Please do not allow this ill planned vanity ballroom go ahead. This is The People's House, not Donald Trump's house. It seems to me that the proper, legal channels have not been followed. Surely, the People's House is a Grade 1 listed building (on the National Register of Historic Places) and requires special permission to alter it in any way, let alone completely demolish it in 2 days without notice nor in consultation with 'the People'. The East Wing should be rebuilt with the same dimensions. We, the People, do not need a ballroom for billionaires that don't pay taxes nor contribute to the welfare, education...benefit of the citizens of this fine democracy. Thank you.

The demolition of the East Wing, cloaked in obfuscation was a horrific tragedy. History was lost to backhoes and wrecking balls. No review, no hearings, no public discourse occurred. Indeed the public was assured that it was “the new ballroom project would not INTERFERE with the existing East Wing. The assurances were misleading at best, outright lies at worst. The construction of a gargantuan ballroom as conceived by the current occupant of The People’s House is grossly out of scale and proportion to what is left of the Historic White House. Additionally, the price tag for this project continues to balloon. There should be respect given to the history of the hallowed White House grounds. It is not a party venue. It is not private property to be developed by a cadre of gold embellishing “designers”. Rather, if a venue is required of such massive proportions for events - because clearly the other functions of the East Wing were not considered in the demolition ie the office of the First Lady, White House Military Office, the White House visitors entrance, the Office of Legislative Affairs, the theatre, calligraphy office, the East Collinade and the Presidential EOC - then a formal work group should be commissioned to work with historians and architects to design an appropriate facility. The whims of one occupant should not determine the footprint of The People’s House. A respect and regard for history must be the focal point of any work done with The People’s assets.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Regarding the East Wing and the destruction of other historical buildings, decisions should be made by the People and those we trust to protect landmarks, historic structures and their significance celebrating those who built our nation. Respect and care for paintings and/or structures is imperative, because memorabilia is valued by every person who visits Washington DC.

I was born in Washington, DC, and attended High School 13 blocks from the White House. The challenging world engulfing my relatives and parents, during that time in America, was brighter because I took full advantage of the architectural spectacle that permeates the Nation's Capital. I lived weekly in the Smithsonian complexes and visited the Capitol, White House, Memorials, and Washington Monument often. My Mom and I have climbed the stairs in the Monument more than most in our never-ending quest for exercise with purpose. I was absolutely CRUSHED when the East Wing of the White House was so "unceremoniously and surprisingly" bulldozed! I thought my country "had arrived" when the Obamas welcomed so many ordinary people into the White House. Although I didn't get to go to any of the many functions then, I really felt (for the first time) that it was the "people's house!" It finally seemed that the volatile roots that our Country had progressed through were mending. When I woke up on the morning that the White House demolition happened, I immediately posted thoughts about it on Facebook and engaged with others on my social media page. One friend wrote, "The Whitehouse hasn't seen this much destruction since 1812." Honestly, I cried. I publish an online arts magazine, so I proceeded to gather background and history on the gardens of the White House to post. I cried again as I highlighted changes to the gardens made by Jacqueline Kennedy, Patricia Nixon, Michelle Obama, and Laura Bush. I couldn't believe the two historic Magnolia Trees were deliberately destroyed -- gone. Honestly, I don't have words for how sad I felt over this. I don't know how these losses and memories can adequately be repaired at this point. I do pray that from this point forward, actions regarding the "People's White House" and all other historic monuments that belong to the "People of the United States", be discussed, planned, and fully approved by some bi-partisan committee and historical counselors before any construction ever proceeds. In fact, I think Washington, DC should be a historic "State" where changes to any of its cultural Monuments must be agreed upon by a contingent of counselors, including an architectural board, and no such decision should ever be solely made by one person (not even the President).

The razing and - supposed - reconstruction of the East Wing, without a public appropriation , a solid plan , appropriate review and approvals is an insult to me and many millions of others.

That the concept of the project appears to be nothing more than aggrandizement of the current occupant of the White House, and a celebration of the inequality against which our ancestors rebelled, is appalling.

Since the functions it served have been relocated, I question whether it should be rebuilt at all. My preference would be to see the wound of its former connection appropriately sealed , or at most see it returned to some minimal, actually needed, function.

This began with the appearance of its being a vanity project. Whether true or not, that appearance casts a shadow on the private funding of the project. To be blunt, whether it is actually so or not, it looks to many people like an enormous attempt to curry favor. Not a good look for the government of our country, which too many already have considered corrupt for years.

I would suggest no further work on this project until appropriately funded - i.e. transparently, publicly, via Congressional appropriation.
I believe that was how the White House rebuild after the war of 1812 was paid for , how the Truman reconstruction was paid for, and how the renovation of any national building should be paid for.

As a professional in the architecture industry for over 15 years, I am appalled by the destruction of the east wing of the White House with zero regard for rules, permitting, adequate planning and public oversight.

As an American, I am disgusted by the blatant destruction of the People's House for a vanity project and a means of money laundering for a criminal organization who has taken personal ownership of a landmark building that does NOT belong to them.

The lack of respect and oversight of this entire stunt is an affront to American democracy, our institutions and our storied landmarks that deserve the utmost respect and care. For 250 years we have survived without a ballroom. We do not need it. We are not here to serve a king. Furthermore the lack of transparency in the financial means of the project is despicable.

This destruction must end now. It must have oversight and accountability. We must see our landmark rebuilt to its former state in a manner that respects its history, with the proper accredited and vetted groups overseeing its development, with Donald J. Trump's personal finances footing the bill.

I have major concerns regarding the tearing down of the East Wing and building a bloated, oversized ballroom at the White House (The People's House). This project lacked any review from committees, and was not congressionally approved by Congress. The demolition occurred without permission, on an historic site that is incredibly important to American citizens. The scale and design of the new ballroom would not only dwarf the White House, but also change the entire appeal to seem more authoritarian/royalty driven which is a bad look for our nation. We overthrew a king 250 years ago, We the People should still have a voice. The funding of this project came from unethical means, where powerful people seeking "favors" from Trump have donated to the White House, now totaling over 400 Billion. This is corruption and morally wrong. Our nation is asking you to do the right thing and block the building of this ballroom built with dark money and without approval.

This project to "modernize and create an enormous ballroom " where the East Wing teardown once stood is truly a slap in the face to citizens of the United States. It is nothing more than a demented man's idea to create havoc on the grounds of the White House. This is not another "Trump Tower", and truly, do we actually believe that this is being funded solely by Trump ? Highly unlikely. Time and time again , he has destroyed areas of the White House, paved over the Rose Garden, added portraits and his own comments regarding our past President's along a walkway.....and we do nothing? We let him destroy the true meaning of the American "People's House" ?. I object to the method of funding for this project, with rich people who want favors paying into this project to advance their chances of getting treated favorably by this administration.
I object to the president's trying to publicly humiliate Jerome Powel for having cost over-runs for his government building when the president's pet project's price has doubled in price within a very small window of time.
I object to the use of the building for entertaining wealthy donors to the president's pet projects.
I object to the president's assumption that he can bypass normal building approval processes by beginning destruction of the East Wing before anyone who should approve the project had any chance to evaluate it.
I object to the size of the planned wing, which architects have said is esthetically out of proportion to what should be the main part of the White House.
I object to our president's assumption that he can create monuments to himself throughout our nation's capital without having to get approval from anyone.
I believe that if the White House truly needs a new room for meetings, the president should have to get approval for not only the idea but the specific plans just like anyone else would have to do.

Hello.

When there was initially talk from the individual sitting in our Oval Office about building a ballroom for his wealthy friends and donors to dine and drink together, my initial question was...who is paying for this ballroom, knowing full well that every syllable that comes from this administration is rooted in lies. And when it was communicated that his wealthy friends/donors would be paying, I knew something was amiss.

And then...when the photos and videos emerged of the East Wing being destroyed, my heart sank. Not only is this the "People's House," however I don't recall people in this country being asked for their opinions on it. Regardless, the destruction he created beyond what he does on a daily basis, often flying under the radar, to our White House defies a modicum of thought and understanding of what the White House and East Wing mean to this country.

For $300M dollars, people in need, infrastructure needing upgrades, children lacking early education, families losing their healthcare, our environment being ignored and worse...this money from those for whom dollars are meaningless could go to improving our country, not assuaging the juvenile wishes of an individual who thinks only of himself.

In absolutely no way should the East Wing become "his" ballroom; rather, it must be returned to its original luster. Thank you.

The destruction of the East Wing was pursued without any consideration for historical preservation or prior approval. No case was made for the need for modernization and thus, the building of the proposed ballroom should be cancelled and the East Wing reconstructed and restored to its former design. In this process, if security upgrades are needed they can be implemented in a manner that is in compliance with all relevant restrictions on the alteration of historic spaces.

The White House is the People's house, on loan to each administration, and not an open canvas for the self-aggrandizement of its current resident.

I am writing to express my deep sadness and concern regarding the White House East Wing modernization. My family and I visited the White House several years ago. I still recall the excitement and interest the 9 of us felt as we toured the site. It remains one of my happiest memories. Yet, as I write this, I recall the absolute gut punch of shock and sadness I experienced when I awakened to pictures of the People's House being destroyed without notice or required approvals from various agencies. One man was allowed to recklessly destroy a piece of our national history without facing any consequences for his actions. Thus, I feel it is crucial that i express my deep concerns regarding the building of a new wing to the Whitehouse that is funded by private donations and under the direction/guidance of an individual who has already shown that he is not able to respect the history of this historic property.

I look at the changes to the Oval Office and cringe at the gaudy, fake gold wall applications that were applied to every surface and which turned a venerated space into a gaudy Las Vegas showroom. Furthermore, the current White House resident has never shown an ability to abide by expected norms for historic structures. In addition to the fake gold Oval Office we also have the complete destruction of the Lincoln bathroom. Again, slick modern surfaces with no hint of the former historic room. And I assume that those changes were also instituted without consultation/approvals for the demolition of another historic space.

At some point in the future, we will have to rebuild the East Wing but PLEASE consider that it must be done by someone who has an understanding of the history of Washington, DC and of the White House and its furnishings. Building an added structure to the White House at this time is not in the best interests of the citizens of this country who respect our laws, regulations, and the need for historic preservation. Sincerely, Ramona Hall

The mission and important challenges of pursuing a more perfect union for all Americans does not require or have resources to spare on lavish superficial “upgrades.”

The ballroom project broke numerous preservation laws. These laws are in place to protect our country's natural and cultural resources.

For starters, the ballroom project did not have proper authorization, permits, or design review. I could go on, but you have limited space for comments.

The White House is the People's House. The president is a steward of this historic institution, not the owner. Doing harm to this historic building by gutting a third of it, without the proper oversight, is improper and should be rectified by returning it to its original state. The funding for the ballroom is questionable, billionaires should not be allowed to buy into the government for rewards. The reason for the size is to feed the current steward's narcissistic ego by making something larger than what is currently there and then to put his name on it. This is Un-American.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. The people should have a say as to what happens with the people's house.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design at the expense of those who gave the illegal order for its razing. The historic East Wing of The White House was totally demolished at the direction of President Trump without legal authorization, and his proposed $300 million ballroom is nothing less than a stalinesque vanity project which would be an affront to this country and its people. In its current form, the ballroom project, for which there apparently has been no meaningful independent design review or permitting, should be terminated in its entirety, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original architectural configuration prior to its illegal razing.

The wrecking ball revved up without the permits and plans required before anyone can turn the East Wing into a vanity project.
I strongly oppose any further construction of the $300+million dollar project. It should be rebuilt to be the landmark it was that reflects the pride we used to have in our country.

NO! NO! NO! This proposed ballroom is in essence a private vanity project designed for the self-aggrandizement of one individual. It has no place on public property, and especially not on the grounds of the White House. The White House is not just a symbol, it is a place where the public, including visitors from other countries have traditionally come to see, feel, and learn about what's important in our country's history. It is a place where important diplomatic and policy discussion and decisions can be pursued and consummated. It is NOT a party palace where glitze replaces decorum. I am personally sickened by the destruction of the beautiful East Wing that housed and exemplefied the grace that most of our First Ladies have brought to the Presidency. It should be restored. I am repelled by the thought of that historic East Wing being replaced by a gilt horror of crass tastelessness, which the proposed ballroom promises to be. One man is NOT our country and has zero right to revise its underlying values or its public symbols. There are rules and systems. I beg you to use them to protect the people, the majority who ARE what the government is designed to serve. Please use your power to stand for what is right NOW or the future will never share in the awe for America that I grew up with, instead finding themselves nothing but a maintenace mechanism for a monstrous monument to class disparities.

This "project" was done without proper permissions or permits, or the will of the American people. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history and rebranding in the name of our current president. I oppose this project which was intiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The fact that this project is supposedly being funded by private donations not taxpayer dollars is troubling and does not make it more palatable. Because these funds were requested by our current administration, it gives the appearance of preferential access and undermines public trust. This project is not a modernization but rather the destruction of American history. The White House is the peoples house not the private property of the sitting President to do with as he pleases. I am asking this project be canceled, and the East Wing be rebuilt and restored to its former design. This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

As an American citizen, I respect and value our country's history, and institutions. Regarding the demolition of the East Wing of the White House, I am shocked and angry. This project was undertaken without the requisite authorization, planning, permits and design review.

This is unacceptable. We have protocols and regulations regarding such changes and they were ignored as we watched the destruction of an important part of American history.

Also unacceptable is the unwarranted $300 million dollar expenditure. Essential services and programs and services have been cut or completely eliminated - to the detriment of the American people and our country as a whole.

The only remedy for this irresponsible, disastrous and completely unnecessary action is to completely restore the East Wing to its original state and to penalize those responsible for this unlawful action which, in effect, is an attempt to erase and rewrite the history of our country.

Thank you for your consideration.

Thank you for considering my comments. The White House belongs to the American People, not the President & his donors. Please listen to us.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The so-called East Wing "Modernization Project" is actually an unauthorized destruction of a national building to be replaced by an unauthorized monstrous (and probably excessively gaudy) ballroom. NO such decisions should be made by one man alone, even if that man is temporarily president. Such decisions affect all Americans present and future. Even if such a ginormous structure as proposed were to be built at no cost to taxpayers--which is highly unlikely!--Taxpayers would be on the hook for vast amounts of energy, personnel, and upkeep required for ages to come. I am entirely opposed to this project which the PUBLIC DOES NOT WANT!

I oppose the spending of $300 million, $400 million, $500 million or any amount of millions on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, much less notification to the public. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. The proposed addition is far too large and grandiose and will not be in balance with the West Wing, which hopefully will not also be razed.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

No one is above the law - NO ONE - and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose this Modernization Project for the followiing reason.
1. The White House is a historic building with many decades of our nation's history symbolized within its halls. There is no justification to take any portion of this monument and change its appearance and function. If it fails to serve the Office of the President, then the current administration needs only to identify the issue(s) and use the existing approval process to seek remediation.
2. The US Presidency is an administrative office that serves the needs of the citizenry per the US Constitution. How then would the establishment of a grand ballroom of proportions greater than the remaining portion of this internationally recognized edifice allow the presidential administration to serve the US public more effectively?
3. Should there also be an enormous gymnasium built in Washington DC to support the Supreme Court's need for exercise? And if the House and Senate decide that they need a ferris wheel, would it make sense to clear an acre of land by 14th street?
"Modernizing" a part of a house by building a grand ballroom makes no sense; it's like modernizing an airport using horse drawn carriages.
Lastly, It is illegal for any presidential administration to ignore the established processes for making alterations to buildings that were purchased by, and belong to the US public. No explanation has been provided why these procedures have been ignored. If the lawful process is not followed, then the perpetrators must be held to account.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. This project to "modernize and create an enormous ballroom " where the East Wing teardown once stood is truly a slap in the face to citizens of the United States. It is nothing more than a demented man's idea to create havoc on the grounds of the White House. This is not another "Trump Tower", and truly, do we actually believe that this is being funded solely by Trump ? Highly unlikely. Time and time again , he has destroyed areas of the White House, paved over the Rose Garden, added portraits and his own comments regarding our past President's along a walkway.....and we do nothing? We let him destroy the true meaning of the American "People's House" ?. This man is not "our" president, he presents as a dementia ridden human being, who should NOT be considered a president of this country. Midterm elections cannot come soon enough.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The White House is the house of the people of the United States. It does NOT belong to a president. It is a temporary housing assignment and should not be remodeled, upgraded, reorganized or whatever word is being used for the demolition of the East Wing. The Trump administration did not go through the proper channels or pull permits for the building of a ballroom the people of the United States did NOT approve. I own my home and can't demolish a wing (I have no wing) without the City of Lucas jumping all over the project! Restore what has been damaged, restore the White House to its previous glory and for crying out loud- replant the lovely Kennedy rose garden!!!

The so-called East Wing "Modernization Project" is actually an unauthorized destruction of a national building to be replaced by an unauthorized monstrous (and probably excessively gaudy) ballroom. NO such decisions should be made by one man alone, even if that man is temporarily president. Such decisions affect all Americans present and future. Even if such a ginormous structure as proposed were to be built at no cost to taxpayers--which is highly unlikely!--Taxpayers would be on the hook for vast amounts of energy, personnel, and upkeep required for ages to come. I am entirely opposed to this project which the PUBLIC DOES NOT WANT!

I write to you in hopes of sharing my voice as an American and as a lover of our history. It was with a heavy heart I watched the razing of the entire wing of the White House. The peoples house. Presidents come and go (as is prescribed by our constitution), but our history needs to remain. Technological or structural improvements are sometimes necessary, but have always before been done carefully and with consideration of our historical buildings. This was rushed, heavy handed and frankly crude. We do not have Kings and therefore do not need a palace. Every other president has treated the White House as a caretaker should. This one has not.
I would submit that while we have hungry children, homelessness and great need in our country, building a ballroom, and building everything in sight, regardless of the source of funds, is a slap in the face of the American people who have real needs. Please stop this destructive behavior, rebuild the wing and Rose garden. It is the right thing to do.
Thank you for your attention.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

It is a tragedy that the East Wing of the historic White House has already been demolished. The people's house holds so much history, and it belongs to all of us. The decision by this administration to tear down part of the structure to build a ballroom that would overwhelm the architectural integrity of the White House is appalling. That they did it without oversight or approval is even worse. The building will never be the same, but I feel that the East Wing should be reconstructed adhering to historical regulations and guidelines, and the plans for the ballroom should be scrapped. It does not benefit the American people, and it would only take away from the dignity and historic significance of the existing structure.

The historic East Wing of The White House was totally demolished at the direction of President Trump without legal authorization, and his proposed $300 million ballroom is nothing less than a stalinesque vanity project which would be an affront to this country and its people. In its current form, the ballroom project, for which there apparently has been no meaningful independent design review or permitting, should be terminated in its entirety, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original architectural configuration prior to its illegal razing.

It is not a modernization project but rather an unnecessary vanity project and complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled. Any government project of this scale and impact, both financially and historically, must abide by the law and processes governing such work. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding, tax-paying Americans. It is a shame and embarrassment that any administration labeling itself a "law and order" administration would flout, ignore, and break the law at any moment it serves its interest. What lesson do we give our children by setting such example?

The historic East Wing of The White House was totally demolished at the direction of President Trump without legal authorization, and his proposed $300 million ballroom is nothing less than a stalinesque vanity project which would be an affront to this country and its people. In its current form, the ballroom project, for which there apparently has been no meaningful independent design review or permitting, should be terminated in its entirety, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its original architectural configuration prior to its illegal razing.

I strongly oppose this construction project, which was initiated without any required approval, nor any environmental assessment or consideration for the American people to whom this house belongs. This temporary resident is a force of destruction who is trying to obliterate our history while allowing corporate and special interest money to contribute to a "ballroom" (which the American people do not need and and did not ask for) in order to line pockets and affect legislations in their favor. This is bribery.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

I watch with horror at the desecration of our beloved White House. First, the gaudy inner renovations, then the Rose Garden and now the total annihilation of the East Wing. I thought this was a protected site. Where were the protectors when bulldozers rolled up on it? Where was Congress, who had not been consulted and who never approved this? How was this allowed to happen!?? What next? Will he tear down the entire White House because it doesn’t suit him? I cannot express my anger strongly enough over this and ask that somehow this is made right and whole again. Sincerely, Teresa Vicario

The White House is the People's House, held in trust for the American People. The proposed structure is an unneeded vanity project and not appropriate. It is too big and out of balance for the structure and history of the area. And it is not necessary. We do not need a ballroom for any diplomatic reason. I urge the committee to scale down the project, think of the larger picture and America's needs and eliminate the unnecessary monument to one man's insatiable ego.

This project did not follow guidelines required for major renovations to the White House. It is way too costly and violates so many rules and standards. I’m suggesting rebuilding the East Wing as it was before the unlawful demolition occurred.
I also think that DJT should foot the bill of this rebuild.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

The razing of the East Wing of the White House and the proposed construction of the planned gilded monstrosity is an affront to the American people and an assault on due process.
The $300 million slated to be spent on this project does not have proper authorization, and has not gone through the permitting or design review process.

Like so many other actions of this current administration, it is an action to erase a part of American history. There is no modernization in the planned gaudy ballroom that seeks solely to stroke the ego of small-minded narcissists. There is nothing American in such a project. The average American does not gild their surroundings. Those are the actions of despotic kings.

We are a representational, consititional republic. Stand up for those who are being represented, not the despot who seeks to run roughshod over our rights and freedom.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt in a thoughtful, considered, well-planned manner to represent the whole of this nation, not some elitist minority who thinks their wealth gives them the right to rule.

No one is above the law. If you permit this project to proceed, and do not hold those who broke the law accountable, you are as guilty as they are. Stand up for what is right and side with an America that is more than a rich white man's ego.

The destruction of the East Wing was pursued without any consideration for historical preservation or prior approval. No case was made for the need for modernization and thus, the building of the proposed ballroom should be cancelled and the East Wing reconstructed and restored to its former design. In this process, if security upgrades are needed they can be implemented in a manner that is in compliance with all relevant restrictions on the alteration of historic spaces.

The White House is the People's house, on loan to each administration, and not an open canvas for the self-aggrandizement of its current resident.

Dear NCPC Commissioners,

In a time of economic challenges and mounting national debt, approving a $200-400 million ballroom and office expansion at the White House seems extravagant and unjustified. The current facilities have adequately hosted state functions for decades; a massive new venue is not essential. Redirecting any associated public resources or approvals toward pressing issues like affordable housing, climate resilience, or veteran services would better serve the American people. I oppose this project and call for a full cost-benefit analysis under the National Environmental Policy Act before proceeding.

Sincerely,

Jane Baudelaire

Please stop this “modernization “ from proceeding. A sitting president does not have the unilateral authority to demolish any part of the People’s House. It is not his home. It is “We the People’s” home. He is a temporary resident much like an individual is when staying temporarily in a hotel room. The hotel management does not allow those individuals to demolish and replace their property.

Please insist that the East Wing is restored to its previous glory and that the individuals complicit in this travesty are prosecuted.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.
Besides, the leader of the USA shouldn't be having routine ballroom parties for their 'besties,'....they should be leading and helping the entire country with more serious matters!

No one asked me if our house could be torn apart. No one got approval from the historical society. No one filed the proper permits. No one has been open with construction monies to be used. And no one bothered to get approval from The People about this horrendous, illegal, dismantling of The People’s House. The residents there are merely temporary “guests” at the invitation of The People, and have no legal or moral right to do major, historically irreparable, unnecessary alterations to OUR house. \u-10179 ?\u-8495 ? I am completely opposed to the continuation of this project. The proper process was not followed, and the use of taxpayer or donor money to pay for such a vanity project is totally wrong. The so-called ballroom would dwarf the White House; also, it is totally unnecessary and would be an eyesore aesthetically. As a taxpayer and active registered voter for over 50 years, I request, nay demand, that the project be halted completely and the East Wing be reconstructed in its original design. Thank you for allowing me to give my input.

I'm registering my vehement opposition to this project. Why this was ever allowed to move forward in the first place is a mystery to me. Is everyone so cowed by this so-called president that they simply let him do whatever he wants?? Does no one care about the history of this very important building especially as we approach the 250th anniversary of our country?! Please stop this monstrosity of a "ballroom" and put effort into restoring what this egomaniacal man has destroyed. Thank you.

I oppose the proposed East Wing Ballroom for two reasons: 1. It is not congruent with the existing architecture, surrounding landscape, or historic use of the land; and, 2. It deprives existing local businesses and venues of the income associated with federal government events, and thus the local government of much-needed support and tax revenue. The ballroom would divorce the White House from its DC community and alienate the White House from its neighbors and local businesses.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I oppose the unauthorized and unapproved destruction and replacement of the White House East Wing with the proposed ballroom. I also oppose the use of undisclosed/anonymous donations for use in building, destroying or significantly altering any government owned buildings, monuments, or other structures. Please enforce the established laws, processes and policies that protect our public facilities and ensure they are followed by everyone.

Thank you.

I watched in horror at the illegal & unauthorized destruction of the East Wing. I want the building restored to its original design. I do not support the plan to build a gilded age ballroom.

The razing and - supposed - reconstruction of the East Wing, without a public appropriation , a solid plan , appropriate review and approvals is an insult to me and many millions of others.

That the concept of the project appears to be nothing more than aggrandizement of the current occupant of the White House, and a celebration of the inequality against which our ancestors rebelled, is appalling.

Since the functions it served have been relocated, I question whether it should be rebuilt at all. My preference would be to see the wound of its former connection appropriately sealed , or at most see it returned to some minimal, actually needed, function.

This began with the appearance of its being a vanity project. Whether true or not, that appearance casts a shadow on the private funding of the project. To be blunt, whether it is actually so or not, it looks to many people like an enormous attempt to curry favor. Not a good look for the government of our country, which too many already have considered corrupt for years.

I would suggest no further work on this project until appropriately funded - i.e. transparently, publicly, via Congressional appropriation.
I believe that was how the White House rebuild after the war of 1812 was paid for , how the Truman reconstruction was paid for, and how the renovation of any national building should be paid for.

I oppose the wasting of any money on this useless, vanity project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this self-aggrandizing project to go ahead, without penalizing those who broke the law, would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

As a professional in the architecture industry for over 15 years, I am appalled by the destruction of the east wing of the White House with zero regard for rules, permitting, adequate planning and public oversight.

As an American, I am disgusted by the blatant destruction of the People's House for a vanity project and a means of money laundering for a criminal organization who has taken personal ownership of a landmark building that does NOT belong to them.

The lack of respect and oversight of this entire stunt is an affront to American democracy, our institutions and our storied landmarks that deserve the utmost respect and care. For 250 years we have survived without a ballroom. We do not need it. We are not here to serve a king. Furthermore the lack of transparency in the financial means of the project is despicable.

This destruction must end now. It must have oversight and accountability. We must see our landmark rebuilt to its former state in a manner that respects its history, with the proper accredited and vetted groups overseeing its development, with Donald J. Trump's personal finances footing the bill.

I was born in Washington, DC, and attended High School 13 blocks from the White House. The challenging world engulfing my relatives and parents, during that time in America, was brighter because I took full advantage of the architectural spectacle that permeates the Nation's Capital. I lived weekly in the Smithsonian complexes and visited the Capitol, White House, Memorials, and Washington Monument often. My Mom and I have climbed the stairs in the Monument more than most in our never-ending quest for exercise with purpose. I was absolutely CRUSHED when the East Wing of the White House was so "unceremoniously and surprisingly" bulldozed! I thought my country "had arrived" when the Obamas welcomed so many ordinary people into the White House. Although I didn't get to go to any of the many functions then, I really felt (for the first time) that it was the "people's house!" It finally seemed that the volatile roots that our Country had progressed through were mending. When I woke up on the morning that the White House demolition happened, I immediately posted thoughts about it on Facebook and engaged with others on my social media page. One friend wrote, "The Whitehouse hasn't seen this much destruction since 1812." Honestly, I cried. I publish an online arts magazine, so I proceeded to gather background and history on the gardens of the White House to post. I cried again as I highlighted changes to the gardens made by Jacqueline Kennedy, Patricia Nixon, Michelle Obama, and Laura Bush. I couldn't believe the two historic Magnolia Trees were deliberately destroyed -- gone. Honestly, I don't have words for how sad I felt over this. I don't know how these losses and memories can adequately be repaired at this point. I do pray that from this point forward, actions regarding the "People's White House" and all other historic monuments that belong to the "People of the United States", be discussed, planned, and fully approved by some bi-partisan committee and historical counselors before any construction ever proceeds. In fact, I think Washington, DC should be a historic "State" where changes to any of its cultural Monuments must be agreed upon by a contingent of counselors, including an architectural board, and no such decision should ever be solely made by one person (not even the President).

