making any more of a mess of the White House than he has already done. It's not his house, it's the people's house.

As a tax paying citizen, I rebuke the administration in tearing down the historic east wing of the white house and placing a ballroom that I will never see or be able to use as a tax payer. I also denounce the collecting of funds from billionaires to pay for this, this would give them unlimited access to any administration in the white house and used as leverage. The White House is the peoples house not the billionaires house. The east wing needs to be rebuilt and keep the same foot print that the previous one had, no more no less. Multiple presidents have managed without a ballroom and should continue to do so.

Will he not rest until he has sullied every significant building or White House feature in Washington DC? This project must be stopped, dead in its tracks, and the process for restoring and rebuilding the East Wing must commence.

There could possibly be some modern improvements under a full restoration, but the essential design & nature of the people's house must not be further destroyed by this megalomaniacal fake president. Since a Senate majority has failed to provide proper safeguards, please do what you can to restore law and order to this process. Thank you.

This destruction of a historical building is a waste of taxpayer money, and the President should not have the right to unilaterally spend the People's treasure on vanity projects for his own ego. Only Congress has the power of the purse. If he wants something, he should take it to the legislative branch, like his predecessors. Further, the President should pay for the restoration of the East Wing with his OWN money, since he destroyed it without permission from the People or their duly elected representatives.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I also oppose any construction that overshadows the architectural balance and style of the original White House building and grounds.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I oppose the building of a ballroom to replace the East Wing
A) Proper procedures were not followed. Rules are for everyone
B) It will be almost twice as big as the White House itself; a monstrosity of white and gold
C) The East Wing was an homage to the First Ladies. It's as if the President is trying to erase them and their legacy, much like Mrs. Kennedy's Rose Garden.
D) I've seen nothing that says it's being put out on bids. This, I suspect, means that a crony will receive the contract, for whatever convoluted price tag they desire.

Furthermore, it was authorized by Trump because he said that it would be paid for out of donations. I do not believe taxpayer money should be made use of to rebuild a structure, which had been there. I believe this obligation for rebuilding should come 100% out of the pocket of Trump.

Thank you for my consideration of these thoughts.

The White House is both a residence and the offices that serve the purpose of being a centralized location for the executive branch to live and conduct business. It is an historical building that is for the office of the executive and as such requires oversight so that it conforms to the historic needs of the building to preserve that function, not the whims of whoever is holding office at the time it is occupied. Any alterations to the building or its surrounding areas are required to have public comments, assessments of historic preservation, assessments of cost, and budgeting since it would be paid with taxpayer dollars to ensure that those modifications are proper to the integrity of the building.

The Trump administration wants to build a ballroom that dwarfs the White House and does not fit in with the architectural norms of balance that previously existed with the West Wing on one side and the East Wing on the side that roughly match in size and complimented the White House. It is highly questionable as to whether a ballroom is needed, but if this administration wants to pursue that project, then the size of the ballroom needs to be drastically reduced. It should conform to the size of the footprint of the prior East Wing which was horrifically torn down without any notice or oversight.

Since a ballroom is infrequently used, it should be located away from the White House in a convention-style accommodation where it can both house and entertain visitors. The East Wing should be reconstructed back to as close to original design as possible, but modernizing for current building standards including ADA specifications.

The offices of the First Lady and the prior departments that were located there should be returned to the East Wing. The First Lady is an important position and her office should not be located offsite just because the current First Lady does not utilize them. Future First Ladies need to have the ability to go to work as they have done before in the same location as the President and other executive officers so that she has immediate accessibility to them to perform her duties. Having those offices off-site diminishes the power of the office.

In closing, I would hope that some normalcy and continuity can be brought back to the design of the White House to continue to support the vision of the American people and not the childish requests of a single person who happens to be the President for a few years. The White House is a long-term representation of America and doesn't need to reflect a garish and vulgar addition that supplants that goal.

As I understand it the demolition of the East Wing was done without Congressional approval and possibly even without permits from the District of Columbia. The reasons for this demolition to "modernize" are sketchy at best and seem to be another one of the current occupants ego projects. The fact that it is supposedly being paid for by billionaire donors should raise many red flags: I am sure these donors expect favors from the current occupants in return. The East Wing must be returned to its previous use. In addition if the contractors did not have proper permission or permits this need to be fined. The White House is The People's House, not the property of the current residents (who seem to spend much of their time in Florida).

I adamantly OPPOSE the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

When I saw the demolition taking place it was a complete shocker, and it made me so angry and sad. I thought, how could this awful act be taking place? It turned out it was completely unlawful. Almost no one knew in advance.

Deplorable.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law, and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The way the White House went about the demolition is totally illegal. I think they should build the wing back and return our House to what it was. They have a chance to fix all the issues that the old Wing had and make it better. A ballroom is a slap in the face to Americans, built for billionaires by billionaires and goes against everything that made the White House the People's House.

I think a ballroom addition of that magnitude is a ridiculous way to spend the taxpayers money when so many of our social services are being cut, unemployment is on the rise and inflation for every day goods and services is wearing on the American people!

I can think of better ways to spend our hard earned money!

I oppose the East Wing Modernization project. The White House is the People's House and the destruction of the east wing is a tragedy that is unfortunately symbolic of the tragic demolition of so many of our institutions and norms under the current administration. We do not need to replace this emblem of our collective history with a tacky gold plated ballroom. I ask that the east wing be restored in the historic style and scale of the rest of the White House complex inclusive of the hopefully preserved art and artifacts that were there before the demolition. I also ask that the workers on this project be unionized and paid proper wages for their labor.

I am writing to formally lodge my objection to the proposed $300 million expansion project currently slated for the East Wing of the White House. My opposition is based on the following critical concerns:

Failure of Due Process: The project has bypassed essential authorization channels, including the required design reviews and environmental permits. Executive authority does not grant the right to circumvent the federal regulations that govern historic preservation and public spending.

Historical Integrity: The proposed design is not a "modernization" but a fundamental alteration that threatens the architectural heritage of the Executive Mansion. A project of this scale risks dwarfing the original structure, undermining its historical significance.

Fiscal Responsibility: Allocating upwards of $300 million to what appears to be a vanity project is an inappropriate use of taxpayer funds, especially when our nation faces urgent infrastructure and social needs.

Requested Action:

I call for an immediate halt to all construction activities and the cancellation of this project. Furthermore, I request that any modifications already made to the East Wing be reversed and the structure be restored to its original, historic design.

Respectfully,

I object to labeling the bulldozing of our national House in order to build a ballroom that was not treated to a referendum by the people. First, the project was not properly permitted or approved by public comment. Additionally, the ballroom's footprint completely obliterates the architectural integrity of the Greek revival design that the administration professes to admire. Symmetry and balance are essential architectural details of 1800s- era buildings. Finally, the most prosperous and admirable period of the modern era of the United States was from 1941-1965. The contributions of Frances Perkins, Eleanor Roosevelt, and other prominent figures in our recent history were erased by this unacceptable "renovation." Please consider this my request to rebuild and restore the East wing.

Don't fix what isn't broken. There was a mentally ill guy who inherited a house on Franklin Street Greenpoint Brooklyn in the 1990s. He spent time taking the house apart until there was nothing left to renovate and then the house was condemned. The East Wing project reminds me of this story. Please open your eyes and see what is really in front of you. Please see all of the ways the mentally ill person is stepping on our sensibilities.

I am opposed to this project. The president does not have appropriate authority to initiate these changes. Now we have lost a valuable part of our history. Moreover, the White House is the People’s House. The president is not a permanent resident. Although he claims that funds for the work will be donated by billionaire friends who support Trump, we have yet to see this happen, and I feel very uncomfortable due to the high possibility of funders buying favors for themselves and their companies in return. The Rose Garden has also been destroyed. I beg of you to please oppose the project as laid out by the president. We Ned to preserve our history, not destroy it. I feel there has been no due process or accountability in the proposed design and destruction of the East Wing, an historic building that is part of the heritage of this country. As a landmark, proposed changes deserve to be reviewed and guidelines should be followed, whereas the opposite has taken place.

Now that the East Wing has been destroyed, it no longer serves as the landmark it once was, but appears to present itself as a blank slate which it is not. To the contrary, the destruction of the East Wing has a new and more powerful role to play. It should be rebuilt and the effort documented and put on display as an object lesson on the value and role of our heritage as time and people and governments change. reminding all that heritage is not about only the good or bad, the one but of the many, and like all histories, it can be a resource and source of pride to learn from.
Respectfully,
Dr. David Kelly

I'm STRONGLY OPPOSED to the destruction of the East Wing of the White House and the Rose Garden, among the many historic and important features of our nation's Presidential residence. I DO NOT agree that $300m should be spent (regardless of who is funding it) to replace what has been demolished with a gargantuan ballroom - such facilities are grossly out of step with the values and nature of the PEOPLE'S house. I implore the commission to stop the flagrant disregard for history, memory, ideals, and ambiance that our nation's architecture represent. The money should be used to reconstruct in fine and accurate detail what was ripped from us. This will be a start to restoring faith, liberty, and trust in our government- and only a start.

The White House is the people's house and it is dwarfed by that tawdry gold box of a ballroom. It looks like an airplane hanger compared to the actual White House and is not in keeping with the elegant design of the original building. Put it back the way it was. Have some respect.

If you have any respect for the architecture of our national monuments—and what's more monumental than the White House?—you will prevent the construction of the president's proposed ballroom/bunker monstrosity. Instead, the wing should be reconstructed to match as closely as possible the exterior of the one that has been illegally demolished. Thank you

To Whom It May Concern:

I am utterly and completely appalled with the proposed changes to be made to the East Wing of the White House. This ambush on the American people and taxpayers cannot stand. The President should not be allowed to unilaterally decide to construct a monstrosity, when I am certain that the majority of the American people are not in favor. The White House represents our shared history and should not be substantially altered without approval by the people and/or their representatives. Decorations within the White House are one thing, but a complete removal of a large portion is not acceptable.

I would urge a return to the pre-demolition state, reflecting the history of a country of which I am proud to be a citizen.

Respectfully yours,

Nicole Green Katz

Dear Committee members: the White House is the people's house. To be occupied temporarily by the duly elected, time-limited President and family. Therefore, as a temporary resident, that could be likened to a renter, said property is NOT to be altered, modified, or "modernized" by that temporary resident. Hell, many renters can't even paint their temporary residence much less tear them down! I don't give a damn who is supposedly paying for this mess, it's outrageous and unlawful and egregious.

Where is the following of process in all of this? Not one thing was done according to current standards and practice.

Please don't let this pass as acceptable. It is unfortunately too late for the building, but the act cannot be allowed to stand. You owe it to the people of the United States to take action to rectify this situation. Thank you for your attention.

The East Wing Modernization project was undertaken without following proper protocol for planned changes to a building of historical significance. A significant portion of the White House - the People's House - was abruptly bulldozed without having any plans reviewed by the NCPC or any public input whatsoever. In addition, despite claims that funding will be sourced from "donations", the cost of this vanity project has ballooned to twice the original estimate, and there has been no transparency with regard to the donors or proper accounting of any such donations.
This has been nothing but a complete disregard for history and historic architecture, and will ultimately prove to be a colossal waste of taxpayer dollars.
I submit that the East Wing as it existed prior to demolition should be restored in full.
Thank you for your time and consideration.

Further, the asbestos that was disturbed during that razing will affect those who reside and work in the People's House. How utterly thoughtless, inconsiderate and stupid.

The East Wing needs to be reconstructed and restored as it was; no exceptions and without delay. Shame, shame, shame on those who thought this was a good idea and a smart idea.

This project as currently designed dwarfs the historic structure that has been a universal emblem of the stability and identity of the Office of the President . It is an insult to the ethos of the White House as a symbol of and reflection of the U.S. The failure to submit the project for review before the original structure was demolished is a violation of the principles of historic preservation planning. The unethical and hopefully illegal destruction of the original East Wing must not prevent development of a new design consistent with the scale and proportions of the remaining White House structure.

The destruction of the East Wing in preparation for the building of a grotesque ballroom at the White House, was begun without proper authorization. It will also cost at least $300,000,000 of, I believe taxpaper money. Really, it is a metaphor for the destruction this President continues to impose on this country: desecration of the peoples' house; renaming, and then rendering the Kennedy Center nonfunctional as no major artists will play there; removing historical documents from public places and censoring museums. This is destruction both internal and extenal and I would like to see the East Wing of the White House restored, preferably at this President's personal expense.

Thanks you.

Please require the East Wing be restored. While some expansion may be acceptable, the extreme size of the proposed ballroom is not acceptable. There is presently plenty of space for entertaining large numbers of people at the White House, so there is no need for a 90,000 square foot ballroom. Such an additional would dwarf the White House, would be completely out of proportion, and would most likely be rarely - if ever - used. The initial statement by the current administration was that the East Wing would be left untouched. After that, it would be "joined" to the ballroom. Then the East Wing was completely demolished, to the horror of the American public.

The cost of this monstrosity was initially projected to be $200 million. That cost has now projected to be insufficient, with new projected costs being $400 million. At a time when people are experiencing homelessness, unable to pay for heating, food shortages, rising prices across the board,... this is an enormous waste of funds. Yes, I am aware that their are corporate and private donors. That smacks of pay-to-play for the rich. This is the People's House. It is not just for the rich.

The East Wing was an historic structure, with the original built in 1902 and further renovations taking place in 1942. No one should have been allowed to demolish this beloved American structure that balanced the the building complex. The East Wing should be rebuilt, with the exact appearance that it had prior to it being demolished in 2025. This should be done immediately, with the bill footed not by the people, not by the government or private donors, but by the person who ordered it's demolition.

I believe this demolition of history is likely illegal and is certainly not supported by a majority of Americans. I believe it must be halted and the east wing restored as it was before. And the underground bunker should be personally paid for (building and removal) by the current president, not the tax payers.

I oppose this this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Although we cannot retrieve the history that has been lost in the rash demolition of the East Wing, it is still possible to reconstruct it with as much attention recreating the structure and balance to the White House as possible. In the process, it would be then possible to correct the things that age had done to add to its natural deterioration, and to actually bring the structure up to date as a true modernization process.

The destruction of the East Wing is a violation of the sanctity of one of the buildings that is a symbol of America's historical place as a champion of freedom and democratic governance. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Sincerely submitted in the spirit of American patriotism,

This project did not go through the proper process. It does not have the proper permits, authorization, or anything it is required to have. How can it be a modernization if it completely razed the original structure? It's a blatant dismissal of American history and architectural history. There was no need for this tear down in the first place. The people who authorized this destruction should be penalized for not going through the proper procedure and this project should be halted permanently and the original structure rebuilt and restored.

I would like Congress to put a hold on the ballroom project, wait until this administration is out of office, and then restart the project legally by requesting the new administration submit various architectural plans to be reviewed by Congress. A Congressional committee can then select one that's in keeping with the existing historical, classical style of the White House (without a preponderance of tacky, gold ornamentation).

We don't need an elaborate ballroom at the White House. What we had was just fine and built to match the design and scale of the rest of this historic site.
The President had no right to ignore proper channels and to destroy the existing East Wing on his own whim. It does not belong to him, it is the property of this nation's citizens and we had no say.
He should be made to rebuild the East Wing.

I object to the proposed ballroom to replace the East Wing of the White House. The White House belongs to the country, not to Donald J, Trump. He had no right to tear it down without authorization. He has no right to build a big ugly ballroom without authorization. What happened to the contents of the East Wing? Were they preserved or did they end up in a landfill. This project is a disgrace and he should be forced to restore the East Wing out of his own pocket.

The current president has shown zero consideration for historical norms and traditions regarding improvement projects, let alone the laws that exist to protect our nationsl treasures such as the Whitehouse.
The east wing needs to be restored to it's former condition and architectural values. Additionally, he US government should seek monetary damages from Mr Trump in order to pay for the restoration.

I disagree with the removal of the East Wing to be replaced by a massive ballroom that is not needed. The East Wing has provided many functions and features for many years, including a ballroom, theater and the offices of the first lady. It had historical significance with many artifacts showing the history of the White House. The East Wing needed upgrades but did not need to be torn down for a ballroom that will eclipse the White House.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I want to make my view known that President Trumps monument to himself in the form of erecting a massive ballroom where the East Wing once stood is an abomination. That this project was initiated without authorization from Congress, proper permitting and discourse with the National Register of Historic Places is beyond the pale. The White House is a sacred symbol of our United States and not the plaything of temporary lunatic occupant. The design is out of scale and ostentatious to the extreme. Funding through the National Parks Department smacks of all kinds of misleading, if not fraudulent activities. This project must be shut down. Thank you.

I want to go on record as being in complete opposition to the proposed ballroom project for which the East Wing of the White House, the People's House, was razed without proper authorization or permission. It is completely outrageous that the destruction of the East Wing was done quickly and practically under the cover of darkness. There is no process by which a President has the authorization to raze a historic treasure that belongs to the people of this country. I demand that the East Wing be rebuilt exactly as it was originally built.

Formal Opposition to the East Wing Modernization Project

Subject: Demand for Immediate Cessation of Illegal Construction and Demolition Activities at the White House East Wing

I am writing to express my vehement opposition to the ongoing "East Wing Modernization Project." The unilateral demolition of the historic East Wing in October 2025 and the subsequent push to construct a 90,000-square-foot ballroom represent a profound disregard for the rule of law, our national heritage, and the constitutional limits of executive authority.

This project is a legal and procedural failure characterized by the following violations:
Violation of the National Capital Planning Act (40 U.S.C. § 8722): Federal law requires the administration to submit building plans to the National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) for review before construction begins. By fast-tracking demolition and construction without such review, this project bypasses the very transparency and oversight designed to protect the public interest.

Constitutional Overreach (Article IV, Section 3): The U.S. Constitution grants Congress—not the President—the power to "dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States". The administration's refusal to seek express congressional authorization for this massive structural change is a direct assault on the separation of powers.

Failure of Environmental Oversight (NEPA): Under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), federal projects must undergo rigorous environmental impact assessments. The administration's reliance on a rushed environmental assessment—released only after irreversible demolition had already occurred—renders the process a mockery of the law.

Abuse of Private Funding (The "Rube Goldberg" Scheme): Using private corporate donations to fund public infrastructure projects on federal parkland creates extreme conflicts of interest and appears to be a deliberate attempt to evade the congressional appropriations process. A federal judge has already signaled skepticism regarding this "opaque" funding mechanism.

Historic Desecration: While the White House is technically exempt from certain Section 106 reviews under the National Historic Preservation Act (54 U.S.C. § 307104), this project ignores nearly a century of established precedent where presidents voluntarily submitted to oversight to protect "The People's House". The destruction of Thomas Jefferson's original colonnade and the replacement of an 83-year-old historic landmark with a modern ballroom is an act of cultural and historical illiteracy.

Conclusion
The East Wing is not the personal property of any single president. The current "modernization" is an illegal, unauthorized, and unconstitutional project that must be halted immediately. I demand that all construction be stayed until the administration complies with all legally mandated review processes, including final site approval from the NCPC and express authorization from the United States Congress.

This project gives the appearance of something embarked upon on a whim. Changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Too, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust. There was no public comment period, which as a former federal career employee, is a legal requirement. It is not even clear if the plans for construction have been approved by anyone but the President.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, legal environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

As a tax-paying citizen, I believe NOTHING be planned or constructed on this site until after Trump is out of office. The White House is The People's House, not the current occupant's home.
At that time, the National Capital Planning Commission should then consider what is truly needed.

I object to building a proposed ballroom and the illegal demolition of the East Wing! I believed eve the structure should be restored to its previous footprint and features such as the rose garden be restored. Under no circumstances should the new building to be named after any individual, but dedicated to all Americans. Modernization and other features should comply with plans by the historical commission. Furthermore, the bill for repairing damage to the people’s house should be paid from the personal funds of the Trumps!

The bulldozing of the East Wing of the White House without proper authorization is in my opinion desecration of “the People’s House.” Just who are all of these unnamed citizens who have been begging for an ostentatious ballroom that will dwarf the White House? As usual, Donald J. Trump wants a memorial to himself which I suspect is mostly desired by those private donors as a way to gain favor. I was a professional interior designer for 20 years, and the destruction of the East wing and planned mammoth ballroom which really serves no benefit to the people of our nation is something that should not go forward. The East Wing should be restored. It is our history.

I strongly believe that this project, in its current form, should be cancelled. I believe the White House probably needs a ballroom. But this should have gone through the typical review and approval process. It didn't and now the President says he must proceed for national security reasons. He should have thought about that before he destroyed the bunker. He cannot be allowed to go ahead with this because he tore down a building before anyone could/would stop him. The White House belongs to the people. And the commission must insure that construction projects protect the history and architectural styles of the area and serve to beautify, not overshadow, what has been there for decades.

I oppose spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or appropriate design review. Rather than serving as a modernization effort, it represents the destruction of an important piece of American history. I call for the project to be canceled and for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored to its original design. No one is above the law, and allowing this project to proceed without accountability for those who violated legal due process and requirements would undermine the principles that law-abiding Americans depend upon.

The White House is on the National Register of Historic Places and is commonly referred to as the "peoples house".

The demolition of the East Wing was implemented without going through any of the proper channels and most certainly would not have been approved.

The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was at the expense of Donald Trump.