President Trump has been given many nicknames, one of which is "Teflon Don," referring to the fact that he seems to do a lot of things (many sketchy and some downright illegal) and yet he always seems to get away with them. Nothing sticks. It's time to make sure he doesn't get away with this. He is not a King and does not have the power to do what he's already done. He should be forced to restore the East Wing to its former glory, and he should be made to pay for it himself. We teach our kids that choices have consequences, and it's time to remind this overgrown toddler that his choices have consequences, too.

As a retired federal archaeologist who spent over 25 years fighting to protect the historic and archaeological resources of this country, I know for a fact that the removal of the East Wing was an illegal act and done with no attempt to follow any kind of compliance. There is no way that Trump should be allowed to build a structure that will overwhelm the historic structures that still remain. Nor should he be allowed to use bribe money to taint what the White House is supposed to stand for. The East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was and the Rose Garden should also be restored. Trump also needs to be blocked from making any other modification, inside or outside, to the White House or any other historic structure. In no way should a massive "ballroom" be constructed in place of the East Wing.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.
Besides, the leader of the USA shouldn't be having routine ballroom parties for their 'besties,'....they should be leading and helping the entire country with more serious matters!

I love this country in which I was born. I have studied -- and continue to study -- its history. From the get-go, mistakes were made, lies were told, influence was sought, and purchased. Close to 75% -- or more -- of the population was excluded from inclusion in the Bill of Rights, The Declaration of Independence, and our Constitution. The government was formed and established by rich, white, land-owning men, and all the rules and measures and acceptance and power rested, calm and content in their hands. And it was wrested from the general population. They NEVER gave one thought toward or for anyone at all who was not them. Not 'like them', but them. As a country, since the very beginning, those uninvited to the parties have gathered, marched, protested, paraded, pled and begged to be heard and to be granted the same rights as those in charge. Simultaneously, because of all of the above documents, and despite their exclusion, the American people dreamed the day would arrive when their rights were fulfilled, too. I am one of millions who was raised in this hope to be a viable and sustaining citizen. I held, and hold, our structures in great esteem -- the White House most of all. I watched in awe as Jackie Kennedy, in her televised tour of all her quite dedicated and hard work, explained historical references, and totally thorough restoration made at her hands. This was a house that was part mine. I knew this to be true. She, with everything she had, helped me appreciate that I might see it one day in all its magnificence...until NOW. Somebody's idiot uncle decided it was HIS house to do with as he chose without contacting the rest of the family, namely US. We the People are the US in the US of A. He destroyed the "women's wing -- a part of the our White House I will now NEVER get to view and fully appreciate. This structure, in all its glory and with all its history, needs complete and total restoration, and to be completely and totally wrested from this slob of an uncle. It is not his house. Transfer him to a Holiday/Ramada Inn. Let him destroy their property without contacting the owners of the hotels. Let him be fined, convicted, tossed in a cell, in the same manner and with the same callous and complete ignorance of We the People. Total, complete, and immediate restoration is absolutely necessary.

Moreover, it would encourage the current administration to believe it can continue to destroy public buildings to suit the preferences and whims of the President, who is, and needs to understand that he is, a TEMPORARY occupant. He was not given this building; he was granted the use of it for the duration of his limited tenure, for the convenience of the public, not for the convenience of the president.

When I rented apartments or houses in the past, I was expected to leave the premises in good condition, virtually the same as when I arrived, or I'd have to pay for the damage. Mr. Trump has made extensive damage to the building, and HE, not his donors, nor his Epstein-class acquaintances, should be required to pay to have it restored to its original condition.

Lastly, I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.
The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.
The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I’m registering my vehement opposition to this project. Why this was ever allowed to move forward in the first place is a mystery to me. Is everyone so cowed by this so-called president that they simply let him do whatever he wants?? Does no one care about the history of this very important building especially as we approach the 250th anniversary of our country?! Please stop this monstrosity of a “ballroom” and put effort into restoring what this egomaniacal man has destroyed. Thank you.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this unnecessary project, which is not so much "modernisation" as an erasure and removal of American history. The East Wing project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, and should not be permitted to move forward. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. As a high school senior from Michigan, I'll never forget our bus trip to our nation's capitol. From then on, over the years, I made a point to return several times. One of my fondest memories is having my World War II POW father visit the White House and the seat of the government he had nearly given his life to defend. We learn history best when we can relive it with people and places that have been such a huge part of it. Please restore the beauty and historical integrity of our White House and end the monstrous destruction that the current regime is raining down on it.

I oppose the proposed East Wing Ballroom for two reasons: 1. It is not congruent with the existing architecture, surrounding landscape, or historic use of the land; and, 2. It deprives existing local businesses and venues of the income associated with federal government events, and thus the local government of much-needed support and tax revenue. The ballroom would divorce the White House from its DC community and alienate the White House from its neighbors and local businesses.

No one asked me if our house could be torn apart. No one got approval from the historical society. No one filed the proper permits. No one has been open with construction monies to be used. And no one bothered to get approval from The People about this horrendous, illegal, dismantling of The People's House. The residents there are merely temporary "guests" at the invitation of The People, and have no legal or moral right to do major, historically irreparable, unnecessary alterations to OUR house. \u-10179 ?\u-8495 ? No one asked me if our house could be torn apart. No one got approval from the historical society. No one filed the proper permits. No one has been open with construction monies to be used. And no one bothered to get approval from The People about this horrendous, illegal, dismantling of The People's House. The residents there are merely temporary "guests" at the invitation of The People, and have no legal or moral right to do major, historically irreparable, unnecessary alterations to OUR house. \u-10179 ?\u-8495 ? STOP this obscene abuse Now!!

I oppose the demolition of the East Wing of the White House! This was an historic site that belonged to the American people, not the property of any individual who was in power. The destruction was begun without review by the National Capital Planning Commission. It was funded mostly by private donors. Who were these donors, and what interests did they have in the project? There was no transparency! I mourn the loss of the East Wing, and the treasures that were stored within.

The East Wing project was not officially sanctioned and is a detriment to the White House as a whole. The plans must be redesigned with historical architects in charge to keep it from being a monstrosity. This type of project should always be reviewed by experts and voted on by committee. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I oppose the proposed East Wing Ballroom for two reasons: 1. It is not congruent with the existing architecture, surrounding landscape, or historic use of the land; and, 2. It deprives existing local businesses and venues of the income associated with federal government events, and thus the local government of much-needed support and tax revenue. The ballroom would divorce the White House from its DC community and alienate the White House from its neighbors and local businesses.

As a high school senior from Michigan, I'll never forget our bus trip to our nation's capitol. From then on, over the years, I made a point to return several times. One of my fondest memories is having my World War II POW father visit the White House and the seat of the government he had nearly given his life to defend. We learn history best when we can relive it with people and places that have been such a huge part of it. Please restore the beauty and historical integrity of our White House and end the monstrous destruction that the current regime is raining down on it.

I unequivocally oppose the reckless expenditure of $300 million on a project launched without proper authorization, permits, or any meaningful design review. This is not modernization. It is the deliberate destruction of American history, carried out with staggering disregard for both law and public trust.

This project must be canceled immediately, and the East Wing must be rebuilt and restored to its original design. Anything less is an admission that rules, safeguards, and due process are optional for those with enough power or indifference.

No one is above the law. Allowing this unlawful project to proceed without holding those responsible fully accountable would be a direct insult to every law-abiding American and a dangerous erosion of the standards meant to protect our shared heritage.

If I tried to renovate my house without permits, it would be shut down faster than a New York minute and I would have to pay fines and restore it to how it was previously. Especially if it was a historic building of national significance. Why should the White House be any different? Also- I'm a taxpayer so the White House belongs to me and my fellow taxpayers- we should have had a say in the process before it happened. I want the East Wing restored back to its original, historical design.

Dear NCPC Commissioners,

In a time of economic challenges and mounting national debt, approving a $200-400 million ballroom and office expansion at the White House seems extravagant and unjustified. The current facilities have adequately hosted state functions for decades; a massive new venue is not essential. Redirecting any associated public resources or approvals toward pressing issues like affordable housing, climate resilience, or veteran services would better serve the American people. I oppose this project and call for a full cost-benefit analysis under the National Environmental Policy Act before proceeding.

Sincerely,

Jane Baudelaire

I strongly oppose building a ballroom on White House grounds. Not only was it sprung on us as a half-baked concept, the existing East Wing structure was razed before anyone knew it was happening. This project is important to only one person (current president) and not by the American people who will end up paying for it, just as we are paying for the defunct border wall. Stop this project and build back the East Wing--bigger and better, but a monument to our country rather than the self-aggrandizing ball room being shoved down our throats by the sitting president, who will soon be gone.

I strongly oppose building a ballroom on White House grounds. Not only was it sprung on us as a half-baked concept, the existing East Wing structure was razed before anyone knew it was happening. The President's unilateral decision to destroy the White House was unacceptable and an insult to all Americans. His proposal now to build a grotesque monument to himself has not gone through the appropriate process and would never be approved as proposed.

Will we have to demolish it in 2029?

I oppose the White House/Trump Administration's vision of modernizing the East Wing. They proceeded to destroy this part of our national history without consultation, review or following the rules. Hence, I believe the only money allocated should rebuild the East Wing to reflect its former design, rather than the excessive, grandiose dreams of a president who has demonstrated time after time that he seeks to aggrandize himself rather than America, ALL our people and follow our norms and laws.

His actions are an affront to those of us who obey and follow the law and, as such, should be stopped from proceeding.

The razing of the East Wing of the White House and the proposed construction of the planned gilded monstrosity is an affront to the American people and an assault on due process.
The $300 million slated to be spent on this project does not have proper authorization, and has not gone through the permitting or design review process.

Like so many other actions of this current administration, it is an action to erase a part of American history. There is no modernization in the planned gaudy ballroom that seeks solely to stroke the ego of small-minded narcissists. There is nothing American in such a project. The average American does not gild their surroundings. Those are the actions of despotic kings.

We are a representational, consititional republic. Stand up for those who are being represented, not the despot who seeks to run roughshod over our rights and freedom.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt in a thoughtful, considered, well-planned manner to represent the whole of this nation, not some elitist minority who thinks their wealth gives them the right to rule.

No one is above the law. If you permit this project to proceed, and do not hold those who broke the law accountable, you are as guilty as they are. Stand up for what is right and side with an America that is more than a rich white man's ego.

I am completely opposed to the continuation of this project. The proper process was not followed, and the use of taxpayer or donor money to pay for such a vanity project is totally wrong. The so-called ballroom would dwarf the White House; also, it is totally unnecessary and would be an eyesore aesthetically. As a taxpayer and active registered voter for over 50 years, I request, nay demand, that the project be halted completely and the East Wing be reconstructed in its original design. Thank you for allowing me to give my input.

I assume the absurdly named "East Wing Modernization Project" is the big ballroom addition.

If so, I oppose the proposal to construct a massive ballroom on the White House grounds in place of the East Wing. The scale and purpose of such a structure are fundamentally inconsistent with the historic character and civic meaning of the White House.
The White House has long reflected the principle that the President serves the public. Its architectural restraint signals that the office is not a monarchy but a constitutional role held in trust. A grand ballroom of disproportionate size—larger than many private residences and dramatically out of scale with the existing complex—undermines that tradition. It transforms a working government residence into something closer to a personal estate.

There is no functional necessity for such a structure. State events and official gatherings have been conducted for generations within existing spaces or at appropriate external venues. A permanent, oversized ceremonial hall serves no essential public purpose.
Equally concerning is the prospect of private donors financing such a project. Allowing individuals or entities to fund major structural additions to the President’s residence invites serious questions about influence, access, and the integrity of public institutions. The White House is a national symbol. It must not become a platform for private patronage.

Public resources, public land, and public symbolism should be treated with restraint and respect. The White House belongs to the American people—not to any individual officeholder's personal vision.

The decision by President Trump - a renter - to demolish the East Wing so he can erect a ballroom with his name on it with no input from anyone - demonstrates a complete disregard for his job to represent all of the people of this country, to receive input from appropriate authorities on his project, and to consider the history and meaning of the building he currently occupies as well as the office he holds. It is nothing more than another indicator of his enormous ego and his belief that all resources of this country belong to him to do with as he chooses. Someone should rent a room in one of his clubs and tear down a wall so they can see the golf course just to see how he feels about that. What a disgusting display of ego and ingratitude to the people who put him in the office of President of the United States. Shame on him and shame on the Congress for not even attempting to provide the checks and balances they are meant to provide in holding their offices as representatives of the people. When he leaves office - however that may happen - everything he has slapped his name on should be removed. What a stain on the office of the presidency his actions have been. Too bad we do not have a giant river to run through Washington to clean out the mess from this man as Hercules did the Augean stables. Thank you for taking my comment.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

The White House is the people's house as well as a National historic Landmark and National Park. The demolition of the East Wing without proper review and approval is appalling to say the least. I do not support the envisioned ball room and believe that the current resident in the people's house should personally pay for the reconstruction of the East Wing back to how it was approved in 1902 and renovated in 1942. Our tax dollars should not be used for the construction of a ballroom, especially one that was not approved through the proper channels.

The so-called renovation of the East Wing was done without thought, planning or the legal requirements required for such work. As a result, plans need to be put on hold and President Trump should be required to personally pay to have the East Wing rebuilt. To allow this project to continue under his current plan would be an insult to the history of this nation and the White House. His action is nothing more than a continuation of his efforts to advance his cult of personality that is reminiscent of Hitler's plans to rebuild the Third Reich through gaudy, ego centric, self-serving architecture. I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project as currently proposed and urge the Commision to reject the plan until proper legal processes are followed. this project began with the demolition of a 123 year old structure before obtaining required approvals from this Commision, before completing mandatory environmental assessments under the National Environmental Policy Act, and before securing congressional authorization required by federal statute for construction on federal parkland in Washington. The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. The fact that demolition has already occurred does not excuse these violations or create a fait accompli that forces approval.

The funding mechanism raises serious concerns about institutional independence and creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

To the National Capital Planning Commission:

I write to oppose the proposed East Wing Modernization Project and its centerpiece 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House complex.

The White House is not a private estate — it is the People's House, a national landmark whose architectural integrity belongs to all Americans, present and future. The proposed ballroom addition is not a modernization; it is an aggrandizement. Its scale and purpose serve the vanity and entertainment preferences of a single temporary occupant, not the enduring civic and historical mission of the White House as an institution.

The demolition of the historic East Wing with minimal public notice, and the now-proposed construction of a massive neoclassical ballroom, sets a deeply troubling precedent: that each administration may alter one of America's most iconic and irreplaceable structures to suit its personal tastes and ambitions. What is built now will be extraordinarily difficult — if not impossible — to undo.

I urge the Commission to reject this proposal, or at minimum require a full historic preservation review, robust public engagement, and independent architectural assessment before any further construction proceeds.

The White House belongs to the American people. It should reflect our shared history and values — not the preferences of any individual who temporarily calls it home.

Respectfully submitted.

I am appalled at the President's action to destroy the East Wing of the White House, the people's house, without the consent of the people - nor through any legal process. It is not his private property to raze or alter according to his whims and personal aesthetic - with the exception being only the President's private quarters. I am also opposed to his plans to remodel the Kennedy Center, and plans to add monuments in his name to the Washington landscape - our nation's capital - without polling, approval, or consideration of the electorate or those who represent us. I oppose his erasing of the history embedded in our nation's public buildings without consent. His actions to build monuments to himself are selfish and obscene in the face of the austerity the American people are currently facing because of the rising costs of affordability and cuts to programs that support the health and welcome of those most in need in the United States.

The razing of the East Wing of the White House was done with flagrant disregard for all required authorizations, permits, or design review. No one, not even the President of the United States, can disregard the respect that American citizens have for the history of OUR country. This was OUR East Wing, not his, and he had NO right to destroy OUR building without following the process which ensured that each citizen who owned the East Wing had the opportunity to provide input or raise objections in advance. Each citizen is expected to abide by the law; allowing the President of the United States to flippantly and randomly destroy US government buildings which do not belong to him cannot be condoned or supported in any way. And, the design of any proposed replacement of the East Wing CANNOT be allowed to overshadow one of the most beloved historical structures in our great country - the White House. The obscenity being proposed as a replacement should be stopped immediately.

The proposed design is an affront to the historic, dignified visual statement that is the White House.

The White House is the People's House. It should be a proud symbol, not look like an accessory to a gilded, boated party pad.

The proposed scale, footprint, and design of the new East Wing are absurd. The proportions to the White House are cartoonish and undignified. The supposed purpose of the ballroom is to hold state dinners not stadium performances.

Demolishing the existing East Wing was an insult to the country. This inflated ego project ball room, with its excess and garish elements, does not reflect the stature of the highest office of our country. It tells the world "We only value opulence, entertaining, and ego inflation, not the concerns of our citizens and matters of running the country."

Obviously the the East Wing must be replaced, since it was so ham-fistedly destroyed, but not with this monstrosity of a vanity project.

A tasteful design, that does not dwarf the White House, returns the historic offices to the East Wing, and can still accommodate an event area, is more than possible.

There are rules and laws this nation was built on and the current administration needs to follow them. This project needs to be cancelled and rebuilt to previous design, at the president's expense. This is a stain on the nations history.

The east wing was beautiful the way it was. It's a disgrace what's being done to it. And for what? A place to hold "immortalize" a man who has been testing this country apart day by day, brick by brick? There is no reason for modernization. American doesn't need to be modernized. The white house is essentially a museum and you would never think to modernize the museums in New york, chicago or anywhere. This is just a big show of money to make a sacred space into a hub for tech billionaires to formulate get richer quicker schemes while I'm trying to help my newly grieving grandfather pay for rent after my grandmother passed.

It's time to put this show to an end and focus on what's important…and it's NOT a billionaires ego.

The reported demolition of the East Wing of the White House and plans to replace it with a new ballroom should be reversed because such an action would undermine the historic integrity, functional purpose, and symbolic meaning of one of the most recognizable civic spaces in the United States.

First, the White House is not simply a residence or event venue; it is a living historic site that embodies more than two centuries of American governance. While the East Wing is newer than the original executive mansion—expanded significantly in the 20th century—it has itself become historically significant. It houses key offices, including those of the First Lady and White House social staff, and supports the ceremonial and diplomatic work of the presidency. Demolishing it would erase part of the architectural evolution that reflects changing roles and responsibilities within the executive branch.

Second, replacing the East Wing with a large ballroom risks shifting the balance between governance and spectacle. The White House already includes formal entertaining spaces, most notably the East Room, which has hosted state dinners, bill signings, award ceremonies, and moments of national mourning. The building's design intentionally blends function with restrained dignity. Constructing a grand ballroom could prioritize opulence over institutional continuity, subtly redefining the public's perception of the presidency—from a constitutional office rooted in democratic tradition to a venue centered on pageantry.

Third, preservation is a bipartisan civic responsibility. The White House has undergone renovations before—most dramatically during the Truman renovation under Harry S. Truman—but those efforts aimed to stabilize and preserve the structure, not replace key components for aesthetic or entertainment expansion. That renovation reinforced the building's core while maintaining its historic appearance. In contrast, demolishing an entire wing to construct a new entertainment facility would represent a significant departure from the longstanding principle of preservation-first stewardship.

Additionally, the White House functions as a global symbol of American continuity. Foreign dignitaries, heads of state, and citizens alike understand its spaces as part of a shared civic narrative. Removing a substantial portion of the complex could raise concerns about the politicization of national heritage sites. Historic buildings connected to democratic governance require restraint and long-term thinking; they belong not to a single administration, but to the American people across generations.
Finally, there are practical and fiscal considerations. Major demolition and new construction at a highly secure and operational site would be enormously expensive and disruptive. In an era when federal resources face competing priorities—from infrastructure to veterans' services—allocating substantial funds to build a new ballroom may be difficult to justify.

For these reasons—historic preservation, institutional symbolism, fiscal responsibility, and respect for civic continuity—the demolition of the East Wing and construction of a new ballroom should be reconsidered. Renovation, restoration, and thoughtful adaptation can meet evolving needs without sacrificing the architectural and democratic heritage embodied by the White House.

I am against the proposed creation of the construction of the Ballroom. The size and scope eclipses the historic structure that should be the main focus of the People's House, the White House. The destruction of the East Wing prior to any permits, public discussion, or input from historical preservation was done without any consideration. This is not the property of one individual, but the property of the American public, any improvements should be done with American taxpayer dollars and with oversight. This is not a Trump golf course, corporate or residential building. This building is a symbol of our independence and should not be changed without consideration to history

I strongly oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. If, in fact, the East Wing needs modernization, proper planning protocols and permissions should have been followed and sought prior to the demolition of the wing. Further construction on this project should be canceled until proper assessment of the site and appropriate design options -- keeping in mind the government's needs, building's function, and historical value -- should be considered and approved. Among the options under consideration should be the rebuilding and restoration of the East Wing to its former design.

The destruction of the East Wing is an attempt to erase parts of our shared history and to renovate and reconstruct an alternative history and mythology. The proposed ballroom not only insults the shared American identity and our collective memory, but it will in no way benefit the people who made the White House possible in the first place. The ballroom will not be a center for healing, intellectual dialogue, repairing relationships or to celebrate human flourishing. It will be nothing more than a monument to one man's ego, avarice, and addiction to decadence and authoritarianism.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

To Whom it May Concern,

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding citizens.

Thank you for your time.

I think thus project should be stopped. It was initiated without using the proper channels. I feel that “we the people” will end up paying for a private venue that most of us don’t want or need. The money should be used to return it to its former condition.

I am deeply concerned about the planned 'ballroom' development. The design is garish and not in keeping with the aesthetic of the people's house. The cost is astronomical and we all know is an excuse for Trump to profit even more from the presidency. And it is a disgrace that any single person can just decide to tear down a historically significant building without following rules or processes, and get zero consequences. This commission should require Trump to rebuild the original structure from his personal funds and require all 'donated' funds for the ballroom project to be distributed to nonprofits around the US who are struggling to preserve our historic landmarks and buildings.

Hazardous asbestos has been undercovered and no safety precautions have been taken. The size of this project will over power the White House.

The East Wing of the White House was demolished illegally and none of the appropriate processes and procedures were followed before that demolition was begun. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were donated towards the destruction and unapproved replacement of the previously extant historically designated East Wing. All of that money should be recovered and used to support recreation of the original East Wing. All of the decision makers responsible for the destruction of the East Wing should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and they should be held financially liable for any of the cost of replacement of the East Wing that is not covered by the funds that were donated towards the destruction and replacement of the east Wing.

This is the people's house and grounds and it is sickening to me to see a sitting president just decide to tear into any part of the people's house in order to place a golden ballroom to satisfy his own bloated ego. The demolition should never have been allowed to happen in the first place and I completely support the National Parks in their endeavor to block the new construction. If anything, the money that has been donated, if indeed that is actually what has happened, should be used to restore the East Wing to some semblance of what is was before. -Mary Hanson, United States citizen.

The destruction of the old East Wing is a travesty. What's planned to replace it is not a "modernization" project, but a gaudy tasteless ballroom. The proposed project should be scrapped and a new East Wing, proportionate to the White House and designed by architects with historical perspective, should be built.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House was done rashly and without any authorization at all. Just because a president temporarily resides in the White House, the people's house, does not give him the right to tear it down. The plan for the ballroom should not be approved and the East Wing should be restored to its previous design. Please do not approve this gross and illegal desecration of the White House. All changes must go through the appropriate channels. We must insist on this and not allow the whims of one occupant to decide what happens to this historic treasure that belongs to all of us.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest. The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

The former East Wing building that was removed during the modernization process should be faithfully rebuilt to honor its architectural and historical significance. Decisions that alter or erase historic structures tied to the people's house deserve transparency, preservation review, and public accountability. No one — not even Donald Trump — has the right to dismantle history without appropriate approval and respect for established preservation standards.

Rebuilding this structure would affirm that stewardship of history rises above any single administration and belongs to the American people.

Restoring the East Wing to its original design and footprint provides balance to the White House. It also provides a barrier to prevent the 1000 revelers from accessing the White House to keep it safe.

The Ballroom size will Dwarf the iconic White House and is not needed or necessary.

I oppose the demolition of the East Wing of the White House. This was done without proper review, public input, or permits and all to satisfy the ego of an out of control housing developer looking to add his own garish touch on the Peoples' House. Private funding for the project is being solicited but seem more like companies that are contributing are hoping to curry favor with the current administration.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I am so grateful to lodge this formal complaint concerning Donald Trump's unlawful desecration of the East Wing of the White House.

In my opinion, the Trump presidency has been an inglorious string of ugly, violent, and ill-considered autocratic spasms, which have cumulatively shattered innumerable democratic norms, terminally threatened our rule of law, and, as in this case, visibly desecrated nearly everything this vulgar man has ever touched, either by putting his name or face on it, or by allowing his billionaire friends to recklessly toy with it, or by indecently splattering gold everywhere… gold trinkets, gold trophies, gold cherubs, and gold tchochkes. Trump's every instinct is gross and/or corrupt.

Therefore, the response I wish to record for Trump's Beautiful Ballroom is HELL NO.

Under no circumstance should we EVER allow this shallow, tasteless, ignorant, and unprincipled man to tear down and/or renovate and/or rebuild any architectural aspect of the People's House, unless any such proposed changes undergo the same reviews to which any other President would have been subjected under regular order.

Back in October, when the East Wing of the White House was being demolished, with little or no warning, it felt like a scene straight out of a dystopian sci-fi film. Dire visions of alien invasions came to mind. Or a sinister plot by terrorists on the payrolls of foreign adversaries… But, this B-movie was being directed by a Mad King, a man who had already, conveniently, fired any commissioner who might have reviewed his plans for such wretched destruction. We would then learn it was Trump's desire for an opulent gold-encrusted ballroom which was the catalyst for this national nightmare.

The outrage over this unexpected demolition was profound. And our emotional response was completely understandable, given that all of this happened during the height of governmental dysfunction. In fact, the destruction was taking place during the seventh week of a whole-of-government shutdown. A jarring juxtaposition, indeed.

While ballrooms and country clubs are a must-have for any self-respecting dictator… And the Trump administration, which is approximately 40% billionaires and 60% FOXnews hosts, does need somewhere to insulate itself from the rest of society. From the poors...

A shiny new $400 million Shakedown Palace would be nothing more than an influence-peddling arena that regular folk would never set foot in.... A place where Trump would sell his meme coins and crypto in exchange for favors for foreign oligarchs... A den of inequity where the Bezoses and Zuckermans would be free to manipulate the world's dumbest despot... A gold-plated alpha arena where young MAGA bucks, like Don Jr. and Big Balls, might try to bag themselves their next hot MAGA trad wives…

The fact we learned of Trump's grand plans for this expletive ballroom the very same weekend that Trump hosted a Great Gatsby-themed party at Mar-a-Lago could not have been more tone deaf. We were treated to the unholiest split-screen of an homogeneous crowd of black-tied white oligarchs, and other Palm Beach elites, punctuated by women in swimsuits lolling around in giant champagne glasses, catered to largely by immigrants on HB-2 visas… While our historic seat of government was being scraped from the earth.

Irony died for the thousandth time that weekend... after reportedly bashing in its own skull with a golden FIFA Peace Prize then bleeding out on golden polyester carpeting.

Please help us to rectify Trump's craven affront to the dignity of the White House.

We desperately need something of value to survive the Trump presidency.

Thank you for your consideration to this matter.

This ballroom is awful. It’s far too big for the structure - it dwarfs the White House itself. I’d prefer to leave the ruin of the East Wing than to see it desecrated with that abomination of a structure. Hideous. Very much against it. It needs to be a third of the size.

As a voter and US citizen, I have had the pleasure of going to the White House and in its original historical condition.
We call it the peoples house because quite literally in is owned and operated by the people. It has temporary tenants in it every four years and as since the conception of it. Over time its tenants have created history there.
A rich history of a combination of all of its tenants. No one Renter should have the ability or permission to race all of that history. It's negligent it's ignorant, and it's extremely concerning to the people who own the house.
As is the responsibility of every temporary tenant, they must seek the approval of the landlord to make changes. End of course when you vacate the premises, they need to be returned to the state that they were on the day of tenants occupation. This must be done at the tenants cost after all they don't own the house.

I oppose this East Wing Modernization Project for many reasons:
No Capital Planning approval
No environmental assessments done
No congressional approval
All done without proper authorization by Federal Law for construction on federal parkland in Washington

The funding is being provided by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with this “ administration.”
This creates unacceptable conflicts of interest .

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people.

Of course, other presidents have made controversial changes in the White House over the years, but none were done with the absolute disregard for laws regarding historic buildings and public opinion.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

I oppose the spending of $3-400 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but these has been a complete razing of American history by tearing down the old east wing. The new facility will be roughly 90,000 square feet or about 60% larger than the Executive Residence. Alongside support and service spaces, the new wing is planned to contain a 22,000 square foot ballroom, designed to seat around 1,000 guests, based on information presented to the National Capital Planning Commission in January 2026. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.I want this project, as now outlined, canceled.The government should be required to comply with the following processes before new construction at the White House:
The National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) has review authority over new construction on federal properties in the capital region, including the White House, and NCPC has exercised that authority in recent years with the approval of a new security fence and a tennis pavilion at the White House.They should have authority over a new east wing, NOT one man, the President
The Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) should have an advisory review before new construction takes place at the White House. These review processes should also include the opportunity for the American public to comment on the project.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

that it is a house of the people. This proposed ballroom addition diminishes not only the White House itself, but also the principle of equality which is a bedrock of our nation. The "East Wing Modernization" project is an illegal destruction of US historical monument and should be stopped immediately. The projected spending of $300 million on this project is deeply disrespectful of the US citizens, who never asked for this project, nor never conceded permission for it to take place. The east wing should be returned to its exact former state and all attempts at "modernization" be halted effective immediately. To permit the modernization project to move forward would be akin to admitting that President Trump and his administration is above the law-- he is not, and this project must be stopped, and due process allowed to prevail.

Greetings.
I am appalled. President Trump – a tenant, not an owner -- has destroyed the East Wing, and done so without Congress's required approval. He has another plan to destroy the flavor of the White House with a Versailles-like "ballroom."
Although many of us Americans like to watch royalty and their gilded decorations from a distance, we do not want royalty at the top of our government, destroying our White House.
This "modernization project" must be stopped. The White House belongs to all Americans. It is part of our history. It is being trashed by a tenant who isn't following explicit and implicit rules and who expresses contempt for so much that we value. He will be gone in 3 years.
I am ashamed that we are letting this destruction happen to the People's House. It is essential to stop, to restore the East Wing in a way architecturally consistent with the White House we have valued across time.
Thank you.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.
To permit this project now would be an affront to all Americans.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Thank you,

It is not a modernization of the East Wing, it is the grotesque destruction of our heritage and a much revered symbol of America.
This was done precipitously and without the proper authorization or permits.
It is an abomination, as was the destruction of the Rose Garden, whose sole purpose is to feed an insatiable ego.

It is also an insult to the homeless and those enduring food insecurity and/or crushing medical debt. The exorbitant amount of money being wasted on this could feed and house our citizens.

Dear Sir ir Madam,

The destruction of the people's White House is further evidence of the raping of our country. The East Wing is rich with history which means nothing to the current "occupant" of the White House. If Trump goes forth with his plans the East wing will just become a tacky testament to Trump's ego and a further snub to We the People. We do not want a vile, gilded reminder of Trump's years in the White House. Save our East wing as a symbol of restoring and saving our democracy.

I was appalled the day I first saw photos of the White House desecration. I still am. There was no public comment period, no permit process, nothing. Trump tore down years of history, in a building that belongs to all the American people. Not Trump nor his family. It's the People's building.
I want Trump to personally pay to have the East Wing and any damaged structures or adjacent grounds repaired & restored immediately. There should be no expense spared in replicating what we have lost. That man should be forced to pay for all of this out of his millions not ours. Hello,

While most of regular citizens will never have the opportunity to visit the White House and will merely see portions of it on television, it should be treated with the dignity and respect of the SYMBOL of democracy that it is in the world. The East Wing and ball room should be built with input from folks across all walks of life and truly represent the American people, the culture that was here before and after the founding of our country.

Growing up in the DODDS schools, we always celebrated the American melting pot idea, of multiple heritages, working together to form a more perfect union. Respecting where we came from, celebrating that our historical backgrounds unified make us the special nation we seek to remain.

With respect to the planning commission, it would be a truly noble endeavor to make this addition to the White House one that is well-thought, planned and truly reflects what it means to be American, from before the Founding to present, and that through the diversity of culture, politics and ideology, despite our imperfections, we persevere and move forward together, stronger.

And please... reconsider the gold plating... timelessness is better than gaudiness.

Hello

I am writing in opposition of the White House ballroom project. I was profoundly disappointed in the President's unilateral decision to destroy the Rose Garden and The East Wing of the White House. I understand Presidents have changed the WH historically but these changes are expected to follow processes and required approvals

The proposed plan for the ballroom should be rejected. The size and scale of this proposed structure totally overshadows the iconic appearance of the White House. All required reviews and normal approval steps must be enforced. The purported funding for this project from wealthy donors also deserves very close scrutiny and audit because of the very high likelihood of corruption and grift. The current administration has clearly demonstrated disregard and disrespect for laws, policies, and jurisdictions over National Park domains.

This project should not proceed. The White House belongs to We The People, not to one person. If the East Wing needed renovation and/or updating, then that should have been studied and presented to The People and to appropriate historical and architectural entities for review.

I live in Minnesota. I have only visited Washington D.C once for a brief time. I didn’t even have the time to take a tour of the White House. Yet I, like most Americans, carry a vision of that building in our minds and our hearts. It is the People’s House. The president is there only temporarily. Every president before Trump has respected this House for its beauty, history, and symbolism. There is a reason procedures are in place to ensure that its beauty, history, and symbolism are preserved and respected. Every repair, every remodel, every addition to the House and the grounds have gone through the proper review and approval process until now.

Trump has destroyed the East Wing. Destroyed it. He has trampled the rights of the American people to have our House properly cared for. He has ignored the proper procedures for review and approval. This cannot be allowed to stand. Permission for his outlandish ballroom must be denied. Trump must be made to pay for the reconstruction of the East Wing as it was before the demolition equipment arrived. The East Wing and the rule of law must be rebuilt. Thank you.

The the Esteemed Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

As an American citizen, designer, architectural historian, and retired collegiate professor of architecture, I oppose Mr. Trump's ballroom project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. His so-called East Wing Modernization Project modernizes nothing. Rather, it is a narcissistic vanity project that constitute a complete razing of an important, indeed foundational, part of American history.

This project must be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design prior to this barbarous act. I also want a full assessment of everything that was destroyed, or even perhaps, stolen, from the interiors, portraits, furnishings, fittings, and trims, and to have them returned.

The East Wing does not belong to Mr. Trump; he is only allowed to use it for a short time. It belongs to me and all other American citizens. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Respectfully,
Katherine Rinne

Regarding Proposed Work Affecting the East Wing of the White House

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comment on the proposed construction activity associated with the East Wing of the White House. I respectfully urge the Commission to ensure that any approved work reflects the highest standards of architectural stewardship, historical sensitivity, and national dignity.

The White House is not only the residence and workplace of our nation’s leadership; it is a symbol recognized around the world as an expression of American character. The East Wing, in particular, carries a legacy shaped by generations of careful design decisions intended to balance functionality with the classical restraint that defines the broader Executive Mansion. Any contemporary intervention should honor that lineage.

As you evaluate plans, I encourage the Commission to require that all materials, design elements, and construction methods harmonize with the historic fabric of the site. This includes preserving sightlines, maintaining proportional coherence, and ensuring that modern needs do not overshadow the architectural language that has come to represent stability, continuity, and the enduring ideals of the United States.

Thoughtful planning today will ensure that future generations inherit a White House complex that remains both functional and faithful to its heritage. I appreciate the Commission's longstanding commitment to protecting the integrity of nationally significant spaces, and I trust that this project will be guided by that same commitment.

Thank you for your consideration.

Personally, I feel the the abrupt destruction of the East Wing is a huge loss, both in terms of Historic Preservation and the concept of following rules. I would respectfully insist that the Commision follow every

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and Park owned by the American people which has housed presidents since 1800. Each president is a temporary tenant, not the property's owner, and is bound by law and public trust.
The unauthorized demolition of the historic East Wing—without review, permits, or Congressional oversight—violates both the law and the trust of the American people, who were denied any chance to comment on what should have been a proposal, not a unilateral act. This is not a modernization project but rather a destruction of American history.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored to enhance the experience of American citizens, not to enhance the whims and desires of one individual or corrupt corporate fundraising efforts. Whether the money to pay for this ballroom is public or private is not the issue, although private funding should not be allowed, it's the way the president went about it. I OPPOSE the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The ballroom project broke several preservation laws. These laws are in place to protect the.nation's natural and cultural resources.

The ballroom project did not have proper authorization, permits, or design review. The building is an abomination.

I want this project stopped and the East Wing rebuilt to match its historic design.

Those that supported or funded this project also need to be held accountable.

It is with great hope that the Trust and current administration can come to common terms and prevent the excessive White House ballroom from becoming a reality. As has been said frequently, the WH is the people's house and this project certainly does not reflect our nation. We are not a people that has to present royal airs, wealth and bravado. The world knows what America has done and been - a people offering others hope, resources, protection, and transformation. That is our role. That is our legacy. That is our wealth.

I'm a citizen of our great country. I am saddened and shocked that, without due course, "our" beloved Whitehouse, at the whim of one person, was assaulted, defaced and dishonored. I am sad for my grandchildren that what we are passing on to them is not a complete and true history of our beloved nation.
Where was anyone in charge to say no to the whims of a man child bent on defiling American history in solid, visually pleasing real time? If not one voice, then why weren't everyone's voices enough to halt the defacing of such a revered symbol of America.

Sincerely,

Heartbroken, proud American

This represents a huge disconnect of this administration and its ability to provide for the average American. I don’t want a ridiculous ballroom. I would rather have healthcare, affordable housing, clean air and water, less billionaires, and a President who is presidential and not petulant, vengeful, and stealing from this country. I am completely opposed to this project. The complete demolition of the East Wing took place over a two-day period without the typical independent reviews, congressional approvals, or public comment periods. Not only is this illegal, it is an affront to all Americans and is a blatant attempt by the current President to eradicate history so that he can erect a gaudy "monument" to himself...a monument that no one wants. And this is not his only effort to undeservedly stamp his name into history. Look what he's done to the Kennedy Center, the U.S. Institute for Peace, National Park Passes, the Rose Garden, a new class of battleships, etc. and what he's planning to do with the proposed "Independence Arch." It is time for someone to stop all of this madness and that someone is the National Capital Planning Commission. Thank you in advance for your consideration to this request.

This project, which has been euphemistically named a 'modernization' project, is a wholesale razing of American History. I have worked on land use planning ans a local zoning board member and no such project would ever have been allowed without a thorough site plan review and permits, especially in light of its historic importance. The Trump regime's destruction of the building without any solid approved plan in place to restore the structure is an affront to American taxpayers, and typical of their 'act now, ask forgiveness later' approach. The proposed ballroom, (which has never been requested by any prior president), is way too big and will engulf the existing structure. I am adamantly opposed to such a building being constructed in place of the East Wing, which served as the visitors center and provided an important historic educational foundation for visitors for decades, and the East Wing must be restored. To allow for destruction at the whim of a president who wishes to build a hideous gold leafed ballroom to assuage his own ego is an outrageous affront to all Americans.

I strongly oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. In addition, the demolition of the East Wing, a publicly owned governmental building, was completed without public awareness. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations already holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are seeking to fund a construction project at the temporary residence of this president who controls their contracts. This is not charitable giving. This appears to be an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic government structures without following the law.

There was no reason to tear it down in the first place and it was not his right to do so, it is our house and he is a renter there. No renter can come in and demolish part of a house or building they rent. The US citizens deserve it to be rebuild and done so exactly as it was before it was demolished. The White House is owned by the American people. It is a National Historic Landmark, a National Park, and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and National Park, it belongs to the people of the United States and as a designated historic landmark, must set an example by adhering to the National Historic Presrvation Act. It has already violated the review process PRIOR to demolition. That should trigger fines on the violator. The Section 106 review process clearly states the agency "must consider the effects on historic properties and "seek ways to avoid, minimize or mitigate" any adverse effects on historic properties." The scaleof this addition diminishes the White House visually. The cost and scale of this project are exhorbitant for a space will be of little or no use to the public and the commander in chief. The project should be scaled back and include a use that is of service to the public, rather than private party room for the wealthy. This "renovation" flies in the face and of democracy "of the people, by th epeople,and for the people." It's scale and intended use are an adverse effect. Please reject this proposal.

The now-destroyed East Wing of the White House had a useful public purpose and stood in good proportion to the rest of the White House buildings. The proposed plan for a 90,000 sq.ft. ballroom is wildly out of proportion to the rest of the White House buildings. It would ruin the historic character of the White House complex. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. This project will represent the United States for decades and decades and deserves careful consideration and consultation to ensure that it conforms to good design, in keeping with the remaining portions of the historic building. Construction should not begin until a complete design has been shared with all relevant organizations, but also with the American people. This is our shared heritage. Please withhold any further consideration until all plans have been shared widely. In addition, the leveling of the East Wing without any approval or public engagement was outrageous, and should bear negatively on any trust that details will be worked out as the project proceeds.

The White House is an historic building that belongs to all people of the United States, not just the current occupant. There is a process for making changes to historic buildings that was not followed. This destruction must stop and an inquiry into the money acquired by the president needs to happen.

Dear sane people,
Help! The POTUS has torn off a third of our treasured White House and is threatening to build the biggest monstrosity to himself and gild it in the most pimpish way!
Please, please stop him before he ruins our image. He already tore out the roses and paved the yard! He's like the absolute worst neighbor with the absolute worst taste has moved in to the favorite house in the neighborhood and threatening to paint it in garish colors while paving the green spaces.

You really must stop him, he's mad you know. Look at his plans for the Kennedy Center!!!!!!

Please, if you value our image of class, please stop him!

Devastating! After lying about not touching the historical wing, to see them tear it down was gut-wrenching. He has no sense of pride, authenticity, history. The East Wing was where the First Lady worked and took care of daily business. Just because he has a trophy wife that’s useless doesn’t mean other wives haven’t or won’t do good for our country. Shame on him for having so little respect for women, the People’s house, and the legacy that came before him.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

The illegal East Wing demolition shows a blatant disrespect for the government itself and its existing protocols.

There are so few instances of accountability for this rogue regime to the principles of public service, separation of powers, and constitutional law. It was undemocratic and without precedent that the East Wing was demolished with NO notice and NO public consultation. This is a moral harm, since the White House belongs to the American people, many of whom were horrified to see the East Wing demolished with no notice or public input. The American public did not ask for and does not want a ballroom that dwarfs the White House and to which the public will have little to no access. The private funding of this project raises serious ethical concerns regarding access to the White House by corporate donors, favorable treatment, and what the President and administration officials may have promised or implied the funders would receive—all outside of public scrutiny. This project is an insult to Americans and should not proceed.

The White House, the People's House, does not need a ballroom. It is neither a hotel nor a convention center; DC has plenty of those. There is public space available nearby (I believe it's the Commerce Building) and the central space at the National Building Museum is huge. Union Station has a lovely and large space.

The White House, the People's House, is not a Palace. It was deliberately designed and built with modest dimensions and restrained aesthetics. Visitors to DC are often surprised at how small it is. The Georgian style is intentionally symmetrical.

The occupant of The White House is not a King; he works for us and lives there as our temporary guest. He should not be able to rebuild it to his own tastes, no matter who is paying for it.

A new East Wing should be constructed to replace the East Wing that was demolished. It should be similar in size, shape, and placement to the West Wing, to maintain the symmetry of the entire structure. If it is determined that the East Wing should house a ballroom, so be it--but it should be made to fit into the original footprint and design.

This is the People’s house- it does NOT belong to the temporary occupant. Unapproved construction costs expended and earmarked should be returned to the People, as it was OUR tax dollars used to fund it, without our consent!

The current administration's handling of the White House ballroom underscores a clear failure to follow established processes. Instead of adhering to transparent procedures and engaging the appropriate stakeholders, decisions surrounding the space were pushed forward in a way that sidestepped accountability. A room that should symbolize order and institutional integrity instead reflects a breakdown in the very standards it is meant to uphold. When processes are blatantly ignored, trust erodes—and the White House ballroom has become a visible reminder of that lapse. As a result, the White House ballroom feels less like a space for the people and more like a stage set for political theater. It's grand, yes, but that grandeur often overshadows the real issues that deserve attention. Instead of serving as a symbol of transparency or public engagement, it will become a backdrop for carefully curated moments that don't reflect the everyday realities Americans face. A room that should represent unity and openness will end up highlighting how distant political leadership can feel from the public it's meant to serve. Please do not allow this project to move forward as planned.

I was shocked when the razing began, and I'm still shocked! This, to me, was a total disregard for the beautiful White House that was historic and for the will of the American people. We don't need a huge, glitzy ballroom! I was appalled when I saw all the cheap gold decorations in the Oval Office. If DJT wants to do remodeling, let him do it on property he owns, not on a temporary residence that represents American history!! I'm totally against this project! Restore the wing to its original condition.

This is an atrocity, defamation of a historical building and a blatant waste of tax payers money. There's no money for healthcare, medicaid or school lunches, but money for a Ba'al Room??? Absolutely NOT! Trump must be made to pay back all the money he stole from the American people. Also let's not distract from the Epstein Files!!! That's what this is a part of.

Trump has clearly broken the law by not getting permission for this destruction: Federal Monuments: Under 18 U.S.C. § 1361, destroying government property (which includes monuments on federal land) can result in up to 10 years in prison if the damage exceeds $100, or a maximum fine of $250,000.

Make him pay to restore it and lock him up!!!

The purpose of this letter is to add my voice to those who object to the construction of a large ballroom intended to replace the demolished East Wing of the White House. The nation is not in need of an oversized ballroom; particularly not one on such a large scale that it competes with the architectural design of the White House itself. For this and other reasons I strongly object to the construction of a large scale ballroom as an addition to the White House.

I vehemently oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. This is the people's house, always has been, and now it's just another thing Trump and his regime have destroyed here in America. He demolished without any legalities being followed, assuming that approval would come later. We cannot let him treat the White House as his own, it is not. So he shouldn't be allowed to perform his shady business tactics as the leader of our country.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This is a clear conflict of interest and I don't trust that any of these business dealings are done in good faith for the benefit of anyone but Trump and his billionaire family and friends. This is blatant corruption out in the open and it cannot continue.

I fully believe this project should be halted and all damage made to the east wing repaired in order to restore to the people what was taken from history.

As usual Trump's administration followed no rules or laws, did his bidding without question, and now history is sitting in a pile of rubble. There is no limit to what he will do if given an inch. He's already taken five miles and must be stopped.

I vehemently oppose the $300 million being spent on this project at a time when there are far more urgent national priorities and critical infrastructure needs demanding attention. Roads, bridges, public safety systems, disaster resilience, and community investments across this country require funding. Choosing to allocate this level of taxpayer money to this effort reflects misplaced priorities.

This building does not belong to any single individual or administration — it belongs to the American people. It is part of our shared national heritage. Decisions of this magnitude must reflect stewardship, transparency, and respect for the public trust.

There are established legal processes, permitting requirements, and design review standards specifically created to protect our national buildings and historic assets. Those safeguards exist for a reason. They were not properly followed here. Ignoring these procedures undermines accountability and weakens the very systems designed to preserve and protect public property.

No one is above the law. Allowing this project to proceed without consequence for bypassing required authorization and review would set a dangerous precedent. I call for the immediate cancellation of this project and for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored in accordance with its former design — through lawful, transparent, and properly reviewed processes.

Public resources deserve public accountability.

However this thing is far too big and doesn't belong looming over the White House and remaining West wing. I'm also livid at this administration for not following the procedures and processes related to these types of projects. I also doubt that the money from this is coming from donations. This administration seems to burn money it doesn't really have. You need to set up an ongoing audit of the "funds" they say they have for the project. I actually have no problem if you deny the continuation of the project and just fill in the huge whole they created. Let them function without an East wing.

Honorable Commissioners,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project, because it has nothing to do with modernization and everything to do with the utter destruction of a historic portion of the White House, the People's House.

I want this unauthorized project cancelled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored. Nothing can truly replace the historic details of the original structure, but a new East Wing will be a reminder that our shared history is important to everyone, and no one person has the right to destroy our heritage.

The President of the United States is not the owner of the White House, rather he is a temporary resident who should honor and respect what it represents. No one, not even the president, is above the law.

Respectfully,

Janice L. Beutter

The White House is The People's House. The occupants of each administration are temporary residents who are elected to serve all of the American people. The addition of a massive ballroom in no way serves the people. Allowing "donors" to fund the project gives the impression that one needs only to contribute to this proposed plan to curry favor with the current administration. The destruction of the historical East Wing was an unauthorized and unlawful action. That action must be countered with a lawfully authorized and planned restoration of our White House. The plans must pass through the proper process, as every other administration has done when alterations to the White House were requested. Attaching a massive ballroom that is out of scale and unnecessary to a building of such historic meaning is simply unacceptable. It is understood that beneath the destroyed East Wing, the Presidential Emergency Operations Center (PEOC) was located. There must be oversight of the plans for a reconstruction of PEOC as well. Modernization is one thing that is reasonable, assembling a ridiculous ballroom on top of it is not. Protect the legacy of the historic People's House, and do not allow the proposed ballroom to go forward at our White House.

The White House East Wing's destruction is a travesty, unauthorized and an affront to any US citizen who acknowledges the power of American history. It must be returned to its former condition, the perpetrators should be prosecuted, and the costs absorbed by their own assets.

ESTRUCTION of the EAST WING of the White House without review, permits, or Congressional oversight VIOLATED THE LAW. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. The American people own it. I'm amazed that it even got destroyed. We have more procedures in our own local government than was followed at the national level.

The National Capital Planning Commission should require any reconstruction of the East Wing to match the historic design and size of the original structure and be funded only by Congress. If Congress does not approve funding and a design keeping with the building's historical character, the land should be left vacant.

Respectfully Submitted to Those Whom It Concerns:

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

In my opinion, this is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of facets of American history, American social history, a desecration of social mores of civility.

I want this project as it is currently planned cancelled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design with improvements that foster social mores of civility, diplomacy befitting avenues that support today's and our national future and America's contribution to making our world a fair, just, and safe place for all human beings.

No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration to this message.

Very truly yours,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

I strongly object to this project! Donald Trump demolished a piece of history without following the legal guidelines and he is trying to build a vanity project that the American people don't need or want. The size of the proposed ballroom would make the White House look like it had a cancerous growth added to its side. I still don't understand how a demolition company could destroy a historic building in good conscience.
Please do everything possible to deny this project and return the East Wing to its original specs.

I strongly oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. From the start, this $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. This in and of itself should be reason to stop. I certainly couldn't build a back yard shed without the right oversight and permits so why should a construction project of such import be allowed to proceed with complete dismissal of oversight requirements These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Our laws and regulations matter and ensuring our public buildings abide by these regulations should matter too

Building a ballroom while American citizens don't have decent healthcare and we have homeless in every city is an abomination. There should've been a review before this was started, but it's too late. The American people don't want a fancy ballroom that none of us will ever see the inside of. Do not build this. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. There has been a dishonest even an illegal effort by the current administration to go around the law to undertake whatever it feels its wants to do and as an American I oppose the spending of $300 million or more on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, required permits, or even appropriate design reviews. And for sure, for such an extensive investment, it is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Furthermore, the initial estimated cost of 300-400 million dollars does not come close to the persistent cost of maintenance, upkeep and staffing for such an extravagant facility which will have a very limited yearly service to this nation. This project optimizes grandiose thinking that is not in America's interest, undertaken during a time when, under the guise of fiscal restraint, democratically created institutions, programs (both national and international) have been gutted or eliminated. These hallmark institutions and programs did more to illuminate our nation's standards and commitment to our values than any elitists ballroom could. This marble palace will forever stand as a monument to a nation's elite, callous and entitled leadership. This is not an upgrade or a modification to existing structures or facilities which have been undertaken by previous administrations. It will forever be seen for what it is. An extravagant salve to one man's ego by those willing to place loyalty to one-man above one's country, the rule of law and even decency which is a value most Americans stand proud in support.

I'm writing as an architect and concerned citizen to voice my vehement opposition to the so-called "East Wing Modernization" on both aesthetic and, perhaps even more significantly, symbolic levels.

The proposed addition vastly overshadows the White House in scale, diminishing its significance and presence.

Moreover, the optics of having a posh, gilded ballroom in the White House send an egregious and inappropriate message about what our country represents. The United States is not about wealth and ostentatious pomp. And having presidential inaugurations in this garish setting is the antithesis of our country, both in values and symbolism. The founding fathers would shudder.

Nor, by the way, should this amount of resources, however they are sourced, be devoted to the occasional use of a formal ballroom.
In short, there is no respectable perspective in which this addition is justified or appropriate.

Thank you,

I oppose this $300 million renovation because the destruction was done without legal permission. The White House belongs to the people of the United States of America. Legal permission for this destruction to the East Wing was not perused nor granted. It was willfully destroyed. The White House and the East Wing are historic. They belong to our country and not to the whim of a self absorbed wannabe king.

I am very unhappy about the destruction of our East Wing. It belongs to the people and this should not have happened. I do not want a ballroom I want the East Wing back. If we must put a ballroom in, at least make it a normal size that matches the rest of the building, not some monstrosity. Have a contest for new architecture students to help design a new wing, within the proper parameters. This building belongs to all of us.

This project began with the demolition of a 12 year old structure BEFORE obtaining required approvals from this Commission, before completing mandatory environmental assessments under the National Environmental Policy Act, and before securing congressional authorization required by federal statute for construction on federal parkland in Washington. The fact that demolition already occured does not excuse these violations.

While I believe progress and modernization are important and necessary, there is a right and wrong way to go about making those changes happen. Simply undertaking the desired project without proper authorization should not be rewarded by allowing completion of the project. That would follow the old adage, "It's better to beg forgiveness than to ask permission." The expectation seems to be that even though the project was illegally started, it's well underway and plans should be allowed to continue.

The president oversaw the complete destruction of the historic East Wing, including the underground bunker, and now claims that the project must be allowed to continue for safety and security concerns. Those are exactly the type of concerns that should have been considered BEFORE tearing down the entire structure of the East Wing. "A YouGov poll (Feb 2026) showed 58% opposed to 25% in support, while an ABC News/Washington Post/Ipsos poll (Oct 2025) found 56% opposing the demolition." The decision to renovate the space once occupied by the East Wing into a massive gold plated ballroom should not have been left to the President and his administration. The White House is the People's House - it does not belong to the current occupant.

Americans are currently dealing with many economic issues - the cost of groceries, high cost and housing shortages, lack of health care. These are concerns that impact everyday life of millions of Americans. It is completely tone deaf for the president to be spending hundreds of millions of dollars for a ballroom that will be used primarily for elites. He says the money is being provided by rich donors. This is problematic in more ways than just appearances. It opens the building of the ballroom to corruption - bribery, quid pro quo situations, and avoiding oversight of Congress. Average Americans would rather see this administration focus on improving their lives than focusing on renovations in the Capital.

These are just a few of the reasons why I do not approve of or support the destruction of parts of the White House to build a ballroom that is unnecessary, costly, damages the aesthetic design of the classically designed White House, and is a slap in the faces of Americans suffering the economic consequences of the Trump administration's poor decisions.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my opinion.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing. Changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not a temper tantrum-induced unilateral action. In addition, this project is being funded by large, private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates, at the very least, the appearance of preferential access and influence seeking, undermining public trust.

Demolition began before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of anyone administration. It is "The People's House." Major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project. I am asking for full and clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review and public accountability.

I advocate that the East Wing be rebuilt as it once stood, at Donald Trump's expense. It would be a bonus if the Rose Garden was also restored in the process, also at his personal expense.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Tearing down the East Wing of the White House to replace it with a gilded ballroom that dwarfs the People's House itself is the most un-American project for the facility ever undertaken by any U.S. president. It does not belong to this egotistical, tacky excuse for a human being. It belongs to us, the people. A project on this scale should have been approved by Congress and reviewed by the National Historic Trust. I hope that law suits and protests halt its progress until this administration is out of office and the wing can be rebuilt with proper oversight to take its control from a single, immoral person and return it to those who will preserve it for future generations.

Thé Whit House has always been The People's House. Any changes to its structure should have been proposed before the People's Representatives and Senators. The current resident is allowed to live in The People's House while he is doing the people's work. He does not own the house, nor has he put forth plans to change it. Restructuring should be done post haste, as was done the demolition. It should also be paid for by the person who decided to demolish it. The People should not have to pay for a structure they've already paid for. If the current resident cannot or will not make restitution, then he should be charged with destruction of federal property, the same as any other citizen would be. Thank you.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. This alone should land a few people in jail, and I still don’t understand why it hasn’t.

The massive cost is being funded by large corporations and wealthy private individuals, creating conflicts of interest. I am also concerned that the administration is not providing full transparency of these plans.

I’m disappointed. The aesthetic is old dictator.

I oppose this project on the grounds that it uses private funding (which is a conflict of interest), destroyed an historic landmark and was done on such a fast track it caused outrage throughout the country that crossed all party lines. Of course, other presidents have made controversial changes in the White House over the years, but none were done with the absolute disregard for laws regarding historic buildings and public opinion.