As a General contractor expected to follow rules, law and code I would expect the same from my government. I want to see the rest of this project change direction and be replaced with what existed before. Taxpayers should not be left to accept this rebuilding. 47 and those who supported the demolition should be liable and accountable financially as well as paying any legal penalty. I do not want a gaudy, out of touch ballroom.

Guardians of the People's House: Law, Legacy, and the Future of the White House
I. The Meaning of the People's House

The White House is not merely a residence. It is not simply an executive office complex. It is the architectural embodiment of constitutional democracy in the United States. From its earliest conception, it was meant to symbolize republican restraint, civic dignity, and continuity of government under law. To tamper with it recklessly is to tamper with the visible symbol of the American experiment itself.

The design of the White House was selected in 1792 through a competition won by the Irish-born architect

James Hoban. Its neoclassical lines drew inspiration from European traditions but were adapted to reflect the modesty and balance that the new republic sought to project. George Washington personally oversaw aspects of the planning and construction, though he never resided in the completed building. The structure was meant to communicate permanence without monarchy, authority without extravagance.

That balance is essential to understand. The White House belongs not to any administration, not to any president, and not to any political faction. It belongs to the American people.

To spend $300 million on a project initiated without proper authorization, permits, or design review—particularly if that project results in the effective razing of historic character—is not modernization. It is institutional vandalism cloaked in bureaucratic language.

II. Fire, Destruction, and American Resolve

History has tested the White House before.

In 1814, during the War of 1812, British forces set fire to the building. Flames gutted the interior and scarred its exterior walls. It was a moment of national humiliation and uncertainty. Yet rather than abandon the structure, the United States chose to rebuild.

Under the administration of James Madison, reconstruction began almost immediately. James Hoban was recalled to oversee the restoration. The act of rebuilding was not merely practical; it was symbolic. The nation signaled that its institutions could survive attack and emerge intact.

That distinction matters.

When foreign adversaries destroyed the White House, Americans restored it. They did not exploit the damage to erase history or impose radical redesigns. They rebuilt what stood before as an affirmation of continuity.

To engage now in a project that amounts to a complete razing of historic character—without lawful process—is to undermine that legacy of resilience.

III. Necessary Renovation vs. Reckless Reinvention

Throughout its history, the White House has undergone significant renovation. But those changes have typically balanced necessity with preservation.

In 1902, Theodore Roosevelt undertook a major renovation to modernize the residence and establish what became the West Wing. The changes addressed overcrowding and functional needs while preserving the historic Executive Mansion.

By the mid-20th century, the building faced a far more serious threat: structural collapse. Under Harry S. Truman, the White House interior was completely dismantled and rebuilt between 1948 and 1952. The outer walls were preserved, but the interior structure was replaced to prevent catastrophic failure.

The Truman reconstruction is instructive. It was transparent, debated, authorized, and necessary. It addressed structural danger—not aesthetic ambition.

There is a profound difference between structural preservation and elective demolition. Modernization ensures safety and functionality. Razing history eliminates architectural memory.

If a project fundamentally alters the historical integrity of the East Wing without proper legal review, it cannot reasonably be described as modernization. It is transformation without consent.

IV. The East Wing: Evolution of Purpose

The East Wing itself has a complex history. While early versions of auxiliary structures existed, the East Wing as it is known today took form during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Built in 1942, it provided additional office space and, during wartime, discreet access to emergency facilities.

Over time, it became closely associated with the institutional role of the First Lady and her staff. Though less architecturally famous than the Executive Residence or West Wing, the East Wing represents an important evolution in the presidency's public and ceremonial functions.

Its development reflected changing needs. But its design remained harmonized with the broader aesthetic of the White House complex.

To erase or radically transform the East Wing without lawful authorization is not simply an internal administrative decision. It alters the historical fabric of the entire complex.

V. Stewardship and Preservation

The White House has benefited from stewards who understood its symbolic power.

Eleanor Roosevelt expanded the public and civic role of the First Lady's office, bringing broader social awareness into the East Wing's orbit. Decades later, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis led a landmark restoration effort focused on historical authenticity. She worked with historians, curators, and preservationists to return rooms to period accuracy. Her approach was rooted in research and respect.

Similarly, Lady Bird Johnson championed beautification and preservation efforts nationwide, reinforcing the connection between civic identity and environmental and architectural stewardship.

These efforts were not acts of ego. They were acts of guardianship.

The White House has endured because leaders have recognized that they are temporary occupants of a permanent institution.

VI. The Rule of Law and Historic Preservation

The preservation of federal historic properties is not left to whim. The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 established a framework requiring review and consultation before significant alterations to historic sites.

Process matters.

Permits matter.

Design review matters.

These mechanisms exist not to obstruct governance but to ensure accountability. When a project is initiated without proper authorization, it circumvents democratic safeguards. It signals that expediency outweighs procedure.

No one—no officeholder, no agency, no administration—is above the law.

To permit a $300 million project to proceed without penalizing those who violated required procedures would be an affront to law-abiding Americans. Equal application of the law is foundational to constitutional order. Selective enforcement corrodes public trust.

VII. Fiscal Responsibility and Public Trust

Three hundred million dollars is not an abstraction. It represents taxpayer contributions from millions of Americans.

Public expenditures of that magnitude require transparency, oversight, and justification. When such spending is coupled with unauthorized processes, it compounds the breach of trust.

Historically, major renovations of the White House have been scrutinized precisely because of its symbolic importance. Financial stewardship reinforces moral legitimacy.

A project that disregards both fiscal prudence and legal review damages not only the physical building but also the credibility of governance.

VIII. Restoration as an American Tradition

The American tradition is not one of careless erasure but of principled restoration.

After fire, the White House was rebuilt.

After structural decay, it was strengthened.

After aesthetic drift, it was restored.

Each generation has faced the challenge of balancing progress with preservation. But the guiding principle has been continuity.

Restoration honors the past while accommodating the future. Razing obliterates context.

If the East Wing requires repair, strengthen it.
If it requires modernization, improve it.
But do not destroy its historical integrity under the banner of efficiency.

Cancellation of an unauthorized project is not obstructionism—it is adherence to lawful process. Rebuilding and restoring to former design is not regression—it is respect.

IX. Accountability and Civic Duty

A republic depends on accountability.

Allowing an unauthorized project of this magnitude to proceed without consequences sends a dangerous message: that symbolic sites are subject to political impulse rather than legal constraint.

That message cannot stand.

The White House must remain an anchor of institutional stability. Its preservation must transcend partisanship. The defense of its integrity is not a political act but a civic one.

Citizens have both the right and the responsibility to demand lawful conduct from their government. Insisting upon cancellation, review, and restoration is an expression of that responsibility.

X. The Future of the People's House

The White House has endured war, reconstruction, structural crisis, and political turmoil. It stands today as a testament to resilience and constitutional order.

To preserve it is to preserve continuity.

To respect the law in its alteration is to affirm equality before the law.

The East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its former design if it has been unlawfully altered or damaged. The project in question should be canceled if it lacks proper authorization and review. Those responsible for bypassing required processes should be held accountable under the law.

This is not resistance to progress. It is fidelity to principle.

The People's House must remain exactly that—governed by law, sustained by stewardship, and preserved for future generations.

No one is above the law.
No office outweighs the Constitution.
No project justifies the erasure of American history.

And the White House, in all its wings and walls, must continue to stand not as a monument to power—but as a monument to lawful self-government.

I strongly object to the East Wing project as currently proposed, as it fails to meet the criteria for historic preservation and modernization. Rebuilding of the East Wing should be consistent with the architecture of the existing White House. I request that the project be rescinded and replaced with a proposal that adheres to the established federal approval process. Meaningful oversight is required to ensure that public funds are not used to dismantle American history without the rigorous public and congressional scrutiny required by law.

I am opposed to this project in its entirety. Initiated without proper permitting, approvals and reviews required, the occupant of the White House went ahead as if no authority exists, which it does. The cost continues to balloon to meet his never-sated ego. The devastation of the footprint of the WH, the razing of the historical East Wing, and the "plans" to build an over-priced, garish ball room fly in the face of what the "People's House" should be: An accessible, historically-reverent and well-maintained building that serves the country, not one egocentric individual.

I want the project completely cancelled, the East Wing rebuilt, and the person responsible held to account via our laws and mores. The flagrant disregard for the law in this - and so many other cases - cannot stand, if we are to maintain a law-abiding nation.

This project should be stopped, the East Wing restored, and any effort to modify the White House or any other historic government building go through the proper process, channels and approvals.

Please stop this!

I oppose the "modernization" of the East Wing of the historic building of the White House. This project was undertaken without proper authorizations, permits, or safety precautions for the workers, not to mention without a public bidding process or competition for any redesign or redevelopment. The original design should be restored and the interior reinstated to what it was before (offices and spaces for the FLOTUS). In Washington DC there is an abundance of ballroom options, but the people's house should not be one of them. We have no kings and need no "palatial" ballroom. Shame on any and all who allowed the demolition to go forward. Restore the White House to what it was before this hasty, dangerous, and unwarranted expansion/renovation. Protect our historic property.

Destruction of the historic East Wing is deeply disturbing. There appears to be no plan for its redevelopment nor a bonafide goal or need. These assets belong to the American public - we paid for them. The process must be followed to carefully review and approve or deny any changes of significance. The Trump wrecking ball needs to restore the East Wing to its original state or provide restitution.

The White House is the People's House. Each President who resides therein does so for a time, representing the American people. But it is not his house, and he expected to return it to the nation at the end of his term in better shape than he found it, if possible, just as he is expected to aim to leave the nation a little better for his stewardship.

The lawless destruction of the East Wing of the White House, without respect for basic procedures for historical building renovation, without consultation with those charged to oversee our historic buildings, without accountability, without basic decency, must be undone.
And that restoration should be funded by the persons who instigated and ordered the destruction. Their wanton arrogance is staggering.

The damage is real. The damage is also psychological and an affront to the people of the United States. Those behind the destruction of the White House East Wing must be held to account.

It was initiated on a whim, without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. In addition, it is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. This project needs to be canceled immediately, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design so the history of the People's House can be restored. As a 40-year history museum director and preservationist I strongly object to the proposed "East Wing Modernization Project." I oppose spending $300 million on this project, which was initiated without consultation with preservationists, and lacking the proper authorization, permits, or design review. This is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American architectural and social history. The proposed ballroom is not in keeping with the White House's scale or architecture. The White House belongs to the Nation, not to any one individual. I urge you to cancel this project and to restore the East Wing to its original configuration. It was under taken without any prior review or approval and as such is an affront to the citizens of the United States and our historical monuments .
No authorization was sought and likewise none was given

I oppose the destruction of our national monuments and historical sites.

This needs to be stopped and the White House needs to be restored to its original condition prior to this unauthorized destruction.

The plans as presented are grossly out of scale with nearby structures, including the White House itself. In addition, as a publicly owned structure, comment should have been solicited before demolition of the East Wing, not after. I believe that the National Capital Planning Commission should take charge of the design, materials and construction of the replacement for the East Wing, and that all costs for the design, updating and construction should be the responsibility of the person who authorized demolition of the previous structure. It should be possible to make updates to security systems to reflect updated technology and to make the structure energy efficient to the extent that it is possible without undermining the appearance of the building. The interior of the replacement structure should reflect current needs, so does not necessarily need to precisely replicate what was there before. This may or may not include flexible event space, as determined by in-depth research.

I vehemently oppose this project not just on aesthetic and practical grounds: the East Wing was a beautiful and important part of one of the most storied buildings in the Country and what they plan on putting in its place is ostentatious and disgusting.
I also oppose this because there is a well-established approval process for these projects that was completely ignored and we cannot allow that to stand. These processes are in place so that the whims of one man can not reshape the architecture of a building that represents all of us.

There was no reason, justification or approval through proper channels or procedures to undertake this project. Additionally, the White House is the people's house and does not belong to one person. The destruction of the East wing is a devastating loss of tradition and history. I'm asking that the ballroom construction be stopped and the East Wing restored, down to the last historical detail. I oppose the "East Wing Modernization Project" as it is currently proposed. First, it is not a "modernization" project so much as the destruction of the East Wing and replacing it with a building completely different in size, scope, proposed use, and design. Second, this project began by circumventing all procedures put in place specifically to prevent the destruction of historical places. Third, the proposed method of paying for this project through 'private donations" circumvents reasonable and responsible ethical considerations. Fourth, there is no need for the proposed grand and grandiose "ballroom." Multiple Presidents have successfully hosted hundreds of events in the existing facilities, sometimes enhanced with "tents," all without a demand for such a extravagent edifice.

The White House Grounds is a historical site of major significance to the American people, and any major changes to the site and/or buildings should strive to enhance the balance and architectural style of the location. The proposed building is grotesque in size relative to the Residence and West Wing, and would permanently overwhelm the President's Park.

It is a shame that this project began with the unwarranted destruction of the existing building. However, there is no overriding rationale for compounding that error by allowing this travesty to continue under the current proposal.

To tear it down and ask for permission after-the-fact is insulting to all of the American people who value the historic significance of this magnificent building. This should not be possible at the whim of a president who values gilded trappings in his dwellings. If changes are needed there is a process and review that will provide planning for how to meet evolving needs within the context of preserving our history. I oppose the creation of a disproprotionately huge new ballroom to replace the illegally demolished East Wing.

First, no proper procedures were followed to request the demolition, no studies were conducted and asbestos was likely released into the environment. Important artifacts from the original facade were not kept for preservation or reuse.
Second, the proposed new structure, which is to exceed 400 billion in cost, dwarfs the main white house.
Thirdly, the design resembles a post office.
Next, the person who authorized this wanton destruction should be rquired to pay to reconstruct it.
Fifth, attempts are being made to collect bribes to pay for the new construction, which must be stopped.
Sixth, no need has been established to create such a large reception room, unless of course the plan is to hide a large militia force in there on the next election day.
Seventh, the cost is exorbitant and if we can't pay teachers, we should not be building a new Versailles (which didn't end well, you may recall.)

Please halt this disorganized mess and have BIPARTISAN QUALIFIED INDIVIDUALS attempt to straighten this architectural disaster.

First of all, this is the house of the people. It belongs to America, not one president. Second, if it did truly need renovation then this Administration should have gone through the proper channels and done this the right way. Third, I do not think that Tech billionaires should be donating money to do anything for this president. It's not his house, it's not theirs to donate to. This was truly criminal Behavior. Any tenant of a house does not have the right to just tear things down when they want to without repercussions. Donald Trump is responsible for paying to restore that wing to what it once was.

I’m appalled at what happened to the east wing.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law abiding citizens.

Good afternoon,

I am writing to formally oppose the allocation of $300 million toward this project, which appears to have been initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or appropriate design review.

This is not a modernization effort; it represents a significant and irreversible alteration of an important part of American history. Any project of this magnitude—particularly one involving a historically significant structure—must follow established legal procedures, transparency standards, and preservation guidelines.

I strongly urge that this project be halted immediately pending a full legal and procedural review. If it is determined that laws or regulations were violated, those responsible should be held accountable. No individual is above the law, and allowing this project to proceed without consequence would undermine public trust and the rule of law.

I respectfully request that the East Wing be restored to its former design and that any restoration costs not fall on taxpayers if wrongdoing is confirmed.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Cannino

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House, along with the paving over of the Rose Garden, is an absolute outrage. The American people, who are the true owners, were not consulted by the current occupant, who continually acts as if the law doesn't apply to him. I want the East Wing restored, and the plans for the ballroom, which probably is a cover for a bunker so that he doesn't have to give up his power at the end of his term, scrapped.

I am deeply concerned that the East Wing of the White House was razed without first receiving authorization, the required permits, or design review. Destroying this historical building and flaunting the laws for renovating historical buildings is an illegal attempt to erase and rewrite American history. Please cancel this project and require the restoration of the original building. Laws apply to everyone and no one should be allowed to flaunt the law.

I am writing to voice my strong opposition to any "East Wing Modernization Project," otherwise known as the Ballroom. President Trump took it upon himself to have the East Wing demolished despite no authorization, no permit, no approval, no public hearing, no technical inspection, no meaningful architectural review, no nothing. He did this despite the fact that the East Wing, like all of the White House, indeed like all government buildings, is not his. It belongs to the people of the United States. This ballroom, whatever its design and dimensions, is a grotesque vanity project and has no place in a publicly owned historical building. I urge you to deny permission to proceed any further with this atrocity. Thank you.

Regarding the East Wing Modernization project. As a US citizen and taxpayer, I oppose the continuation of this project. No matter where the funds come from - bribes, donations, our Federal tax dollars, a pot of gold, etc. this abuse of power is unacceptable. This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather am unapproved destruction of American history and of what we know as The People's House. Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

I strongly object to the allocation of $300 million for this initiative, which moved forward without the necessary approvals, permits, or design oversight. Rather than representing a true modernization effort, it amounts to the wholesale destruction of an important piece of American heritage. I call for the project to be halted and for the East Wing to be reconstructed and returned to its original design. No individual or entity should be considered above the law, and allowing this undertaking to continue without holding those responsible accountable would be a disservice to every citizen who respects and follows the law.

I am distraught that the East Wing was destroyed and the callous manner in which it was done! The flagrant disregard for history and legal process was astounding. "Modernization" does not trump history! I request that the East Wing be restored to its original design. Even then, it will be difficult to come to terms with visual image of its thoughtless destruction.

Good Day

I'm against what has been done to the White House east wing, our White House does not need a ballroom! This is the property of the United States citizens, Not the Temporary President. Nothing should be allowed to be done to the White House without the majority of the US citizens in agreement and then only after professional review and historic preservation considered Our White House is being degraded and turned into a Las Vegas style event venue The rose garden ruined, the horrid "gold" decorations, disgusting pictures that are rude and the east wing destroyed! Please stop this destruction!!

When I saw the razing of the East Wing in October, I was heartbroken. This beautiful, stately structure, with over 100 years of historical context, was reduced to rubble in a matter of hours. The place where First Ladies have overseen countless community inspired projects, where Roosevelt pondered the war during therapeutic swimming, and where First Families have enjoyed a few moments of peaceful family time in a hectic existence, is gone. It was also where visitors entered for tours of the White House and now it is no more. Nothing can bring it back, but we can put a stop to what I believe is a reckless and completely unnecessary vanity project. The so called "Ballroom" is not needed nor wanted by the American public. We need spaces where the work of the People can be done, not a place for the pleasure of a few who deem themselves above the rest of American citizens. I say no to the ballroom, and let us seek a new, more meaningful reconstruction that benefits the Nation and future generations rather than the self-serving individuals who have no respect for history or symbolism.

There are many reasons to oppose this project in its entirety: the fact that no consultation was done nor permits received before demolition started; the fact that Congressional approval was not sought nor given: the fact that nobody has accounted for the priceless artwork, furniture and other objects that were in the building; the fact that it seems that no provision has been made for functions that previously took place in the East Wing after it is converted to a ballroom. I expect that others will discuss these. I am here today to talk about architecture.

The White House was originally designed using Neoclassical architecture. Subsequent additions to the building were also designed to conform with the existing Neoclassical structure.

Neoclassicism is an artistic movement which arose during the period of Enlightenment (late 18th and early 19th centuries), largely as a balance against the excesses of the Baroque. During the Baroque era, Europe had royalty who amassed astounding amounts of wealth and created a huge gap between rich and poor. The wealthy and royalty preferred architecture characterized by complexity, use of expensive materials like gold and marble, and excessive use of ornamentation and frill. It's significant for us to note that when these conditions led to the overthrow of governments in France and England, leaders in these countries and the United States embraced the Enlightenment principles of social equality and justice, reason, individualism and the progress of humanity through education and science. These principles were expressed in architecture by borrowing from Greek Classicism traits such as harmony, balance and proportionality.

It is well known that Donald Trump prefers his surroundings to mimic the Baroque ideals, which makes sense since he also prefers to support an ultra-wealthy class, scorns reason and science, and rejects standard practices of justice. His plans for the ballroom also emphasize excess and use of gold and marble, and construction that is out of proportion with the rest of the building. Just as the political values of the United States since our founding have represented Enlightenment values, our most historic buildings must also.
To add a gaudy, overdone Baroque ballroom to a balanced, proportional, harmonic structure like the White House is an affront to our founders and everyone who has championed our values for 250 years.

Thank you for the opportunity to express my opinion.

As an architect of nearly 40 years, we prioritize design elements, letting important ones stand alone and "working in" less important ones. In this situation, the White House is the most important element. Previous east and west wing additions to it were diminished and separated from the more important main building. I do not contest the need for larger entertaining space, but I do not believe the proposed addition, because it requires so much area, should be as visible as proposed. Two comments: First, when working on historic buildings during my career, the Texas Historical Commission always advocated that additions should not "attempt to fool the public they are from the same era" but rather be designed distinctly different. Second, successfuly major additions to architecturally significant buildings have been solved by positioning them underground and providing controlled views back to the main building. Please refer to the University of Michigan law library and the US Capitol visitor center projects as great examples. I strongly advocate for this approach here so the addition will not diminish the existing main part of the White House and will not compete with or try to blend with the it like it has always been there. Thank you.

I understand that modernization of certain functions in the building may be necessary, but this was not communicated through the proper channels that preserve the integrity of such a historical building. Every fiber of me is against this project for the following reasons: 1. The $300 million AND PROBABLY MORE could be spent on healthcare needs for veterans, children, families, retirees, etc. 2. There was nothing wrong with the East Wing other than the current president didn't like it. 3. As a homeowner, authorization, permits are required for any construction prject. 4. If in an HOA, which the Historic Preservation Trust is coparable, a design review.is required. 5. I do not see this as a improving the White House in any way, just a vanity project that is wiping out history that the current president doesn't like or understand. .6. Cancel the project NOW. 7. Rebuild the East Wing to it's original state. 8. I WOULD BE IN JAIL if I had done something like this. 9. NO ONE is above the law! 10. If I had more time to think, there would be more reasons.