The razing of the historic East Wing of the White House was undertaken without proper authorization, its "modernization "purportedly being paid for by private donations, and upon the urging of everyone. First, precious few of our historical buildings have been preserved for posterity; but the White House was an exception, because of your invaluable work. Modernization implies actual maintenance and improvements to existing structures, like upgrading electrical and plumbing, the interiors or exteriors, landscaping and the like. Destruction does not enter the equation. Laws and regulations concerning historical buildings were created to be obeyed and any sought after changes require careful and considered thought by panels of experts, not the whims of one person. No one is above the law. For this reason, I object to the proposed modernization.
Second, while private donations may be solicited by the caretakers of our historical buildings, or otherwise given freely, there are two problems with the current scheme for modernization. By selecting prospective donors, the Administration creates the appearance of a quid pro quo arrangement, which is improper and, essentially eliminates any control or objections to design, construction methods, and final cost from NCPC, which has been tasked with such decisions. This action also violates applicable regulations. No one is above the law, and for this reason, I object to the proposed modernization.
Third, the belated and court required "request" for modernization is based on fraudulent and false statements. More than once, the president, or his agents, have said that "everyone" thinks that adding a ballroom near the East Wing was "a great idea." This was clearly untrue. Instead of a separate structure, Americans were suddenly faced with a destroyed East Wing as a fait accompli. It is outrageous. Moreover, returning to the deception underlying the "modernization" scheme, in order to ascertain that "everyone" approved of this scheme, the administration would first have contacted this body, which would have required regular procedures, which would include a period of public comments, as is being done now. Such required procedures assure that any interested party could offer his or her opinion and objections. This is particularly true for a building like the White House, which is merely leased to any administration for a maximum of two four year terms, all the while remaining the Peoples' House. These procedures were not followed. I can say, without hesitation, that I am not interested in a gaudy, gilded, mirrored monstrosity of a ballroom. The ballroom at the State Department has served well for years and, aside from true maintenance, has no costs associated with its continued use, unlike the ballroom sought by the administration. What I am interested in is reconstruction of the East Wing at the sole expense of those who destroyed the original, secured by bond, and, if possible, a fine for destruction of public property. For these reasons, I oppose approval of the plan under consideration. Thank you for your service to this country. I have full confidence that you will make the right decision and restore the White House.

Sincerely,
Judith DePrisco

The government claims not to have enough money to continue SNAP benefits for children, so I think there can't be money for this project. Space should be found in the West Wing for all of the public facing activities that were previously held in the East Wing. If there are really corporate donations for the ballroom, they should be returned to the donors or donated to charities chosen by the Epstien victims.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The size and scale of the proposed ballroom is out of proportion to the elegance of the White House. This project is purposefully misleading in that it is not a modernization of the illegally destroyed East Wing. The White House and the buildings on the site are not reflections of one elected president who is temporarily residing on the property. Allowing this sham of a project to continue without the proper approval and permits will only encourage other presidents to tear down buildings, such as the East Wing, for vanity projects and buildings at the expense of public funds that are better used for the benefit of all the people in this country. To use private funds for this project is simply the selling of favors by elected officials (President) and sets a troubling precedent. There must be accountability and transparency in projects connected with the White House and surrounding property. This is not private land. This is public land that represents the history of the United States, not the tacky whims of one person. This project must be stopped and the ORIGINAL East Wing restored. Thank you.

I was extremely angry and devastated when I saw the destruction of the East Wing of the People's White House by the current President without the knowledge or consent of Congress. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I oppose the idea of this project, and the spending of $300+ million, regardless of where the money is coming from.

It was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. So it is unlawful.

And it is not a modernization project, but a complete razing of American history wrapped in dubious intentions.

With all the issues the American people are facing today, from rising food, energy and Healthcare costs, to worldwide unrest, this feels like a gratuitous and extremely offensive insult. I and many of my fellow Americans can barely afford to pay for housing, but the government is spending time, energy and money to give the President a fancier place to waltz.

This project needs to be canceled. Full stop.

I found the demolition of the White House East Wing abhorant because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

The unauthorized destruction of the East Wing was an affront to the entire country. Tha administration's plan to replace it with a gaudy and architectural inappropriate ballroom is an outrage.

I think the National Preservation and Trust procedures should be followed to recreate the East Wing to have modest improvements in keeping with the proportions of the White House proper. All reviews that are standard should take place so all voices can be heard and all issues addressed prior to construction. Signoffs by required organizations should be obtained before construction begins.

Moreover, any possibility criminal and/or civil consequences should be pursued against the perpetrators.

I am outraged that the East Wing of the White House was destroyed without ANY public, congressional, legal, or official input and oversight. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I can only hope the abuse of power, the grift of “corporate” money, and the blatant disregard for the constitution is being fully noted by the committee.

You must stop this abuse of power and put the power back in the hands of the people. Nobody voted for a ballroom, and it matters who pays for it, in-your-face pay to play. Please wake up to these issues and force the administration to follow the law and the will of the people, Our voted representatives should have a voice, congress should be have decision making authority in the fiasco.

The illegal destruction of the East Wing of the White House without permits, permission, or review is an unadulterated crime. The White House belongs to the American People, not to a single President. That this was done without Congressional review or approval indicates that this President needs to be reigned in and not allowed to replace the East Wing with a ballroom or any other structure that does not fit the historical and architectural vision of the other White House structures. The White House is a National Monument in a National Park. It should never have been touched in such a devastating way.

Any "modernization" should be paid for by the American people not private donations. The structure actually should be replaced and paid for by the person responsible for demolishing it.

This is not modernization of the East Wing of the White House (the People's House). It was the destruction of a historic building without planning, permits or public comment for the construction of a massive and unneeded Ballroom. This project should be rejected until and unless the same processes that a citizen would have to go through to raze then construct a building on their own property are followed- with the additional considerations due a project on public land and of this historic nature. If these considerations cannot be met the East Wing must be restored as it was before the demolition at no expense to taxpayers.

I am so disappointed in the Government and how all this came about and the spending on frivolous things.

First the rose garden is destroyed now this demolition. What's next the Capital Building or maybe the historic monuments……

I strongly oppose the proposed East Wing Modernization project and urge the National Capital Planning Commission to deny approval. This $300 million plan was advanced without proper authorization, permits, or adequate design review, and it does not constitute a true modernization. Instead, it would permanently erase an irreplaceable piece of American history by replacing the historic East Wing with a new, oversized ballroom funded by private interests.

I ask that the Commission require a full, transparent review, halt any work that proceeded without lawful approvals, and insist that those responsible be held accountable. The correct course is to cancel this project and to rebuild and restore the East Wing to its historic design, preserving our shared heritage for future generations. Allowing this to proceed without consequence would undermine the rule of law and set a dangerous precedent.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts which clearly blurs ethical boundaries.

It also creates an unacceptable conflict of interest. The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. The American people do not want these projects and did not vote for these updates. They are not critical to the existence of the building. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input. The destruction of the east wing was carried out illegally, without following proper preservation or authorization channels, and it represents not only procedural misconduct but the erasure of an irreplaceable piece of American history. Funding for the project was never solidified, making the act fiscally irresponsible as well as culturally damaging. Public tax dollars should not be used to finance either the destruction or the reconstruction of a historic federal landmark. If Donald Trump is responsible for damaging part of the White House, then accountability should rest personally with him: he should fund the restoration himself and face appropriate penalties. Not a single taxpayer dollar should be required to repair what was wrongfully destroyed.

To the Commission,

The Project name is inaccurate: This is not "modernization." It is destruction.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, which is permanently owned by the American people. It is a very temporary home for the Presidents who serve us. No President, regardless of political party, owns the property or the structures on it. The President's interventions are limited by law, and should be also limited by respect for the people of the United States and historic structures.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, permits or Congressional oversight is a clear violation of the law. It's also a violation of the trust of the American people; we were given no opportunity to comment on this project (directly or through our Congressional representatives. It's not only the law, it's the principle of the thing.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. Please set a very clear precedent so nothing like this happens again to any of the properties owned by the American people, during any President's term in office.

Thank you.

I'm opposed to this East Wing " modernization " project for several reasons. The East Wing belongs to the people in the People's House!!
No need to spend at least $300 million on the project….. with private donors…. They don't own the White House….. If anything I'd like see it restored to close to its original appearance the way it was before it was torn down!!! Trump should pay for it out of his own pocket!!!
The plans that have been shown are aesthetically ugly and out of proportion to the beauty of the building!

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on the ballroom project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete elimination of American history. It was not authorized by the Historic Preservation authority. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. country require prior authorization to enact ANY changes to a property to protect the integrity of the history of a structure. Such is the case with this property.

To the Commission,

The Project name is inaccurate: This is not "modernization." It is destruction.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, which is permanently owned by the American people. It is a very temporary home for the Presidents who serve us. No President, regardless of political party, owns the property or the structures on it. The President's interventions are limited by law, and should be also limited by respect for the people of the United States and historic structures.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, permits or Congressional oversight is a clear violation of the law. It's also a violation of the trust of the American people; we were given no opportunity to comment on this project (directly or through our Congressional representatives. It's not only the law, it's the principle of the thing.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion. Please set a very clear precedent so nothing like this happens again to any of the properties owned by the American people, during any President's term in office.

Thank you.

Jennifer

The old East Wing was demolished without due consideration, leaving a pile of rubble where part of "The People's House" stood.

The proposed ballroom is massively out of scale to the Residence and West Wing and will further negatively alter the White House grounds.

I demand that all proper policy and procedure take place to ensure that any proposed changes to the White House grounds are made in accordance with historical precent, due consideration for site appropriateness, and functional necessity.

We do not need a $300M ballroom that dwarfs the residence.

Thank you.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people. Any president who lives there is not the owner of the property; the president is simply a tenant and has no legal authority to make structural changes without the permission of the people.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, permits, or congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people, who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal rather than imposed as a violent fait accompli.

I am sickened by what has been done. We must halt any rebuilding that is occurring without proper oversight. I am opposed to any new construction during this administration, as the current president's history demonstrates that such work is likely to be shoddy and aesthetically offensive.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment,

The demolition of the East Wing was an affront to not only the people's house, but to the citizens of this country. I was appalled by the disreguard of the rule of law and the wishes of the citizens of this country.

The president is mimmicking dictators like Hitler in actions they took to destroy national buildings. In Hitler's case, he essentially did the same thing, so of course Trump had to follow. When people are starving and living on the streets that money could definitely be put to better use than a giant gaudy ballroom. This activity needs to be stopped and repairs made to the White House.

I wish Trump had not torn down the East wing building - but now that it's gone we do not need a huge convention center in its place!
I support a smaller building - more proportionate to the White house and other nearby buildings, with consultation by appropriate historic and artistic committees. They could use a larger venue for state dinners and other functions, but not the 1000 seat palace that Trump is trying to build. Moderation, Donald, if you understand the word.

I object to this project at the cost of approximately $300 million. The East Wing of the White House (the People's House, which belongs to all of us) was abruptly razed without proper authorization or permits, and with no design review of the proposed construction to replace it. This is not a modernization project, but an attack on United States history. The procedures followed to date are as if a renter in a house I owned decided to knock down part of MY house with no authorization from me. This is completely unacceptable. I served for 21 years as a Foreign Service Officer with the U.S. Department of State at our embassies overseas, primarily in Africa. As a Management Officer, I was responsible for construction projects, including building new embassies and modifying existing buildings. We could not so much as move a door without authorization from Washington. The same system applies to the White House. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I was saddened to see that the destruction of the East Wing proceeded without any proper authorization, design review, or even discussion of need. In these days, the "need" for a ballroom for the wealthy is minuscule compared to other needs of our people. The important history of the building was ignored and abused. It does not matter to me that "private" funding was used to pay for this. The money used paid for a crime against the people. I support those private funders being made to reconstruct the building as it was, or as close to it as can be done. Appoint an independent team to review how the building can be restored to a purpose that is approved by our people.

I oppose the spending of $300 million (of questionable origin and no transparency to the American public on where the funds are actually coming from, besides a mention of corporate donations) on this "modernization" vanity project of a historic building, which holds significant importance to American history. This project was initiated without any kind of proper authorization, permits, or even a design review. It's not a modernization project, but feels like a snub to hardworking Americans and to our American culture and our storied history, with no respect to public input or congressional oversight. This is being completed in a time when so many average Americans are suffering with affordability, and the president and a select few of this administration only care is for an extremely expensive and ILLEGAL vanity project. I stand with many of my fellow Americans who want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design under Theodore Roosevelt as a bomb shelter during World War II and expanded office space. Americans demand no more wasteful spending on a construction project with no timeline to be completed, and where the lead architect has already been fired once for a minor disagreement. We all imagine the project will not be completed without more petty hitches and lawsuits, which are wasteful and costly to the average American taxpayer. No one is above the law, and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing individuals who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans who are patriots and have a deep love for this country, but most importantly, we do not want our history to be bulldozed illegally.

The sudden demolition of the East Wing of the White House offends and frightens me as an American citizen. The People's House is not one that should be demolished at will, nor one that should be remade in the likeness of one man's desire to make the White House akin to a (garish) hotel or conference center. Much rich history has been forever lost by this demolition--a trove of events and initiatives that we can never get back. I do not know what the best rebuilding option is, now that the entire wing is gone. But I do know that building a giant ballroom befitting of a luxury hotel is not what the White House should stand for. I also know that future construction should be done only through the proper channels and appropriations, and with the preservationists and architects at the helm who actually understand the history of the original structure and its design integrity. Please do not allow this president to damage this important structure any further. Please stand up and make sure that the proper processes set forth for capital planning in Washington are followed. We can't bring back what has been destroyed, but we can try to make what replaces it align with the original intent for the structure and the spirit that it should embody.

I absolutely oppose this project. It was done with the "ask permission after the fact" approach. There was no prior authorization, permits, or design review. It was a complete destruction of a historic building in order to build a totally unnecessary room at great expense while erasing history. The East wing should be completely restored as it was. No administration is above the law. The "well it's already done and you can't do anything about it"attitude is disgraceful. A definitive "no".

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. Following the rules is an important aspect of a functioning democracy. Demolishing a portion of the White House without proper authorization is inexcusable.

Building a gilded ballroom is un American and inappropriate. The White House is intended to be the living and working space for the leader of the free world who practices restraint as they seek justice and freedom for all, not a lavish palace.

The ballroom should not be permitted and the East Wing should be restored to its most recent permitted condition. The cost of repairing the damage should be carried by the personal coffers of the people who ordered and engaged in the damage and demolition, not the American Taxpayers.

The use of private donations to build a national public building is grossly inappropriate. It invites corruption as pay to play. Every donation would necessarily be investigated for exactly that, increasing the burden of law enforcement. Further , the preceding demolition that occurred in this case was unauthorized. This makes complete public control and financing even more urgent. A congressional review as well as national monuments control is necessary.

The project to develop a ballroom for the White House must go through the traditional legal channels, architectural reviews, and formal approval process. Whatever emerges from this process should not dwarf and diminish the White House. The current President has vastly overstepped his authority in destroying the East Wing and developing plans without regard to history, architectural propriety, and, for that matter, preservation of whatever historic items were part of the East Wing. I am writing in opposition to the East Wing Ballroom project. As a citizen, I am horrified to see this major change to The People's House undertaken without proper authorization from Congress. President Trump has been treating The People's House like his own private home since he first took office, showing no regard for the fact that he is merely a passing player in this storied building's history. Furthermore, President Trump's logic that he can do as he likes because this project is privately funded is undemocratic - if this is the case, can he not have a privately-funded army at his personal beck and call? Can he not set up any program he likes despite congressional opposition? Can he not accept "donations" in return for regulatory favors (as it seems he's already doing)? That's not how our Constitution works.

As a taxpayer and lover of history, I didn't want to see my dollars go to a self-aggrandizing "dictator chic" project. While I fully understand the need for a functional space that meets modern needs, proper consultation with experts in presidential history and historic preservation are a necessity prior to moving forward with any project in a building this significant, and I am deeply dismayed to see that precious bypassed.

As a person with any kind of aesthetic taste, I don't want The People's House looking like one of Trump's tacky casinos. This project should reflect the tastes of the American people, designed through a competitive process and chosen by our elected representatives, not the whims of a single man.

The President's impulsivity has done enough damage. It is time to pause the project until a thorough congressional review can be undertaken and a suitable design can be drawn up. This process should be paused until a budget and design can be approved by Congress.

The very fact that he simply demolished the entire wing before any plan had been submitted for changes should disqualify any plans he may have for rebuilding. He clearly wanted a fait accompli to be able to say "well, what I want to do is better than leaving it as a heap of rubbish". His total disrespect for the established process for any renovations needs to be acknowledged and turned back. Part of that disrespect - to me - was in firing the old commission and installing a group that he feel will simply rubber-stamp what he wants. That means he was disrespecting all of you, Congress and the American people. That cannot be allowed to stand. And, to my mind, the most fitting "monument" to this president would be to leave the rubble of the East Wing as it is.

Please do everything allowed by law to stop or delay Trump’s vanity project at the White House until the present administration is forced to abide by public process and appropriate agency oversight, review and collaboration. The illegal East Wing demolition shows a blatant disrespect for the government itself and its existing protocols.

There are so few instances of accountability for this rogue regime to the principles of public service, separation of powers, and constitutional law. Let this project be an example where a democratic government and its damaged institutions can still hold in check the unbounded hunger for power of a would-be autocrat.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project as currently proposed and urge the Commission to reject the plan until proper legal processes are followed.
This project began with the demolition of a 123 year old structure before obtaining required approvals from this Commission, before completing mandatory environmental assessments under the National Environmental Policy Act, and before securing congressional authorization required by federal statute for construction on federal parkland in Washington. The fact that demolition has already occurred does not excuse these violations or create a fait accompli that forces approval.

The funding mechanism raises serious concerns about institutional independence and conflicts of interest.

I strongly protest the spending of $300 million on this so-called modernization project that was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete rewriting of American history.

As a taxpayer and citizen, I want this project canceled immediately, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. The White House, as well as all other federal buildings, does not belong to whomever is currently president - these buildings belong to all of us.

In 2016, while Obama was still in office, I had the chance to visit the White House for a tour. Later after the election I joked to friends that it was a good thing I got to see it before Trump turned it into a casino. Jump cut to 10 years later and he actually is trying to turn it into a gaudy ballroom for hosting huge parties where people can tell him he's the best president ever. It is outrageous that he thinks he can unilaterally turn the people's house, kept intentionally somewhat humble because presidents are not kings, into a palace dedicated to his own glorification. The East Wing was illegally demolished and must be rebuilt and restored to its previous condition - exactly as it was. If Mr. Trump wants to have a ball, he had better meet a compliant fairy with some mice and pumpkins, because the people did not hire him to do that.

The White House and the additional structures added over time have become iconic to our history, our people, our symbolism of a nation for the people. Tours and some events have always been there to remind us of that place as welcoming not only of dignitaries but of school groups, families, statesmen and representatives of organizations from across the nation. Any monies spent on the East Wing Modernization Project should be just that to modernize the prior structure and rebuild it in the original image of the addition, not as a ballroom. The White House is not a resort or convention center, there are ballrooms that can provide the security necessary to accommodate statesmen and dignitaries from around the globe. The White House is a functioning part of history. Rebuild the East Wing as it looked and functioned before the demolition and maintain the character, size and function as before the demolition. The "modernization " should reflect updates to wiring, security, structural integrity and not create a ballroom.

The ballroom appears to be ridiculously and unnecessarily large!. Having rich friends of the current President is unseemly. Do they own part of it? What do they get in return? Since we haven't needed this massive addition in 234 years, I don't think we need it now!

We must preserve the White House. Modernization is adding a microwave or upgrading electrical outlets, not erecting a ballroom that will dwarf the main structure. America doesn't need a government throwing balls, we need a government sitting at their desks and working for the American people. This does nothing to improve the lives of working Americans or enhance one of the United States most recognizable histoic landmarks.

I strongly oppose the proposed modernization of the White House East Wing. While necessary maintenance and accessibility improvements should always be addressed, a large-scale modernization effort raises serious concerns—not only about preserving historical integrity, but also about fiscal responsibility. Significant renovations of this scale would likely require substantial taxpayer funding, diverting resources from more pressing national priorities.

Given that the White House East Wing has already been demolished, whatever replaces it must reflect the architectural character and dignity of the White House and align harmoniously with the Executive Residence. The new structure should honor the established design language and historic proportions of the existing complex rather than serve as an extravagant or self-aggrandizing statement. This is a national symbol that belongs to the American people, not to any single administration, and its reconstruction should embody restraint, continuity, and respect for tradition rather than excess.

I am writing to formally express my concerns about the East Wing Modernization Project and the proposed ballroom addition to the White House.

My objection is not to the idea of expanding the White House's entertaining capacity. I recognize that first families and social secretaries across administrations have identified a genuine need for a larger, permanent event space. A well-conceived addition, thoughtfully designed, could be a worthy addition to America's most symbolic residence.

My concern is with the sequence and the scale.

The entire East Wing was demolished before any completed, approved plans were submitted to this Commission or the Commission of Fine Arts — before any public comment period had opened, before any formal review had taken place. That inversion of the established review process is, in my view, beyond the pale. The purpose of the NCPC process is precisely to allow experts, the public, and oversight bodies to shape decisions before they become irreversible. Demolition is an irreversible act. The public's opportunity to weigh in on whether demolition was even necessary — whether alternatives that preserved the East Wing while adding new space could have accomplished the same goal — was foreclosed without our knowledge or consent.

Now, regarding what is proposed to replace it: a 90,000-square-foot structure that would significantly exceed the size of the White House Executive Mansion itself at 55,000 square feet. The White House has always derived its authority from a certain quiet grandeur — its scale is deliberately human, its proportions deliberate. An addition that overwhelms the Executive Residence in mass, height, and footprint does not honor the building it adjoins; it subordinates it. Instead of modernization, it would be a fundamental transformation of one of the world's most recognized and historically significant architectural compositions.

I urge the Commission to use this review to insist on a design that is genuinely compatible with the existing massing, scale, and character of the White House — one that serves the legitimate functional need for a larger event space without dwarfing the building it was meant to complement. The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation provide clear guidance here, and while the White House may be exempt from certain binding provisions, those standards reflect the accumulated wisdom of generations of preservation practice and should carry great weight in the Commission's deliberations.

The American people own this building. They deserve a process — and an outcome — worthy of that stewardship.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The destruction of the East Wing of the people's house was done with the intention to create a ballroom, of all things, to venerate one person and one person only. A facilty that we, the people, would not be allowed to use. The plan is to create a monstrosity for the wealthy who pay handsomely to curry favor with someone who would rather be a dictator than an actual leader. The normal and expected channels were not consulted or honored. It was simply demolished, and that is that. We had no say, but we do have a say in what happens next. Make this an opportunity to rebuild this part of our beloved White House with modern technology but please rebuild it with a familiar exterior and restore by love of country what was destroyed by love of self.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and stewarded by the National Park Service. It has been home to our presidents since 1800 and is perhaps the most significant historic site in the United States. I am concerned that the proposed ballroom addition to the White House is not compatible with its historic character and would irreversibly alter it. The White House is a nationally significant landmark whose scale, proportions, and design reflect over two centuries of history. A large new addition risks overwhelming the original structure, disrupting its carefully balanced symmetry, and diminishing the visual and symbolic qualities that make it one of the most architecturally and culturally significant historic resources in our nation.

In my opinion, this is one of many actions by the current administration to let "the people" of our country know that only one person and one belief system is in complete control of our democracy. It is a visual sign that the billionaire elite is now in control. Only the elite would be interested in a gilded ballroom and be able to attend events there. We are losing our history as it is being rewritten and historical buildings are being demolished to support their narrative. We learn from the good decisions and the bad decisions of our history. They do not need to be erased or rewritten. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its original historical beauty. I am not interested in any shrines to the ultrarich.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. To whom it may concern,
The unpermitted and ghastly destruction of the historic East Wing has been painful to observe, and the plans for the equally ghastly ‘ballroom’ are enough to make anyone with even a shred of appreciation for it’s history cringe.
This project must be ceased immediately and put through a proper design review and ecological impact assessment.
Even to the untrained eye, it’s painfully obvious the ‘ballroom’ will not be in harmony with the original White House and its surroundings, and that’s just the footprint. I shudder to think of the interior design.
Thank you for your time.

Done without our permission. Important History demolished in favor of someone's ego. This in particular is an insult to the Peoples' House. Stop this debacle before he decides to raze the whole thing and build a golden tower with his name on it. Do your best to rebuild and restore what has been destroyed. The picture of the destruction still makes my heart heavy on behalf of those who worked in the East Wing and shaped our nation.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I hope that the National Capitol Planning Commission is able to end this travesty.

The construction of the ballroom should be stopped immediately! No one should be able to start such a project with authorization, not even a president. The project changes the White House to such a tremendous degree it a disgrace. The White House is not the president's private property to do with as he or she pleases, and it should not be treated as such. The project should be stopped now and the money raised should be used to restore the building to its former design. Then very specific regulations should be put it place that make it crystal clear that nothing can be done without the permission of whoever is in charge of such projects.

I am opposed to this egocentric project and am appalled that a President would take the unprecedented step of destroying historic property without authorization from our elected representatives in Congress. The historic East Wing should be rebuilt to its previous form and the cost borne by the man responsible for its destruction. I'm sure his family acquisition of over $4billion in ill gotten wealth since his reelection will be sufficient to cover all costs associated with the restoration. If any other person in these United States would have done what this President did to public property, they would be incarcerated and facing serious consequences. It's time for us to have justice for all like it says in our pledge to this nation.

This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to

Greetings to the Committee,

The proposed design to enlarge the East Wing of the White House is a thoughtless abomination. This project, which is designed to accommodate a gigantic ballroom, is completely out of scale with the historic White House. Its pompous presence will dwarf the historic beauty and proportions of the existing structure, and of the adjacent buildings and neighborhood.

The approval process has been hijacked by the refusal of the administration to follow sensible rules to safeguard our historic buildings. The hurried, sneaky demolition, disregard for public input, and presentation of an ostentatious design is all wrong.

Please do whatever you can to mitigate this disaster of a project.

Thank you for your consideration,

The large amount of damage already done to this NHL is criminal. This structure is considered one of the most note worthy landmarks in our country. The council should consider not approving any modernization projects outside of the historic footprint that was removed. If there was a way to fine those involved with the demolition through The System Unit Resource Protection Act 54 USC 100721-100725 it should be done.

The council should recommend treatments that do not enlarge the ballroom to a size that physically demeans the rest of the building. The exterior facade should emulate what the building looked like prior. These suggestions are only if you have no control over what I have suggested above,

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I write to express my profound concern and firm opposition regarding reports of the demolition of the East Wing of the White House without clear adherence to required procedural approvals, as well as the proposed design and construction of a new ballroom on the grounds.

The White House is not merely an executive residence. It is a living symbol of American democracy, civic continuity, and constitutional order. Any structural alteration, especially the demolition of a historic wing, requires strict compliance with established review processes, including transparency, interagency coordination, preservation analysis, and meaningful public engagement. When these safeguards are bypassed or appear to be bypassed, public trust is weakened and the rule of law that the building represents is diminished.

The East Wing, although modified over time, forms part of the architectural and historical narrative of the White House complex. It contributes to the integrity of the site as a designated historic resource and as a central feature of the monumental core of Washington, District of Columbia. Decisions affecting such a structure must be subject to rigorous review under the National Historic Preservation Act and compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act where applicable, along with full Commission oversight.

I am equally concerned by the proposal to construct a new ballroom. Additions to the White House grounds must be evaluated not only for functionality but also for scale, architectural harmony, security implications, and long term impact on the historic landscape. The White House is not a private estate. It is a national landmark whose stewardship transcends any one administration.

The National Capital Planning Commission exists to safeguard the long term planning and symbolic integrity of the nation's capital. I urge the Commission to clarify whether all required approvals and preservation reviews were properly obtained prior to any demolition, to ensure that no further construction proceeds without full public documentation and compliance review, and to insist upon transparency and accountability that are commensurate with the historic and civic importance of this site.

The American people deserve assurance that changes to their most iconic public building are undertaken lawfully, thoughtfully, and with respect for history.

I respectfully request that this comment be entered into the public record for the March Commission meeting.

Dear NCPC representatives:

It is heartbreaking that the East Wing of the White House, the "People's House" has been destroyed by the current administration, and Trump in particular. No other president would have taken such action, in that they understand that this is not their property...that they are merely an occupant for their term, and they understand how important it is to preserve such an historical landmark. How in the world he was allowed to undertake the absolute destruction of the East Wing is mind-boggling. At this point, all activity should be stopped, and experts brought in to create plans to rebuild in a manner so as to restore the White House to something as close as possible to what it was before.

IN NO WAY SHOULD THIS COMMISSION APPROVE THE CURRENT PLANS FOR A BALLROOM.