The fact that Donald Trump razed the East Wing of the White House in a fit of pique is a heartbreaking and infuriating affront to all citizens of the United States. I would rather see the building restored exactly as it was originally built than to have any guilded monstrosity that he plans to put in its place. He never consulted with professionals regarding the environmental impact of destroying an old building, nor did he allow input from historians about preserving the valuable artifacts that it contained. There was no authority for this action. No consideration was given to historical considerations. The use of billionire money to try to circumvent Congressional appropriations is un-American and probably illegal. There is no need for a huge ballroom at the White House to supplant office space. I have borrowed these comments from someone else, but they reflect my sentiments as well.

"I respectfully urge that the rebuilding of the East Wing of the White House remain consistent with the historic scale, character, and architectural integrity of the existing structure and the broader White House complex. Any reconstruction should honor the original intent and visual continuity of this nationally significant site, ensuring that additions or modifications are harmonious rather than expansive or stylistically incongruous."

"At the same time, it is both appropriate and necessary that the East Wing be brought fully into compliance with current safety standards and accessibility requirements, including ADA guidelines. Modernizing the building to ensure safety, inclusivity, and functionality is an essential responsibility and should be accomplished in a way that is sensitive to the historic context.
The East Wing has long served practical and ceremonial roles, including providing workspace for the Office of the First Spouse and associated staff. Any redesign should continue to accommodate these essential functions, ensuring that necessary offices and support spaces are included within the plan."

"If event or gathering space is deemed necessary, it should be thoughtfully designed within the existing footprint of the East Wing. Such space should reflect restraint and dignity, avoiding unnecessary expansion or overly ornate features. The White House is a symbol of democratic governance and shared national heritage—it should not be treated or presented as a palace.
Above all, the White House belongs to the American people. Any changes to its structures should reflect stewardship, respect for history, and a commitment to preserving its character for future generations."

Thank you for your consideration."

I want to block the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled. The East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its former design; with modern weatherproofing and efficient multi-pane windows/doors. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Trump needs to be charged for wanton destruction of public property and held accountable. His godawful “ballroom”/money laundering spectacle needs to be fully shut down.

I’m writing to oppose any funding on this project, which has not been authorized or permitted, and has not undergone design review. The destruction of the East Wing is not a modernization project but the destruction of part of a historic building that belongs to the American people, not to any single presidential administration. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. There is no other acceptable or legal outcome.

I'm writing to urge you not to spend $300 million the proposed "modernization" of the East Wing, which was razed and advanced without regard for proper protocol, permitting, or design process. Please restore the East Wing, if not to it's original design, to something more in keeping with the rest of the White House in style, scale, and period. Please stand up for the policies and protocols--and against reckless, heedless destruction of public property.

I believe based on verifiable data collected on Donald Trump, around his history with women in general, including being found guilty of sexual assault, that this entire episode regarding the East Wing of the White House is evidence of massive misogyny on his part. I don't feel obligated to psychoanalyze him nor am I qualified to do so in any case. I only want to point out that consciously or subconsciously, this destruction of what was an historic portion of the People's House used by WOMEN for official purposes is a direct slap in the face of half our population.

This project is simply outrageous. First, the scale is simply far too large. It dwarfs the magnificent White House. There is no need for such a monstrosity right next door to an historic building. The White House is the People's House, it does NOT belong to some lunatic egomaniac. Second, the East Wing was demolished without any warning or comment period. This displays a total lack of historic precedent and mindfulness. I sincerely doubt that without strong controls in place. The current occupant of the White House will just do whatever he wants.

While it is too late to save the original East Wing, please control this crazed egomaniac and ensure the East Wing is rebuilt without historical reverence.

This is not a modernization of the White House but rather an unauthorized destruction of Public owned property. It is yet another ILLEGAL act by the Trump Administration. As one of the Public Ownership I would like the White House design restored to its pre-demolition architecture and previous use.

It is tragic to see the East Wing demolished and in rubble. No one person should be able to destroy public property without oversight of a nonpartisan and independent board/commission. The rebuild needs to reflect the history and beauty of the White House. It should be functional and not gaudy and grandiose. This building does not belong to any president- it belongs to "we the people ". As such I don't care who is paying for it or who has visions of grandeur. A skilled, professional, review of plans to meet the historical nature of Washington D.C. is needed. It should not overshadow or dominate the White House.

There have been no meetings for the proposed project, no permission granted for the dismantling of an historic building, aka, Our House, and no concrete plans for the proposed building to see if it fit historic aesthetics and modern needs of the building. This is a vanity project by a man who has spent his life putting his name on things. Many, many of those things have failed. This is not his house. He has wrecked history and NO ONE was calling for a ballroom but him. We all know this. The question is will sycophants stop him or let him ruin the White House.

STOP THIS.

He did not go through proper channels to start, he says he has money to complete the project but can't prove it, and the ballroom plans have not been reviewed and approved. The East Wing needs to be replaced - replaced with all the furniture, pictures and documents that were removed, but not at tax payer expense. Trump broke it, he needs to fix it.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

I totally oppose the East Wing project. The building was ripped down without any input from historical architects who could help design a wing to complement the existing White House structure. There was no coherent plan, and what I have seen is simply garish.
One thing I haven't heard addressed is public safety. Was the wing certified asbestos free? If not the demolition I've seen could result in wide spread asbestos contamination.
Please stop this atrocity and make sure the building is restored properly.

I was appalled by the destruction of the East Wing. This is supposed to be The People's House and the People seem to have been left completely out of this process so far. The legal processes to gain authorization for this project seem to have been left out, too. I implore the Commission to not only cancel any forward progress on this project, but to hold those who destroyed our Historical Property accountable. The idea that the wealthiest private citizens can simply order our national landmarks destroyed--and then some monstrosity built in their place--is unconscionable. I am horrified by the blatant lack of due process employed in the destruction of the east wing for an unauthorized proposed ballroom. It is imperative that the original design be restored with the necessary upgrades and that the entities that destroyed the original wing (including the contractors and clean up crews) be sued to recover the cost associated with the restoration. The American people deserve no less.

I am writing as a history enthusiast, a fan of architecture and as an American citizen. I am deeply concerned and outraged over the unauthorized demolition of the White House East Wing, which is reportedly underway to make room for President Trump's $300 million ballroom project. This action represents a severe breach of trust, protocol, and potentially law that demands immediate congressional intervention and accountability.

President Trump initially promised that the East Wing would not be affected by his renovation plans. We know this is a lie as the building is already gone. This sudden and drastic change, carried out without proper approval from the National Capital Planning Commission, is deeply troubling.

The lack of transparency surrounding this project is alarming. Construction trucks have been observed entering and exiting the area, and a higher fence has been erected to obstruct public view of the demolition. This secrecy is unacceptable for a project involving our nation's most iconic public building.

As a constituent, I urge you to take immediate action to hold President Trump accountable for this unilateral decision. We need answers to critical questions: Were all historical furnishings and artifacts properly preserved? How was this project being funded during a government shutdown? Why was the National Capital Planning Commission bypassed in this process?

The National Trust for Historic Preservation has called for a full investigation into the decision-making process that led to this point.

This is not merely about renovations; it's about respecting the integrity of our national institutions and the rule of law. The White House belongs to the American people, not to any single administration. President Trump's actions in this matter resemble those of an autocrat who believes he is above oversight and accountability.

I implore you to act swiftly. Introduce or support legislation that strengthens protections for historic federal buildings. Call for hearings to investigate this breach of protocol and trust. Ensure that no further damage is done to our national heritage without proper vetting and approval processes.

The American people deserve transparency, respect for our institutions, and leaders who understand the weight of their responsibilities. Please stand up for these principles and take concrete steps to address this urgent matter.

I want the East Wing restored to exactly how it was before it was demolished. This project was started illegally without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It should not be called a modernization project. Pres. Trump thinks he can do anything he wants.. never pays for anything himself.. never follows rules.. lacking in anything resembling respect or courtesy to those who came before.. goes out of his way to play his games while he trashes the reputation of our country, our institutions, our responsibilities as a world leader.. tramples on anyone not like him (white privileged male).. has no morals, no conscience, no bar as to how low he can go in getting what he wants.
I agree with those that want the east wing rebuilt and forget turning our ‘home of the U.S. people’ turned into his personal child-like play pen!

The history that was lost due to the unauthorized demolition of the east wing of the White House is heartbreaking!

There are processes in place to make sure projects are properly researched and proper authorization is granted.

The president is supposed to be a guardian of the White House during their time.

The funds acquired for the “ballroom” should only be used to restore the east wing!

The east wing needs to be restored!!!

The unauthorised razing of the East Wing of the White House can not be permitted. Those responsible need to fully fund restoration.

That does not rule out changes but those responsible for the destruction must play no part in the decision making : they have clearly demonstrated contempt for the processes required to be followed in making changes to nationally important assets.

I've never been able to travel to Washington D.C., just like I've never explored the heart of any wilderness area i Alaska. In both cases, just because I've never been there doesn't mean I don't care about these places, or that I would welcome one person's decision on changing a wilderness area or the East Wing of the White House.

I believe the East Wing as it stood was valuable historically, and there was no real reason other than narcissism and vanity to change it. The beauty of the White House state dinner in the actual White House and not a ballroom was what made it a unique and special occasion. The ballroom plans as announced are hideous; a throwback to anachronistic fantasies of glamour and glitz, hardly the stuff of The People's House.

Please cancel the ballroom plan as it''s been announced, find a solution that honors the original and when possible, penalize those responsible for such a heinous crime to architecture and American history.

Dear Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,
I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed dismantling and renovation of the White House East Wing.

My concerns regarding this project include:
Lack of Proper Approval Process: This project appears to have moved forward without the transparent, rigorous approval process that should be required for modifications to such a historically and symbolically significant structure.
Questionable Design Rationale: The scope and scale of this renovation have not been adequately justified to the public. Major alterations to the White House should serve clear public purposes, not private interests.

Excessive Cost: A $100 million price tag for this project represents an irresponsible use of resources, particularly when so many pressing national needs remain underfunded.
Transparency Concerns: There has been insufficient public disclosure regarding which companies and donors are financing this project. The American people deserve to know who stands to benefit from this expenditure and whether conflicts of interest exist.

I urge the Commission to halt this project until a full, transparent review can be conducted that includes:
\u8729· Complete disclosure of all funding sources and corporate contributors
\u8729· Public justification for the necessity and scope of renovations
\u8729· Independent oversight to ensure the project serves the public interest

The White House belongs to the American people. Decisions about its modification should be made with appropriate scrutiny, transparency, and accountability.

Thank you for considering this public comment.

Sincerely,

MM Eichmann

We have witnessed already a shocking act of vandalism against history and against the United States. The proposed ballroom would add a second act of vandalism, obscuring sight lines to the People's House, and overshadowing the house that represents who we are. The White House is not a palace; it represents dignity, determination, proportion and balance in a people as well as a place. Not only should the plan not go forward as the president desires, the replacement building must be subject to national discussion and authoritative security and aesthetic review. Further, the people have a right to demand compensation for this president's vandalism against their house and history.

Unlike North Korea, we are supposed to have a representative government that follows the rules. In this case the same rules I have to follow as a contractor: submit plans, obtain permits, undergo review if the building is historically significant (pro tip: this one was), etc. The Supreme Leader doesn't get to wave his flaccid wand and hire a demolition team (which he probably won't pay, because that's how he rolls) to knock down a building that belongs to the entirety of the American people, not just his supporating orange odiousness. Please halt this project immediately and rebuild the East Wing as closely as possible to it's original construction. Stop this self-serving nonsense.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. This was initiated unilaterally by Donald Trump, without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It's not a modernization project, but a complete razing of American history. Donald Trump does not get to decide to destroy a large portion of the White House when he is supposed to be a temporary resident, he does not have the authority to make such drastic changes. He is breaking the law, and to allow this garish, tacky ballroom to be built is a slap in the face to law-abiding Americans. Cancel this project, and rebuild the East Wing properly.

I am appalled at the current administration's disregard for our nation's historic buildings. The destruction on the East Win can hardly be called a "modernization project." As someone who treasures childhood memories of visiting the nation's capital and walking through monuments and buildings, including the White House and Capital, I am deeply affronted by this president's arrogance, selfishness, and pettiness in replacing the East Wing with a ridiculous, out of scale, ugly gilded ballroom.

It is your job to stop it.

The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was and the funds should come from Donald Trump’s personal account. He did not have the people’s permission to destroy any part of our house and should be held accountable. He should also be fined heavily and removed from office for this and the myriad of illegal acts he has committed as president.

There are so many questions about this project - were proper permits and permission obtained? These “private donors” who are supposedly paying for the renovation - what will they want in return? And lastly, doesn’t the White House belong to the American people? The current occupant is basically a renter, and renters aren’t typically allowed to make big structural changes. The East Wing should rebuilt as it was.

I am brokenhearted about the destruction of the east wing of the White House. No one sought permission from the American people or this commission to do this kind of damage to the history of the building, or to its architectural beauty. And no one should reap what they may see as a reward for such reckless and high handed activity.I would be delighted to see the commission decide to have the east wing restored to its former glory. This was, and still is, the people’s house, and we loved it as it was – – and as it should be once more.

I object to the expenditure of $300 million on a project initiated without the necessary authorization, permits, or design review. Rather than modernizing the site, this effort effectively erases an important part of American history. The project should be halted, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original design. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. This is not a modernization effort—it is the complete razing of an irreplaceable part of American history and architectural heritage.

Public buildings of historic significance are not the property of any one administration or moment in time; they belong to the American people and to future generations. Any proposal to alter, demolish, or substantially change such a structure should follow established preservation laws, transparent review processes, and meaningful public input. Circumventing those safeguards undermines both public trust and the rule of law.

I urge that this project be immediately halted and formally reviewed under all applicable historic preservation, environmental, and planning regulations. If the East Wing has been altered or demolished without proper approval, it should be rebuilt and restored to its former design in accordance with recognized preservation standards.

No one is above the law. Allowing this project to proceed without accountability for those who authorized or carried it out in violation of required procedures would send the message that legal and regulatory frameworks apply selectively. That would be an affront to the many Americans who expect fairness, transparency, and adherence to the law in the stewardship of our shared national heritage.

I object to the East Wing Modernization Project. In fact, I object to the misnaming of this project. There may have been necessary upgrades to the East Wing. But it is impossible to modernize something that no longer exists. The proposal is to replace the razed East Wing with a ballroom that dwarfs the existing White House. This is not architecturally harmonious nor in keeping with the current grounds. Further, to allow this to move forward would set a precedent and reward actions that are contrary to the established oversight of our national heritage.

I am opposed to the building of a ballroom or anything similar on the White House grounds. This applies whether the new structure is attached to or separate from the existing White House.
This project was not reviewed prior to the demolition of the East Wing and has not received the required approval. What consequences are available for this violation?
The ballroom, as published, will constitute another eyesore on the White House grounds.
Public Law 87-286 established that the White House is a museum. This project, the gold gilding and the unnecessary labeling of rooms violate this law.
Funding that has been received or promised should be utilized to restore the East Wing, White House interior and exterior and the White House grounds to their respective states as of January 1, 2026. Any additional funds required to do so should be the responsibility of the current, temporary, resident.
Disapproval of this project will not harm routine maintenance, repairs or improvements since procedures for these purposes are already established.
My priority is maintaining the functioning of the White House and grounds. ALL desired changes must follow the required procedures. Individuals responsible for reviewing such proposals should keep the preservation of the People's House as one of their top priorities.

It's my firm hope that the East Wing will be restored, with perhaps some bowing to current building codes and materials, but it should look essentially like it did before. This action was an affront to the American people and to our history. I hope also that further actions will be taken to prevent anything like this from ever happening again.

Jackie Kennedy told us that the White House is the "People's House". And all Presidents following JFK honored that proclamation, except for the current President.

I not only do not agree with the wanton destruction of the East Wing, I vehemently oppose replacing it with a ballroom. There already was a ballroom - among other things, for example a theater - in the torn-down East Wing. We all saw pictures of Princess Diana dancing with John Travolta, with President Reagan and First Lady Nancy Reagan watching. So destroying the East Wing for something that already existed in the East Wing - namely a ballroom - does not make sense, disrespects our heritage, and is morally wrong.

For the record, I also did not agree to the destruction of the Rose Garden either.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

This is not a project. It is a criminal destruction of United States history.
It was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.
The people who destroyed the East Wing of the White House should be facing criminal charges.
Funding this project now would also be a criminal act.
This project should be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

Anything less would be endorsing the criminal destruction the United States shared heritage and history.

Please do not fund this project.

Thank you.

I oppose this project, which was not approved by anyone, but initiated by the President without seeking comment or opinion. The former East Wing should be restored, and the President should be charged for the full cost of the restoration.

Bulldozing it without proper authority was a criminal act; destroying valuable art and antiques was a criminal act; he should pay for restoration.

I am outraged that Pres. Trump completely razed the East Wing of the White House without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete destruction of property that belongs to the American people, not the President. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design at his personal expense. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I was shocked when the East Wing was demolished so quickly, and without proper authorization. The planned reconstruction is nothing more than a vanity project, way over the top in scope, and should not be approved. Moreover, I believe that anything more to be done needs to be put on hold until thorough research is completed and the proper rebuilding is approved -- not by the White House but by those of us who pay the bills.

In the meantime, all construction supplies and equipment should be removed because that is nothing more than an eyesore, and reminds us of how out of control things have gotten there.

Thank you for allowing me to share my thoughts.

I oppose the East Wing modernization project. It was started without anything like the proper process and in razing the East Wing, a precious part of the history of our country was raised without thought, planning, oversight, and any thought of preservation. Spending that much money on a ballroom for the People's House is embarrassing and wrong, and the people who are driving this project need to be held accountable. Please stop this erasure of history and rebuild the East Wing to its former specifications and beauty. Thank you.

The following statement is from another person, and I wholeheartedly agree - I couldn't say it better - I go through each day thinking... it could have been a fire, they can rebuild; it could have been a plane crashing into the building or an earthquake, or any kind of natural disaster... and we can still rebuild the East Wing to it's former beauty and grandeur. A hideously outsized, gilded ballroom is NOT what Americans want for their capitol - this is strictly an ego project for a thin skinned, deeply damaged being that will never be whole.

And now for another voice I also agree with: I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Even the name of this project is a joke. The White House belongs to the PEOPLE of the United States. They were not consulted. I have borrowed this wording from another submitter, and it expresses my viewpoint well. As the owner of a historic home (a former gold rush saloon) built in 1899 in Nome, Alaska, and as a member of the Alaska Historical Society, I am well aware of the parameters guiding care of historic buildings—and thus was truly shocked at the way this project was allowed to move forward, busting though all guardrails intended to protect historic structures. Please stop the work and reverse the damage—though preservation of the original structure is tragically no longer possible.

This is not a modernization project. It was a destruction without proper approval and permits. It would be like a renter tearing down the house without permission and saying they were going to build a bigger house to replace it. We all know that would be crazy and illegal. Tearing down the East Wing was crazy and illegal. The ballroom project needs to be scrapped. Whatever happens next needs to get approvals from the appropriate authorities (not those such as the current president who appoints himself as the authority).

The East Wing and all other structures impacted to date by this project must be restored to their original state. Funding to complete this undertaking must be provided by the President of the United States from his personal funds. Under no circumstances will public or taxpayer funds be used to pay for this work. Once the building(s) are in their original condition, the National Park Service should evaluate the need for renovation or refurbishing of these structures and submit their recommendations to the NCPC according to standard procedures. In addition to paying for the restoration, the President of the United States must be fined in accordance with existing policy and law for destruction of federal and public property and must pay those fines from his personal funds.

The White House is OUR house ... it does not belong to the current President or administration. It is only on loan to them. The East Wing was razed without any authorization, any Congressional concurrence, and on a whim. Destruction of a national monument to history was done without a thought as to the people's voice. It was a travesty, and the plans should not be allowed to continue as is. As a long time taxpayer, I do not approve the payment of tax dollars to build what seems like a vanity project for Donald Trump, or any other President. I also don't support what looks like a quid pro quo by tech oligarchs and other corporate entities and owners who have offered to fund a new building. I oppose the spending of $400 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The updates to the East Wing are not necessary or vital for our priorities as a country. What a huge waste of money. I wish we could have given comments before it was torn down, but now all I can hope is that the rubble is cleared and that archivists are able to preserve whatever they can.

Imagine if that money could be spent on healthcare subsidies, housing subsidies, or food programs like SNAP. Americans are being crushed under the weight of rising costs, and we're going to watch all the money for this project go to a ballroom. How very French revolution of us.

Still shocked that the East Wing was hastily torn down without any input from Congress or voters!
There's been no actual plan shared that could be evaluated by historical or D.C. professionals. Remember how architectural designs were invited when building the Vietnam Veterans Memorial? That's the way to add a major building project in our historic capital city.
Also, there's no justified "need" for this "modernization." How many people are usually invited to special White House dinners? If it's about 100-200, there's plenty of space available already. If we truly host 1,000 people regularly, then perhaps the guest list needs to be trimmed.
The budget here is missing. We haven't seen estimates for the project, other than the imaginary $200 million or $400 million that "will be contributed."
This is the "people's' house," not a private club, and "the people" should decide on such a major project.

During my lifetime, I have admired how the White House is both government work space and residence. That the East Wing was dedicated to the offices and staff of the First Lady was a nod to her having agency if she so chose, a space that could say that her role need not be symbolic or decorative. First Ladies Clinton, Bush, and Obama used their positions to effect change, and the East Wing showed that America took them seriously. First Lady Trump has a choice in her first turn as First Lady to make a similar impact and have it be respected via a dedicated wing of the White House. Future First Spouses should also have that space. To replace it with a giant ballroom funded by non-public money seems at best a vanity project and, at worst, bribes of the Executive Branch laundered through a vanity project. It does not feel like a project made in the best interests of the American people.

It is shameful that a single person with no knowledge of American history or architectural history could rush forth to destroy part of our nation's landmark residence. Ideally, the East Wing should be restored to its pre-demolition state. Short of that unlikely occurrence, the new wing should appropriately reflect the context of the original wing -- that is, it should not overshadow the volume of the White House. Its exterior needs to be compatible to a large degree with the earlier design, given that mimicking the historical architecture may not be an "honest" design approach. Still, careful consideration needs to be given to compatibility of exterior materials in relation to the White House.

The goal of the project should NOT be to make it as huge as possible, just to satisfy the sociological pathology of the instigator of this project.

Thank you for a chance to speak up.

The east wing is gone and new construction is required. Washington DC needs structures that compliment other significant structures, not vanity projects that will be oversized and only minimally useful.
The plans that have been seen by the public are horrendous. An addition should not become something multiple times larger than the historic structure.
It is doubtful that we need a ballroom at all. Now that the east wing has been illegally destroyed, a new east wing with offices and necessary expansion that would serve the nation. Do all that can be done to delay the project until the irreverent occupant is gone. If we are lucky that will be just 18 months more.
If a ballroom is destined to stain our great capital, then size it down to reality.
Everything about this project is wrong. It was wrong from the secret plans and demolition of the east wing. And it is totally wrong to allow a gaudy, glitzy, enormous ballroom as a vanity project for a wannabe king.

Also... no stinking arch to honor the worst person to ever occupy The People's House.

I passionately, adamently oppose the East Wing Modernization project. The White House is owned by the people of the United States, NOT any single executive, and should not be remodelled without the consent of the people in the form of appropriate permits, authorizations, and design reviews - none of which have been obtained in this instance. Not only is the project illegal, but it sets a horrific precedent: if we allow this to go forward, what protects someone from removing the statue of Lincoln from the Lincoln Monument to create more event space; what protects the cherry trees from being razed to make way for yet another riverwalk development?

I oppose the East Wing Modernization project as currently designed. It was started without any review or approval and if it continues, it will completely distort the White House architecturally. I recommend the review body or bodies design a different correction to the now defunct East Wing that better reflects the architectural integrity of the White House.

This beautiful people’s house has been damaged by demolishing the historic East Wing. The ballroom project should not continue. Instead, the East Wing should be reconstructed to as close as possible to how it was before. The demolition happened too suddenly and without oversight. It is a wound in our beautiful nation’s capital in need of healing.

I strongly object to this project. The White House belongs to the American people, not any one president or administration, and the bypassing of mandated requirements and approvals is entirely unacceptable. The White House has historically been known as the People's House. In keeping with that precedent, I offer my comments regarding the proposed renovation as well as remarks about how this process was undertaken as a teacher and as a friend of historic preservation. Firstly, no demolition of any portion of the White House, including the added wings, should have been undertaken before approval of Congress and following the guidelines for historic preservation provided by the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966. That being said, severe damage has been already done to the East Wing through a unilateral, unapproved action, and said damage must now be repaired. The renovated structure should continue to comply with the scale and aesthetic to balance with the remaining unaffected areas of the White House. When our local organization wanted to increase the structural integrity of our lighthouse, we had to get permits from the Coast Guard, Florida State Parks, and the Lee County in order to proceed. Similarly, private homes listed on the National Historic Register must comply with strict guidelines to maintain their place on said list. (As a young adult, I assisted dear friends with getting their home listed, and am fairly familiar with that process.) The White House, being a nationally significant structure, deserves even greater oversight by highly-qualified, experienced preservation architects, to keep its historical integrity to return it to being a functional building, but also a national treasure. Any structural or architectural modifications must be required to fit within the aesthetic of the remaining structures of the main White House and West Wing. The proposed scope and scale of the ballroom must be revised to remain within those guidelines and any modifications or modernizations must also be approved within the guidelines of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

The White House belongs to the people. At anytime, the occupants of the White House are there temporarily. I do not support building a ball room that overshadows this historic building. Besides the fact that it is allegedly being funded privately (a clear ethics violation), the American people have far more pressing financial needs than a ballroom that 98% of us will never see. Major updates to the People's House should always be thoughtfully designed, carefully planned and make financial sense. This ridiculous project has been handled poorly, begun prematurely, it did not receive prior approval and should not be allowed to continue. It's a shame to spend the money, but the East Wing should be reconstructed in the previous size and style.

The East Wing of the White House was razed without permission. It is an important part of The People's House. This is an attempt to erase history. There is no need for a ballroom. The White House is not a resort. The East Wing must be restored to the way it was before the demolition. Furthermore, those responsible for this unlawful destruction should be held liable both legally and financially, especially the one who ordered it to happen.
Please restore the East Wing of the White House. The White House belongs to the Nation, not to whoever occupies it at the time.
Thank you.

Summary - A ballroom should not be built and the East Wing should be re-built using 'donated' funds (bribes).

The White House (the People's House) is a unit of the National Park Service. Absolutely no NPS funds of any kind should be used for a ballroom. I am concerned that no-year funds have already been swept into this foolish project.

I oppose spending $300 million on this project, no matter where the bribes came from. The demolishion happened without public input, proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.
I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

The razing of the East Wing of the White House is an affront to United States history; the "modernization" is a vanity project for a venal President who went ahead simply "because he wanted to destroy it". I believe that the East Wing must be restored to its original size and all the stored history replaced in it's original setting, if it still exists and was not a victim of the razing. It is the People's House, loaned only to the current President. None of the historical safeguards were followed in its destruction which is on the current holder of the Office. Like much in his destructive wake, it will take generations to restore what has been lost.

I oppose the building of a ballroom where the east wing one stood. The east wing should be rebuilt structurally as it was so that the visual of the White House remains the same.

If someone wishes to build an addition to the White House they should go through the correct channels And historical preservation.

This is not a "modernization" project, but an obliteration of part of our U.S. history. This should not be happening. They have effectively destroyed a beautiful piece of American architecture for no reason. The East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was with only new changes that are absolutely necessary. It is absurd that I have to say that the President of the United States should not be accepting donations (bribes?) from billionaires to build a vanity ballroom. This is all so absurd. And they should follow the law and release the full Epstien files, unredacted, today!

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

The so-called "modernization" of the East Wing of the White House represents a total obliteration of an important part of American history. The planned ballroom would loom like a creepy uncle over the White House proper, destroying the balance and harmony of the People's House. As a citizen of the United States, I am horrified by the destruction of the East Wing. I do not want taxpayers' dollars spent on a grandiose ballroom. I want the East Wing restored to its original form and function prior to its demolishment in October 2025. The majority of Americans oppose this misguided effort to reshape our historic building. The White House belongs to all of us, not to any one individual. Please fix this mess so we can begin to restore some semblance of pride in our Capitol.

Respectfully submitted,

I disagree With the construction of a ballroom on the side of the east wing of the White House.

First, the destruction of the East wing was not appropriate nor done according to protocol.

Second, a ballroom? During the time when meat prices have gone up 19%, and I'm not even gonna list everything else, a $400 million ballroom to be used by an extraordinarily small percent of Americans is not the proper use of any kind of funds whether donated or federal.

Last, this kind of inappropriate and thoughtless destruction of national property should not be tolerated.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I strongly object to the multi million dollar “modernization” of the East Wing of the White House. The White House is the People’s House. It is a historic structure. The total destruction should never have happened. There was no oversight, no accountability, and no transparency. It was just DONE at the whim of the current administration. The gargantuan size of the planned structure is ostentatious. Private wealthy individuals or corporations should not be building structures that should belong to and represent the American people. It is a travesty! It must be stopped.

I was outraged to see the East Wing of the White House destroyed without your permission or even consultation. The White House belongs to the People of the United States, and not to the temporarily elected occupant of it.

It is your responsibility to halt the project now, and have actual historical architects see if the East Wing can be restored or renovated for its original purpose. No ballroom, no pseudo-palace, and no spending taxpayer money on nonsense.

The President should be personally responsible for the cost of both the destruction and renovation.

Please do your job, whatever bullying may come your way.

This project was started without the proper planning or authorizations. It must be stopped immediately and the damage already done needs to be repaired by restoring the East Wing to its historical condition. My tax dollars should not be used to do so. The person responsible needs to be held accountable and required to fund the restoration.

I wholly object to "modernizing" the east wing of the white house. I don't even care that it is allegedly being paid for from private funds. The damage to the history of the building, without any authorization is ridiculous. The cost per square foot is obscene, and the current iteration of drawings look like a remake of a French palace. A carefully designed plan that involves all responsible parties, not just the president and his architect would result in a much more accepted project.

Please restore the East Wing to what it was before Trump's demolition. I want the same exterior dimensions and architectural style to be followed. I would also like to make sure that the interior is made accessible in compliance with ADA.
Hopefully, all interior artifacts were also preserved.
Please do not construct a ballroom on this property. There is already plenty of ballroom space in the DC area for the few times it is needed over and above what is available at the White House.
All future renovations need to follow the proper procedures.
This ballroom is not needed, nor is it wanted by the vast majority of Americans. This is the People's House!

Restore it as close to what it was, make the person who okayed the demolition pay for it. The Citizens should not pay one dime to restore it.

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission -- My request is that after your review of the proposed East Wing Modernization Project, you reject the plan. I understand that since the East Wing has already been demolished, there are questions of what to do next. My recommendation is that - and I don't know the exact procedure for this - you require a fresh start. This would include an extensive public involvement process, a call for architects/designers, continuing interaction with the public and with people with expertise in history, historic preservation, architecture and design, public service, and more. Stakeholders as well as the general public should be welcomed into the conversation and the design process, including young people who often come up with great ideas. Two personal notes: I was born in Washington, DC, and it has been my good fortune to grow up and engage in all the wonders of the Nation's Capital. I worked at the Smithsonian Museums while in college. So this has great personal meaning for me. More recently (I now live in Salt Lake City), a developer wanted to "move" Abravanel Hall so he could rebuild downtown Salt Lake the way he thought it should be. Abravanel Hall is the home of the Utah Symphony, and was designed by renowned architects hand-in-hand with one of the top acousticians in the world. Thanks to the action of patrons, residents, musicians, world-renowned composers and conductors, we were able to save the Hall, and just last week it received a plaque, recognizing its designation on the National Register of Historic Places. The White House is a powerful symbol across the planet. Let's do everything we can to preserve its majesty, its history and its significance. Thank you.

I am deeply appalled at the destruction of the East Wing of the White House. The destruction was done on a whim, without permits or even an architectural plan in place. There were no permits or permissions given. The proposed replacement with a ballroom will not be finished by the time the current president leaves office. His desire to create a legacy for himself destroys a piece of history that has been a significant part of this country for more than 100 years.

The new construction on the $300 (or is it $400) million ballroom cannot be allowed.

For the record, I also object to the name given to the project here: East Wing Modernization Project? The East Wing is gone.

If there is a project for what was once the East Wing, I propose replacing and restoring what was there before the bulldozers arrived.

No one is above the law. Everyone involved in the destruction of the East Wing should be punished with fines and whatever else is appropriate for destruction of government property. That includes the operators of the bulldozers as well as the president himself.

The current president is a caretaker of this building and has no authority to alter its appearance in this way. There are ways of managing projects like this. Anyone who remodels an historic building works within guidelines set out by designated to oversee such building so that the changes do not violate the original architecture of the building, the reason why the building is historic. This building project should not go forward. If we truly need a ballroom and I am not sure we do, it must we designed carefully to be harmonious with the existing structure on this property.

To demolition the East Wing, without prior approval, is beyond contempt for the disrespect shown to our built environment. The building is the property of the American People. We have the right to be angry and livid over the destruction of our property.

We do not need a Ballroom the size of the entire White House. We don't cater to billionaires and tyrants. We have enjoyed years of elegant and tasteful State functions in our White House. We have entertained guests from all over the world. As a citizen of this country, I wish to express my displeasure with which a temporary occupant has torn through decades of our heritage and pride.

The plans for the Ballroom are gaudy and distasteful. They look like a grandiose cry for attention instead of dignified elegance.

The President should be held responsible for his outrageous demolition. He should have his salary stopped and he should be forced to vacate our White House. If he does not think it is suitable, he should be housed at Blair House until his time to leave Washington.

Sincerely,
Anne Bolner

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Subterranean areas can be modernized and secured as required.

No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The process for making any alternations was not followed & this wing certainly should not have be demolished under any circumstances. Our heritage site needs to be restored to its former glory & the cost for the restoration passed on to all those who ignored the correct process including the Republican president & administration.

The White House is the people's house. The First Family resides there as a kindness of the citizens of the United States. The current administration has no right to demolish any portion of this property without the express permission of the citizens of the United States.

I am appalled that this demolition was accomplished without any sanction, permission, or even inquiry. Where is the U.S. Congress?
How could this demolition have happened? What of the years of hstory that has been lost? We, the people, do not need a multi-million dollar ballroom! We need ad demand the East Wing be restored and rebuilt as it was!

When the East Wing was demolished, I and all my family and friends were aghast. It was shocking and caused both anger and much sadness. We all felt like it was OUR house that had been ruined. It was an important and invaluable structure. And it was destroyed with no forewarning or discussion. It was a crime. Please do not approve anything that is not appropriate in every way. Maybe even period wallpaper, furnishings and architectural details. We want an East Wing again. Every First Lady must have wept over this. And everyone who has visited the White House is mourning this abomination.

I am aware that defying Trump is very dangerous - he'll carry grudges against all who vote against him for all time and will savage you in this Truth Social posts - but you must put a halt to the "Beautiful Ballroom" and the bunker - not least because it was never about that. If it had been he would have had architectural plans ready to go. He still wouldn't have gone through channels, of course, but at least he'd be able to show actual blue prints. Instead he has nothing.

Please prevent any building going on where the East Wing used to be until you can get the go ahead to rebuild it as it used to be.

I appreciate that Trump will just double the size of his Triumphant Arch in revenge, as well as a few other grandiose building projects on which he'll place his name - but at least the White House would be safe.

As an American, I was appalled by the illegal destruction and of the East Wing of the White House, and what that means for our collective history. As a working environmental consultant I am beyond appalled at the very obvious and public facing flouncing of our most basic regulations around asbestos and lead-based paint. This demolition was blatantly unhygienic and illegal and will cause real harm to the air and soil of the White House grounds. Further, why should anyone ever again bother getting a permit or following environmental regulations when our own government will not?

I am adamantly opposed to the so-called "East Wing Modernization Project". This was not modernization. It is an unauthorized desecration of a building that belongs to the American people, not to its current occupant. Like any other citizen, the occupant of the White House should not be permitted to proceed when he has failed to obtain the required prior authorization and permits. He should be required, at his expense, to return the East Wing, to its former design. If the East Wing truly needs to be modernized, it should only be done after the lawful planning, authorization and permitting procedures have been followed to the letter of the law.

This is a far cry from being a "modernization project". The East Wing destruction was done without government oversight, permits and was not done legally or with planning and input. Allowing this to become an ostentatious memorial to President Trump goes against everything that the NCPC was created to prevent. We need the East Wing rebuilt to its former structure and purpose or at least rebuilt in a way that is aligned with the White House and West Wing and remain authentic to its original purpose. The East Wing should, as it was before, not distract from the beauty and history of the White House itself. The White House and buildings are symbolic of what differentiates the US from the imperial palaces and grandeur that points to wealth and privilege around the world. What we fought for and stand for should be honored. Democracy where we do not memorialize living presidents and respect the laws that guide us.

The demolition of The East Wing of the White House is a travesty made worse by the plan to replace it with a giant ballroom that is out of proportion with the rest of the White House. All of it is to assuage Trump’s ego and bolster his desire to be a “king”.

As usual, Trump has ignored the legally required federal review process where major construction projects in Washington, D.C. must be reviewed by the NCPC and the Commission of Fine Arts, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), and receive congressional approval. None of this has happened.

This country does not need a ballroom. I think Trump should be made to rebuild on his own dime, that which he destroyed. He should return the bribe money given to him by his billionaire "friends".

The Trump administration suddenly demolished the East Wing of the People's House, which is the property of the American people (not his family) without proper public discussion or authorization. As with any publically owned property, they should be required to return the property to its prior state, paying for it out of their private wealth. That some billionaire clients of Donal Trump offered to pay for the demolition and the building of a new ballroom unfit for the site does not make his actions okay. The billionaires' money can be used to rebuild the East Wing if they like, but they should also be reprimanded for their arrogance. If they like, after rebuilding the East Wing, they can be allowed to go through a proper review process for changes they want to make but with no guarantee of success. The USA is founded on equality before the law. Their arrogance must be utterly repudiated.

Everything about this project disgusts me. Actions taken so far are strictly political and of course the blame falls squarely on Donald Trump. He had no right to propose anything new, he had no right to destroy U.S. Government property, much less a vital part of our national identify and architecture. Destroying public property would land me in jail, especially something as important as part of the White House, which is owned by the people of the United States.

I urge you to completely reject this whole project, unless the "new design" is the same as its former appearance, as much as possible.

I oppose moving forward with this project as requested. The East wing was razed WITHOUT ANY PERMITS OR APPROVALS. A portion of history was razed with it! The current proposed plans dwarf the White House in size and proportion. This entire concept of a ballroom this size is unnecessary!
The East Wing should be rebuilt with the same aesthetic since it complemented the White House. Increasing square footage would be ok to a degree, if again it complimented the entire White House campus.

Perhaps the White House needs a ballroom, or at least a venue that can hold a sizable number of dignitaries to gather in a safe location. How ever it needs to be built in a manor that reflects the beauty and style of the White House as it was originally intended to be. Dignified and bling free. Sad that the east wing & Kennedy Garden was so violently destroyed and proper steps were not followed. I don't object to outsiders paying for it but those funds need to be kept separate and be followed so that they don't benefit people through using offshore accounts and not being properly managed. Also private donations are not a form of entitlement by donors. Naming of the building is also something that needs to be done by public vote. No current president can name it after himself. That's true of all the other monuments, buildings, cars, trees, event centers, etc. Naming should be done by vote and not be designated to any current or living president. I think that the sands of time need to pass before a president is honored. The longevity of their actions needs to play out to really see if they were an effective leader or not.

I strongly oppose the allocation of more than $300 million for this project, which appears to have been initiated without appropriate authorization, permitting, or design review. Projects of this scale routinely experience cost overruns, and there is reasonable concern regarding fiscal discipline and long-term stewardship of public funds.

In addition, there are legitimate questions about the quality of materials and craftsmanship that will ultimately be delivered. Public projects of historical significance should reflect the highest standards of durability, authenticity, and architectural integrity, rather than relying on cost-cutting substitutions that may compromise long-term value.

This proposal cannot accurately be characterized as a modernization effort. Rather, it represents a substantial alteration of an important historic structure. Such actions warrant careful review, transparency, and full compliance with all applicable legal and preservation requirements.

I respectfully urge that this project be halted pending proper authorization, oversight, and review. If alterations have been undertaken in violation of established procedures or laws, those responsible should be held accountable. Public trust depends on adherence to the rule of law and the responsible preservation of our shared architectural heritage.

The unwarranted destruction of the historic East Wing of the Peoples' White House and replacement with a behemoth ballroom at an exorbitant expense is an affront to hard working, tax paying Americans. This project must be abandoned, and the East Wing fully restored and paid for by those who destroyed our monumental presidential home.

I vehemently object to the demolition of the East Wing of the White House under the guise of necessity in order to build a completely unapproved "ballroom" by Donald Trump. There was no public comment asked for or regulatory guidelines followed or historical experts consulted . This project is solely the desire of one mans ego and an affront to the historical quality of the residence. The premise of " ask for forgiveness rather than permission" doesn't even apply as this character never is contrite. To continue with this building is abhorrent. The White House is the peoples house not Trumps to "remodel and add on at his whim.
Please stop this project and return the East Wing to it's previous and historical state.

Let him use his Florida ballroom. Our East Wing needs to be rebuilt exactly the way it was. No President should ever be allowed to make changes to the White House. That's the peoples house,, not their private property. Our Jackie Kennedy rose garden needs to be back the way it was. Get rid of that stupid patio. I am deeply troubled by this project. "Modernization" does not involve complete destruction without full and complete authorization, permits, or design review. No historic building should be razed without opportunity for public review and comment – the building belongs to the public. The project should be canceled and the East Wing rebuilt in its former footprint and design; "modernization" such as improved utilities, changes in internal design, and the luck can be completed then, in full accordance with the law. Those who violated the law should be penalized to the full extent of the law.