Thank you,
Julie

I oppose the spending of any funds on the East Wing Modernization Project in it's current proposal. This project was initiated without any proper approvals, design reviews, authorizations, or permits. This project is not a modernization project, but in fact the brain-child of an egotistical tyrant, who has erased history, and razed the East Wing of the American People's house without a care for anyone but himself, with the sole goal of enriching himself. This project in it's current form should be canceled in its entirety, and the East Wing footprint and volume should be restored with the input of the American public. No one is above the laws of this country, and those who decision it was to proceed without gaining the proper approvals should be prosecuted and penalized to the fullest extent of the law.

I vehemently oppose the current East Wing Mondernization Project as it was undertaken without proper review, permits nor authorization. Historical integrity, thoughtful design and focus on the best use of the people's house should be under consideration and I place that trust in the appropriate authorities of our nation's architecture. In the absence of restoration of what was (which would be first choice), I stand in favor of a balanced visual aspect of the property with the use of the space returned to previous and current functional needs and not used as an additional way for the elite to throw money to the president for the favor of attending events in an unneccesary ballroom.

The East Wing of the White House should be restored to its pre-2025, original architectural plan and scale. Great care should be taken to insure the original structure is rebuilt as it was prior to its demolition, which was a daring act of disrespect for American History, laws and protocol. I am a proud descendent of multiple Revolutionary War soldiers; they fought for a government for the people by the people. The “ballroom” does not represent these values.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This entire operation is the kind of reckless, back\u8209 -door maneuvering that happens when people think the public is too distracted, too tired, or too uninformed to notice. Wrong!

This project didn’t just break protocol, it evaporated it. No National Capital Planning Commission approval. No environmental assessments required under the National Environmental Policy Act. No congressional authorization for construction on federal parkland. They didn’t skip steps; they skipped the entire process and hoped nobody would have the audacity to call it out.

And then there’s the $400 million price tag funded by corporations sitting on billions in federal contracts approved by the same administration pushing this project. That’s not a coincidence. That’s not an oversight. That’s a pipeline of favors so blatant it might as well have a neon sign on it.

This isn’t modernization. It’s a power play. It’s a sweetheart deal. It’s a “we thought you wouldn’t read the fine print” special.

This project violates public trust, and violates every safeguard meant to keep government honest. And to let anyone rebrand this as anything other than what it is: a high\u8209 -dollar, low\u8209 -integrity stunt that collapses under the weight of its own contradictions.

If accountability makes people uncomfortable, good. Discomfort is what happens when the truth finally hits the room.

I strongly oppose how the "modernization" of the White House East Wing has unfolded and strongly support a review of what has been done and what is being planned and why. The White House is "THE PEOPLES HOUSE" and tearing down a significant portion of the building without any formal review or having a public comments discussion before the demolition was a terrible path to take.

ANY planned significant change to the White House or other public buildings should be made public and we the people should have time to review on such changes (much like this forum) but BEFORE the destruction begins.

The suggested "Ballroom" plan, to me, is not in keeping with the look and feel of the historic White House. Anything that is approved for the White House grounds should be made with a long term look at the need for taking away historic buildings and how any APPROVED plans fit the long-term visual cohesion of the property.

Sincerely,

Wm Mosgrove

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president is not the owner of this property or its structures—the president is a temporary tenant whose actions are limited by law and by a fundamental respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight is a clear violation of the law. It is also a violation of the trust of the American people, who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal—not carried out as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and scale. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Hello,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.

This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

Thank you.

You Have Until March 4th to Comment on Trump's White House Ballroom

The National Capital Planning Commission opened public comment on the East Wing Modernization Project (Trump's $400M ballroom funded by Google, Amazon, Microsoft, Lockheed Martin, and other companies with billions in federal contracts).

This is your only formal opportunity to weigh in.

Deadline: March 4, 2026 at Noon ET

How to Submit:

1. Go to https://www.ncpc.gov/participate/guidelines/

2. Click “Submit Written Comments”

3. Select “East Wing Modernization” from dropdown

4. Submit your comment

Template letter you can use:

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

The Commission votes March 5th. The East Wing is already demolished. But the record of public opposition matters. Make your voice heard.

As an architectural purist, I think it's bad enough that the Supreme Court could not be built where originally planned at the site of the present Jefferson Memorial. At the time, the land was not buildable and the court settled into a barn behind the Capitol until the present building came to be. The balance of power would have been visually demonstrated as well as symbolically.
The people's house should not be daunted by an ostentatious construction. The WH was never meant to be an imposing building but rather a place where a single person entrusted by the people could work, host and live. The more intimate gatherings of 200 in the East Room are personal and memorable whereas there's no chance that the president would ever be able to greet each of her 1000 guests personally.
Restore the east wing to be practical and visually balanced.

Finally, I believe as punishment for his flagrant abuse of power in this matter, Donald J. Trump should be held liable and made to fund the restoration of the East Wing with his own money. The loss of history in the literal physical struture as well as figuratively, is yet another example of this administration's xenophobic white washing of our country's diverse story. That this project should be canceled is without question. The East Wing should rebuilt and restored to its former design as part of THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE, not the vanity project of this autocratic administration. I am deeply disgusted and outraged by the reckless and disrespectful changes pushed by Donald Trump to the White House. These decisions undermine the dignity, history, and symbolic integrity of an institution that represents the nation as a whole—not one person's ego or taste. What should be preserved as a unifying national landmark is instead being treated carelessly. His lack of respect for the White House is disturbing and unacceptable. He should be removed from office and the White House should be brought back to the national landmark it was before he took office.

Thw White House is one of the central architectural symbols of our balanced constitutional system in Washington, alongside the Supreme Court and the Capitol. Obviously it needs to function well, as it is the centerpoint of the Executive Branch. What that means should be part of a considered plan, one that takes the future needs of the executive and the nation into account. The abrupt, unilateral, poorly planned demolition of the East Wing was a really bad precedent. The plans to replace that over-a-century-old collection of public spaces with a single large ballroom seems precipitous. The current administration seems bent on unilateral, unvetted actions like this, and this is out of keeping with what are now long-standing traditions of carefully-considered planning for facilities that will serve not just this president but future administrations. Stop. The ill-considered demolition of the old East Wing opens up an unfortunate opportunity, and simply taking it on faith that the current president's whim must be set in concrete is not how we should do things. The White House is called the People's House because the executive is the servant of the people, not an arbitrary all-powerful tyrant. We want process, we want consideration, and we want you to slow your roll. Do not approve this construction as currently proposed.

I'm mortified at the way this "ballroom" project" iniated by President Trump. The White House may need a special room for entertaining because the White House is not large and entertaining in tents can be difficult especially in inclement weather. Trump took it upon himself to do this project without input from Congress or asking the people of the United States what they thought. No input from anybody. He said he wasn't going to tear the East Wing of the White House, but he did in the middle of the night, when no one was around. No permits, no nothing, No one has said anything to try to stop this except this Preservation Group. Trump has used two different archtects, neither one has been approved by anybody but the President. The first drawing looked bigger in scale than the White House, The second looks somewhat better, matching the front of the White House, it might not match in scale. They building a new "safe room" underneath this ballroom. To keep the President safe in times of trouble. We have no idea what this will look like to improve the old existing one.
I abhorr thev way this project was done without a second thought about preserving our Nation's WHite House. We have to take care to preserve the building. The current White House was started in 1792 and completed in 1800. John Adams was the first person to live there. Rebuilt after a fire by the British in 1812. We can't forget this history, building something with no paremeters or input from anybody except President Trump.

The East Wing Project should be rebuilt as it originally was. The destruction of it was not approved by Congress or the Historical Buildings Committee.
The East Wing was part of the White House history and was beautiful. Th White House was balanced in appearance by having both the West wing and the East Wing. It was a beautiful building. The addition of a ballroom is not needed at the White House. There are plenty of buildings inv Washington that can house the amount of people trump wanted to have in one space without ruining the People’s House.
I pray that they refuse Commission will do the right thing and restore the beauty of the White House by rebuilding the East Wing as it was.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Plus the proposed structure is UGLY.

Please do everything allowed by law to stop or delay Trump's vanity project at the White House until the present administration agrees to abide by public process and appropriate agency oversight, review and collaboration. The illegal East Wing demolition shows a blatant disrespect for the government itself and its existing protocols.

There are so few instances of accountability for this rogue regime to the principles of public service, separation of powers, and constitutional law. Let this project be an example where a democratic government and its damaged institutions can still hold in check the unbounded hunger for power of a would-be autocrat.

The White House belongs to the people of the United States, not any of its temporary residents put there by the voters.

To the Members of the National Capital Planning Commission,

I am submitting this comment in strong opposition to any proposal that would demolish or substantially alter the East Wing of the White House for the purpose of constructing a new ballroom.

The White House is not a private estate. It is not a resort property. It is the People's House.

Every brick, corridor, and garden reflects the shared history of the American people. The East Wing is part of that historic composition and should be treated as such. To remove or significantly alter it in order to build a ballroom is not preservation—it is indulgence.

A ballroom is, by definition, a space for large-scale formal entertaining. Who benefits from such a space? Political elites? Wealthy donors? Foreign dignitaries? That is not the daily life of the American public. That is not a "people's room." The American people are not asking for a gilded event venue at their national residence.

At a time when Americans face economic strain, infrastructure needs, veteran care obligations, disaster recovery costs, and national security challenges, diverting time, planning resources, security restructuring, and taxpayer funds toward building a ballroom sends the wrong message. It suggests spectacle over stewardship.

There is also the matter of precedent. If we begin reshaping the White House complex to suit modern tastes or ceremonial preferences, where does it stop? The integrity of historic structures depends on restraint. Once historic fabric is removed, it cannot be authentically restored.

If there is energy and funding available for improvements, it should be directed toward true restoration and preservation—not expansion. For example, the historic White House Rose Garden—shaped during the Kennedy administration and closely associated with Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis—deserves careful preservation consistent with its historic design intent. Restoration of significant landscapes honors history. Construction of a ballroom overwrites it.

The White House should reflect democratic values: humility, continuity, and respect for history. A ballroom reflects exclusivity and display.

I urge the Commission to reject any proposal that would result in the destruction or inappropriate alteration of the East Wing. Protect the historic integrity of the White House. Preserve it as the People's House—not as a venue for pageantry.

Respectfully,

Kris Bianco

I do not consent to the erection of an outsize and vulgar ballroom such as has been proposed by Mr. Trump. I did not agree to the destruction of the East Wing in the first place and I cannot believe that a bulldozer was allowed on the People's House without the prior permission of the National Planning Commission or advice from the Commission of Fine Arts. Our historic buildings and memorials should not be subject to Mr. Trump's self-aggrandizement and I do not wish for his name to be on any federal buildings. I also want the Rose Garden returned to roses as soon as possible and the (again, vulgar) paving removed (not to mention the hideous gilding of the Oval Office). Someone with "hamburger" tastes should not have any jurisdiction over what is art in the nation's capital. It is true that things are not as important as peoples' lives, but the destruction of the White House is a giant metaphor for this entire presidency.

I oppose the demolition of the east wing and the erasure of American history. A president should not be allowed and should have no authority to single-handedly demolish and destroy any federal building that displeases them. The permitting process was mocked and thwarted. The proper process should have been followed, and a public forum on these decisions should have been held. America cannot allow this selfish and irrational criminal behavior to set a precedent that allows future Presidents to do the same. I believe the east wing should be fully restored, and this administration and its party that enabled this affront to American history and decorum should face criminal and financial consequences for the desecration, as any private citizen would be rightfully arrested who caused such devastating, impulsive criminal vandalism to a federal building.

I would like to speak out in regard the the Modernization of the East Wing and the building of the ballroom. It is inconceivable that the President of the United States would wantonly disregard the rules of historical buildings. He did not seek or want to give anyone the chance to reject his plans. He knew or his architect knew that they needed to get his approval for these plans before anything could begin to be demolished. All work must stop to gain those approvals. If. The project is not approved it should be made whole again - at not cost to the taxpayers. Approval should not be given simply because work has already started.

I'm writing to let you know I oppose the $300 million ballroom project that is currently planned to replace the East Wing of the White House.
First, I object on a legal basis. No legal permits, authorization, or approvals have been granted for construction on this public land. No permission or authorization was given for the destruction of the East Wing. The White House does not belong to the president. It is temporary housing. The American people, by virtue of tax dollars if nothing else, own the White House. I am a taxpaying US citizen and as such I am a part owner. I did not give permission to anyone to destroy my property.
Further, no one is above the law; not the president or anyone who works for him. If the ballroom construction is not stopped now it is as if tacit permission is given to continue.

As a side note: how many US veterans could be housed in a structure that costs $300 million? As the military leader of our country Trump should be held responsible for the thousands of veterans who are currently homeless. Living space for them should be prioritized over a frivolous ball room.
The proposed ballroom project is wrong on a legal and humanitarian basis. Stop the construction now and hold the president accountable for the destruction of public property and misuse of funding.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.

This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

The unauthorized and unpermitted destruction of the East wing of the White House is symbolic of a slide away from our nation's 's traditions. We have commissions and committees and bodies of all sort so that we, the people can together decide what to preserve for historic reasons, what to develop, and so on. Not have the unilateral authority to simply destroy part of the White House and take money from private donors to build their vision of our future. The East Wing should be restored, and our government should be refunded for the expense and inconvenience it has already caused.

Dear Commissioners,

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Sincerely,

I am deeply disgusted and outraged by the reckless and disrespectful changes pushed by Donald Trump to the White House. These decisions undermine the dignity, history, and symbolic integrity of an institution that represents the nation as a whole—not one person's ego or taste. What should be preserved as a unifying national landmark is instead being treated carelessly, and that is profoundly sad and disappointing. His lack of respect for the White House is disturbing and unacceptable.

The continued execution of this $300 million project constitutes a felonious misappropriation of funds and a wholesale bypass of federal and local statutes. By proceeding without mandatory legal authorizations, requisite permits, or judicial design reviews, the parties involved have engaged in the unlawful demolition of a protected historical asset. This is not a renovation; it is a criminal erasure of American heritage through a direct violation of historic preservation laws. To permit this illicit activity to continue without criminal prosecution and strict punitive measures would be a subversion of the rule of law. The project must be immediately enjoined, and those responsible for these fiduciary and regulatory breaches must be held legally liable to the fullest extent of the law.

I think I understand, generally, where Trump is coming from in wanting to build a grand ballroom on the White House grounds. Lots of other countries have palaces with grand ballrooms, so why shouldn't we? But the fact that we don't have such a ballroom is actually linked directly to the core of who we are. We are a nation built for the people, by the people. We are a nation built on the radical idea that all are created equal. In theory, at least, there are no aristocrats in the U.S.A. There is no royalty. And therefore, there is no palace. Adding a ballroom to the White House flies in the face of the very principles upon which our nation was built because it is specifically designed to cater only to the pleasures of the upper echelon and has zero relevance to the livelihood and well-being of the citizens. Obviously, there's very little I can personally do to stop this project. But, at the very least, I will scream into this "written comments" void and hope somebody listens: STOP CONSTRUCTION OF THE BALLROOM AND RESTORE THE EAST WING TO ITS ORIGINAL DESIGN!

I strongly oppose further funding & spending ($300 million to date) for the East Wing modernization project. This project was started as a retaliatory measure against the American people, without following proper channels. The White House administration took manipulative measures to have the destruction of the East Wing occur during a Federal Government shutdown, and never obtained proper authorization, permits, or design review. This was never a project to modernize a part of the White House, but instead a vanity project to eliminate parts of beloved American history and illegally bankroll a leader's pockets through donations from billionaires. This project needs to be cancelled. The East Wing needs to be rebuilt and restored to its former design, as do the gardens, which were also destroyed.

The demolition of the East Wing was wrong in so many ways: from improper procedures for approval, demolition of the people's house to poor demolition techniques requiring ground repairs. Please stop this, clean it up and built a new East Wing.

Good day,

I am writing to express my views on the East Wing of the White House, and the future of the building and surrounding environs.

Firstly, I am disappointed by the current administration's intentions for the White House, and their actions, to date. In particular the unilateral motion to demolish the East Wing, without following customary permitting procedures, nor obtaining approval from the committees and regulators charged with oversight.

Secondly, I am opposed to the construction of the proposed ballroom. I request that the project be stopped and permission for further progress be denied.

Thirdly, I would like to suggest and/or request that restoration of the East Wing's structure, or an approved version of the East Wing is implemented and that the sitting President is prevented from any further vanity projects or destruction of Federal properties.

Lastly, in addition to the aforementioned points, I believe the Jacqueline Kennedy Rose Garden ought to be restored.

Thank you.

Kind regards,
Jeffrey Winter

A national monument, known around the world, has been destroyed by one man's selfish need for power and recognition. If any of us gets a contractor to renovate our home, permits are required and fines given or work stoppage ordered if not done. Our president defied any and all laws which applied before he took any action. The people deserve answers for this horrific act. Please hold anyone involved accountable.

Why are we spending $300 million on building a ballroom? This project was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Trump does not want to modernize, instead he wants a complete razing of American history. I ask that this project be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. When are those in charge going to start doing their job? Why are you letting Trump destroy America and our democracy?

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.

This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project. I oppose spending any taxpayer money on this project.
This was initiated WITHOUT ANY PUBLIC REVIEW OR INPUT. This was done without any permits (!) or thoughtful design review.
It was promised to be completed without any taxpayer money, and that we know is a lie.
Work was begun even before the U.S. people had a say in it -and this house is owned by the U S people. It is not a modernization project but a complete destruction of history. And it's being built for nefarious reasons without correct planning, restoration efforts, oversight. It is a total destruction of a beautiful piece of history without any regards for the historical importance of the building. Do not allow this to become a personal pet and vanity project.
I want this project canceled and the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored to its former design.
How did this even get allowed without permits?! Stop work order and fines should be implemented immediately.
NO ONE IS ABOVE THE LAW. To allow this project to continue as a ballroom is a slap to that face of all US citizens. To allow this to continue without penalizing those who BROKE THE LAW would be an affront to all LAW-ABIDING citizens.

The plans for this project must be made sure that it's not a bunker for criminals.

Stop this waste. Make the law breakers pay for their misuse of funds.

Please do not embarrass our wonderful country and our citizens by continuing to allow the destruction of the People's House. The President should not have unchecked authority to make changes to OUR house. The modernization foot print should not be larger than it was before and should be in line with the taste/decor of the rest of the White House.

Historians, architects, and interior designers should be consulted about the future of the space. Those who are not motivated politically and those who understand the importance of what the space means and portrays.

I believe this project is a waste of taxpayer funds, of time and of prioritization. Vanity projects by this administration are a slap in the face to the public who will foot the bill. People are struggling to put food on the table, pay their rent and this administration is more focused on putting names on buildings and renovating spaces that are not in need.

I am against the new east wing "ballroom" as currently proposed. While I recognize that government operations occasionally require more room, the suggested 90,000 square foot expansion does not suit the intended location. Any addition must not exceed the original east wing dimensions to maintain the original proportions of the "People's House".
If the government requires a larger event space and space does not yet exist in Washington, then build an appropriately sized space somewhere other than the White House area.

East Wing Modernization Project

I am writing to express my opposition to the Ballroom Project proposed by the current administration. The White House is the People’s House, maintained as the residence for the president and his family, and the workplace of the president’s immediate staff. Any changes to the building must follow appropriate oversight and approvals by the city, the Planning Commission, and any utility and/or civil entity that may be impacted.

Please return the White House’s East Wing to its original design and function. If it is determined that a ballroom is needed for official White House functions a suitable nearby location should be identified, appropriated properly, and the design submitted for approval by the designated governmental agencies.

Thank you,

Dear Committee Members,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Respectfully,

I oppose this project because it destroys historical spaces and the ability to provide critical functions in favor of an unnecessary massive structure whose purpose is to be larger than others and to draw attention to one person rather than a necessary presidential function. Planning and execution thus far have been done without coherent plans or budget and this has resulted in complete destruction of historical spaces, White House functions, and historic value. This is the People's House, rather than property owned by a private owner, and before any demolition occurred, the process illegally did not go through required processes or planning. It is imperative that this destructive folly be halted immediately.

I want this project to be stopped. Demolishing federal property is a crime. Renovations of historic government buildings need to have broad public support and be approved by experts, with oversight by Congress. Total destruction is not renovation. Nothing in the Constitution gives the president the right to assault our history and destroy our monumental buildings in honor of himself. The rebuilding of the East Wing needs to be done with a consensus of public support from the full Congress, after a thorough evaluation of how to rebuild it in a manner that preserves its original design and intent.

With regards to this so-called 'modernization': I oppose the spending of my tax dollars on this mess that was started with no authorization, permits, or design review in place. It isn't even a 'modernization project', it's a wrecking of a huge piece of our American history! As one of the people paying for it, I want this canceled immediately and the East Wing restored exactly as it was. In addition, all legal steps that can be pursued against the people who broke multiple laws in creating this chaos must be.

The wanton destruction by President Trump was an attack on the American people, our countries heritage and violated every law and procedure about how such projects should proceed. The East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was. If the president wants to have large functions the Kennedy Center is open and available just down the road. Last, if it were up to me President Trump would be arrested and booked for destruction of government property.

I oppose the so-called East Wing Modernization Project. It is a $300 million dollar (and rising) grift/vanity project that was instigated without proper vetting. The funding of the project is murky, and lends itself to favor granting to those who have contributed. I doubt my little voice will have much impact, as this president just steamrolls through as his toadies applaud. And, if you slap his name on this ballroom, you slap the faces of every American who believes that government is for the people, not for one man with an insatiable ego.
Thank you for you time, and I hope you consider these words.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

On a personal note:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I am against the new White House ballroom because it is historically, aesthetically, and financially impractical, essentially overpowering the existing Executive Mansion. Construction needs to be approved by a process, not on a whim by a president ... and its financing should be controlled by Congress and also be transparent. The donor system of funding seems more like bribes than anything else and as we've seen it also means there is no cap on costs since the price of the ballroom has doubled in the last few months.

Furthermore, as the building is historic, consideration should be paid to the significance of that history. I do understand that perhaps changes could be made to reflect the current need for larger events, however the proper steps must be taken to assure safety and stability. I want the project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law abiding citizens. Restore the Rose Garden while we are at it.
The $300 million raised was dark money, designed to curry favor with the current regime and should be illegal. The previous structure was torn down as an attempt at intimidation of the American people. It should be rebuilt and paid for by the people who decided it was "their" house and not the people's house and razed the existing structure.

Honorable Commissioners—
I strongly oppose the construction of a massive ballroom addition to the White House. This project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review, is unnecessary, unwarranted, and from the elevation drawings, appears to be unsightly as well, It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.

The Washington skyline and sight lines have always been carefully controlled to create a cohesive and beautiful city for residents and visitors alike. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

This center of the United States executive branch was illegally destroyed. President Trump and the Trump administration must be criminally charged. Trump should be fined and pay other penalties, including incarceration.

This historic building must be fully restored. Trump should pay for the restoration.

Trump is a criminal, who cheated his way into office. Almost everything he does is illegal. Enforce the law.

I do not understand how this project could have been undertaken without obtaining the necessary permits and design reviews that any other federal project in the Washington DC area would have to undergo before proceeding.

If the governor of Utah tore down the governor's mansion annex without obtaining express permission to do so, the citizens of this state would rise in righteous anger.

Well it may be impossible to restore the East Wing to its former state, I certainly hope you will oversee the design of the building that will replace it

The White House is the peoples' house not meant to a gaudy symbol for the rich. The original purpose of the dining room and ballroom was for state dinners with foreign dignitaries. The original symmetry of the building should be maintained. The height and length of this proposed replacement eastern wing should not eclipse the west side of the structure. Repair costs should be paid by the person who illegally demolished this historic wing. The person elected to the presidency and whose office is in the west wing should govern the country with complete adherence to the Constitution, Bill of Rights and existing federal laws. Contracts for construction should follow established bidding process and not be given to the Company who donated the most money to a political candidate. Consequences of flying off the cuff should be considered before rash decisions are hurriedly made. The architect's plans for the proposed new east wing should be carefully reviewed by the proper and established entities. May God protect the America we once enjoyed and keep everyone safe until this is just a footnote in history.

Even the title of this subject is an affront to the destruction that is happening to the integrity and historical destruction of our nations's Capital and the White House. Watching the destruction of the Jacqueline Kennedy Rose Garden to be paved over with cement was heartbreaking. Watching the violent destruction of the historic East Wing, our nation's history, tore at my soul. Remember Flights 93? Rather than surrender control to hijackers, brave Americans collectively decided to deliberately crash their plane to save the White House. Now we have a sitting American president who is carrying out the mission of the hijackers.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. If allowed to continue this will only be the beginning. The historic Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts is on the chopping block. The announcement of its closure for two years for "renovations" means it will be completely destroyed. This not only a performing arts center but a monument to honor a great American president. What national monument would be next?

This project, a vanity project, must be stopped and canceled immediately. On the very eve of our nation's 250th birthday, our nation's Capital and history, our very soul, cannot be destroyed at the whim of a man of dishonor for his own amusement and personal financial gain.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to voice our opinions here. This demolition of the East Wing without following any guidelines is horrific. The current president is following the "it is easier to ask for forgiveness than permission" rule. I don't know if that is his narcissism or just his selfishness. He seems to think he is above any law.

The White House is the People's house. The president may reside there for 4 or 8 years, however it is not his. He does not own it, he only resides there. Just like any other building, The White House needs to be updated. Just like any other building, The White House needs to follow certain standards and guidelines (asbestos testing/removal). Unlike any other building, The White House is a historic home and should follow certain historic preservation laws, such as The Historic Landmark and Historic District Protection Act of 1978, requiring review by the Historic Preservation Office (HPO) and Historic Preservation Review Board for exterior alterations, additions, or demolitions.

Was approval received from The National Park Service?
Were plans reviewed with The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation?
There are many ethical concerns, environmental concerns and legal concerns.

Please do not let this president get away with yet one more thing.

The White House does not need a ballroom. There are plenty of venues available for large events. America needs a home, steeped in history and culture. Please, do everything you can possibly do to rebuild the East Wing and restore it to its original design.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

I was sad to see the destruction of the East Wing of the White House - with apparently no thought to the historical significance of any of the rooms or gardens that were destroyed.
I don't think having a larger room available for events is necessarily a bad thing - I was always surprised when former presidents held concerts in the White House and saw how small the available space was - which thus limited who could attend. But that need for a larger space should not have destroyed what was historically significant.
A well-thought through plan to create a new space, now that there is no choice in the matter, should keep in mind that the replacement for the East Wing not dwarf the rest of the building, and the architecture should all blend seamlessly with what is already there. I wish we could go back in time and that I did not need to write this comment.

No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to me. Furthermore, as a taxpayer, I'm concerned that my money has already been used for the demolition. And that, despite what the Administration says, we as taxpayers will ultimately foot the bill for the ball room.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

I'm a concerned citizen who was appalled at the total disregard for proper authorization to modernize the East Wing. Demolition was not necessary and the suggested size and use of the the new building as primarily a ballroom is not an acceptable use of tax dollars. Additionally, having funding outside of regular channels is a way the current administration can "payback" those individuals with favorable treatment in the future—totally in character with him, but abhorrent to taxpayers like me. Please stop this madness and put it back, modernized, and with the proper size to fit with the historical preservation guidelines for our beloved White House. As a professional historian of early America and the Atlantic World, I oppose the "East Wing Modernization Project" (an Orwellian designation if there ever was one). This is not about modernizing--it is about destroying a historical building and erecting a poorly-thought-out vanity project for a malignant narcissist in its place. There were no permits issued to destroy the East Wing. There have been no permits issued to construct the carbuncle in its place. No verified funds have been raised to pay for this monstrosity. No architectural plans have been approved. The White House is OUR house, the people's house. It does not belong to Trump. He should not be allowed to destroy our house.

Many great people from around the world have graced our country as guests of The People's House. The People's House was never intended to be a palace nor a place of opulence. The People's House has always been a place where the elected President resides and conducts our country's business with grace, humility and dignity. A place where it is not necessary to boast of strength and power, but, a place where strength and power given by the Constitution needs no explanation. I, strongly, oppose the President's destruction of The East Wing. I fully support returning it to it's rightful glory of quiet strength and beauty.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing in firm opposition to the reported demolition of the East Wing and the proposed addition of a ballroom to the White House.

The White House is not a private residence. It is the People's House, a historic symbol of our democracy that belongs to the American public, not to any one individual or administration. Any structural alteration of this magnitude demands full transparency, lawful authorization, and Congressional approval. To have moved forward without proper permitting or without approval from Congress was a direct affront to constitutional governance and the separation of powers.

The proposed ballroom will cost tens of millions of taxpayer dollars. At a time when Americans are struggling with rising costs of living, housing insecurity, and underfunded public programs, allocating such a staggering sum for a ballroom is not only fiscally irresponsible but morally indefensible. Public funds must serve public needs not vanity projects.

Historic preservation laws exist for a reason. The East Wing is part of a site that represents generations of American history. Its demolition, absent lawful approval and public process, set a dangerous precedent that undermines both democratic accountability and the stewardship of national landmarks.

We do not have a king in America. No elected official has the authority to unilaterally alter the People's House for personal legacy or preference. The White House belongs to the people, and decisions about its structure must reflect that fundamental principle.

I respectfully demand that:
1. The East Wing be rebuilt or restored in accordance with historic preservation standards.
2. Congress exercise its oversight authority to ensure lawful compliance and fiscal responsibility.

Our democracy depends on adherence to process, transparency, and respect for public institutions. The People's House must remain just that, a house belonging to the people.

Sincerely,
Kay

DESTRUCTION of the EAST WING of the White House without review, permits, or Congressional oversight VIOLATED THE LAW. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. The American people own it.
The National Capital Planning Commission should require any reconstruction of the East Wing to match the historic design and size of the original structure and be funded only by Congress. If Congress does not approve funding and a design keeping with the building's historical character, the land should be left vacant.

I vehemently object to the East Wing Modernization Project on the grounds that it was not properly authorized by the Planning Commission. Additionally, given the historical importance of the (now destroyed) East Wing of the White House, that authorization, if it had been requested, should have been denied.
While I think the idea that ANY administration needs a permanent large ballroom is absurd, replacing the East Wing was a foolish choice. There are many other options for building new or using existing locations for governmental events requiring seating for large numbers of people.

Any changes made to the White House should be in keeping with the historic character of the building and approved by the National Planning Committee, the Commission of Fine Arts, and the Committee for the Preservation of the White House - committees that are populated by individuals with the appropriate expertise, as demonstrated by their education, training, and professional accomplishments. Construction should not begin until a proposed design is complete and has been examined and approved by these bodies.

Thank you NTHP for doing the right thing: insist on a proper and lawful process. When I learned about this project was the day the East Wing of one of our most historic sites was demolished, bulldozed, without approvals, like a toy that someone is tired of, without the respect of our history but most importantly of our responsibility to care and protect our historic sites. Please stop this project which not only would destroy the balance of volumes but would say to our country and the world that the USA doesn't care about due and legal protection to not only human beings but to our history and culture.

I wholeheartedly oppose the demolition of the East Wing,which was destroyed to make way for a new ballroom which is allegedly funded by private donors.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I think the National Preservation and Trust procedures should be followed to recreate the East Wing to have modest improvements in keeping with the proportions of the White House proper.

Thank you.

The notion that a President can unilaterally make this kind of radical change to the Presidential residence is an affront to our history and our shared values. The gold with which this President has lined the walls of the Oval Office show that he should not be trusted to make design choices for a place so dear to our very existence as a constitutional republic. The fact that private individuals are donating large amounts of money to pay for this boondoggle would taint the proposed ballroom forever.

Please, put a stop to it!

I strongly oppose this project which was undertaken without concern for historic preservation of the People's House. Before implementing a project of this magnitude, there should have been consultation with approximate bodies charged with ensuring that buildings of historic importance to the country are maintained in a manner that will enable future generations to learn from and enjoy them. If changes are required for modernization, care should be taken to preserve the building's integrity. Presidents are temporary occupants of the White House - not unlike renters. They do not have authority to make extensive structural changes without consent of the owners - the people and their elected representatives. This ballroom is a vanity project - there is no compelling need for a ballroom of the size that is proposed.

I strongly oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. February 17, 2026
To the National Capital Planning Commission:
As an architectural historian with over 30 years of professional experience; a former Washington DC resident; and a citizen of the US, I write to express my strong opposition to the current proposal for the East Wing, designed by architect Shalom Baranes. As proposed, the East Wing Modernization Project is grossly out of scale and proportion with the restrained and modest White House; it is a gaudy addition unworthy of our most significant and symbolic National Historic Landmark.

The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation provide the necessary guidance regarding the proposed work on the East Wing:

Standard 9. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction shall not destroy historic materials that characterize the property. The new work shall be differentiated from the old and shall be compatible with the massing, size, scale, and architectural features to protect the historic integrity of the property and its environment.
Standard 10. New additions and adjacent or related new construction shall be undertaken in such a manner that if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

The demolition of the historic East Wing has already flouted these Standards by destroying historic material that characterized the property; and by proposing a steroidal replacement completely incompatible with the massing, size and scale of not only the White House, but its surrounding landscape. The applicant has further disregarded the accepted practice of seeking review prior to undertaking proposed changes.

The White House belongs to the American people, not to any temporary occupant, and the decision to alter it so drastically, without proper review, treats a public trust as though it were private property. At a time when many Americans are grappling with a cost-of-living crisis, the expenditure of public resources—and even private corporate bribes—on an addition so grossly disproportionate to the existing historic structure, compounds the affront.

That the people's house should be so substantially and irreversibly transformed, at considerable expense and without public input, warrants consequential action from this Commission. The NCPC has both the authority and the responsibility to ensure that this nation's most recognized residence — a symbol of democratic governance, not personal privilege — is treated with care, humility, and restraint. The architects responsible for this proposal would do well to acquaint themselves with not just the Standards, but with the ethical obligations of their profession.

I am infuriated that the current occupant of the White House was allowed - was able - to destroy the East Wing of the People's House to begin with. The ownership of that building belongs to all of us, not any single person. Procedures and historical review exist for a reason and should be followed to the utmost. It's a travesty - an outward manifestation of the disdain in which the current administration holds our country and its people. It's so much easier to destroy than to build.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. The damage has been done. Clearly, something needs to be rebuilt into that space, but it should not overpower any existing building on the campus as has been shown in renderings. A new formal diplomatic reception area is not an unreasonable request, but this entire process has been unreasonable in the extreme.

AND: in no way, shape, or form should anyone's name be added to whatever is built into the gaping wound on the east lawn.

Donald Trump insists on naming or renaming some of the most historically significant structures in Washington for himself, no doubt to ensure that his presidency will be long remembered. His wanton destruction of the White House East Wing and his plan for a tasteless "ballroom" in its place will, if it's not stopped, certainly memorialize his complete lack of connection with the values and traditions of America and lack of appreciation of Americans' right to preserve those values and traditions. I will be delighted to see Trump's lasting legacy highlight his narcissistic scorn for those people he was elected to serve, but I would not have it established by his destruction, even desecration, of our national historic cultural treasures. I urge the courts, the Congress and the American people to stop the East Wing Modernization Project.

This 'project' is a travesty. Complete destruction, without notice or permission, of an historical part of the white house with plans to build a giant ostentatious ballroom, funded by private entities which are obviously buying access to the president. Normally we would call this "bribery". I want the white house re-built as it stood before, not as a gilded monument to greed and ego.

I am among those who are shocked and dismayed at the actions of the current occupant of the White House. His blatant disregard for history, his arrogance and his money grubbing is not to be rewarded.

Use every resource at your disposal to kill the "Ballroom" plan.

Employ trusted and neutral architects to re-imagine an East Wing that is functional and in keeping with the proportions of "The People's House." It is impractical to "put back" what was ripped up, but with an eye to function and proportion, I think damage done can be repaired and public trust restored.

If you could find a way to punish the current occupant for this desecration of public space, trust, and history, you would have my support in doing so.

I do not support spending $300 million on a project that bypassed proper authorization, permitting, and design review. This is not modernization, it is the demolition of American history. I am calling for this project to be canceled and for the East Wing to be restored to its original design. That's what the American people deserve.I also believe those who circumvented the law to make this happen should not be allowed to simply walk away without accountability, allowing that would be a serious injustice to every American who follows the rules.

The White House is not a private residence. It is one of the most historically significant public buildings in the world — a living museum of American democracy, architectural heritage, and national memory.

Any proposal to “modernize” the East Wing must begin with a simple truth: preservation is not an obstacle to progress — it is a patriotic obligation.

The White House complex carries architectural layers dating back to 1800, shaped by presidents from Thomas Jefferson to Theodore Roosevelt to Harry Truman. Each renovation in its history has been guided by preservation standards, historical review, and careful stewardship.

Under Donald Trump’s previous tenure, we saw troubling examples of historic elements being removed, altered, or discarded — from changes to interior finishes and furnishings to the controversial redesign of the Rose Garden that eliminated longstanding landscape features. Decisions were made that preservationists warned risked erasing historical character in favor of personal aesthetic preference.

The White House is not a branding opportunity. It is a national treasure.

The East Wing houses critical ceremonial and public spaces, including offices that support the First Lady and events that connect citizens to their government. Any major reconstruction or modernization effort must undergo rigorous review under federal preservation laws, including compliance with the National Historic Preservation Act.

At a time when Americans are struggling with housing affordability, health care costs, and infrastructure needs, prioritizing a potentially costly executive renovation sends the wrong message. But beyond fiscal concerns lies something deeper: once historic materials are removed or altered, they cannot be authentically restored.

We are temporary occupants of permanent institutions.

The question is not whether modernization can occur — it is whether it will be guided by transparency, preservation standards, and respect for history, or by personal taste and political vanity.

Stewardship of the White House requires humility. It requires restraint. And it requires reverence for the architectural and cultural inheritance that belongs not to one president — but to the American people.

I oppose the east wing moderatization project and urge the commission to reject the plan until proper legal processes are followed. This project began with a demolition of a hundred and twenty three year old structure before obtaining required approvals from the commission, before completing mandatory environmental assessments under\\nThe national environmental policy act. This is a direct violation and should be shit down until such time as it is adjudicated in a court of law!

It is an affront to call this project a "Modernization Project", but that is not the crux of my issue. I, being a law abiding citizen, would be severely penalized if I did not gather all the necessary permits before starting to renovate a garage, but those in charge of this project have done none of the necessary paperwork to demolish a garage, let alone an historic monument. In addition, no more has been filed in the way of permits needed for what should be rebuilt in its place. There are not two sets of laws, one for Them and one for the rest of us. Please hold those who have destroyed the East Wing without the proper paperwork responsible and block any use of that land for any projected that has not been approved by the proper authorities.

As a proud American, I am outraged over Donald Trump's treatment of our Historical Landmark. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.
As a New Yorker who grew up in the time of Trump I can tell you with great confidence, we do not want The White House to look like Las Vegas or a cheesy Trump Tower. Please consider our history. Thank you for your time.

I was absolutely appalled to see the historic East Wing demolished with zero regard to protecting the history of The White House. Changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action of a wannabe dictator. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I think the National Preservation and Trust procedures should be followed to recreate the East Wing to have modest improvements in keeping with the proportions of the White House proper. All reviews should take place so that all voices can be heard and all issues addressed prior to construction. Signoffs by required organizations should be obtained before construction begins.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Hello,

I oppose the spending of approximately $300 million to create a ballroom in place of where the East Wing of the White House was obscenely torn down without proper authorization, review by the NCPC, or with any input from the American people through their Congressional representatives. The complete razing of a portion of "the people's house" is a shameful stain on our historical treasures. The only building that should be taking place is a full rebuild and restoration of the East Wing since it was illegally removed. Furthermore, there should be severe penalties for those who broke the law in removing this historic building. Forging ahead with a new project would only reinforce that there is no accountability for law breakers and would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans and those who care about preserving historic integrity.

Thank you,

Th White House is a National treasure. And, yes, it has gone through many extensive transitions over its time: fires, war,renovations for maintenance and technology up dates. As far as extravagant buildings go, the White House is a very modest building compared ot other countries palaces. It's not meant to be a palace though. At one time, it was very approachable; those times have sadly gone. The proposed "ball room" addition overpowers the entire site of symbol of this place. Yes, keep the White House technically up to date, and secure. If you want an overly extravagant ballroom put it somewhere else. The way in which the project was begun, without approval or input is an anathema.

I oppose the planned ballroom designed to replace the east wing of the White House. It does not fit the style of this historic building and will cheapen the look. The very reason we have historic preservation committees is to make sure atrocities like this do not happen. This administration's blatant disregard for rules and procedures is not acceptable. Please preserve the history and design of this once beautiful landmark.

This is not the time of Napoleon and we do not want a giant ballroom in lieu of a historical preservation of the White House. Modernization should only be HVAC, windows, etc. that need replacing. You don't demolish history without the consent of the people. The plans going forward should be a renovation of the original structure.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This was undertaken without environmental assessments, congressional authorization and approval by the National Capital Planning Commission. Please do not give approval after the fact.

The funding scheme is also unacceptable due to the creation of conflicts of interest. The corporations involved in this funding are not engaged in charitable giving. It seems more like bribery of a president who controls the current federal contracts they profit from.

The White House does not belong to the president to do with as he/she wishes. It belongs to the American people, and the majority of us do not approve of this project. We see no need for it and find the scale and design to be offensive. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments.

The East Wing should not have been razed by Trump. It's my understanding that he acted unilaterally without approval from anyone, as is his typical MO. I would like the new design to reflect the original East Wing as closely as possible, and then with an "addition" of some type of realistically-sized ballroom, if that's what the PEOPLE/public decide. (let's vote!) Designs need to be vetted and approved by expert architects and designers. Trump should have no say in what happens next because money and "gold" do not buy taste. The "ballroom" portion of the new construction should be scaled to an appropriate size that is NOT out-sized and over accentuated.

As a citizen of the United States and a veteran of the Air Force, I wish to first address my objection to the destruction of the East wing of the White House Complex without the People's input. It should have never happened on the whim of this president. Secondly, my input as the above is as follows:
Restore the exterior dimensions and architectural style, update wiring etc. and make interior ADA accessible where possible of the original East Wing. It should present as restoration of significant part of its history as the primary office for the First Lady and her staff, evolving into a center for social, ceremonial, and administrative operations. As a historical function, it should continue to be the public facing entrance and heart of the presidential complex, making the west wing the "the mind" of said complex. (Which right now sees to have lost that valuable function.) In addition, the rebuilding and updating of the Emergency Operations Center would be vital to protect future leadership of the great country. Follow past process for making needed but historically sensitive changes.

If a ballroom is needed, construct it elsewhere in the city.
The White House is the people's house.
Thank you for your attention.

The White House is the very essence and icon of what we commonly refer to as "The People's House." Some of the best architects and designers of the time chiseled a monument of marble and stone that was elegant, yet still down to earth, reflecting the national recognition that government is of the people, by the people and for the people. This is precisely why there is no Grand Ballroom, because that bespeaks of an era where the powerful bribed those in power for special privileges and favor.
Any alterations or additions to "the People's House" should reflect the will of the governed, not the impulse of a single leader.
Aesthetically speaking, the proposed design is out of proportion to the original design and would irreparably diminish the aforementioned elegance.
It should be kept in mind that the current resident is only temporary and dwells therein at our consent.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. The demolition of the East Wing and the cutting down of beautiful mature trees to make way for this enormous ballroom that will dwarf our historic icon was very disturbing. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

My primary question is how the modernization, aka destruction, aids the public good? The ballroom replacement seems to cater to mainly benefit political large dollar donors and potential foreign dignitaries. The vast majority of the public will never receive an invite to an event at the East Wing ballroom, so why are we allocating public land, and public funds for the construction and eventual maintenance of this facility? The respective political parties can construct their own fundraising facility on private land and we don't need this massive eyesore that benefits only the a few.

Our White House (and it does belong to We the People) was built as a symbol to the world that our elected President is a leader, not a monarch. It is an elegant, yet simple building built purposefully as a contrast to outrageously opulent palaces of kings and dictators. It is an ongoing representation that the United States of America has a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

The innocuous title “East Wing Modernization” does not come close to describing the unlawful, unpermitted demolition of government property undertaken by the president. I have little faith in this corrupted government, but I would have the east wing restored. Not one penny of tax money should go to rebuilding it. It should be rebuilt, to its original design with the president’s personal money and the money the oligarchs are “donating” to his unwelcome and unwieldy ballroom.

The arbitrary destruction of the East Wing by this President is a disgrace. Once this Epstein-linked administration is finally gone, which, for the sake of our precious democracy and the stability of the world cannot come soon enough, the first act should be that the East Wing should is fully restored carefully and historically accurately to appear exactly as it was. OK, upgrade the systems and modernize discreetly. This desecration of the people's house is only one example of this administration's misdeeds and the restoration will engender a restoration in public trust in our federal government.

I worked in DC during the Great March on Washington in the late 1960's. A little know fact, mostly obscure from history is "Resurrection City" where the Black People camped in a (made for this march) fenced area (I think around the reflection pool). Even tho it was a risk as a young single white female, I was able to talk to, but not take photos, with some "residents of this makeshift housing.

I remember how awestruck the whole area was with memories of how this government was built, bloody but with honor. Driving up to the White House reinforced the honor it was to witness history and reflect on the gorgeous HOME of a Free Society for its residents in the USA. . The tours at the time were only "walk around" the White house with a sheet of paper identifying the rooms on the building. This was truly a majestic work of art.

To see the total destruction of the East Wing, using our tax dollars, and now having the funding misrepresented, reminds me this not only desecrates the whole structure, it sends a message that women are worth less than men----and don't deserve a place to work, let alone welcome people from global countries. I also demonstrates how little respect trump has for the sacrifices (where he enjoys freedoms of financial rewards) for the hard work of women in all walks of life (the space race mathematicians). And while I believe he has fostered this contempt with financial rewards from Global entities, It's heartbreaking to so see this physical reminder of what all we have lost. And until recently HOW it was lost, with all the evil self enrichment. TY

I am a 74 year old American with ancestors going back to the Revolutionary War. I am not only saddened and disappointed by the actions of Donald Trump, but I am furious. He is not the owner of the White House nor any other federal building, agency, or monument in our nation's Capitol. All those belong to us, the people of the United States. And I will add, we the taxpayers.
In my opinion, he had no right whatsoever to do what he has done to the East Wing.The plans of the ballroom he has displayed look absolutely horrendous. If he wanted to make permanent changes, he should have first, gone through proper channels, and perhaps given us, the actual owners, a chance to voice our opinions. He certainly should not have all of a sudden brought in a wrecking crew to destroy an important section of the building. I was horrified waking up to that sight with no warning what was about to happen. He has already made the Oval Office and other areas of the White House resemble something akin to a cheap, gaudy brothel.Is there no end to the damage he will do?
I believe Mr.Trump should be held legally accountable for what he has done, not only to the WH, but The Kennedy Center and other buildings throughout the city he has decided to just 'take over'. It seems that he feels entitled to do whatever he wants, with no input from experts or others. I assure you I would be just as offended by this type of attitude or actions, if it was any other president, no matter the political party they were a part of.
Thank you for the chance to comment about this travesty.

I strongly oppose the expenditure of $300 million on this project, which began without proper authorization, required permits, or a formal design review. This is not a modernization effort but a wholesale destruction of an important piece of American history. I call for the immediate cancellation of the project and for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored to its original design. No one is above the law, and allowing this project to proceed without holding those responsible accountable would be a disservice to every law-abiding American.

Dear Sirs:
This vanity project must be halted immediately. None of the destruction had been authorized, rather he had a wrecking crew come in during a government shutdown and wreck part of the People’s House that he had assured the Public would not be touched. No one is above the law, though he believes he is. Please STOP this immediately and let him use the $400 million he said he had in donations to rebuild the East Wing. Perhaps his wife doesn’t need an office as other First Ladies have, but it’s not his House. It’s the People’s House. He’s a temporary resident.
Please stop this vanity project and require the rebuilding of the East Wing to previous dimensions. For further generations.
Respectfully,
Bekki Beverly

Every other modern president had respect for the unique importance of the White House and consulted the Committee for the Preservation of the White House before making changes. The impulsive, disrespectful and offensive destruction of the east wing should not be rewarded with the construction of a ridiculously bloated ballroom that only serves to flatter the current president and has little to do with the American people.

It's important to note that the demolition of the east wing, which functioned primarily as the first lady's office spaces and replacing it with a ballroom solely for entertainment purposes erases the importance of the role of first lady and/or in the future, the first gentleman. This was a reception area for the people. Historically many groups brought their concerns to the first lady in the east wing. The destruction marginalized the people and took away access. Building a ballroom would only compound this error. This ballroom should not move forward and the east wing should be restored. I vehemently oppose the construction of a ballroom. I strongly support the rebuilding of the east wing. The current occupant should also pay for the rebuilding.

I oppose this project on the grounds that it uses private funding (which is a conflict of interest), destroyed an historic landmark and was done on such a fast track it caused outrage throughout the country that crossed all party lines. I am now appalled to see the pictures of what has been done to this beautiful house! It is the People's house, not the current occupant's house! He is a tenant with a lease for four years. All Americans should be outraged by the Trump administration's unauthorized destruction of the East Wing of the White House. Whether the country needs a giant ballroom is debatable, but Trump does not allow debate; he does what he wants without regard for the opinions of others. To Whom It May Concern,

While in office, Donald J Trump has managed to run roughshod over our beloved constitution. Rather than going into detail as to his many transgressions, suffice it to say the man puts himself, his vengeance, and his vanity over the needs of the American people. This, of course is in addition to how he has turned his back on our allies and disrupted the liberal world order.
I do not claim to understand why he puts his own personal needs ahead of our county and our allies, but I do know that his every move is about himself, his greed and his ego.
Rather than seeking input or permission from your organization or the public, he went ahead and had the entire east wing (and the historical.Rose Garden) destroyed. Why would he make such bold and selfish moves without the courtesy that any other occupants of the People's House have acquired? Because he does whatever he pleases without consulting anyone. He consistently abuses the privileges of his position. He is unqualified and incompetent and seems to try to make up for his deficiencies by building monuments to himself or slapping his name on other people's monuments.
If you give this man permission to make over another national landmark, i.e., the White House, then you are encouraging his lawlessness and ego.
I hope this committee will insist on having the East Wing rebuilt and stop another attemp by DJT to destroy our country and our heritage bit by bit.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

The Commission votes March 5th. The East Wing is already demolished. But the record of public opposition matters. Make your voice heard.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. I also question the intention of those who are supposedly funding this project. It is not a modernization project, and I question the need for this Ballroom. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing and restored. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide written feedback on the White House Ballroom project. This project should be immediately stopped and the East Wing restored, and any money pledged by large corporations and wealthy individuals until a proper and transparent process is developed and followed. The White House is the "people's house" not an opportunity to buy influence. A ballroom for large events could be procured and secured at multiple venues around Washington DC, that are both accessible, securely, historic and cost effective…we use them all the time for large events at inauguration events. The massive ballroom proposed by the President is out of scale, a vanity project and not an appropriate use of scarce resources. Donations are not transparent and are used to buy access and influence.

I object to the East Wing tear down. Now that it is down, it should be rebuild with modern technology but at the same foorprint and overall design as the original. A wing should not dwarf the White House. If a better bunker needs to be built, build it but leave the visible part (the East wing) aesthetically intact. We the people don't need a massive ballroom that is a vanity project.

This project is a heart breaking destruction of American history. When looking at the destruction I am reminded of August 24, 1814, when, during the War of 1812, the White House was burned down. It was an act of terrorism on American soil. Today, this project is no different. Initiated without any permission, the project failed to take any of the necessary steps to proceed in the first place.

The White House has been significantly destroyed of its grandeur. It has the appearance as if a bomb exploded. This is the people's house. It does not belong to any occupant of the White House. Not only was historic preservation far from the mind of the occupant in this alteration, but it is clear from news reports, that none of the necessary steps were taken to proceed with such a project.

From a security standpoint, it is also appalling. Who authorized the workers? Do they or any of the construction companies have ties with a leader of another country? Might the walls include listening devices? It is clear that the Cold War never ended. Instead, it morphed into something else altogether. The destruction of the White House may well be part of that plan - to undermine the confidence of Americans in their country.

This has nothing to do with modernization, such as putting in more efficient heating or air conditioning. This was not predicated on the concept of making a LEED building in the same design or with the same footprint. It is an ego project. It does not have my support.

As the demolition of the East Wing was executed without proper review and documentation, I highly oppose any construction other than full restoration of the East Wing of the White House. Modernization of the existing bunker could be accomplished without adding a ballroom. Any ballroom construction must go through proper channels and approval by Congress before even being considered. The White House is a national treasure that must be protected.

The founding fathers specifically created a small house, because it was the people's house, and they were rejecting the grandiose and ostentatious palaces of the monarchies in Europe, The liars who did this illegal action should be charged with desecration and destruction of public property as no one should be above the law. It should be restored to the size and scope of the old East wing or at least something that matched the size and scope of the West wing.

This project conflicts with the rule of law in a number of ways.

The East Wing, as it existed, was a national treasure. It was part of the institution that the American people have built to house our government. It was built over time as a part of the living history of our democracy.

The destruction of the East Wing was against the law. We have processes for the renovation and reconstruction of our historic structures. None of these processes were followed. Many parts or our government utilize a "notice and comment" process to explore the impact of potential changes. No input was sought by this administration.

Trump acted as if he has plenary authority over the building that belongs to all of us. He does not have such authority, As has become clear, our system does not have mechanisms in place to address a chief executive that abuses their authority. All those that have previously held that office have maintained at least some respect for the rule of law. Trump respects nothing, and has seeming disdain for the rule of law.

The East Wing Modernization Project, as presented, is against the law. We have processes for the design and planning of federal buildings, and extensive design review processes when constructing our national monuments. Again, none of these processes were followed. Again, there was nothing resembling a "notice and comment" process, and no input was sought by this administration. Generally, the Trump administration's response to any input or criticism trends toward the aggressively hostile.

The East Wing Modernization Project is an abomination. It dwarfs the White House, placing our landmark in the shadow of Trump's Gatsby-esque ego project. It's purpose is opposed to the principles of democracy: Trump is planning the atrocity so he can continue to rule by socializing with billionaires.

I believe that the East Wing Modernization Project should be rejected, and the East Wing should be rebuilt exactly as it was before Trump destroyed the people's property.

It is my opinion that the East Wing needs to be restored. This beautiful building once held the women's offices. I'd like to see them returned.
As a homeowner, I can't do anything to my home without a permit. Larger projects will include the use of a contractor, blueprints, site plans, permits and inspections. None of this was done.
And while I do not reside in the White House, it is the People's House, mine, my neighbors, my family's house. Our opinions should not just be mandatory but welcomed and appreciated.

Those responsible for the destruction of such a symbol of the U.S.A. Need to be held responsible financially and legally. The current president has NO RIGHT to destroy an historic landmark. If we truly need a ballroom, plans need to be submitted and not approved until after the East Wing is restored to it’s former beauty.

The proposed design for Trump's Ballroom is much too large for the site, plus its relationship to the White House is aesthetically overwhelming, to say the least. The White House should remain the prominent structure and NOT a ballroom. Additionally the massive 38'-40' height of the ballroom is ridiculous and will destroy any feeling of intimacy in a dinner setting and be difficult acoustically. It could easily be lowered (ballrooms are typically 12'-30' max) to help mask it's outlandish size, inside and outside. Add on the astronmical cost for heating and cooling this massive space, which also has extremely limited usage. This whole unnecessary project will be a burden to me, the taxpayer. I urge the scaling back of this monstrosity with sensitivity to the site and the White House. I also urge restraint on the massive use of gold that Trump has shown elsewhere.

This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I totally oppose the so-called East Wing Modernization Project which has already destroyed the East Wing of the White House so a massive, unnecessary ballroom will be built. This is nothing but another effort by Trump to glorify himself and invalidate our American traditions and symbols so he can create his own. He has already gilded up the White House to look like an Arabian palace and leveled the beautiful Rose Garden to look like a beach resort patio. He is doing this project without any authorization whatsoever, the way autocrats tend to do everything. I think he should be held accountable and made to fund the rebuilding of the East Wing to look as close to the old one as possible. He doesn't own the White House; supposedly, We the People do.

I am quite concerned and don't believe the addition of a 90,000 sq ft ballroom to the White House should be allowed to go forward. It was very reckless of the President to bring in a wrecking crew and destroy the East Wing with all its history. He didn't have proper authorization to take this upon himself. The White House is the people's house and not owned by any President. He is a temporary resident there and therefore should not be allowed to make such a drastic change to begin with. The planned structure is quite large and will diminish the size of the White House in perspective.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I write to you today to question the destruction of the East Wing in order to build a golden edifice to one man's ego. The East Wing has historically been where the work of women was done. Women like Eleanor Roosevelt, Jackie, Kennedy, and most recently, Michelle Obama. These are women who changed the world. Women who worked tirelessly to make this a better world for women and girls. Don't be fooled into thinking that Mr. Trump simply wants a place to hold parties. He is making a statement that women are less than, mere object for men to grab by their genitals, something for which he will forever be known. As a veteran, and more importantly, a female veteran, I stood on that wall and defended this country from foreign enemies. Never in my lifetime would I have believed that I now have to beg my leaders to defend us all from a domestic one. As an American, I ask that you stop this insanity and restore the hallowed hall where great women worked for every one of us. The children of the future deserve that much from you.