If it's true (as they keep telling us) that wealthy donors are paying for it and not taxpayers, then tell the wealthy donors to pay down the national debt instead. That would benefit the United States far more than a ballroom that only the uber-wealthy will ever see the inside of.

The White House (or the People's House) is a National Historic Landmark and National Park and owned by the American people. Residents are temporary and should not make substantial modifications unless coordinated and approved ahead of time by the owners (the American People), just like renters in any other residence.

While expanded event space may be needed, additions MUST respect the historic scale and design of the White House. At 90,000 square feet, the proposed ballroom would exceed the size of the 55,000-square-foot Executive Residence. Per guidelines for historic buildings overseen by the NCPC, additions/modifications to the White House should be compatible in scale and subordinate to the original structure, as all previous construction has been.

While the demolition of the previous East Wing cannot be undone, any further construction must be reviewed, socialized for public comment, and approved by the NCPC PRIOR to commencement. The current 'notional' designs are not sufficient to support public review and comment. Full architectural plans must be completed and submitted prior to the review and public comment period concluding.

I'm writing to oppose the $300M "East Wing Modernization Project." Modernizing the East Wing of the White House was a project initiated without the appropriate authorization, permits, or design review. This was a complete removal of American history that NEVER should have happened. I advocate for this project to be cancelled and the East Wind rebuilt and restored to its former design once the current president is no longer in office because its rebuilding cannot be successfully completed under the current administration. While the current president is in office, the rebuilding of the East Wing should be postponed with the area cordoned off with a construction fence. No person in this country is above the law. My community has stronger penalties for the unlawful razing of a contributing building in a historic district than our country is enforcing on the perpetrator of this sickening act of hubris and overreach. To permit this poorly conceived project to go ahead without penalty to those who broke the law would be an offense and contrary to everything this country is and stands for.

To whom it may concern,

I'd like to start by saying that the destruction of our nation's collective history, the tearing down of the East Wing, is not a "modernization project". It is a vanity project imagined by the megalomaniac currently occupying the White House. Given that, it shouldn't come as a surprise that I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. In lieu of this so-called "modernization project", I would like to see the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead, with or without penalizing those who broke the law, would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans who would like to have a country and leadership we can be proud of again.

Please do the right thing and do not allow this ballroom monstrosity to be built. It is something we would all quickly come to regret, as we already regret it, even in its conception stage.

Thank you,

Sandy Ewing

I am beyond outraged that Donald Trump has had the effrontery to demolish a big portion of The People's House for an insipid vanity project without even going through proper channels. It is misogynistic in removing the First Lady's offices, probably because Melania would never be bothered to use them. His taste is disgusting and tacky, and the ridiculous ballroom fits that description to a T. Please please please, stop the ballroom project, and fine Trump for exceeding his authority in the amount required to rebuild the East Wing, either exactly as it was or else with whatever normal improvements might have been authorized before this madness began. Thank you.

An administration is either a 4 or 8 year tenure in the White House, determined by a vote by the citizens of the USA.

The White House and the grounds on Pennsylvania Avenue belong to the people of this country. It has been under the care of the current occupant to preserve it for the people.

This administration has taken a wrecking ball to the White House and its grounds.

It demolished the Rose Garden, mutilated the Lincoln bathroom so it looks as if it belongs in a hotel, added "golden" garbage accents throughout the oval office and the West Wing.

Now, the most obscene gesture in this wreck of self indulgence taken by the current occupant, demolishing the East Wing to install a ballroom for billions of dollars to further destroy history and the historical significance of the people's house.

This needs to be prevented from going any further.

Restore the Kennedy Center to its proper name as well.

I hope that the commission will realize that the unlawful demolition of the East Wing needs to abide by the regulations in place for THE PEOPLE'S House. What is done is done, but the commission can responsibly and lawfully reconstruct an architecturally appropriate wing to the White House. The ballroom and BUNkER are a vanity project for DONALD TRUMP.

I am vehemently opposed to the ballroom and bunker that Donald Trump proposes.

I have complete trust in the commission to propose a wing plan that will be architecturally appropriate and not the monstrosity that Donald Trump envisions.

I would like to go on record that my concerns are that this building or addition to the White House for a ballroom is being designing by President Trump without any thought to national historic preservation for the White House. If a ballroom is to be added, I highly recommend that a committee be formed outside of the presidents circle, and given to people who will be looking out for the best of the design and not to place their own personal stamp on it.

The East Wing was torn down illigally. The White House is not the property of one person. I insist that the East Wing be rebuilt as it was before, with any necessary minor modifications for satety. The finished result should not look different from before and should be used for the same purposes as before.
The proposed ballroom is unnessary and the plans for the project should be put aside. Its huge size would dwarf the White House itself.
Large events can continue to be held in tents on the White House lawn as in the past, or in other public or private space that could be rented for special occasions.

I stand with those who demand that this enormous wrong be corrected by rebuilding the East Wing as it was before Trump‘s wrecking ball. The White House is not Mar-a-Lago. The White House is not owned by Donald Trump. It is owned by “We the People.” And we the people are horrified by what Trump did without proper authorization or process. The whole project is a mess and needs to be stopped and reversed. Resurrect the east wing and stiffly fine and sue Donald Trump. The Scotus only said Trump was immune from prosecution from acts conducted as regular presidential business. In no way was this destruction part of the president’s regular official role. So sue the pants off him.

The unauthorized demolition of the East Wing of the White House was an outrage. None of the prior steps that are required to make changes to the People's House were followed. And now, the estimate of costs keep changing with more and more monstrous designs for a hugely disproportionate wing. We must demand a wing design appropriate in scale and period to complement the White House. The American people were told only private donations would be used to build the new structure. I demand that no taxpayer funds be used to restore the West Wing to its previous glory. Let the individual who illegally demolished it personally pay for its reconstruction.

The White House belongs to the American people. No single person should be able to make substantial revisions to this historic property without prior review and approval. The President is a temporary tenant of the property, not its owner.

If a larger event space is considered necessary, then a proposal should have been submitted in advance, discussed, reviewed, modified (if necessary or appropriate), and work commenced only after final approval was given.

Any approval given at this time is merely post hoc forgiveness of what appears to be the illegal destruction of public property.

I think that this project should be killed in its entirety for several reasons. First, the demolition of the White House East Wing occurred without proper permitting and public notice making it essentially an illegal destruction of Federal property. That behavior should not be rewarded. Second, the proposed structure is not in architectural harmony with the existing building, dwarfing it in proportion and clashing with the historical style of one of the United State's original public buildings. Third, financing for this project was not approved or appropriated by Congress and the proposed donor financing is not transparent and riddled with potential conflict of interest and waste, fraud and abuse. Fourth, management of the proposed project is poorly defined and much appears to be placed beyond Federal control, including competitive selection of contractors making the entire proposal questionable with regard to acquisition regulations. I urge you to kill this project and begin the process of investigating how the decisions leading up to this application occurred without necessary public review and comment for possible criminal violations. I also urge the planning commission to initiate an independent process for restoration of the damaged structure that is in full compliance with law and regulation and that places the burden of cost on President Trump, not on the taxpayers.

The United States has few monuments as well- known and iconic as the White House. The White House's classical architecture is emblematic of the heft and historical significance of the property. The proposed "modernization ", with its enormous size, moves the White House out of the balance that forms the basic style of classical architecture.

In addition, the White House is meant to be both a residence and a place of work for the President and t e First Lady of our republic. It already has spaces for receptions and official gatherings. As a country with democratically elected leaders, our official buildings need to reflect the values of the country with a leader answerable to the citizens, not a leader who needs spaces built for royalty.

I oppose the extreme expansion of the White House, clearly disguised as " modernization" and encourage you to refuse to permit it to move forward.

The current ballroom plans should not be approved. Not only was the East Wing destroyed illegally but the planned ballroom is not in keeping with the design of the Whitehouse and is much too large and ostentatious. A redesign of the destroyed wing would have been sufficient without tearing down the whole wing. Since this was all done without proper permits and review the current plan should be denied and those involved should be required to put the East Wing back as close to the prior design as possible. Plus any future construction needs to follow all proper regulations for permits and reviews.

Public comments should have been requested BEFORE any demolition of the East Wing began. That being said, here are my comments on the project as it moves forward:

1. The East Wing should be restored to its original dimensions and architectural design. Any structural or infrastructure updates required to meet current building codes should be included in the reconstruction. Any updates should not proceed without review and consent from a historical preservation organization. The White House is the People's House; presidents are only temporary residents, and they should not be able to unilaterally alter its structure permanently for their own personal desires.

2. If an additional entertainment space is needed, build or renovate another structure in Washington DC. This structure should be designated to be used by any federal agency for its entertainment purposes. The White House would have first priority. This would make the structure much more cost-effective, rather than wasting money on a large ballroom that may be used only a few times a year.

3. All federal buildings should be built and maintained with federal funds. Private funds only introduce a risk of corruption or favoritism into the project.

4. All federally controlled facilities should not be named after any living person. These federal facilities are to include buildings, monuments, theaters, areas or rooms within buildings, museums, and office buildings. Names should be attached to such facilities only after a person's death and after a delay (e.g., 10 years). Only persons with time-tested accomplishments should receive such honors. Congress should approve such naming by a vote of at least 60%, and designate funds for the naming/renaming.

I respectfully submit these comments for your consideration. Thank you.

The exterior dimensions and architectural style should be restored to match the building as a whole. Update wiring and plumbing, and make it ADA accessible where possible. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes.

Also, please, please, please remove the gaudy gold treatments. Not only do they look bad, it sends a message of greed and that money is more important than caring for our people.

Regarding the NEED for a ballroom at all, it seems to me that ALL other presidents were able to entertain prestigious dignitaries without a ballroom in the White House, so I seriously don't think one is needed now. But to be sure, I'd talk with previous presidents and spouses such as the Bidens, Obamas, Bushes and Clinton's to get their input since they actually lived and entertained in The People's House. If they believe it is necessary, then I'd have architects design something suitable within that space, not create a monster that blows up all existing proportions.

I'd also reconsider reinstating the rose garden and other outside spaces.

The White House is the people's house and not a convention center!

It would open the door for anyone anywhere to do as they please without approved designs and proper permits

Historic Preservation of our National Monuments and Parks
The East Wing, The National Cultural (Kennedy) Center, and Et. al.

Dear Committee,

The White House is OUR house, it belongs to US- the people of the United States. We request that, as in the past, historically sensitive changes be subject to rigorous evaluation, approval and public agreement.

Please follow past processes of impact statements, public comment sessions, design review, and approvals in making changes/updates to our historically sensitive National Monuments.

Please restore our Historic buildings- The White House, The East Wing, and The Kennedy Center, including surrounding gardens and grounds- to their original status prior to 2017. Exterior and/or interior dimensions, architectural style, decor, and landscaping should be preserved. E.g. The Rose Garden.

Please make any safety updates such as security, wiring, plumbing, ADA compliance, materials used, and etc. such that the original intent of design is historically preserved.

Thank you,
-Alice Sexton

Please restore the East Wing to the original architecture. Make upgrades to the electrical system and handicap accessible. The size of the east wing should not dwarf the President's residence and should blend in with all of the other buildings at the White House.

The law was broken when the East Wing of the people's house was demolished. No permits were sought, no permission was given. One man made a decision about a national landmark and proceeded to destroy it without authorization. This person should be held liable for the destruction of this property and should have to pay to have it restored to its original state. No one asked for or authorized it be demolished nor did they authorize a ballroom to be built. The rose garden s were also destroyed, and there has been the addition of the numerous gaudy and tasteless golden embellishments that no one asked for. If these things were also at the expense of the American taxpayers they also should be reimbursed. The current administration acts like a spoiled toddler that has no accountability and should be held accountable and given the bill for his actions against the White House.

I was horrified to see the East Wing destroyed! It is a part of our shared history. The building belongs to the people, and any changes made need to be reviewed and approved by using the proper channels and following set guidelines.
The persons responsible for its destruction must be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and made to pay for its rebuilding.

The proposed ballroom (i.e. Modernization Project) is a travesty. The East Wing was torn down without authorization and should be restored and made to capture the original purpose of the historic building. To have a president who lawlessly destroyed part of the White House be rewarded with gold ballroom paid for by billionaires is appalling and smacks of bribery.

The East wing should have never been torn down without proper permits and approvals. It should be restored as best as possible to its former design. To put a huge ballroom there would ruin the look & balance of the White House. The raising of funds to build the ballroom is also problematic. If they really want a ballroom they can build one elsewhere. The White House should be historically protected. I live in a condo built in a historic building and I can't even change a doorknob or window or any external item without approval from our state historical commission!

The White House belongs, at minimum, in spirit to every American. No president owns that property and has permission to destroy it and its history. This president sold a lie of modernization, in order to destroy the history of a building.
Any money donated to this destruction should be re-directed to the restoration of the East Wing, where the only designers involved are white house historians and historical architects.
Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I strongly oppose the renovation plans for the East Wing of the White House as they are currently written. The project is inappropriate and out of scale with the remainder of the historic building. While an updated entertainment/function room may be an appropriate use of the alleged funds raised for this project, it's design and construction should be managed by the appropriate federal historic commissions and not by a private interest beholden to the current administration. This is the American People's House, the renovation of which should enhance the structure not overpower it.

I still cannot believe that the East Wing on the People's House was torn down without any authorization from the appropriate authorities. I cannot stress enough how I do not want my taxes to pay for a new build to aggrandize the current POTUS's residency in what is a temporary house for him. The White House is more than a symbol of our Democracy, it has always stood as a memorial to all of our past Presidents, and their tenures in this edifice. I am old enough to remember when Jackie Kennedy redecorated and refurbished the White House, and then toured us all through to see the rooms on TV. I never thought to see a POTUS so disrespectful, so egotistical, that he would destroy a part of our history simply because he wanted to.
I don't know who will fund a rebuilding of the East Wing, but I believe very strongly that the person who destroyed it, Donald literally makes me ill.

Please consider that this "modernization" is being financed with bribes to the president. We all know what "privately financed" means. In addition, a ballroom larger than the White House itself is not an addition that is in keeping with governorship. Our White House is now considered the equivalent of a French Bordello instead of the Stately home for presidents and their families. Our current president's wife doesn't even live and work there. Oh wait...her husband had her office tore down. Where will future First Ladies conduct official business? Mar-a-largo? Let's rebuild the East Wing, the one tore down without consulting anyone, for our future First Ladies.

I have felt a profound sense of loss to our heritage since the unexpected and illegal razing of the White House East Wing by Donald Trump and his cronies. We need to have the entire wing restored as it looked but with any modern updates needed. The Ballroom project should not be permitted because it is not architecturally compatible with the scale and style of the White House. Trump far overstepped his boundaries when he began this hideous remodel without authority. I hope you will not be lenient with him over this!

Demolition of historical space for unnecessary repurposing is a waste of money and resources. Putting aside the fact that this project was started illegally by the President, the key thing is what we do next.

I respectfully suggest that we first pay close attention to who is guiding this project, even before we concern ourselves with architects and the building process.

President Trump has displayed, for all to see, an appalling lack of taste. Seeing what he has done with the newly gold-clad White House, the published proposal for his ballroom, and his other properties as a real estate developer, it is clear his personal taste was honed running casinos not iconic government buildings. That is a facet of American life for sure but, I would argue, not one suited to representing our proud country to the world. This man concreted over The Rose Garden. He then took jackhammers to the East Wing without permission. Enough is enough.

We need to replace the destroyed wing of the White House for sure, and recreating what was there would probably be a wasted opportunity. So I think a process something like this would be appropriate and positive.

1. Keep Donald Trump out of the proceedings completely. He should be busy enough being President. And, given his continued financial involvement with The Trump Organization, directing this project would be yet another massive conflict of interest.

2. Ask a group of architects to submit design suggestions based on a brief created by people who have a true understanding of what the new building should provide, and not based on one man's outsized ego.

3. Select three possible designs that meet all the requirements. And let people vote on their favorite. This could be a great opportunity to bring the country together at a time when the President's policies are tearing us apart.

This is the process that happened with the World Trade Center in New York after 9/11 and I was proud to cast a vote. Sadly the process broke down and the selected building never materialized - who knows where that final design came from?. Hopefully this time we'll get it right as we are talking about the most iconic building in the country which is not privately owned.

In a nutshell. Keep the President out. Let the people in. Offer them choices. Respect their choice. Rebuild The People's House.

I oppose the razing of the historic East Wing of the White House, that was done without oversight or consent through the appropriate channels. We have a method to do projects of this sort that preserves our country's history, integrity, and is necessary for the financial aspects of such projects as well. Perhaps I'm unaware if it was done before, but it seems highly unethical to accept private donations for a project that is a public building and belongs to all the American people and is just a mere temporary residence for an elected president and their family. Taking private donations opens up an avenue for corruption and attempts to curry favor or access the highest office in the land in exchange for money and should never be done. This entire project is a stain on the history of the United States of America, an insult to our institutions and traditions and should be stopped before even more damage is done. Any further construction should go through the proper channels for approval and funding. Thank you. Stephanie Wells

I am writing as a private citizen with an interest in architecture. The proposed East Wing Modernization Project, aka, the "Trump Ballroom" is much two large. It is also not needed and is actually not so much of a ballroom as a monument to President Trump's ego. He should never have been allowed to tear down what was there already and must not be allowed to build a monument to himself.

I would hope that future East Wing modernization plans respect the existing White House in scale, design, and purpose. Our country was founded on democratic principals so the architecture should be dignified but not outsized and ostentatious to highlight power and privilege. We need structures that reflect a government that believes in liberty and justice for all. Government buildings belong to the people of the United States. The current ballroom plan's size and interior design resembles a French monarchy that no longer exists in that country and should not be replicated in ours.

I'm a simple person who is not very eloquent, but ... here goes.
We can't go backwards to keep the demolition from happening. But as we go forward, I think the new building should take AS CLOSE AS POSSIBLE to the same shape / size as the original.
I DO NOT like the projections I have seen that show the new ballroom the same height as the residence. I would like to see some type of portico that seperates the residence from the new building. If the new ballroom is larger than the original building, I think that would be ok. Just don't slap it right on to the residence.

I vehemently oppose the spending of $400 million on this project, despite it being STATED that it was being funded by private donations (which now seem to have disappeared). Those donations that were listed were from large corporations and were nothing more than a bribe to the administrative branch.

This horrific action was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Health and safety considerations were not examined. It is NOT a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I don't want a huge addition that doesn't fit the symmetric beauty of the White House. I don't want his gaudy faux gold tackiness installed permanently. I don't want anything that could potentially have his name on it. I don't want us spending MILLIONS of dollars when people are hungry, unhoused, and ill.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design and glory. Fill in the hole, rebuild the East Wing, and while you are at it, rebuild Jackie's Rose Garden. The current patio is an abomination.

I am totally against having a 90,000 sq ft ballroom built. I vote to not proceed on this project. Use the donation money to rebuild the East Wing as it was before with possible upgrade to meet any new regulations for safety. Donald Trump did not follow protocal in regard to making major changes. Donald Trump is a guest in the House of the People and should respect its historic value. The Rose Garden area was also destroyed and should be replanted to its former beauty.
P.S. Please let the US citizens know if a there is going to be a similar Comment time frame for the discussion on building that massive looking arch in D.C. just so Trump can put his name on it.

I totally oppose this project. It disrupts our common history and identity as Americans, it is the people's house and the people were not consulted, it was not approved by Congress, it is waste of money, and it is nothing more than a vanity project. London and Paris have guarded their historical identity through their old city architecture, and DC has an oversight commission whose duty it is to do the same thing, and they weren't even consulted. Nothing about our government, our constitution, and our laws was ever about the whim of one person. We, the People, are the stewards of our nation and our history, and regardless of political views, most Americans are not happy with this gross display of opulence and poor taste. Restore our White House, and send the bill to those who were going to finance the atrocity planned in its place. While you are at it, take out tacky restaurant patio and restore the Rose Garden, and strip all the tasteless embellishments out of the historic rooms, return the gaudy bathroom redo to something more historically appropriate, and any other glam vanity redo that is in total opposition to the stately standards of our historical White House.

As a town historian and Landscape Architect I strongly oppose the development of the East Wing into a Baroque ballroom. The architectural style and scale is not in keeping with the original building. While there may be a need for a Great Room to occasionally use for entertainment, It is an excessive attempt and creates visual disharmony with the surroundings.
Many Americans are proud of the Architectural history of the building and bemoan this radical and inappropriate project.

Sincerely.

Thank you for the opportunity to express my VERY STRONG OPPOSITION to this grandiose ballroom project.

This huge behemoth ballroom will not compliment the current White House. This is more a reflection of Trump's very inflated ego and not what the American people wanted or asked for.

Ask yourself, how many times will a ballroom this huge be utilized in any given year?

No matter who "funds" the ballroom, the ongoing expenses (eg. heating/cooling, maintenance, cleaning, security, staffing, glasses, plates, silverware, etc.) will fall on us, as tax payers, once it is built. I see it as an exorbitant WASTE of tax payer dollars!

I urge you to vote NO on the building of this monstrosity.

To add a further comment, I visited the East Wing of the White House a few years ago on my first trip to DC (at age 62) and it was amazing to get a chance to see the historic and beautiful rooms of the East Wing.

I feel very sad that my future grandchildren will never get the opportunity to witness the history that was displayed throughout the East Wing … as it is now a pile of rubble thanks to Trump!

Lastly, I feel any funds Trump plans on getting should be used to rebuild the East Wing to its previous glory/aesthetic.

To call this a “modernization” project is laughable and offensive. It is a totally unnecessary vanity/distraction project for this lame duck occupant of the White House.

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million, or any amount of dollars, on furthering this project. It was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is a complete razing of American history out of ignorance and arrogance. I want this project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. That is how any “donations” (as has been claimed are the source of funding) should be spent. No one is above the law, and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I and many other American Citizens oppose the spending of millions on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, without seeking permission.
The White House is the People's House, not the house of any one set of temporary residents having the honor to reside there.
What is being referred to as a "renovation" is much more so than that. With this type of destruction, demolition and complete rebuilding in format and scale this much is obvious, it should only be allowed to be engaged in or considered after securing the proper permission of the people or those in office responsible for representing the people (Congress), and carried out only according to historic designs and style, permits, and at a much smaller size and scope, to not out scale the White House.
If voted on and approved, it should only be undertaken, after then, with proper planning, transparency, approval, and oversight.
This is not a modernization project but rather a complete destruction of American history. This project should be halted and/or canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design, with a penalization of those who broke the law, No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead is an affront to all American Citizens.
Thank you.

I want to beg the commission to intercede on behalf of the American people to stop the gutting of the White House building, but also of the norms designed to protect our history from the whims and impulses of any single individual or administration. Every significant change to any national landmark should follow a formal review process which allows public comment before the structure is altered in any significant way. The East Wing should be reconstructed and restored to its former condition as quickly as possible and the bill for its restoration should be paid by the personal funds of the person who ordered its destruction. To do anything less is means none of our landmarks is safe from being transformed into grotesque monuments to unbridled ego.

We are and should remain a nation of laws, a nation where no one person is above those laws, and where good people take a stand against unreasonable, irrational and irresponsible misuse of the public trust. We are counting on you. Do not let us down.

The project circumvents Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act by proceeding without a transparent design review. I request that the project be rescinded and replaced with a proposal that adheres to the established federal approval process. Meaningful oversight is required to ensure that public funds are not used to dismantle American history without the rigorous public and congressional scrutiny required by law.

Please do NOT allow the Trump ‘Modernization’ plan for the East Wing to proceed. Allowing the ballroom construction to proceed basically rewards those who ignored the law, who completely disregarded the review process, and who plowed ahead with no authority to do so. Please require a full restoration of the East Wing as it stood when they took a wrecking ball to this beautiful building in 2025. There must be consequences for willfully ignoring the laws of this country. And the only way to send this message is to require complete restoration of the building they demolished. This wasn't modernization but an illegal unpermitted destruction of part of one of the most iconic symbols of the United States of America. It is called "The People's House" for a reason. It should not have been razed without public vetted oversight. It appears that the proposed ballroom displaces the offices of the First Lady among other uses. Where will those be relocated or are they eliminated? Most former First Ladies have played a key role in conveying the values of an administration and as a presence and influence in official affairs of state. They should have important offices where they can easily coordinate their role as First Lady.

The proposed structure architecturally appears to dominate the rest of the White House complex. Architecture sends a message. This would imply huge parties and gilded image trump actual governance. It asswrttts style ocer substance and a facade of elitism.I feel this is not a message that represents this nation and its individual citizens. If, due to the affairs of state and diplomacy require a larger space sue to changing world and civic needs, that space should be in proportion to the existing building or be built in another location.
I urge you as representatives of our nation's Historic buildings to give careful thought and whatever power you retain to dutifully guide the future of the White House so that it can be a credit to its temporary residents and to all who visit as citizens. At the very least it should conform to the highest building code and National security, a factor that the destruction of the East Wing clearly did not take into consideration.

As an archaeologist, I have always had a deep reverence for the legacies our ancestors left us. Even when it is problematic, as is the White House itself; built as a monument to freedom by enslaved black men.

It needs to be protected and restored to what generations of our ancestors meant to be their legacy, not rebuilt as a tacky, gold-studded cheap monument to a bloated wanna-be king with delusions of immortality.

It is obscene that he took it upon himself to tear down the East Wing, and this perfidy must not be permitted to multiply. Please scrap his billionaire ballroom and restore the elegance he destroyed with his ham-fisting dictatorial ways.

These changes to the People's White House are horrible and do not reflect the ideals of the American people. This is more than a building. It is a symbol of the American people all over the world. Such a substantial change should go through review with people that understand the historical importance of this building for now and for future generations. It should not be changed as a capricious folly by a man desperate to add his name to everything around him. Please force these people to rebuild the east wing to what it was before this administration.

Good afternoon,

I do not want to see a monstrosity that destroys everything good about the whitehouse. 90,000 square feet is not a reasonable size for this ballroom. This construction of a new East wing needs to be aligned with the size and looks of the whitehouse. Bigger is not better. Please do not allow those in charge to ruin our iconic whitehouse. The architecture needs to match the whitehouse's architecture. I definitely do not want an ugly gold filled party hall for 1000 people.

I oppose the destruction of the White House East wing and the construction of a ballroom in its place. The President is only a caretaker of the People's House. The East Wing project should be halted and a full review and approval process started for anything put in its place. Furthermore, a personal fine should be levied against Donald J Trump for misappropriation of funds and unapproved destruction of a federal building. This fine should recapture every dollar he has squandered and should include a punitive fine as well.

This entire project has been chaotic since the beginning. The wing should have never been torn down and should be replaced as it was.
Before I could add a small room to my house, I had to have architectural plans in place and approval from local historic authority. Our country does not need a humongous ballroom as a part of the White House complex. It will detract from the historic value and beauty of the existing buildings.
I totally object to billionaires creating and funding an unneeded building on government property! This is the People's House, not just the house of the ridiculously rich people who will receive government favors from the president for donating to his pet project.

To whom it may concern:

In my opinion, the East Wing should never have been destroyed, and my feeling is that it should be restored, perhaps modernized as far as function, but outwardly with the same appearance and facade as it had before the bulldozers arrived. It should match the West Wing, so the classical symmetry is restored.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

I am completely opposed to this $300 million dollar East Wing project. I support prosecuting those who started this project without the proper permits, bids, or authorization to destroy a national landmark. The White House belongs to the people of this country, and it is not the personal renovation project of the present President. His destruction of the East Wing was a criminal act. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt to duplicate what was originally there. It is an important historical monument. Stop the so called “modernization” and construction of a ballroom, and rebuild it to its former glory.

This so-called "East Wing Modernization Project" is a farcical folly, a disgusting travesty driven solely by the ego of the president. It did not undergo proper review; they simply began demolishing this wing of the people's house. Let's call it what it is: a symbolic action to inflict moral injury on our democracy by perverting the norms of said democracy. These symbolic actions of dominance also include paving over the Rose Garden at the White House, and putting Tramp's name on the Kennedy Center, for starters. There must be consequences for this ongoing destruction of our country. Please prevent this from proceeding and implement punitive fines for this outrage. Tramp is NOT a King, he is subject to the rules, customs, laws, and norms of the presidency.

I am against the new White House ballroom because it is historically, aesthetically, and financially impractical, essentially overpowering the existing Executive Mansion. Construction needs to be approved by a process, not on a whim by a president ... and its financing should be controlled by Congress and also be transparent. The donor system of funding seems more like bribes than anything else and as we've seen it also means there is no cap on costs since the price of the ballroom has doubled in the last few months.
It should not be built, period. It is a waste of taxpayer monies.

I oppose spending on this project. The East Wing was destroyed without authority. Those who authorized the destruction should be required to pay for reconstruction and should not be involved in the design. If this takes years, so be it. Let them look at their handywork as they pass every day.

Rebuilding the East Wing should be consistent with the architecture of the rest of the White House rather than towering over the original, central building. We cannot trust the current administration to accomplish this.

The White House belongs to We the People. Under historical preservation codes, it must not be demolished or altered without prior clearance and permitting. Any American homeowner knows you never build without a permit. The actions of the President are unlawful and he should be made to personally pay for the damage he has done, as well as fund its restoration.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment. As I understand the White House, or the Peoples House is used as the presidential residence during their term, although not directly controlled by any current resident . In a sense, the current resident is a tenant, subject to tenant behavior but without a lease that outlines the expected behavior while in residence. Destruction of property is different than renovation of property but should still be addressed with the "landlord". It seems that the East Wing of the building was demolished without consulting properly with the landlord. Since it is known as the Peoples House, the people to whom it refers should have authorized any major changes. I think it should be restored to its previous state, just as it was found by the current tenant.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

My son and I saw the destruction of the East Wing a week after it happened, and our frustration at history having been so poorly handled in the name of glorifying some "new golden age" is undemocratic.

I would love to see Jacqueline Kennedy's Rose Garden brought back, the East Wing rebuilt exactly as it was, and the Kennedy Center left untouched.

The military bases whose traitorous Confederate names were replaced with true patriots - and then renamed back to their original secessionist names? Bring back the non-Confederate names.

Martin Luther King's federal holiday should be celebrated.

There is no reason for a Trump Arch, no need to add his name to ANYTHING at this point until and unless he shows that he can actually, honorably, democratically follow the process of other first world nations in the regard to federal buildings and monuments.

Thank you.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans while allowing the current design to proceed would be an affront to good taste, the principles of historic preservation, and millions of people who live in DC or visit it.

I find the destruction of the East Wing to be heartbreaking! The plans for a ballroom that will be larger than the Whitehouse are nothing more than an ego trip for the president. Aesthetically it will look absurd. We've managed 250 years without a ballroom and we don't need one now. The East Wing should be restored and the plans to build a 400 million monstrosity should be abandoned.

Where are all the items that were inside this wing before it was destroyed...who knows where they are. There is a process in place to make necessary changes. This project paid no respect to even try to follow the process.

This project was illegally begun without authorization, permits, finalized drawings, or any design review and should be immediately halted, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The money to be spent is clearly from bribes, and comes at a huge cost to our nations wellbeing and security. This project cannot be allowed to go ahead without holding Donald Trump, and all the many others, who broke the law accountable, as they willingly and maliciously destroyed our nation's history.

I am inalterably opposed to any and all past, present, and future projects which alter the design of any building, park, museum (including alteration of placards describing exhibits) in the Federal City or in any Federal Agency building, place-names, by President Donald Trump. First and foremost is to rebuild the East Wing of the White House complex. Do not build a "Gilded Age" Ballroom and extravagant restaurant complex. Do not build an Arc de Trump. Any building built by Pres. Trump on Federal Property should be immediately demolished the day following his departure from office and the area restored to the original plan prior to the change. Any Trump name affixed to any Federal building or land should be eradicated the day after he leaves office.

The East Wing of the White House should be rebuild as it was before it was torn down. It should include the historical elements that were present before it was torn down or historically accurate reproductions. It does not need to be turned into a monstrosity or a facsimile of Mir a Lago. The rebuilding must be paid for with the private donations given for this purpose or from the president's personal funds. It is not the responsibility of the American people or our tax dollars to pay for the uncalled for destruction and rebuilding.

Dear Members of the Commission,
I am a historian of art and architecture, and am an American citizen. These facts inform my opinion, which is that the "East Wing Modernization" project must be stopped.
As an American citizen I believe in the rule of law. This project has proceeded, so far, by ignoring all the legally established procedures that safeguard our shared heritage. To allow it to continue is to REWARD LAWLESSNESS, which is not the American thing to do.
As an expert on architecture, who has lectured on Palladio and neo-Palladianism (the movement to which the White House designs from Hoban to McKim, Mead & White have adhered), I find the design appalling. It is neo-Palladian in neither its massing nor its details. It evokes the gaudy throne rooms of Versailles, executed in "Tyrant's Baroque" instead of hoving to the elegant austere classicism of our own American Federal period.

I could go on, and on, and on, and on.... but take my word for it the project is an aesthetic horror. Please do what you can to stop this abomination.
Yours, James Harper

I also think it should be rebuilt to its former beauty exactly as it stood in part because it was razed without any consideration to the procedures required to institute changes to historic government buildings. A normal citizen would be criminally prosecuted; let's at least slap the hand of the person who doesn't think laws pertain to him and has NO concern for the thoughts of his constituency other than to think the US people are dumb enough to be manipulated. The White House, including the East Wing, belongs to the American people, and was designated a historic property. It is not the property of any President and the untimely destruction of the East Wing without any proper authorization must be addressed according to the laws, rules, and regulations pertaining to such historic governmental buildings. Any rebuilding on this land needs to be subject to applicable law and congressional approval.

The destruction of the East Wing without proper oversight was/is criminal and should be prosecuted. Reconstruction should only continue within established design and functional needs assessment guidelines. This is not Trump's house. Surely there must be a wide range of stakeholders who have opinions and ideas beyond one person. Finally, all funding of new construction, though painful to taxpayers, should be through public funding- not private which leads to corruption. The value of the now-destroyed facility should be recouped from Mr. Trump. He's reaped plenty of $$ from the presidency.

I oppose this project and spending any amount of money, including the projected $300 million, on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. This is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The White House belongs to the people of the United States, not one person. The President is only a temporary tenant and cannot make wholesale and large changes to this historic landmark without going through proper channels. This is not what we, the people want for this Historic Building. It needs to be restored to its former design using the President's personal funds, not taxpayer money. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style, update wiring etc. and make interior ADA accessible where possible. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes.
A new ballroom is NOT needed as the east room has been the gathering room for large dinners, parties and galas for the White House since being constructed over 200 years ago.
Do not allow special interest funds to influence or pay for the rebuilding. The person who demolished the East Wing illegally (DJT) should be responsible to pay for the reconstruction out of his Personal funds-No tax paying money, no big corporation donations, or corrupt money earned in his position as president should be allowed to pay for his deliberate desecration of the PEOPLE's White House.
Thank you

I object to the ugly and destructive project. It is costly, unapproved by any reasonable oversight body, and an affront to anyone who cares about history or beauty. The cost is ridiculous, considering the vast needs of Americans and of our infrastructure.

The White House belongs to the American people NOT a single (lame duck) President. This project perfectly represents how the current administration ignores the law, tradition, and the will of the people.

I oppose spending $300 million on a project that is unnecessary and illegal. It doesn't have the right authorization, permits, or design review. I am remembering the American Embassy built in Moscow a number of years ago, that was riddled with listening devices. How do we know that won't happen here? No one is watching. I want the East Wing back the way it was. This is a self-aggrandizing boondoggle to pamper the ego of someone who has no respect for tradition or the law.

I strongly oppose spending $300M on a vanity project to replace the people's house. The project proceeded without proper input, studies, or permissions by governing bodies and stakeholders, and it is a gaudy power grab being pushed through by individual who believe the laws and agreements in place do not apply to them. No one is above the law when it comes to historical places that are meaningful and significant for the people of this country. The project should be stopped immediately and the proper entities consulted about how to mitigate and repair the damage already done illegally. The primary actors of this defacement of a historical public building should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House without approval of the Historic planning commission is wrong! Once the current leader allowed to total razing of the annex, none of us can call it "modernization" as there is no building to modernize and no authorized planning commission approved this destruction. After months of DOGE eliminating programs to help those in need in the name of fiscal responsibility, I do not approve of any "charity" contributing to the destruction of our historical working monuments to our US foundation. That $300 million dollars could better be used to help fund programs that were eliminated leading to people being harmed. We all must follow the proper governmental procedures in any change and this administration has to do the same.

Restore the east wing to exact size of prior footprint. This is just a way for billionaires to sway this president to do their bidding.
The American public are struggling day to day, while you proceed to build a ballroom for less than 1000 people! World leaders, staff, MAGA's and don't forget your billionaires! Unless each American will be invited to dance! Maybe invite 1000 per day??? The president is worse than Marie Antoinette. We can't afford cake!

The original demolition of the east wing of the White House was done without proper authorization. This is the people's house. We will trust this committee to withhold and maintain architectural integrity of our national historical treasures.
The sneaky and complete demolition of the east wing by Donald Trump is an affront to the historical significance of the White House and a slap in the face to the American people. We will trust this committee to make certain that the integrity of the White House will be maintained to serve the people, not just the president. Because of the other many changes made to the interior of the White House, as well as the removal of many portraits that displayed the historical significance of the people's house, we do not trust this administration to do the right thing. We demand that this committee restore the White House with historical significance to its original edifice. We the people do not demand a ballroom. We the people do not want a ballroom. The grandeur of the original White House must be restored.
This administration does not believe in the rule of law. This administration does not follow the rule of law. We know that your review of this unauthorized project will serve the entire nation. I thank you for a timely and favorable decision.

Dear Commissioners,

I write to you as a preservation professional. I have been practicing historical and cultural resources management in California for 20 years. While I am a strong supporter of preserving historic resources, GOOD PROCESS has always been my highest priority in evaluating sites and the projects affecting them. Good process ensures proper treatment, if not always preferred treatment. So, I was utterly appalled at the lack of process that has been followed thus far in regard to the demolition of the East Wing of the White House. The narrative, so far, is the most egregious example of a dishonest real estate developer demolishing a historic resource for their own gain that I have ever heard of.

We have now irretrievably lost historic fabric that was significant at a national level. Although it is far too late in the game to remedy that betrayal, I begrudgingly appreciate that the public is now being allowed to provide input on the proposed project going forward. There are other resources still in jeopardy, such as the White House itself.

Firstly, this cannot reasonably be termed a "modernization" project, as if an old building were being rehabilitated for modern use. The project constitutes demolition and new construction, full stop. The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties dictates that this is not an appropriate treatment of a historic resource and is, by nature, unable to mitigated. Despite this, I have witnessed examples where the reconstruction of a historic resource has been required, verbatim, in some attempt to regain what was lost. I hardly believe the Executive Office's claims that the East Wing was fully and appropriately documented before demolition, but since they have made that claim, they should be required to rebuild, in exactitude, at the project sponsor's (or their private donor's) expense, not that of the taxpayers.

The Secretary of the Interior's Standards advise that new additions must be subservient to adjacent historic resources. If the East Wing is not to be rebuilt exactly as it was, the building constructed in its place must not exceed the size of the White House by more than seven times its size, as proposed. The new building must be drastically reduced in size and scale. The entire site and all its components - including the White House, West Wing, and grounds - must be considered and a more appropriately sized building proposed. If that means a ballroom use does not pencil out, so be it. In the same vein, the north facade should not be set at the same plane as that of the White House, as viewed from Pennsylvania Avenue. It should be set back, subservient in presentation and importance, to the People's House.

The new building should also not compete with the White House and West Wing in its stylistic or ornamental aesthetic. The Secretary of the Interior's Standards advises new additions be "compatible but differentiated" from nearby historic fabric and not commit "false historicism." The proposed Classical Revival styling of the new East Wing should be pared down to its most minimal. Any overt ornamentation, Classical or otherwise, let alone Trump's preferred Baroque aesthetic, should be strictly disallowed.

Lastly, it is worth considering the implementation of other punitive mitigation measures; preservation of remaining artifacts, full Historic American Building Survey (HABS) documentation filed at the Library of Congress, interpretive and educational material documenting what was lost and why. These can be valuable lessons for the future. Ensure the hiring of honest and unbiased professionals to do this work.

Unfortunately, a procedural misstep of huge magnitude has been made. The least your Commission can do is ensure that good process occurs going forward, established standards are met, and that historic sites important to the American people are not allowed to be flippantly desecrated by one megalomaniac. Please do your jobs and ensure that the new East Wing will not be an assault on our nation's pride for centuries to come.

Thank you for your consideration,

Caitlin Hibma

It is a complete destruction of American history without any proper, legal process. I have not had a chance to visit the White House and am extremely saddened that I will no longer have the chance to see it in its historical authenticity. Hi,

The planned ballroom is a monstrosity of taudry opulence suited for a 17th century duchy or the Las Vegas strip.
It does not represent the common citizen or working person. The president is a servant of the people, not a king.
I believe the east wing, removed without due process should be restored to it's original composition.
I am also opposed to its funding by wealthy donors hoping to garnish favors. Everything associated with the white house belongs to the people, not a king or a wealthy cabal.
Do not approve this abomination of a ballroom.
Thank you.

The current tenant had no right to flagrantly disregard the privilege award him by virtual of holding this position. It does not give him cart blanch to remove, erase and destroy the historic property that was entrusted to him.

All forward progress must be stopped until it has been completely & thoroughly vetted by nonpartisan historians & architects. This has nothing to do with supposed donated millions by persons seeking favorable treatment by the Executive office.

Do not allow this building to become a stain on the White House grounds.

There are several reasons why the "East Wing Modernization Project" -- a stinking euphemism if I ever heard one -- should be halted immediately, but I'll just focus on one.

The notion that the White House even needs a ballroom the size that the current president wants is ludicrous. It's a vanity project, not an improvement, not a modernization. Instead of projecting the dignity of the office of the president, it merely projects hubris and excess.

I don't want to see it built. And if it is built, I want to see it torn down later and replaced with a true modernization of the East Wing as it was before it was demolished. That's the only scenario that will begin to restore dignity to the White House.

Since the East Wing has already been destroyed, let us please consider rebuilding it as a representation of American culture--modern or otherwise: the arts, literature, architecture, history, and music. It has been a cultural institution and it should represent our country in its most meaningful and powerful way of where we all came from, who we are now, and who we can be. Needless to say, but I'll say it, it must be tasteful as much as represents all of us...and I meant all of us. We must rise to 'the better angels of our nature', as Abraham Lincoln said. This is our chance.