Here's the comment I submitted three days ago. Folks are welcome to borrow or adapt:

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

As a strong supporter of the National Trust and historic preservation, I am stunned by the demolition of the East Wing. Demolishing the historic East Wing of the White House without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight clearly violated the law. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. The American people own it. No president owns the property.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require any reconstruction of the East Wing to maintain its historic design. Anything built on the demolition site must match the style of the original structure of the Executive Mansion, and it must be subordinate in size

I urge, further, that any reconstruction be funded only with appropriations from Congress and that no private money be allowed for this project. The American people own the land, not any one president or any corporation seeking to buy favor. Do not reward a lawless president.

If Congress does not approve funding, and if a design keeping with the building's historical character cannot be achieved, the land should be left vacant.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Is this new bunker where traitor Trump wants to try and hide the next time he tries to overthrow our democracy?
Please put a halt to this insanity and let the American people weigh in on what happens next. At a time when our government is cutting programs and safety nets that benefit millions of people, there is almost zero support for this insane waste of money to build something we do not need or want. I am strongly opposed to proceeding with this project. It was initiated without proper authorization, without permits, and without design review. An icon of American history was bulldozed in a day, with no concern for furnishings and fixtures of historical, cultural, and monetary value. It is not a modernization project at all. I visited Washington D.C. when I was 5 years old, my family won a radio contest to see Reagan's Inauguration. I have no memories of seeing the White House. I have visited D.C a few times as an adult, but have never been able to see the building in person. I have always wanted to, and was just devastated to see it desecrated so violently and disrespectfully with no warning.

This iconic building holds the history, hopes, dreams, blood, sweat and tears of so many generations of Americans. From the enslaved people who literally gave their lives to build it, to the countless staff, housekeepers, politicians, families, visitors, artists and writers, foreign dignitaries, so many people have walked the halls of the People's House over the centuries.

What President Trump has done to this irreplaceable structure is unforgivable. Through his hubris, impatience, pettiness and vitriol he has managed to destroy an entire wing of this building that does not belong to him. This building belongs to all of us.
It needs to be restored to it's previous condition, along with some kind of a plaque that describes accurately the laws and procedures that he and his cronies violated when they vandalized the White House so catastrophically.

He, his enablers, accomplices and criminal enterprise need to be held accountable for his many crimes.

Now that the East Wing has been "modernized" into oblivion, against the letter of the law and the specific wishes of a vast majority of the American public, I propose it be replaced with a temporary shelter for the homeless veterans this administration continues to neglect. This shelter should be temporary until housing is found for every homeless veteran in the United States, or until the current administration is driven from office, and a newly-elected rational President-elect restores the East Wing to it's previous glory.

The destruction of the East Wing is a travesty, especially given that it was done without any of the proper, required authorizations, permits or design reviews. This is not a modernization project but rather a blatant attempt to erase a part of American history. There is no viable need or reason - other than one man's ego - for a ballroom in its place, especially in a city like Washington D.C. with so very many options available, and it is a massive slap in the face of the American public to waste $300 million plus on a project like this in the face of so many people losing their livelihoods, the rising costs health insurance, housing, groceries, gas and generally the cost of living.

This project needs to be canceled immediately, and equally as importantly, the Administration needs to be held liable for attempting to avoid or sidestep following proper procedure. Nobody, including the current Administration, is above the law. Allowing this project to go forward will not only flaunt proper procedure and safety regulations, it will open the door wide to a slew of private businesses and contractors doing the same; should this project be allowed to continue, a dangerous precedent will be set that will be difficult to impossible to stop ballooning nationwide. After all, why should anyone else follow the law / obtain authorizations, permits or design reviews if the President himself does not do so?

No-one is above the law, period. Permitting this project to go forward without penalizing those who broke the law will make a mockery of our entire judicial system and will be a flat-out affront to all law-abiding Americans.

After recovering from the initial shock of the rampant destruction of the East Wing, like so many architects designers historians preservationists plus average Americans, it became obvious that the current administration truly thinks that America is a kingdom and the POTUS is king. Not so!

The White House, as well as ALL government buildings belong to the People of the United States. We have commissions, laws, covenants and rules in place to take care of the maintenance and preservation of our beautiful and historic public spaces.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I think that in all fairness, since the demolition was never authorized by anyone that the project should do as much as it can to restore it to its previous state including restoration of all decor and antiquities that were housed there.
I believe once it has been restored as much as possible to its previous condition that then conversations can begin about how to make changes.
This is our home and we were never consulted via our Congress/ our voice therefore, the only fair resolution can be restoration to its previous condition.

Thank you

The lack of transparency and planning prior to demolition speaks to the issues with this for this project.

There was no need for demolition. The current administration should sue the company that demolished it without proper authorization and permits.

There should be a project submittion noting the needed improvements for the East Wing. A historical architecture firm brought in to address the concerns and make a proposal.

The US does not need a grand ballroom when we can't even take care of our people.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. I am not opposed to improving the White House. Given POTUS went about this without input or approval was wrong. The construction must stop. The required review and approval should progress. This does not mean Trump gets to control the review or approval. It should be independent. In addition, the funding needs to be scrutinized in a non-partisan manner. . This should not be controversial

No work or changes to the White House should ever be done without approval from the Commission. No building alterations/construction should be done without thorough review and approval by the Commision and authorized by Congress.
The recent destruction of the East Wing is an affront to the American people. It is also highly questionable about the cost of $300m to build a ballroom. No ballroom would cost that much.

Respectfully, I do not support the ‘modernization’ being considered by this administration. The White House is the people’s house. It does not belong to current occupants. It never has. I do not share the current occupants taste and frankly am offended that he feels he has the right to ignore historical preservation. Please help us protect our history.

I respectfully submit this comment to express serious concern regarding the reported removal of the existing structure on the East Wing of the White House and proposals to construct a large ballroom in its place.

The White House is not merely an executive residence. It is a historic and architectural symbol that belongs to the American people. Any significant alteration to its structure should be conducted through a transparent, well-documented process that includes consultation with preservation experts, historians, architects, and appropriate oversight bodies. Decisions of this magnitude warrant careful review, public accountability, and adherence to established historic preservation standards.

The reported removal of an existing structure without a clear and publicly understood process raises concerns about precedent, stewardship, and respect for national heritage. The integrity of the White House complex must be preserved with deliberate care rather than altered through unilateral or expedited action.

If reconstruction or restoration is undertaken, it should faithfully replicate the original architectural character and historical design of the East Wing. The White House has long reflected restrained elegance and classical design principles. Any additions should align with that established aesthetic and avoid ornamental embellishments, including gold accents, that depart from its historic tone and dignity.

Congress has an important role in ensuring that changes to nationally significant properties are handled with transparency, fiscal responsibility, and respect for historical integrity. I urge careful oversight of any proposed construction and a commitment to preserving the White House in a manner consistent with its architectural legacy.

Respectfully submitted,

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.\u-4 ?
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. The White House is the People's house. The President and his family are temporary residents and they do not own the White House. The upkeep and maintenance of the White House is financed and fully paid for by the citizens of the United States. In other words, the People should have input regarding the demolition of this historic building that was built by slaves centuries ago. The sitting President should not be permitted to unilaterally make a decision to tear down and rebuild in his image a ballroom while he and his family are temporarily residing in the White House.

I was appalled, as were most Americans, when I saw a wrecking ball taken to our beloved East Wing. No consultation with you, no adherence to norms, no permits, no input from the American people, no thought of the enormous amount of money it will cost, nothing but the whim of one person. There are some reports that, now, he wants the East Wing to be even bigger than the White House itself. This will forever alter the character and stateliness of the White House. Please do not allow it. We, the people, do not need it. Nor do we want it. Please ensure that the East Wing is rebuilt as it was and preserve the nature of the structure. While you are at it, restore the Rose Garden. Thank you for your consideration.

I would like to comment on the East wing project. Obviously something has to be done since it's already been destroyed. I think the new project should not be bigger than the White House. It should have offices and maybe a room to have state dinners. It does need to be a room that can seat 1000, I think 500 would be fine. It does not need multiple crystal chandeliers or any of that horrible gold embellishments. It needs definitely be in scale with the White House. Thank you, I do hope you take into consideration the American people when you make this decision, not just the desire of a President who is accustomed to getting his way.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.
It is not a modernization project, but rather an obliteration of American history, capitol architecture, collaborative planning, and the rule of law.
This project should be canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design insofar as possible.
Those who authorized and carried out this project in defiance of rules and laws regarding changes to US Government property should be investigated, and charged with crimes and violations where appropriate, from the highest official to the lowest functionary.
To permit this project to continue, without full investigation of the destruction of the East Wing, and penalizing those who broke the law, would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. It is an affront to those who built and maintained the White House, those who have worked there, and all of us who have helped to pay for its maintenance.

The NCPC should do everything in its power to collect and preserve information on this act of wanton destruction, and to ensure those responsible face justice. Rebuilding the East Wing will be the work of years or decades, but that should be your goal.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Regards,
Ronnie Daldos

The egregious actions by the president to destroy what belongs to the American people cannot go unchecked.

The scale of the proposed big ugly ostentatious ballroom should not dwarf the People's House.

There are so many questions:
Was there hazardous materials exposed during demolition and not handled properly, asbestos for example

The president claims this will be paid for by rich donors, but the American taxpayers will be responsible for the upkeep, maintenance forever.

The president has made the Oval Office gaudy and cheap looking, and not dignified and I suspect the big ugly ballroom will be the same.

It is not our aesthetic for the American People.

The White House is the People's House. I vehemently oppose the narcissistic, illegal, vainglorious rebuilding project being undertaken by the current administration. Besides being a beautiful and historic national treasure, the White House is a symbol of peace, stability, and the democratic transfer of power. Remaking the East Wing in one president's image is an act of vandalism of the highest order.

This project was unnecessary. Starting with the demolition, done when he promised his ballroom would not touch it. He cannot be trusted with this project. The money is sourced from people expecting favors, and we never needed a ballroom, there already was one. This is just a way for him to steal more money, and would have been better to help people with healthcare, and ask his buddies to fund that rather than a ballroom that most of us will never be allowed to step foot in. Please stop this project and let him look at the destruction until he leaves office. Then let a competent administration handle it.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.

This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

Please use your authority to stop this illegal and stupendously unwise exercise in extortion and personal aggrandizement. The White House belongs to the American people, not the current president or his network of wealthy friends. We the people should be included in such a consequential decision through established procedures, rather than shocked and insulted by this unprecedented and shameful abuse of power. There must be accountability and consequences for this if we are to support the values embedded in the Constitution and our democratic norms.

I fully oppose the destruction of our country's historical buildings anywhere, but especially in something that means so much to to every American, This was a vanity project simply to make the home to Presidents for generations a TRUMP legacy because he was not able to slap his name on it like and office tower or hotel or th Kennedy Center. The fact that it was allowed to be destroyed without any proper historical review or permitting is a classic example of act first, ask questions or forgiveness later when it's too late. It's never too late to do the right thing. Average people have had to destroy renovations that were not completed according to historical or HOA guidelines in Old Town or other neighborhoods, this is a flagrant violation of any sense of decency or concern for history.

I am using the words of Andrea Cervini (with permission) because she says it perfectly:

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history.
I request:
the cancellation of this project, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.
No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.
And it would be extra helpful if it was paid for with $ from those that broke the law and not tax payer $.
Thank you.

While teaching United States history for 26 years I had the privilege of presenting our nation's history with a sense of pride in our traditions, a respect for the rule of law, and deference to the principles to which our society has aspired. The National Historic Trust is charged with the responsibility of preserving and adjudicating the process of of maintaining our architectural treasures. The Executive Mansion and the grounds that it stands on are more than a house for the sitting President to occupy. It is a monument, a museum, a piece of our past that exists to honor and remind us of the trials and tribulations we have endured as a nation. The current administration seems to think the property belongs to him, and not the people. No President has the right to make changes to the people's house without first following the steps created to protect that history. We have seen atrocities take place as our treasured monument has been gilded in tacky gold trimmings and our treasured historic Rose Garden has been paved over. The destruction of the East Wing was the last straw. This abomination has to stop. Our treasured Executive Mansion needs to be restored. Stop the ballroom nonsense and rebuild the East Wing and Rose Garden!

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. This $400 million construction began without National Capital Planning Commission approval, without required environmental assessments, and without congressional authorization mandated by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. These violations should not be rewarded with after-the-fact approval.

The funding creates unacceptable conflicts of interest. Corporations holding billions in current federal contracts with this administration are funding a construction project at the residence of the president who controls those contracts. This is not charitable giving. This is an investment in access and favorable treatment.

The White House belongs to the American people, not any individual president. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal until full legal compliance is achieved, including congressional authorization and completed environmental assessments. No temporary occupant should possess unilateral authority to demolish historic structures without following the law.

Opposition to the Proposed East Wing Modernization Project

I write to express my clear opposition to what is being described as the “East Wing Modernization Project.” As it currently stands, this proposal appears to represent not modernization, but the unnecessary and potentially irreversible alteration of a historic national site whose significance extends beyond any single administration or moment in time.

The White House is not merely a residence or office complex; it is widely understood as The People's House, a symbol of continuity in American civic life. Decisions affecting its historical structure and character should therefore be undertaken with transparency, public accountability, and meaningful public engagement. To date, it is not evident that such standards have been met.

There has been insufficient public disclosure regarding the scope of the project, the budgetary framework, or the final design intentions. Major changes to historically significant federal property should not proceed without clear explanation, open review, and appropriate oversight. The absence of these elements understandably raises concern among citizens who view preservation of national heritage as a shared responsibility.

Accordingly, I respectfully call for the project to be paused pending a full public accounting of its purpose, costs, design, and legal authorization. If any procedural or legal irregularities are found, they should be examined through the appropriate investigative channels. In a constitutional system, accountability is not punitive — it is protective. No individual or institution stands above the law, and public trust depends on that principle being upheld.

Protecting our history is not an act of nostalgia; it is an act of stewardship. The decisions we make today will determine what future generations inherit as their national story.

Dear Committee

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Sadly this project is an insult to all Americans. The brutal destruction of The East Wing was done with malice, through the ego of the sitting president Donald J Trump.... The brutal destruction of this historic building, the White House which belongs to the people of the United States not one person. . Donald J Trump had no authorization to proceed with the destruction of the East Wing nor did he follow protocol that is mandatory.... He is not above the law... The brutal destruction of the East Wing erases so much history ...It is not a modernization project but rather a complete erasing of American history, to fill his ego, as done with many other projects by Donald J Trump to erase history especially the history of persons of color. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

The East Wing of the White House should be restored to its original footprint and purpose. This is the People's House, not a permanent residence for the current president of the United States (let's hope). A grand Ballroom is not in keeping with the essence of democracy and concern for the citizens of this country. The fact that this wing was destroyed without proper regulatory oversight compounds the insult to the American public. It must be rebuilt to in keeping with the rest of the building structure and size.

The White House is more than a building, it is a symbol of our leaders who have brought America through wars, hard times, and given peace and hope to the people. Ours is a country of the people, our leader should represent all of us. The White House is symbolic of that relationship.

I respectfully ask that the East Wing renovation not move forward as currently planned. The White House is not meant to look like a grand palace in the way that the current administration would like. This is not a monarchy where leaders have no obligation to the people. Return order to the People's House. Restore the East Wing.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I oppose this project. The East Wing was destroyed without proper channels giving permission. This is not a personal home to the president, it is a historic home belonging to the people. It should be remade as it was on the president's dime, not tax payer money. He had no right to do this. Thank you for your attention to this concern.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

This project should be denied the demolition was done without prior approval and at the whim of one person who assumed the power to do whatever he chooses. This is at total odds with my understanding of how a nation of laws is supposed to work. If we are to be a nation of laws, we need to act accordingly. As for what to do, now that the old structure has been destroyed, it might be most appropriate to leave the carnage and name it after the responsible person.

The White House belongs to the American people and that's why we call it the People's House. It is unsettling that such substantial alterations to the 225-year-old People's House are being undertaken without a historic-preservation review (and seemingly without the involvement of any historians). It is clear that the disregard for history is a defining trait of President Trump's second administration. The East Wing's lineage reaches back to Thomas Jefferson, who added covered walkways linking the residence to service buildings and framing the gardens. The current form began in 1902 under President Theodore Roosevelt and was completed in 1942 under Franklin D. Roosevelt. The East Wing historically housed the Office of the First Lady, but it seems that nothing has been done to protect the history of women's contributions to the presidency. By bulldozing the structure, Trump is effectively erasing women from the history of the White House. Despite Trump behaving like he owns the White House, he is merely its tenant and just the current resident of the People's House.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. Less is more. Please use reason when rebuilding the East Wing of the White House. It should never have been destroyed, but a monstrous ballroom would be absolutely ridiculous. Americans hope the White House will be home to many different individuals in the coming years, many who will be conducting the nation's business, not hosting dances. Please, please, no more monstrosities in our nation's capitol.

East Wing modernization is a fancy term for bulldozing history to build a ballroom aka one man's extreme vanity project. Jacqueline Kennedy and Harry Truman would be appalled if they were still alive. They spent a lot of time and effort to maintain and restore the history of our country's house. That's right. It isn't Donald Trump's house to renovate at his whim. He tore off a huge chunk of our house and I am outraged. As a citizen of this country whose ancestors fought in the American Revolution, I hate to see those principles of We the People become yes, Dear Leader. Do not bow to his pressure and restore our house. Thanks

Consent by Kathy Stanton October 23, 2025

It feels like rape,
like a public rape.
A single backhoe tearing away history -- breaking the people's house, one crushed wall at a time.

You will say, "Renovations have happened before."
I will say, "But, with consent!"

Where is the invitation from the people;
the permission, the plans,
the reason, the purpose,
the answer to the question, "Did the people ask for this?"

One ego decided.
Decided that America wanted it.
She had always wanted it.
She always wanted to dance -- dance away the night -- drunk, dressed in gold,
the way he likes her.

One ego needed to break things --
Only temporarily satisfied, until the next urge to take and break
what does not belong to him.

I cry for the rape of the people's house!
I cry for the demolition of what was,
for what can never be again.
When, in the future,
I look at his ballroom,
standing out of balance,
awkwardly perched over the past,
I will see only the memory of what was taken without consent.

It was a travesty that he had the east wing torn down. It must be rebuilt in a historically appropriate way that honors America’s history and gives hope for our future must be the only direction this project thinks. I'm tired of this President doing things without working within the law. The destruction of the East Wing of the White House was disgusting. Maybe that money could be used for more useful things like feeding children, infrastructure, Medicaid, etc. If there's no money for those programs, how is there money for this. I don't believe the wealthy donated money, it's all bribes. He's been trying to erase history, or whiten it. The East Wing held so much history. Please stop him. It's not right! He needs to be reined in and this would be a start. Don't let him tear apart our symbols of our democracy. \u-10180 ?\u-8710 ?\u-10180 ?\u-8712 ?

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

To Whom it may concern,
I am an American citizen. I have taken my children to see the White house, and explained the significance of the building to them, that this is "the peoples house" belonging to all of us, not solely the person residing there. The destruction, unauthorized, was unacceptable. The plan to build a monstrous addition is unacceptable. It is my opinion, as a taxpayer, that the East Wing needs to be replaced as it was, perhaps with some interior updates, however, the exterior needs to be of a scale and scope matching the existing building, and pre-existing structure. Despite the "reassurances" that money will come from private donors, which intimates influence from these individuals/corporations not representative of the American people and it's National monuments.

There is a saying, "there is no accounting for some peoples tastes" it is not considered to be a compliment. The White House should reflect good taste and values, not the ostentatious choices of a single person.
Respectfully submitted,
Linda Cosgrove

Based on historical precedent, no president has the right to make changes that radically modify the structure other than for acute necessity. There is no benefit to the American people for a ballroom so the president can throw bigger and more lavish parties at our expense. What gave him the right to destroy our heritage? What's next? I am completely opposed to the "modernization" of the East Wing of the White House. The White House is The People's House, and the current occupant has gone ahead with demolishing the East Wing as though it were HIS personal property and not the property of the people of the United States. The complete disregard for legal channels is typical of the current administration. I write to formally express my strong opposition to the proposed $300 million White House ballroom project.

This undertaking was reportedly initiated without proper authorization, required permits, or an appropriate public design review process. Such actions raise serious concerns about transparency, accountability, and adherence to the rule of law. No public project—particularly one involving a national historic landmark—should proceed outside established legal and procedural safeguards.

The White House is not merely a residence; it is a living symbol of American democracy and history. Alterations that involve the destruction or irreversible modification of historically significant structures, including the East Wing, are not modernization—they are erasure. Preservation of historic integrity must take precedence over aesthetic ambition or political preference.

At a time when Americans face pressing economic and social challenges, this project reflects misplaced priorities. Attentions should rather be directed toward initiatives that strengthen the well-being of citizens, not toward projects that compromise our national heritage.

I call for:
1. An immediate halt to the ballroom project.
2. A full investigation into whether proper legal procedures were followed.
3. Restoration and rebuilding of the East Wing consistent with its historical design.
4. Accountability for any officials or entities that authorized or advanced this project in violation of applicable laws and preservation standards.

The principle that no one is above the law is foundational to our republic. Allowing this project to proceed without consequence would undermine public trust and signal that historic preservation statutes and permitting requirements are optional rather than binding.

The White House belongs to the American people—past, present, and future. Its preservation must reflect respect for our shared history and for the laws that govern us all.

The East Wing needs to be rebuilt following the previous floor plans This is a historical part of the People's House, the White House. The East Wing was torn down without permission. We need our complete White House returned to it's normal state.

I am writing to express my deep concern and opposition to the ongoing demolition of the White House East Wing. This unauthorized and unilateral action by President Trump is a grave overreach of executive power and must be halted immediately. The East Wing, built in 1942 during Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency, is an integral part of our nation's history. Its sudden demolition, announced by Trump administration officials as happening "within days," is a significant expansion of the initially proposed ballroom project. This drastic change from the July announcement, which promised not to interfere with the current building, is alarming and unacceptable. The $300 million project, funded by Trump and private donors, lacks transparency and proper oversight. The White House's claim that they aren't required to submit plans for review because only demolition has begun is a dangerous precedent that sidesteps crucial public review processes. The National Trust for Historic Preservation's call to pause demolition until legally required reviews are completed must be heeded. This action is not just about a building; it's about the erosion of our democratic norms and the abuse of presidential authority. The White House belongs to the American people, not to any single president. Trump's unilateral decision to remake a historic part of our national heritage without proper authorization or public input is deeply troubling.

Having been on the design team for improvements to the East Wing HVAC system many years ago, I was fortunate enough to survey the wing from stem to stern, climbing into such areas as the attic (while wearing a 3-piece suit), and the Secret Service's subterranean quarters. Our time there was nothing less than reverential, as we were acutely aware of the historic significance of the building in which we were trusted to perform our services.

Nothing about this new project is justified. The shocking loss of the East Wing has come about through the petulant actions of a man whose only desire is to make a mark on history, seeking negative attention if he cannot achieve positive endorsement. By choosing to destroy the symbols of our nation's history in complete disregard of the District's regulatory processes, this project will stand as a monument to the whims of a fascist, befouling the concept of the People's House. Restoration of the East Wing to its original form is the essential course of action that is now demanded by the magnitude of its significance and by the corrupt actions that have brought us to this moment.

Dear Commissioners,

I write to respectfully urge the National Capital Planning Commission to reject, or substantially redesign, the proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House.

The White House is not merely a functional government building. It is a National Historic Landmark, a National Park, and a civic symbol belonging to the American people. Since 1800, its architectural integrity — defined by proportion, restraint, and classical balance — has conveyed stability across generations of change. Any alteration must therefore meet an exceptionally high standard of compatibility and preservation.

The proposed addition does not meet that standard.

At 90,000 square feet, the ballroom would exceed the scale of the 55,000-square-foot Executive Residence itself. Historic preservation principles are clear: additions must be subordinate to the original structure in both scale and visual impact. This proposal instead risks overwhelming the historic composition and altering the character of one of the nation's most recognized architectural works.

Expanded event space may be desirable, but necessity alone cannot justify a permanent alteration of national heritage. The solution must respect the White House's historic hierarchy, materials, massing, and setting. There are viable alternatives — including smaller, detached, or visually recessive structures — that could meet functional needs without compromising architectural integrity.

Federal review processes exist precisely for moments like this. Compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act, consultation with the Commission of Fine Arts, and Congressional oversight should ensure the outcome reflects long-term stewardship rather than short-term convenience. The American people deserve a solution guided by preservation, not enlargement.

As noted publicly, citizens must have a meaningful opportunity to shape this decision. I respectfully ask the Commission to require a design that is demonstrably compatible in scale and subordinate to the historic White House — or to withhold approval until such a proposal is presented.

The White House has endured because each generation chose restraint over reinvention. This generation should do the same.

Thank you for your consideration and for your stewardship of nationally significant places.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am deeply concerned about the about the destruction of the historic East Wing of the White House, and the plans to replace it with an outsized ballroom which will disfigure the original building.

The current occupant has been known to show little to no regard for history or architecture. The historic Bonwit Teller friezes in NYC, promised to the Metropolitan Museum of Art but instead destroyed to save costs, during the construction of Trump Tower, is only one example.

The talk of government efficiency and cost cutting seems to only apply to social programs, and not unnecessary construction. Presidents finish their terms and are followed by new presidents, but a building like the White House is there for the long term, and should not be altered at the whim of a single officeholder.

Very truly yours,

Catherine Siemann

I am outraged that the Trump Administration demolished the East Wing of the White House without authorization or review. In my state, county, and municipality even there are review processes, permits, and requirements that must be followed prior to any demolition. Above and beyond that, this administration has destroyed a National Historic Landmark and National Park, on a whim...not only with this demolition but with the gaudy and gilded interior decorating of the rest of the White House and the destruction of the Rose Garden for a Mar-A-Lago patio.

If any other resident anywhere in the country didn't follow these guidelines there would be fines and other consequences. This administration needs to be reminded these properties are not theirs...but ours. We the people. The demolition cannot be undone, but the ballroom build needs to be stopped and the East Wing rebuilt at the personal expense of the administration and/or the "private investors" funding it...not one cent of taxpayer dollars should fund this outrageous abuse of our historical places.

IF, we need a ballroom, for "national security" purposes then, as a taxpayer, we the people should have the opportunity to see all of the documentation from National Security requests for such a project to justify it as well as all of the required reviews, testing, environmental impact, etc.

This should have been a project years in the making in conjunction with National Security officials, Congress, the National Trust, National Parks, and the people of the United States...not a whim. It is absolutely shameful.

I respectfully oppose the proposed 90,000-square-foot ballroom addition to the White House.

For more than two centuries, the White House has functioned as both a working building and a powerful national symbol without a structure of this scale. The absence of a grand ballroom has not prevented it from fulfilling its ceremonial, diplomatic, or operational roles. Before permanently altering one of the most historically significant buildings in the United States, we should ask whether this addition is truly necessary.

My concerns center on historic preservation, architectural integrity, and proportional scale. At 90,000 square feet, the proposed addition would exceed the size of the Executive Residence itself. Additions to historic landmarks should be subordinate and compatible with the original structure. A ballroom of this magnitude risks overwhelming the historic building rather than complementing it.

There are also broader considerations of cost, symbolism, and taxpayer impact. The White House belongs to the American people. Any significant alteration should reflect restraint, stewardship, and respect for its historic character. Major changes to a National Historic Landmark should occur only when clearly essential and thoughtfully designed in harmony with the existing architecture.

Finally, I strongly support a robust public process. Decisions of this scale deserve thorough review and meaningful public input before irreversible changes are made.

For these reasons, I urge the Commission to reject the proposal in its current form.

I am so sad that the East Wing has been torn down for a vanity project. This country isn't about gigantic projects to honor a president before he dies. This country is about honoring people who have contributed to the country and made it better. It's also about recognizing contributions of our First Ladies. Tearing down the side of the White House where they worked is dishonoring their contributions to this country and leaves them outside of history. We do NOT need a bigger ballroom. We have always been a place of refuge not a place to show off. We need the east wing back. We need Jackie Kennedy's rose garden back. We need our history back! I strongly object to the construction of a Multi million dollar ballroom at the White House on the site where the East Wing used to reside. It is a tragedy that the East Wing was destroyed without following any of the proper procedures for permitting, design, or funding. This is an attempt to erase history at the whim of a man who does not own the house he is destroying. The White House belongs to the People of the US, not those who inhabit it temporarily. It must be treated with care and all the laws and rules in place must be followed to protect its beauty and majesty.

As a designer with 40 years of experience including design of over 20,000 square feet of classical art galleries at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, I oppose the design and construction currently planned for the new ballroom. It is a pastiche or travesty of classical architecture, out of scale to the historical White House, and will be judged in architectural history as bad design, and a monument to politically motivated poor judgement and weak aesthetics. The White Hoise is a symbol of strength, national aesthetics, American architectural history and tradition. This addition flies in the face of all that and undermines these heretofore cherished values. Do not build it.