Are you kidding me with a new ballroom for the king? Are you going to let him get away with destroying our white house for a vanity project? Good lord, get some balls and tell this dictator NO. Ps...didn't Hitler build a ballroom during his reign of terror? History does repeat itself, doesn't it?

It is clear from the presentation materials submitted that the East Wing project is out of scale to the White House. It needs to be sent back to the architects to decrease the height and the massing to the south.

It is not honoring the scale of the White House. I believe the President's concerns can be addressed in a way that preserves the scale and setting of the White House and creates the office and entertaining spaces he is trying to achieve.

Please go back to the drawing board and provide a building in scalethat allows the White House to maintain it's dignity.

Thank you.

Dear NCPC,

I wish to go on record as opposing the spending of $300 million or any other amount on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its EXACT former design, THE COST OF WHICH SHOULD BE BORNE BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, AND NOT ASSIGNED TO U.S. CITIZENS IN THE FORM OF TAXES OR VIA ANY OTHER AVENUE.

No one is above the law, and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Regards,

Linda Brost

Arbitrary destruction of part of the nation's historic White House is a tragedy. Any major modifications must have oversight by preservation and architectural experts. It does not matter if outside billionaires pay for it, the White House belongs to the people of the United States. Please stop further work until plans can be reviewed and approved by the appropriate agencies. No US President owns the White House. It is not his personal property. Stop the out of control destruction!

No blank checks for destroying first, asking questions later.

I oppose any plans to turn national treasures into vanity projects that our president can use to pretend to play architect, builder, and statesman on TV. This project reveals him to be a lawless destroyer. He cares nothing for due process, the advice of experts, the spirit of the law, or the wishes of the public. To add insult to injury, he acts like he has nothing better to do on the world stage than to solve problems of his own making.

I call for a moratorium on any new destruction or building of the White House during the Trump presidency. At most, let him restore the East Wing wall by wall as it came to him, and pass it down to another president who will submit to the processes that safeguard the people's buildings and monuments for future generations.

This proposed ballroom dwarfs the White House, and a room that big is not needed. He demolished the East Wing without even knowing whether or not the new addition would be approved. Trump is slowly cheapening the White House with impunity. Clearly, something will have to be done as the East Wing is now gone, but hopefully it will be something that actually fits the scale of the White House.

I am writing to register emphatic opposition to the proposed 90,000-square-foot White House ballroom. This project is fundamentally misguided, unnecessary, and risks doing lasting harm both to the historic integrity of the White House and to the public trust.

To begin with, the sheer scale of this structure is indefensible. A 90,000-square-foot ballroom would dwarf and overshadow the White House itself—an architectural and historic symbol that represents the presidency, our democratic institutions, and our national identity. The White House is meant to stand as the centerpiece of the grounds, not be visually and physically overwhelmed by a facility that more closely resembles a convention center than a space for official events. Constructing a building of this magnitude would permanently disrupt the historic balance of the site and undermine the dignity of one of the most iconic buildings in the world.

Equally troubling is the absence of any legitimate justification for a ballroom of this immense size. No official function—ceremonial, diplomatic, or otherwise—requires a space remotely approaching 90,000 square feet. Without a clear, credible rationale, the project appears to be an exercise in excess, driven by ambition rather than necessity. Public resources must be used responsibly, and this proposal fails that basic test.

Perhaps most concerning is the environment such a project creates for financial misconduct. A construction initiative of this size, particularly one without an obvious purpose, is ripe for waste, inflated contracting, and even corruption. When taxpayers are asked to fund a project of questionable need and extraordinary scale, skepticism is not only justified—it is required. The lack of transparency and clear purpose raises serious red flags about how funds might be allocated, who stands to benefit, and whether proper oversight can even be ensured.

For the preservation of the White House, for the integrity of our public institutions, and for the protection of taxpayer dollars, this project should not proceed. I strongly urge you to halt or reject the proposal for the 90,000-square-foot ballroom and demand higher standards of justification, accountability, and respect for our national heritage.

I oppose Donald Trump's White House Ballroom. It is way out of scale and will dwarf the White House itself. And although President Trump claims it will be paid for by private donations, the maintenance and support will be also be extremely costly, and is not currently figured into the White House budget. I believe the wings should be rebuilt as it was, and another location should be identified for a appropriately sized Federal Ballroom.

As a 50 year resident of the Washington, DC area, I have long been an admirer of the White House and have taken innumerable out-of-town visitors to see it. Over those years, it has become increasingly difficult to approach the White House, but we still walk through Lafayette Park to see it as best we can. The simple and graceful lines of the building have always telegraphed the modesty of our Presidency - no grand palaces for kings in our democracy. Of course, it was devastating to see the East Wing torn down without debate or consideration. However, I understand the need for an indoor ballroom. However, the current plans are not in any way in keeping with the rest of the building. There is no way that the East Wing (soon to be ballroom) should overwhelm the main White House. It, too, should be modest in size and flank the main building in a similar way to the West Wing.
Please consider reducing the size of this addition to be in keeping with the original design and intent of the building.

The East Wing was In every village, town and city there are procedures when a building that has even the slightest historical significance cannot be removed or replaced without substantial reviews.

I propose that this "plan" be halted, and that a review committee be convened of people who worked in this buidling as well as architectural experts who specialize in historical buildings to design a new East Wing that honors the old East Wing. This “modernization” is a monstrosity and represents the transactional nature of our current administration. The obscene $300 million price tag is being paid in the form of bribes to the current occupant of the White House. The White House is a national monument and belongs to the American people. This project had no oversight from appropriate authorities, no input from its owners (the people), and no approval from Congress. As time goes by the project becomes evermore bloated and unsightly. In short, it’s a travesty that needs to be halted immediately. The previous structure needs to be restored, in proper proportion, and the process completely reconsidered.

Any addition to the White House should consider the scale of the original building. The proposed ballroom's size does not take into consideration the size of the original and historic main portico of the White House. Additionally any additions or renovations should consider that this is the "people's house" and not a palace. The design should be classic and somewhat austere and not garish, grand or covered in gold leaf. The use of the space should accommodate offices for the First Lady and her staff as well. Costs should be kept to a minimum and any gifts to help pay for the new building should be tracked in accordance with existing Federal Regulations.

The White House, like the Capitol, is a reservoir of history. Some change is necessary to maintain its structural integrity. Some change is necessary to allow the work of the people to be undertaken safely and efficiently. However, some change can be driven by megalomania, and would needlessly destroy our connection to our past. The East Wing Modernization Project falls into that latter category. As currently contemplated, it would be grossly out of scale not only with the neighboring Treasury, but with the White House itself. It would distort views from the surrounding parks that have welcomed visitors for decades.

The Roman empire has fallen; in this project, there is an apparent compulsion to follow in its architectural footsteps.

While expanded event space may be needed, additions must respect the historic scale and design of the White House. At 90,000 square feet, the proposed ballroom would exceed the size of the 55,000-square-foot Executive Residence. Additions to historic properties should be compatible in scale and subordinate to the original structure. As Carol Quillen has said, the American people deserve "an opportunity to provide comment and shape the project." I am opposed to the current design, yet another grandiose, ego-stoking

I adamantly oppose this "modernization of the East Wing." I am appalled that Trump was able to destroy this historic part of the White House without any consequences. I can't believe that he was able to, on a whim, ruin this beloved part of our history. Do not allow this to go any further! Restore the East Wing. Trump should have to pay for the restoration.
Put an end to his egocentric assault on our history. This is the People's House paid for by our taxes.

I strongly oppose the proposed architectural plans for White House ballroom. The design is grossly oversized and inconsistent in scale with the historic building itself, and will overpower it. It is as though dancing and fundraising outweigh the larger purposes of the White House itself. The tearing down of the former East Wing completely ignored respect for history and required legal reviews by architectural and historical review boards. I am a furniture restorer/conservator who worked in the White House from 1989-1998, so am especially aware of the historical and cultural significance of the building and collections. The process used to tear down the existing East Wing and design a new ballroom has been insulting and a travesty. It should be entirely redesigned to a much smaller scale after proper architectural and historical review.

The White House is dear to me. Having grown up not far from "The People's House," having attended classes only blocks away, and having worked on Pennsylvania Avenue, I had innumerable chances to walk by and admire its beauty, it's balance and its symbolism. So it is with anger and a heavy heart, that I saw the Rose Garden removed and the East Wing demolished, only to be replaced by gaudy gold, cement patios and garish umbrellas. The portraits of the first ladies have been removed from the gracious entryway, and history is being perverted.

If restoration is necessary, let it be just that and not a vanity project! Insist that all permits be filed, all contracting protocols be followed, and all contracts are honored!
Let it be overseen by professionals at NCPC who value its history and want the legacies of people like Dolly Madison, Eleanor Roosevelt, Jacqueline Kennedy, Nancy Reagan, Lady Bird Johnson, Michelle Obama and Jill Biden to continue.

Fix the infrastructure, paint the walls, replace the windows, but do not allow a gigantic ballroom and bunker replace and overshadow the balance and simple, classic, symbolic beauty of our White House!

The White House has no need for a bigger ballroom! Let the billionaires who want to party, rent space in Washington, DC venues or hotels, thereby helping the local economy.
Do not allow oligarchs to fund our public buildings or use them to curry political favor. Do not enable the President to squander tax dollars on giant parties meant to impress other authoritarian leaders and billionaire cronies!

Do not allow the White House to spend millions to construct a bunker to protect the president, not from potential enemies, but from "we the people."

Let the wannabe king, gather his golden trophies and brick a brac and return them to his ill begotten mansion in Florida, the sooner the better!
Respectfully submitted,
Jeanne Hickey

My family and I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. It was initiated without the proper authorization by Congress, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. My son's school is scheduled to travel to DC in the summer of '27 and was to tour the White House. They will now not get this chance, as the portion of the campus where tours happened is now an open pit on the grounds.

This project, as proposed needs to be cancelled. The East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design, with some REASONABLE modernizations, consistent with the purposes it served for three quarters of a century. The stated purposes of the remodel are inconsistent with ANY stated need for more than 40 prior administrations and the only person who has ever cared about it will have left office before it can be complete, making it a completely pointless undertaking, all legality, morals, and ethics aside (and plan is rife with problems on all of those fronts, and if we had a legislative branch that was adhering to their oaths as related to the domestic emoluments and general lawlessness, this would be pursued by more than this commission.)

No one is above the law and to allow this project to go ahead without consquences for those who broke multiple laws is be an affront to all Americans.

The destruction of this portion of “the people’s house,” a national monument, came suddenly without prior warning, without prior approval, without prior renderings, without proper funding. The few sketches available for viewing showed an outsized structure towering the original mansion, inappropriate in both scale and design; the proposed ballroom would ultimately compromise the architectural integrity of this historical treasure. I urge an immediate halt to any further work on this ill-conceived project and, most hopefully, a reconstruction of what was so carelessly lost. Stop treating the White House as if it were yours alone, Mr. Trump. It belongs to the US citizens. If you wondered if we all wanted a multi-million-dollar banquet hall - you should have asked us all first instead of taking it upon yourself to start demolishing a historical building for your own vision.
I think you should use your personal funds to repair the damage you have done to the East Wing of the White House and bring back as much of the original structure as possible. I cannot imagine that there are funds in the annual US budget that support a frivolous project such as this nor do I see a need for a banquet hall attached to the White house. I see other and more productive ways to spend taxpayers' money like supporting our teachers, preserving national lands, and seeking a way to offer universal health care. Sincerely, Susan Crowley

The White House ballroom project should be stopped and the East Wing rebuilt. The destruction of the historic East Wing was done with a disregard for the proper authorization process and design review. This is simply a vanity project initiated by the current president of the United States, and this precedent cannot be allowed. No one --- No one -- should be allowed to ignore the law or long-established protocols for changes to historic structures, and certainly not a structure as symbolic and as embedded in the identity of the United States as the White House. The authority of the Committee for the Preservation of the White House, the National Park Service, the National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC), the Commission of Fine Arts (CFA), and the White House Historical Association must be upheld. The proposed ballroom is unnecessary, grossly out of proportion to the main White House structure, and is a misuse of funds. This is NOT an East Wing "modernization" project. The tearing down and replacing of the East Wing without congressional approval is an atrocity. No one should be able to tear down an entire wing of the White House to replace it with a vanity project that will ruin the integrity of the whole White House due to its size and general tackiness. The east wing was a historic part of our country and it already had a ball room anyway. This project should be terminated immediately since it is the vanity project of a narcissistic toddler who continues to embarrass our country with everything he says and does.

I oppose the modernization of the wing into bloated tacky ballroom of Trump's design. The wing was illegally destroyed and should be restored to previous historic appearance that fits with the White House. Further change of our country's historical building should not be at the whim of any president, it does not belong to him.

I strongly oppose the destruction of the east wing of the White House and current plan to build a ballroom. This was done illegally by not following any rules for the process or any attempt to follow rules set forth to protect and preserve our historical buildings, but to appease one person's ego. It is illegal, unAmerican and a travesty for our country and the people who hold it dear. If a ball room must be build it should be within the guidelines of the current historical Commission, true to the design and intent of the White House and made MUCH SMALLER! The destruction has been done. At least build a respectable and smaller building that doesn't overshadow the greatness of our beloved White House. This administration should be prosecuted for demolishing the east Wing of the White House and demanded to repay the government for the damage done. And NOT ONE DIME of the people's money should be spent rebuilding whatever is ultimately built! The White House is the People's House! This current Administration is destroying all we hold dear.

Thank you for considering my comments.

I oppose authorizing a gaudy renovation that is likely to clash with the character and dignity of the White House. This is a vanity project for a president who cannot resist putting his name on everything, whether it is deserved or not. (See Trump Tower, Trump-Kennedy Center, and the arm-twisting to rename Dulles Airport.) The proposed private donations give the appearance of being a bribe to earn favors from the president. The failure to follow any of the usual protocols and policy related to the demolition (such as asbestos remediation) add to the appearance of impropriety. This seems to an attempt to create a "fait accompli", where the commission would be forced to approve the ballroom because the East Wing was already gone.

Additionally, the loss of the offices for the First Lady and her staff, as well as the destroyed public rooms represent the loss of workspaces that was used on a regular basis. A new super-sized ballroom that will be used for an occasional large gathering does nothing to address the need for that working space, and thus seem like a poor use of the limited building space (i.e. land) that is available to the White House.

The private donations need to be deposited into a bank account controlled by a neutral party and used for the purpose of rebuilding the East Wing and restoring the White House to its previous beautiful silhouette.

I strongly oppose authorization of the proposed ballroom addition.

The East Wing is part of America’s heritage, and as such, it should be treated with the highest standards of rebuilding and restoration. The correct course of action is to rebuild the East Wing as close as possible to its prior existence using American craftsmanship, and to preserve its history for future generations. I do not believe any major change in the future use of the property is warranted or desired by the American people. We have a duty to restore this property and to treat it with respect and hand it down to future generations intact. Anything less than a total restoration that is true to the prior building would be an inadequate response to the unprecedented destruction that was wrought on our nation's inheritance. This is the people's building, and it should remain so, as intended.

I oppose spending taxpayer dollars on ballroom of any size or description on the site of the former White House East Wing. The East Wing was demolished without the proper process or permits, and with no consideration to its history. It should be rebuilt in the old design (to modern code), not replaced by a monstrous party venue funded in part through corporate bribery. The White House is the TEMPORARY home of Presidents, but permanently The People's House. Any "modernization," a misnomer in this case, should proceed with care for the building's history, which has clearly been disregarded. I hope that the NCPC has not been compromised to the same degree as many other departments of our government have been, and that it will lend its efforts to resisting cultural vandalism of the kind we have witnessed in the destruction of the East Wing.

To the National Capital Planning Commission

I found the demolition of the old wing extremely offensive, illegal, and disgraceful.
I am particularly incensed by the idea that rich individuals have vested themselves in this project with donations, which are blatantly intended to buy political influence. The White House is a historic building, not the possession of one person nor President, it belongs to this nation.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. No one person nor President is above the law. The White House is a historic government property, owned by the American people, not by any person, not by a political party, not by the rich, not by corporations. Return it to it's proper condition.

The East Wing should only be reconstructed to the dimensions of the original demolished structure, not larger. The larger addition that has been proposed is way out of proportion to the White House itself and should not proceed. The White House is one of the most important cultural landmarks for the United States. An adjacent structure that overwhelms the original White House will do nothing but diminish the White House's historic and cultural legacy.

It broke my heart to see the destruction of this historic wing. I have been to the White House twice - when Johnson was president and again when Bush was in office. I shook Hubert Humphries' hand and met Bobby Kennedy in this White House. I saw the room where Eleanor Roosevelt worked. I felt like this was a part of me. To rip it apart hurt as much as the rioters invading Congress. This is my country, my memories and the People's House for me every bit as much as the current inhabitants. They will leave; the house is where history has been made, and it should never be about the person who is there today. We do not need a ballroom. We need work places where history is revered. No hideous gold, no giant empty royal room for someone who wants to be a king. Please restore the East Wing. Honor our past so that hopefully we have a future worth honoring.

The White House, the People's House, does not need a ballroom. It is neither a hotel nor a convention center; DC has plenty of those. There is public space available nearby (I believe it's the Commerce Building) and the central space at the National Building Museum is huge. Union Station has a lovely and large space.
The White House, the People's House, is not a Palace. It was deliberately designed and built with modest dimensions and restrained aesthetics. Visitors to DC are often surprised at how small it is. The Georgian style is intentionally symmetrical.
The occupant of The White House is not a King; he works for us and lives there as our temporary guest. He should not be able to rebuild it to his own tastes, no matter who is paying for it. The fact that the current president demolished the East Wing without following the established legal process is an outrage that should be investigated.

A new East Wing should be constructed to replace the East Wing that was demolished. It should be similar in size, shape, and placement to the West Wing, to maintain the symmetry of the entire structure. If it is determined that the East Wing should house a ballroom, so be it--but it should be made to fit into the original footprint and design.
Thank you.

What this administration has done to the White House is horrific. The idea of building a grotesquely huge ballroom paid for by billionaire business owners is obscene. There was never a design review or permitting process to remove the East Wing, and it should NEVER have been destroyed. The funds committed to build the "ballroom" should be used to rebuild the East Wing as it was, and Trump should personally be liable for any additional expense. The White House is the house of the people of the United States of America, not the house of one deranged, faux-gold-plated narcissist. Return the White House to the people, as it was.
Thank you.

The abrupt destruction of the East Wing shouldn't justify the speed of its approval or reconstruction. We can't accept a process that bypasses rules or undermines respect for the deliberate process that aligns with the prestige and historical context of the building. Please re-establish order and elevate the integrity and trust that's worthy of what the American people expect.

The East Wing should be smaller than the White House.

Our laws were ignored and our history razed in an arbitrary destruction of the East Wing. The White House belongs to the people..This Nero-like ballroom must be cancelled and the White House restored
All of the money collected,if indeed there was money collected, must be publicly documented,and returned to the donors,especially those with a conflict of interest, and foreign governments.
The President, from his personal funds, not OURS, or those of his patrons, should pay restoration costs, and apologise.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comments from the public. After reviewing the project plans, I believe that the scale of the proposed ballroom is incompatible with the objective to preserve the architectural and spatial importance of the White House. The ballroom adversely affects the public's line of sight of the White House proper from several different angles and is of a scale that overwhelms the White House. It almost appears that the White House is an appendage of the ballroom as opposed to the reverse. The project description indicates the ballroom is being built to host one thousand people. I am not sure where this requirement came from, but I doubt that most White House official functions would need to include a thousand guests. Therefore, I recommend that the proposed structure be scaled down significantly.

As an aside, I also am concerned that the East Wing is not being modernized, but rather has been razed without any opportunity for public input or appropriate architectural review. I trust steps will be taken by the Commission, to include reviews prior to any demolition or construction activities, to prevent any recurrence of this situation.

Thank you again for the opportunity to provide comments.

Also, since its cost is exorbitant while so many other government functions, including the debt, are not being fiscally attended to, stop it until a responsible and reasonable plan can be created. “We the people” need some input into changing our house.

Members of the National Capital Planning Commission:

I submit this testimony to express opposition to the proposed construction of a 90,000-square-foot ballroom at the site of the former East Wing of the White House complex.

The White House grounds represent one of the most historically significant and symbolically important civic landscapes in the United States. Any new construction within this setting must respect the architectural scale, historic character, and functional purpose of the Executive Mansion and its surrounding structures.

The proposed ballroom, by its reported size and scope, appears disproportionate to the established scale and architectural rhythm of the White House complex. Introducing a facility of this magnitude risks altering the visual balance, historic cohesion, and civic character that have defined the site for generations.

I respectfully urge the Commission to ensure that any replacement structure:

Is scaled appropriately to the existing White House complex;
Preserves architectural cohesion and historic character;
Prioritizes functional necessity and operational needs;
Undergoes thorough preservation and planning review;
Reflects the stewardship responsibilities owed to a site of national heritage.

Equally concerning are reports and ongoing legal challenges alleging that required planning, preservation, and review processes may not have been fully observed. Compliance with applicable laws and established review procedures is essential to maintaining public trust and protecting nationally significant historic resources. If statutory requirements were bypassed or procedural safeguards ignored, those matters warrant thorough investigation and appropriate accountability consistent with the rule of law.

Projects affecting nationally significant historic sites must proceed with transparency, rigorous review, and clear public documentation. Maintaining public trust requires visible adherence to preservation principles and planning standards.

The White House is not simply a venue; it is a symbol of democratic governance and national continuity. Changes to its physical setting should reflect restraint, respect for history, and fidelity to its civic purpose.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

Bruce Chladny

I watched in horror as the East Wing of the White House was demolished literally because of the WHIM of one man. When the artist renderings of the gigantic ballroom began appearing I was appalled even more. The planned ballroom totally overshadows the existing structure--and NOT in a good way. It is simply yet another huge monument to one man's ego. It will look HORRIBLE and will absolutely diminish the beauty and dignity of the existing structure. And then there is the simple need for ANY president to abide by the guidelines in place for making changes to THE PEOPLE'E HOUSE. His tasteless gaudy redecoration of the Oval Office is bad enough, but at least it can be UNDONE. His plans for a MASSIVE addition are very different--he brags that it is all paid for with private funds, but how is that necessarily a good thing? He is establishing a system of pay-for-play that is totally unacceptable!

RE: East Wing Modernization Project – Public Comment in OPPOSITION

I write to express my strong opposition to the proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House complex.

This project represents a profound misuse of resources and a betrayal of public trust. The decision to fund this extravagant addition through external donors is deeply troubling and raises serious concerns about transparency, conflicts of interest, and the potential for undue influence over our nation's highest office. When wealthy donors finance presidential vanity projects, the American people have every right to question whose interests are truly being served.

The White House belongs to all Americans—not to any single administration. It is a National Historic Landmark and National Park that should reflect our shared values, not serve as a venue for enhancing the personal wealth or prestige of its temporary occupants. The optics of building a massive ballroom while millions of Americans struggle to afford healthcare, while our air and water quality face ongoing threats, and while inequality before the law continues to erode public faith in our institutions—these optics are unconscionable.

The American people do not want a ballroom. We want:
- Accessible, affordable healthcare for all citizens
- Protection of our environmental resources and clean air standards
- Equal justice and accountability under the law
- Responsible stewardship of public resources and historic sites

This project prioritizes spectacle over substance, luxury over necessity, and private interests over public good. The proposed renovation undermines the integrity of this National Historic Landmark and sets a dangerous precedent for future administrations to alter America's most significant historic site to suit personal preferences and donor relationships.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to reject this proposal and instead demand that any modifications to the White House serve genuine public interest, maintain appropriate transparency in funding, and preserve the historic character of this irreplaceable national treasure.

The White House should inspire pride in democratic values—not serve as a monument to excess funded by those seeking favor.

It appears that the proposed ballroom is much larger than the White House. The White House is a historically significant building. It is the home of the Presient of the United Statres. Buildings tell a story. An addition to the original building that is much larger than the heart of the campus is out of balance. Architecture should be harmoneous and tell a story of the building. The story this tells is that there is a large structurel that overshadows the heart of the styructures. The purpose of the building is an entertainment center.

I am writing in opposition to the spending of $300 million on this atrocious project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history and is a disgrace. I want this project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one, including the president, is above the law, and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Thank you for this opportunity to comment.

I am very much opposed to the ballroom addition plan. I am angry that the existing east wing was destroyed without any consultation with your organization or any forum for public comment ahead of time. I am angry about the use of my tax dollars for this destruction. I also want to know what happened to the artifacts that were in the East Wing, particularly the portraits. Before any further action is taken, there should be consultation with historical experts and an opportunity for the public to comment about whatever is proposed.

I oppose this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The East Wing was in important part of White House and U.S. history. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.
Every dollar donated should be scrutinized for pay for play implications.
Taxes should be raised against any involved in this endeavor to rebuild what was there.
I am not opposed to a carefully planned and reviewed project in the future, but never has the White House been so abused. All past projects modified with minimal alteration. This project smashed the People's house without regard to the People.
Moreover, I think this president and any future president should be limited in vanity projects undertaken. This includes projects under the guise of charitable contributions. No living president should have multiple buildings/centers named after them. While I appreciate modernization, small projects, and upgrades, so much of our history has been razed under the direction of one man, and that is an affront to any citizen.
No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I strongly oppose this travesty of a project. It is not needed for the proper functioning of the executive branch, or more particularly the White House. It is inconsistent with the design previously is existing for the East wing, and would be an utter waste of money, leaving staff members who previously used the East wing without the resources for their proper operation. This vanity project of the current administration is unconscionable, did not receive proper authorization, and should not be permitted. No one is above the law.

I'd suggest that any ballroom in addition to a security bunker be placed entirely underground. At ground level would be both passenger and freight elevators, in a building size that retains the traditional White House perspective. A below ground ballroom would be energy efficient and the size could be created without destroying the perspective. Windows matter less when most events occur at night. Other offices like the first ladies could be at ground level as long as the historic perspective is maintained. Going below ground worked in expansion of the Texas Capitol and I think would be a way to address both needs and concerns. Thank you

The unprecedented ravaging and destruction of the East Wing of the White House is all the proof one needs, to know the historical significance of the People's house means nothing to those who wish to 'modernize' it.
One man's taste is another one's gaudy horror. That's why a commission of experts should be required to study and design our capital buildings in a learned and measured way with sufficient knowledge and oversight to prevent further damage to our most venerable building. History matters and will not be kind to anyone who goes forward without due process and proper protection of our institutional history.

Hello, and thank you for taking my comment.

I'm writing to STRONGLY OPPOSE the construction of a 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House.

It is a travesty - and an actual crime - that so much destruction of the building has already taken place. We must do everything possible to stop any further desecration of this incredibly significant, historic, and meaningful building and its grounds.

We do not have kings in America, and we should not have any palaces and vainglorious ballrooms for the person who presides over our country for limited years. The White House is the People's House, not the president's, and he has no right to tear it down for his own ego and profit.

The damage that this Administration has done to the White House is criminal and should not - CANNOT - continue. They must not be allowed to loot and pillage our beautiful Capitol City the way they are looting and pillaging everything else they touch.

Please, please stop this insane desecration of the White House and make sure the criminals who have violated the People are punished.

Sincerely,

Lauren Becker

Building this huge and garish ballroom is a waste of taxpayer money, and an insult to the centuries of history of the White House itself. If a ballroom is truly needed, construct it elsewhere in the city.

Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style. Updates are fine to electrical, accessibility, HVAC etc for functionality. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes. I literally spent years doing NPS historic renovation / tax credit projects and there were strict guidelines that we had to follow! This project does none of that.

The White House is the people's house.

The proposed plans for the White House ballroom are just ugly. The building is gigantic and overpowers the historic architecture of the White House. Bulldozing the East Wing before plans were even completed is offensive and in my opinion illegal.

The White House does not need a giant ballroom, despite what Trump claims. This is a vanity project and he should not have any input on the final design.

The final design needs to be significantly smaller so it overpowering entire White House property.

The expected costs are insane and all funds should be managed by the NCPC and not in the hands of the president.

It's ugly and unnecessary. It's paid for by 'donations' that nobody has any control over and really, nobody even knows where they are. The demolition ignored even the most basic safety requirements. This is MY White House and this is NOT what I want.

Do not let him get away with this. Hold him accountable. And make him give back all that money.

The occupant of the White House is a temporary resident who has no authority to do this.
It does not follow the rules and regulations of how any change should be made.
It needs to be stopped and the proper steps should be taken to determine what happens to replace.the destruction illegally done.

I strongly oppose the allocation of $300 million for a project that includes the demolition of the East Wing, particularly given concerns that this action proceeded without proper authorization, permitting, or design review. This undertaking cannot reasonably be characterized as modernization; it represents the destruction of a historically significant structure. The unauthorized demolition of the East Wing is deeply troubling and reflects a broader disregard for established legal and regulatory processes. Such actions convey an unacceptable contempt for the rule of law and, by extension, for the American people. I urge the immediate cancellation of this project and the rebuilding and restoration of the East Wing in accordance with its original design. Upholding the rule of law requires consistent accountability and adherence to required procedures, especially in matters involving public resources and national heritage.

I do not see a need for a ballroom, and it does not matter to me who pays for it. The city has large rooms aplenty. Nor do I believe the drawings that have circulated improve the look of our People's House in any way. I do feel the East Wing as it was before it was illegally demolished was beautiful and useful. It should be restored, essentially as it was. Not different in appearance, but upgraded as to wiring and so on to bring it to modern office standards. It is very clear that while there is no need for more room for the President and his family, the White House is in dire need of more office space. Demolishing office space for a facility that would be rarely used was the work of an utter fool. Nor should it be argued that the sort of events needing a ballroom should be more frequent. That is nonsense. The purpose of the Presidency is not cetemonial. Such events should be discouraged. As to the money that is said to have been donated, it should be used for the rebuild to whatever degree it was actually collected. Further financing should come first from the Trump family as Mr Trump was the fool who ordered the illegal and inappropriate demolition. If I were a tenant who destroyed part of my landlord's property without permission, the law would require me to rebuild it to code and it's former appearance. There would also be a fine. Given that the demolition that happened was done without regard to public health an safety or public permitging, the company that did the demolition should be fined.

The 'modernization' of a wing of the White House, the People's House, has lead to complete destruction without proper and appropriate oversight by historians and architects. It is a travesty, and at a time when social supports are being cut to the most needy (I do not count billionaires as 'needy' by any definition), the expenditure on this is immoral.

Since the destruction has happened (and presumably the scattering, or destruction, of the precious antiques that the East Wing contained), I call on the Planning Commission to REQUIRE the complete and accurate rebuilding of the original East Wing with only such modification as needed for weatherization.

NO Ballroom, for #47 or anyone else, should be built.

this is OUR house--it is an historic structure and should not have been modified in any way without prior approval of the responsible organizations the East Wing needs to be rebuilt to previous conditions and paid for by the Trump administration or Trump himself --not the American people

This is an indication of the this administrations lack of consideration for the laws and rules of our country -- how is this not a treasonous act?

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The current occupant of the White House can’t be allowed to bulldoze the history that went before him. He knew he needed permits and due process to destroy the East Wing, and he did it anyway. The project must be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The tyrant who ordered the destruction should personally pay, not taxpayers. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be a travesty.

Please do not approve this $300 million vanity project. It will dwarf the rest of the White House, is completely unnecessary at this kind of scale, and will turn into a maintenance nightmare that taxpayers will have to fund for the rest of time. Instead, use the $300 million in donations (if they actually exist) to rebuild the underground Presidential bunker and build office space compatible with the rest of the White House on this space along with a much smaller facility to host events. It does NOT have to hold 100,000 people.

As proposed, the ballroom would be an abomination, a garish eyesore dwarfing the rest of the White House. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The National Trust should sue the perpetrators who razed the East Wing for the funds necessary to restore it. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. Furthermore, all of the tacky, unsightly, gold-colored doodads should be removed from the premises. No part of the People's House should be made to look like a tasteless third-world dictator's palace.

I must register my strong opposition to the allocation of $300 million for a project that, by all available evidence, was undertaken without any authorization, permitting, or input from design from the people. The White House is an historical site that does not belong to any one person, and any updates should maintain the character of the structure. This initiative cannot accurately be characterized as a modernization effort; rather, it represents the wholesale demolition of a significant chapter of American architectural and cultural history.

I therefore urge that the project be terminated and that the East Wing be reconstructed and restored in accordance with its original design.

Upholding the rule of law is essential to the functioning of a democratic society, and allowing this project to proceed—without accountability for those who violated established legal and procedural standards—would constitute a profound disservice to all Americans who respect and abide by those laws. Like me.

The White House represents our governance and democracy. We are a young country with so little history compared to many other nations. The White House was only constructed in the late 1700s, early 1800s and is our history. Changes should not be taken lightly. I hope the National Trust can reinstate the structure back to the original historical floorplan representing our pride and not replace with an oversized ballroom that the people with not have the opportunity to enjoy. The White House is “the People’s House” and has National Historic significance. My strong preference would be to have the East Wing rebuilt and restored as closely as possible to its original size, purpose, and structure, preferably at DJ Trump’s expense since he destroyed it without permission. Any necessary upgrades to bring it into code compliance are obviously fine but that should not alter the appearance of the structure. If additional space is needed for events, build that somewhere within reasonable access to the White House, but not on the grounds. Please also restore the Rose Garden. I believe the People have made it quite clear what our priorities are. We want the White House to be a beautiful representation of the United States —dignified, respectful, historic, and representative of the People, not the current resident.

Re: East Wing Modernization Project / Proposed White House Ballroom Addition
NCPC File No. 8733

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the East Wing Modernization Project, including the proposed 90,000\u8209 -square\u8209 -foot ballroom addition to the White House complex. As a citizen and stakeholder in the stewardship of our nation's most important historic site, I urge the Commission to exercise its full authority under the National Capital Planning Act and the Federal Elements of the Comprehensive Plan to prevent irreversible harm to the White House and President's Park.

The White House is not merely a residence or an event venue. It is a National Historic Landmark, a symbol of democratic continuity, and a cultural landscape that belongs to the American people. Any permanent alteration to its grounds must meet the highest standards of necessity, transparency, and public accountability. The scale and nature of the proposed ballroom addition do not meet those standards.

1. The proposal is inconsistent with the Comprehensive Plan's Urban Design and Historic Preservation policies.
The Federal Elements emphasize the protection of nationally significant viewsheds, the preservation of historic landscapes, and the safeguarding of symbolic federal architecture. A 90,000\u8209 -square\u8209 -foot expansion—larger than many federal office buildings—would fundamentally alter the spatial relationships between the Executive Mansion, the Treasury Building, and President's Park.

The White House's north and south views are among the most iconic in the world. Any change visible from Pennsylvania Avenue or E Street must be scrutinized with extraordinary care. The proposed massing, footprint, and above\u8209 -grade presence appear incompatible with the Plan's policies on scale, setting, and the preservation of historic character.

2. The irreversible nature of the project demands heightened caution.
Once constructed, a structure of this magnitude cannot be undone without further disruption to the historic landscape. The Commission's responsibility is not only to evaluate the proposal before it, but to consider the long\u8209 -term consequences for future generations.

The White House has endured for more than two centuries precisely because federal planners have historically exercised restraint. This project represents a dramatic departure from that tradition.

3. The public has not been given meaningful opportunity to evaluate the impacts.
The White House grounds are exempt from the National Historic Preservation Act's Section 106 process, which makes NCPC's review the only venue for public participation. That places a heightened responsibility on the Commission to ensure transparency and to weigh public concerns with seriousness.

The public comment period must not be treated as a procedural formality. The American people deserve a full accounting of the project's impacts on:

historic viewsheds

the cultural landscape of President's Park visitor experience

long\u8209 -term stewardship of the White House grounds

4. The stated functional goals do not justify the scale of the proposed intervention.
The need for event space has been acknowledged for decades, but the Comprehensive Design Plan for the White House and President's Park (2000) did not envision a structure of this magnitude. Temporary tents, while imperfect, do not justify a permanent expansion that would alter the historic setting of the Executive Mansion.

Functional needs must be balanced against the irreplaceable nature of the site. In this case, the balance weighs decisively against the proposed addition.

5. Any changes already undertaken should be halted and reversed pending full review.
If any site preparation, demolition, or below\u8209 -grade work has already occurred, it should be paused immediately until NCPC completes its review. Although NCPC does not review demolitions, it does review the resulting permanent structures and site improvements. Proceeding with irreversible actions before the Commission's review undermines the integrity of the federal planning process.

Conclusion
The White House is the most symbolically important building in the United States. Its preservation is not a partisan issue; it is a constitutional and cultural obligation. The proposed ballroom addition is inconsistent with the Comprehensive Plan, incompatible with the historic character of the White House grounds, and unjustified in scale or necessity.

I respectfully urge the Commission to reject the proposed East Wing Modernization Project and to require alternatives that protect the historic integrity, landscape, and public meaning of the White House.

Thank you for your consideration and for your stewardship of our nation's most important civic spaces.

I am extremely disappointed in what our President has done to our historic East Wing. He is the head of our government but he should not be exempt from our laws. I cannot even touch any of my property (house) without permission, fees, inspections, letter of what I intend to renovate, replace or tear down. Please do not replace that magnificent structure with a huge ballroom (possibly just for his son's future wedding or for his inside rallys. Whatever else he says cannot possibly be true, as we have four years in his first administration where he held hardly any public events (ex: state dinners) on the White House grounds. He seems to be using the new ballroom as a way to bribe people by asking for donations for the ballroom to gain access to the presidency.

It was so impressive for our family to visit Washington D.C. and observe all the history that is there. Thank goodness we have had the experience before this horrible renovations to the Lincoln bathroom, the gigantic flagpoles, the beautiful Jackie Kennedy Rose Garden and now the East Wing. Stop this, PLEASE.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. It is not Trump's property. It belongs to the American people.

Dear Members of the NCPC:

I am writing to register my opinion on the destruction of the White House East Wing.

I would like the East Wing completely restored to its existing state before it was destroyed by Mr. Trump.

We we're at it please remove the patio and replant the Rose Garden.

Thanks for your energy and efforts to preserve our national historic buildings.

Sincerely yours,

I oppose the proposed design of the east wing and the President and private donors having complete control of the historic White House.
The White House is owned by the people and reflects the nation's history and character.
For the President to have unilaterally torn down the east wing without review was unacceptable and illegal.
For the President to have unilateral control of the design, having fired an architect who disagreed with him, is unacceptable and possibly illegal. The spending of $300 million on this project by private donors who will likely influence the design is unacceptable. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead with penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

This whole project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.
This project should be canceled.

The East Wing should be rebuilt, modernized, and restored to its former grandeur and in keeping with the character of the White House. after full review and approval by all appropriate bodies.

I am vehemently opposed to spending any federal funds on the construction of a ballroom to replace the East Wing of the White House. The manner in which the East Wing was destroyed was a slap in the face to all patriotic Americans, and the Administration that committed such destruction without going through proper channels must not be allowed to continue the desecration of our nation's presidential home. The East Wing should be rebuilt in an exact replica of what was removed, and those who committed this atrocity must be fined, penalized and chastised to prevent a similar action in the future.

In the 1970's I had the pleasure of living and working at Ft. Meade. Several times a month, our family would take visitors to the White House. We would enter through the East Wing and it always felt as though we were on a tour with Jackie Kennedy. Representatives would greet us there and the ambience and history filled us with joy at being Americans. To have torn down this building with No oversight or permission - no respect for the stories that had passed through there, is abhorrent. The White House administration are ignoring the fact that the White House is the people's house and a temporary home for them. The administration that committed this act should be required to rebuild it as it originally was, and pay for that rebuilding themselves.

I am opposed to this project. It distorts the view of the White House and the government does not need a ballroom of this size. The security required to add screen that many people to attend an event would be a nightmare. I am sure there are many acceptable venues in DC already. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt as it was with updated infrastructure. It was torn down without the input of Americans. I am adamantly opposed to private funds to build this because that screams influence. None of this is ok. This is a gross vanity project.

The east wing should be rebuild on the original footprint and matching the original facade.
Any additional space needs should be met below-grade so as not to alter the look or approach to the White House.

Fines any appropriate criminal penalties should be imposed on the contractors and any and all persons that executed contracts without proper review and permits. Penalties are necessary to prevent hasty and unlawful destruction of government property, especially historically significant properties, in the future.

I am very much OPPOSED to allowing the East Wing Modernization Project to proceed. I believe that the demolition of the existing structure was illegal, and that the scope of the project is excessive and unnecessary. The President of the United States is not the owner of the White House, and is just a temporary inhabitant. Decisions regarding the architecture should be made with the entire White House grounds in mind. The White House is and should be effective of the United States as a whole, and not just the design whims of the current inhabitants.

While what has been destroyed cannot be replaced, it is possible to ensure that what is rebuilt there reflects American values, and has input from the American people.

I hope that there will also be penalties levied against anyone who approved of the demolition of the existing East Wing.

I respectfully oppose the proposed White House ballroom project.

The White House is not simply a residence or event venue. It is a living symbol of American continuity, constitutional order, and shared history. Any substantial alteration to its structure should be approached with deep humility, rigorous process, and broad bipartisan consensus.

This proposal raises serious concerns about respect for historical continuity, adherence to established preservation review processes, and stewardship of the Office of the President. The White House belongs to the American people, past, present, and future. Decisions that alter its character should not be driven by short-term preferences or political considerations, but by careful deliberation grounded in preservation standards and public trust.

We are temporary stewards of enduring institutions. The White House has stood through war, reconstruction, expansion, and renovation, always with careful attention to its historic and symbolic role. That tradition of restraint and respect should continue.

For these reasons, I urge decision-makers to reject this proposal and to prioritize preservation, process, and responsible stewardship.

I do not want the White House turned into another version of Mar Lago. The White House represents our country and is a place we the citizens of said country provide for our president to reside. It is not a personal house but a house for the people of this country.

The ballroom proposals are nothing more than a vanity project. They destroy the dignity of the house. They are a waste of money to appease someones desire to have their names on things. But the White House belongs to US. Replacing the east wing with a ballroom is not something for us.

I stand against the building of a ballroom where the East Wing once stood. In reality I feel strongly that the East Wing should be put back and the money for that comes from the person who destroyed it.

It serves only the president, who is a temporary resident of the White House and did not seek or receive the necessary permits and permissions. Razing the East Wing was a crime against the people, who own the building. It should be restored, not demolished. It's time someone stood up to the blatant favoritism and corruption being perpetrated. This is the Commission's chance to do so.