I oppose this project on the grounds that it uses private funding (which is a conflict of interest), destroyed an historic landmark and was done on such a fast track it caused outrage throughout the country that crossed all party lines. Of course, other presidents have made controversial changes in the White House over the years, but none were done with the absolute disregard for laws regarding historic buildings and public opinion. I live in the northeast among many historic homes and buildings and we "regular people" are not allowed to make any structural changes to them. This fact alone is what caused such shock and fury among many of us; but the worst part is that the plan for a gawdy enormous ballroom with gold fixtures would make a mockery of the sacred people's house. The commission should not green light this plan; it would signal approval of this unquestionable abuse of power.

Projects such as the East Wing Modernization ought to conform to accepted procedure in both their planning, authorization and execution. It does not appear that this has been done. In addition, if there is actually the need for such a structure, I don't see why it must be adjacent to The White House. It would be better if it were not visible from the White House grounds.

This project will dwarf the People's House. I object to to the scale and style and to the fact that Mr. Trump has moved ahead with this, ignoring procedures of approval that all the rest of us have to abide by to build anything. All the talk of being better stewards of our money palls in the face of the cost of this project. We hear that it is all donated, which is an obvious set up for conflict of interest. Plus Mr. Trump has a history of treating building trades unfairly, and since there has been no oversight of this project so far, it is clear that he feels empowered to act with impunity in this case too, just as he has already done with the Rose Garden and the demolition of more of the White House than promised.
Please try to stop this destruction of our history, heritage, and beautiful capitol city.

If it’s determined this is some kind of a ballroom is absolutely necessary. Then a different location should be found for that. I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

This project was instituted without proper authorization, permits or design review. It is not modernization, but a reckless demolition of American history with no regard to the environment nor preservation of historical design and aesthetics.
National Trust for Historical Preservation procedures MUST be followed, including historical, architectural and environmental assessment.

I disagree with the lack of transparency in the funding and oppose the spending of three hundred million dollars from private donors, for favors we don't know anything about.
The White House is the People's White House, not the property of whoever is the current occupant, to dispose of as they please.
I desire that with proper assessment and guidance from the National Trust for Historical Preservation, the East Wing be restored, keeping the outward appearance, maintaining the historical design and size in harmony with the main building, with modernization to the inside, while preserving historical and architectural integrity.

I oppose the unlawful razing of the East Wing of the people's house to build a corporate donor-funded ballroom. My objections are three:

(1) The East Wing proposed ballroom distorts the architectural intent of the White House historical design, and specifically erases the role of women in society in the original design. The WH East Wing historically represented the influence of the First Lady and of women in society, reflecting the architectural ideas of the 18th and 19th centuries to represent women's cultural space in east wings of large structures. The ballroom plan effaces this crucial historical intent and undermines centuries of American tradition.

(2) The proposed ballroom is architecturally and philosophically unsuitable for the executive mansion of a democracy. The ballroom will dwarf the main building and West Wing, architecturally spoiling the balance and cohesion so essential to the White House's design. Moreover, the proposed ballroom is clearly modeled in its architecture and design aesthetic on monarchical palaces like Versailles and the palaces of autocratic rulers. This subverts the intent of the White House to uphold democratic norms, not monarchical or dictatorial ideas about executive power. The proposed design is ugly, crass, and tacky. The excessive use of gilding and flourish, as part of the conscious mimicry of monarchical architecture, makes the White House look cheap and tawdry. It is inappropriate for the executive seat of a free democracy, and also just nouveau riche tacky with its gilding.

(3) The process for demolishing the historic East Wing and the Rose Garden was undemocratic, unlawful, and illegitimate. It violated laws, norms, and courtesies. The Administration that violated these laws and vandalized the White House should not be rewarded with a continuation of its plans.

Please oppose and prevent the ongoing damage to the architectural and historical integrity of the White House. Stop the destruction.

Sincerely,

Jonathan D. White

I am writing to express strong opposition to the proposed White House ballroom project. This plan reflects misguided priorities, poses environmental and historical risks, and represents an irresponsible use of federal resources at a time when national infrastructure and public services face much higher needs.

First and foremost, the proposal fundamentally undermines the historical integrity of the White House complex. The Executive Residence and its grounds are national historic landmarks. Adding a large-scale ballroom would disrupt the original design balance established by James Hoban and further developed under Thomas Jefferson and Pierre L'Enfant's city plan. Any structural addition of this magnitude risks altering the layout and aesthetic continuity of one of the nation's most significant heritage sites.

Past preservation studies by the architect of the capitol and the National Park Service confirm that substantial new construction at the White House site poses immense technical challenges. The building's historic masonry, aging foundations, and complex utility systems make it highly vulnerable to vibration, subsidence, and water infiltration, all common byproducts of heavy construction. These risks could cause irreversible structural stress or microcracking within heritage materials that cannot easily be repaired without compromising authenticity.

Additionally, any attempt to "blend" new design elements into the mansion's 18th- and 19th-century fabric would produce an architectural contradiction: modern intervention disguised as historical continuity. Such "pastiche preservation" undermines the credibility of national landmarks by blurring the line between historic conservation and aesthetic imitation. Conversely, a consciously modern addition would clash visually and ideologically with the White House's architectural language, a visual intrusion on the National Mall's historic vista and the L'Enfant Plan's axial harmony.

Beyond aesthetics, the project also risks setting a deeply problematic precedent. Once the perimeter of the White House complex becomes open to major new construction, it invites further encroachment and erosion of historically protected zones around Lafayette Park and the Ellipse. This undermines the guiding preservation principles that have kept the White House both functional and historically intact for more than two centuries.

Coupled with its extravagant cost, questionable necessity, and disregard for environmental stewardship, the ballroom project symbolizes aesthetic overreach rather than thoughtful stewardship. The White House does not need grander entertainment space, it needs continued respect for its role as both a functioning seat of government and a living artifact of the nation's architectural heritage.

For these reasons, I urge the Commission to reject the White House ballroom project in the interest of preservation, architectural integrity, and public trust.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. And perhaps more so, it is a violation of the trust of We the People.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

I'm glad the NCPC exists, and that there are standards and procedures which must be met by any and all projects. We see now why these procedures are so important -- to protect our priceless historic landmarks from careless destruction and ill-conceived design. Please stand up to the brazen lawlessness of this administration and protect the White House, the People's House!

Thank you.

This East Wing renovation did not get plan approval or approval from congress. Now this once historical part of the White House sits in rumbles. I ask that this demolition be stopped permanently. This is the Peoples House not a house to be brought by the highest bidder. The history in the East Wing is gone forever and this is a travesty. I ask that it be transformed back to its former glory. This is the Peoples House. Thank you.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

My mother, whom we lost last year, was a good government activist and raised me to believe in the American democratic system. She loved visiting Washington, D.C., pointing out the monuments and the White House -- the People's House, as we were encouraged to think of it. Plans by the current occupant of the White House to "modernize" the East Wing are wasteful, ill conceived and unauthorized. They represent, not pride in our country, but vanity and vengefulness. If there is to be a modernization, it should be done with the proper permissions and with the greater public in mind. The bulldozing of the East Wing at the orders of the current president has not only damaged the entire aesthetic of the structure, but is a permanent loss of our collective history. It is an affront to Americans like my late mother, who respected that history and the democratic process.This expensive and unnecessary project--which is a monument to corruption and inequality--should not be allowed to proceed one inch further. Polls show the majority of Americans oppose it. I urge this Commission to do so, as well.

I totally oppose the corrupt funding and lack of oversight in this project. The president cannot unilaterally rebuild the People's house with no input from the rest of the government. Nor can the president fund such modifications to the People's white house with private funds. I fully reject the process by which this has been done. Get approvals and reviews, president trump is not a king and should expect oversight in his TEMPORARY position as president.

I would like to register my disapproval of the wanton destruction of the East Wing of the White House for a plan that was not approved through the existing channels for White House structural changes, Congressional funding and National Historic monuments.

The was unprecedented destruction, for a tatty, unneeded ballroom that will not be built, because the current occupant of the White House treats people and buildings exactly the same, as objects to be destroyed. Our American landmark is now a wreck, both inside and out. Rebuild the East Wing as it was. This is not Donald Trump's property - it belongs to the American people.

Here is a completely rewritten version in your own voice, keeping the message but changing the structure and language:

History should be preserved, not bulldozed. Our historic buildings are not obstacles to progress. They are the physical record of who we are as a nation. We learn from them, and we pass those lessons on to our children so they understand their heritage, their identity, and the importance of respecting the past. To destroy such a place is not modernization. It is an irreversible loss.

I strongly oppose the allocation of $300 million for this project. Reports indicate it was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or full design review. This raises serious concerns about process, accountability, and respect for established preservation standards.

This proposal does not represent thoughtful modernization but rather the removal of a meaningful part of American history. I urge that this project be canceled and that the East Wing be rebuilt and restored in a manner consistent with its historic design.

No individual or institution should be exempt from the rule of law. Allowing this project to proceed without addressing potential violations and not prosecuting those involved would undermine public trust and set a troubling precedent.

Sincerely,
Erica

I was shocked to learn that the East Wing had been demolished before review and public comment for the project. While the President is a temporary resident of the White House, it is the House of the People of the United States, and major changes without our consultation is an eggregious breach of trust. The requirements for this kind of project are clear, and no one is above the law.

As to the project itself, I understand that modernization of the buildings is necessary for security and convenience. However, I fail to understand why such a disproportionately sized and foolishly lavish ballroom has anything to do with the work the President and their staff are asked to do. We elect our officials to work for us in a fiscally responsible manner, and this is outright waste. Private funding does nothing to alleviate the long term implications of repair and maintenance on something this big and useless. To say nothing of the implications of fraud that come from a select few financing an undertaking in this way. I want to see a reasonable and responsible design for a historically sympathetic building that won't cripple us in cost and upkeep.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

Thank you for inviting comments about the "East Wing Modernization Project."

I currently live in Chapel Hill North Carolina, but from 1996 until 2023 I lived in Alexandria, Virginia; and for a good number of those years I worked in Washington, DC, just blocks from the White House. When I took the metro to Foggy Bottom and then walked to my office at the intersection of NY Avenue and 14th Street, I passed right by the White House. I always, every day, experienced this walk as a true privilege, that I could casually pass by such an important national treasure on a daily basis. Every American, and most important the people who live and work there, must recognize the historical significance of this building and contemplate change with caution and a respect for the past as well as a hope for the future.

Systems are in place for this to happen. The National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) was established to ensure that any changes to the White House (and other important buildings in the capital city) are considered thoughtfully and reviewed with careful attention to the legacy of these treasures as well as the needs of their occupants, current and future. It is not the goal or practice of the NCPC to present an obstacle to needed updates and modifications. Instead, this group is positioned to review with a broad and informed perspective any contemplated changes and their effects on the buildings and landmarks that belong to the American people.

This so-called "East Wing Modernization Project" has complied with none of the review requirements that serve as guardrails against just the type of ill-conceived project that is currently underway. This project is a slap in the face of every American, and although the current president believes that it fulfills a need, we cannot really know if it does because the strategic review process was bypassed completely. Frankly, I am sickened every time I see an article about this project, which many of us consider an absolute travesty. I can only hope that the next president will promptly solicit private funds and work with the NCPC to restore as far as possible the design of the east wing as it was before the demolition. (And while I have your attention, double ditto for Mrs. Kennedy's Rose Garden.)

What has happened here is not political or partisan. It is a reflection of the contempt that the current President holds for national treasures such as the White House, and for the informed perspective of the members of the NCPC. He is the chief executive of our country, but these buildings belong to all of us. In short, my comment is this: STOP. Reverse course and submit to the review structures that are in place. This is the way to ensure that our most important historical landmarks retain their beauty and significance for the generations that follow us. We owe this to each other, and to our children, our grandchildren, as well as to the many previous occupants of the White House who have treated it with the reverence and respect that it deserves.

Respectfully,

Judith A. vanBever-Green

The White House, including the East Wing, is the People's House. Policies and protocol should have been followed BEFORE it was torn down. It must be restored and those who ordered the demolition should be heavily fined. We are a land of law and order and that must apply to all persons. We cannot tolerate a two-tier system of "laws for thee but not for me." Also, funding from the rich creates a conflict of interest. How will this be managed?

I am opposed to the East wing modernization project for multiple reasons. Firstly, there was no legal justification for destroying the historic east wing of the White House. Secondly, the plans that have been submitted are unacceptable not only because they overshadow the actual White House, but also because the cost is ridiculously high. Thirdly, asking foreign governments, corporations and individuals to donate to pay for this project opens the door to incredible opportunities for corruption. American people overall disapprove of this project and wanted to stop immediately. I am among those people.

Dear National Capital Planning Commission,

As an American, I was horrified to see the unpermitted destruction of the East Wing begin in fall 2024. The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as an act of caprice.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. It is owned by the American people and has been a temporary home to presidents, while in office, since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a legally a tenant of the White House, whose interventions are limited by law and should be limited by respect for the people of the United States.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House is the People's House and U.S. President's have the honor to live within its walls only with permission of the people. President's are only temporary residents for the 4 year terms they serve. No one person has the authority to permanently deface our White House, the People's House, or any part thereof without a full-review with the necessary historical commissions and experts at preservation of our historical sites. The East Wing must be restored to its previous construction as true to the past heritage and historical significance it held before it illegal and unconstitutional demolition by the current resident of the White House. Also, all reparation costs should be paid for up front and personally by Mr. Trump.

The White House belongs to the American people. The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight was a travesty and a crime.

It's hard to set a value on this crime because in destroying this asset, the president broke not only laws but also the trust of the American people.

We urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require any reconstruction of the East Wing to maintain its historic design and size.

We urge, further, that any reconstruction be funded only with appropriations from Congress and that no private money be allowed for this project. The American people own the land, not any one president or any corporation seeking to buy favor.

If Congress does not approve funding, and if a design consistent with the building's historical character cannot be achieved, the land should be left vacant.

Richard and Sheila Miller

I oppose the reconstruction of the East Wing as the history of that historical section is being erased. You cannot help but think that it was revenge from Trump to his wife because she did not want to live at the White House full time and took away the First Lady's Office. There is a lot of speculation why he is doing this but, it's not for the people. Stop him from ruining the historical monuments in DC!!!

I think the East Wing should be restored, or at least replaced with a building in keeping with the size and proportions of what's left of the White House. A giant hugely expensive structure will be unsightly and is too great a temptation for corruption.

I was in tears and horrified when this President demolished the Rose Garden, effectively spitting on Jackie Kennedy's green legacy. I was doubly horrified when he demolished the East Wing. How dare him?! This is not HIS house. It's the People's House. I am totally against a ballroom being built. I want the space to have offices for the First Lady (not this first lady, who obviously partied with Epstein). How disrespectful of him demolishing space for a First Lady's work.
Please do EVERYTHING YOU CAN to stop the build for a ballroom and rebuild the East Wing as it was, with any renovations to modernize services.
Also, please find anything that was saved from the demolition and keep it until this admin is gone, and set up a display at the Smithsonian of how it was built, demolished, and rebuilt FOR THE PEOPLE.

Thank you for your attention.

I absolutely oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Even the hap-hazard designs that have been presented by the White House design team do not fit with the historic structure of the White House residence. If completed, the new construction will destroy the appearance of the People's House, forever. There was no process or thought and it was all done behind closed doors and without the consent of the people! It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. Presidents update the White House to add to the history, a bowling alley, a basketball court, movie theater, gym, etc... At no time has ANY President destroyed complete sections of the White House for none other than personal gain. Harry S. Truman did a revamp of the interior for updates; however, this did not take away from view of the People's House. I want this project canceled immediately, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans. I vigorously oppose this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project. It was not undertaken to improve the form or function of the space. This is an affront, a vanity project for the current occupant and a complete razing of not only a significant portion of the People's House, but also of American history. To allow this customization of the People's House for one man is to send the signal that he will be remaining long after the current term has expired and that We the People approve of this. I speak on behalf of millions of Americans when I say that We most certainly do not approve of any occupant staying even one day beyond what is allowed by law. We do not approve of this vanity project. We did not approve the destruction of this most cherished symbol of America and American life.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans and all generations to come.

Feel free to use this template:

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

You can call this a "modernization project," but it's not. This is another desecration of the People's House, which is not Donald Trump's private residence but belongs to the American people. This is a monument to his ego that, if it's built, I hope will be torn down by the next president. If the White House needs modernization, there's a process that is required, but the current resident has ignored all of that because people let him get away with it. This current occupant of the White House has destroyed a historic part of the building and proposes to replace it with an unneeded structure that will dwarf the original building. I strongly object to this project.

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the ongoing project involving the total demolition of the historic East Wing of the White House and the construction of the 90,000-square-foot ballroom.
While I recognize the administration's stated goal of modernizing the White House infrastructure, the scale and execution of this project present several grave concerns:
• Destruction of National Heritage: The East Wing, largely shaped in 1942, is a symbol of American history and a critical part of the White House's classical design. Replacing this historic structure with a massive ballroom—nearly twice the size of the original mansion—permanently alters the architectural integrity of the "People's House".
• Lack of Transparency and Oversight: This demolition reportedly proceeded without the requisite public review by the National Capital Planning Commission or the Commission of Fine Arts. Transparency is vital for any project involving national landmarks.
• Conflicts of Interest: The use of hundreds of millions of dollars in private donations from major corporations and tech giants raises alarming questions regarding potential "pay-for-play" influence on the highest office.
• Public Access: The closure of public tours for the estimated 10,000 weekly visitors denies American citizens access to a building that belongs to the public, not any one administration.
I urge you to halt further construction and subject the current plans to a full, transparent review process as requested by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and members of Congress. Our national treasures must be preserved for future generations, not sacrificed for temporary modernization.
Thank you for your time and for considering the concerns of the American people.
Sincerely,
Kathleen Seraphin

The White House is a symbol of democratic restraint, not a monument to imperial excess. To transform the "People's House" into a venue for gala ballrooms is a fundamental betrayal of its history and purpose. It is neither a luxury hotel nor a convention center, and it should never be treated as one—especially when the District is already teeming with massive venues like the National Building Museum, Union Station, and the Commerce Building.

The following principles must remain non-negotiable:

Preserve the Modesty of the Republic: The White House was deliberately designed with restrained Georgian aesthetics to distinguish it from the palaces of Europe. Its modest scale is a physical manifestation of our values. Expanding it into a sprawling estate destroys the very symmetry and architectural integrity that define it.

The President is a Tenant, Not a Monarch: The occupant of the White House is a temporary guest of the American people, not a King. No President should be permitted to mutilate the national heritage to suit their personal tastes, regardless of who is footing the bill.

Restore Architectural Symmetry: If the East Wing must be rebuilt, it should be reconstructed as a mirror to the West Wing—matching its size, shape, and placement. The East Wing was utilized by the First Lady since Eleanor Roosevelt. It should be returned to that function. The current First Lady may have no use for it, but she won't be there in three years. And while you're at it, replace Jackie's Rose Garden!! I hope those roses were saved!

We must stop treating the most important building in the country like a billionaire's renovation project. It is time to return to the original vision of a functional, balanced, and humble residence for the executive branch.

It is especially offensive because this is The People's House, and The People have had no say in this destruction of history. There has been no true public accounting of a budget for this, or the final design of the proposed renovation. I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project.

This project was was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

Razing American history is not "modernization". The project needs to be cancelled and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. The payment for the rebuilding should fall directly on the person who authorized the East Wing's destruction and not the American people, as we did not agree to the razing of the East Wing.

No one - not even the President of the United States - is above the law. To permit this project to go ahead without penalization to the one who broke the law would be another affront to all law-abiding American citizens.

The proposed ballroom is an atrocity and the destruction of the existing east wing was illegal vandalism of public property. We need transparency around "donations" to the ballroom. We need those responsible for the destruction to fund the faithful restoration of the east wing as close as possible to the previous design, overseen by experts familiar with it and including a transparent process and transparent funding. We need a stop to any and all redesigns of government property without a public process.

I oppose this project for too many reasons to list but mainly since one person decided it wasn't necessary to go through the correct channels due to his arrogance. I do not like the gaudy changes being made to the people's house. It needs to stop and stop now! It seems accountability has been thrown out the window. We don't need to be spending money on changing names and decor but put it toward helping the vulnerable and those struggling. Please stop spending money on these grandiose projects that are reshaping the look of our country.

The demolition of the East Wing was both shocking and illegal. It is part of the People's house. If it needed modernization, why wasn't it planned, permitted, and discussed? Additionally, what are the private donors getting in return for their donations?

The replacement building should reflect the original architecture and compliment the existing structure. It should remain in proper scale to the White House. And absolutely no gold gilded surfaces anywhere. Reign in this nonsense.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.

This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion

What has happened to the East Wing of the White House is a tragedy. There was no input from members of the public nor the entities that are in place to protect our architectural treasures. I'm sure there are thousands upon thousands of people in our country who literally felt sick at the sight of bulldozers razing this beautiful structure. I believe this was done in this manner so that objections could not be made prior to the destruction. We are left to object now after the fact.

I definitely oppose spending $300 million (or whatever figure it might cost) on the giant ballroom that has been proposed. This project had no authorization, no design review, and no permits in place. Tearing down our architectural history is a form of arrogance in today's governmental world that I don't recall ever previously witnessing.

I and many, many US citizens want this project to end now. I want the East Wing restored to its former design.

No one is above the law, not me, not you, not any office holder in this country in any capacity.

I support the National Trust for Historic Preservation's efforts to mitigate the damage that's been done and to rectify it as soon as possible.

This is not the Trump White House. This is not a monument or memorial to any one person. This is the People's House, built by slaves and inhabited due to the vote of the people. Greetings

I, like millions of Americans and people all over the world was completely gutted by the demolition of the white house east wing!
The Ballroom is completely out of scale and necessity for the "people's house" I was fortunate to tour the white house when I was in high school in the late 1970s. The plan for the east wing featuring a huge Ballroom is completely wrong! Not only is ballroom huge but dwarfs the footprint of the white house. And will require tremendous maintenance costs! Heating, cooling, cleaning and security and more! Any renovations need prior approval of Americans and demonstrate real needs not the whims of an elected president who has a limited term of residency.

Thank you

The White House is the people's House so one person should not be making the decision regarding major changes to it. No one else who has lived in the White House has mentioned the need for a ballroom. The White House should not be altered to feed one person's enormous ego. It is ok to say NO to this President despite his 2-year old tantrums and his bully behavior, or maybe even because of it.
Let this idea go through the normal process these things go through with a thorough assessment by impartial decision makers.

This portion of an historical building needs to be restored to its original condition and any design changes need to be carefully scrutinized for authenticity in keeping the historical character of the building. This belongs to the American people and to allow one administration to destroy the historical character in the name of modernization is a travesty that should not be tolerated. I am writing in opposition to the planned White House ballroom. A 90,000 sq ft ballroom is unnecessary. There are ample event spaces in and around Washington, including the Convention Center. The scale is entirely not in keeping with the White House. An extension off the side should not dwarf the main house. Additionally, it is not in keeping with the history and original design of the White House. It was designed to be the people's house. Grander, more palatial designs were rejected in favor of something more modest. This was considered more in keeping with a democratic republic rather than something that looks like it was built for a royalty. The design of this ballroom makes a mockery of that idea. Please do not sign off on this design in its present form.

I oppose spending the $300+ million on this project from dubious sources that may be questionable. The project was initiated without proper (or any!) authorization, permits, or even a review of the design, Modernization? Oh please! It's the complete destruction of American history. The project should be cancelled and the East Wing rebuilt to its former design. We don't need a ballroom, especially one that dwarfs the White House. To permit this project to go ahead without penalizing and prosecuting those who broke the law would be egregious, and an affront to all Americans. NO BALLROOM!

None of which alligns with the law, review and permit submission requirements..The president exceeded his legal authority, destroying history and tradition with a bulldozer! This is not the American way. The people's house represents our shared democratic values and they are more important than Trump's vanity project. I can't add a railing to my deck without a permit from the township..there needs to be some accountability for the president's authoritarian overreach.

This project is not a modernization project. It is a project to destroy a functioning, historical space in the White House without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. Permits and requirements for review and zoning exist specifically to prevent this type of destruction at the whim of one individual. This project must be stopped and the structure must be restored to working order. Further, those who broke the law in permitting this should be punished. No one is above the law.

I sincerely ask that this expensive, wasteful, and ridiculous project be abandoned. At a time when the economy is so bad, when children are hungry, when jobs are nonexistent, when elders are at risk, when the reputation of the country is faltering because Fascism is in control, we cannot let such a privileged project waste resources. We already are a laughing stock to the rest of the world. This is literally "fiddling while Rome burns!"

Money should be spent on Education, on Infrastructure, on restoring Civil Rights, on continuing Medical research, on ensuring that Veterans, our Elders and our Children are thriving. Not on the greedy elite who are blind to the needs of the people.

This government should be serving the people, "We the People", not just the wwalthy. This project is a travesty and should be stopped. The national treasure that was the East Wing is already destroyed. The Rose Garden, the prize of DC, is disgracefully paved over. What a shame! Do not build this tacky, insulting project. There are procedures in place for the restoration and renovation of historic buildings, and none of these procedures have been followed. This, in itself, sets a bad precedent. One person's whim is not justification to destroy this significant building and to replace it with a monument to his ego.

I strongly oppose the $300 million being spent on this project at a time when there are far more urgent national priorities and critical infrastructure needs demanding attention. Roads, bridges, public safety systems, disaster resilience, and community investments across this country require funding. Choosing to allocate this level of taxpayer money to this effort reflects misplaced priorities.

This building does not belong to any single individual or administration — it belongs to the American people. It is part of our shared national heritage. Decisions of this magnitude must reflect stewardship, transparency, and respect for the public trust.

There are established legal processes, permitting requirements, and design review standards specifically created to protect our national buildings and historic assets. Those safeguards exist for a reason. They were not properly followed here. Ignoring these procedures undermines accountability and weakens the very systems designed to preserve and protect public property.

No one is above the law. Allowing this project to proceed without consequence for bypassing required authorization and review would set a dangerous precedent. I call for the immediate cancellation of this project and for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored in accordance with its former design — through lawful, transparent, and properly reviewed processes.

Public resources deserve public accountability.

Like many proud, tax-paying American citizens, I oppose every aspect of this project. It was initiated without the required authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project. Instead it represents the unlawful razing of my America's history. I request that this project be canceled and that and East Wing of the White House be rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one in this country above the law. No one. Permitting this unlawful project to proceed is a joke.

Calling this the East Wing Modernization Project is a misnomer. This demolition was the wanton destruction of the People's House by a petulant tyrant trying to make himself immortal. The house that MY tax dollars paid for, along with every one of my fellow citizens. No historical review, no environmental consideration, no meetings, no consensus, no request from taxpayers to do this awful thing.

I DO NOT SUPPORT any new construction on this site, unless it is to rebuild EXACTLY what has been destroyed. This tyrant who is in temporary residence does not own this property. He will move on. He has NO RIGHT to do this. We The People object, loudly and consistently.

I request the National Capital Planning Commission to demand reconstruction of the East Wing consistent with its historic design and size. And please collect restitution from the tyrant for the cost of doing so.

Thank you,
Stephanie Holt

I totally oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review.

It is not “modernization” whatsoever. It is razing our history for self-aggrandizement and vainglory at the least and bribery of elected officials (executive branch) and the faction they represent at the worst.

I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

No one is above the law— not the SCOTUS Six, not what they granted immunity to.

To permit this project, to not penalize those who broke the law is law-breaking itself and an egregious national identity affront to all law-abiding Americans in this country.”

The East Wing, a historic part of the White House has been wiped out and lay in rubble, like so much of our government under Trump. The 'private' corporations funding this should be ashamed. How un-American can you get?

Trump should be made, with all the money his is making off the Presidency, to rebuild the East wing EXACTLY as it was, on his OWN dime. He did not ask permission, he did not ask the AMERICAN PEOPLE if they wanted to rip down the East Wing and put in a Palace like ballroom? Mmmm. Kings? No KINGS in America!!! STOP THIS

Please do everything allowed by law to stop or delay Trump's vanity project at the White House until the present administration agrees to abide by public process and appropriate agency oversight, review and collaboration. The illegal East Wing demolition shows a blatant disrespect for the government itself and its existing protocols.

There are so few instances of accountability for this rogue regime to the principles of public service, separation of powers, and constitutional law. Let this project be an example where a democratic government and its damaged institutions can still hold in check the unbounded hunger for power of a would-be autocrat.

The White House belongs to the people of the United States, not any of its temporary residents put there by the voters.

I live in Portsmouth NH. A neighbor down the street took it upon himself to change his porch without permitting the project. He is now in the process of tearing off what he did without a permit. I can tell you, because we have lived in several places, that that's how this country works. I was always taught that nobody is above the law, not even (and maybe especially) the President. Yes, some renovations don't require permits, but ripping down a historic building is not one of those! Our President has spent his life avoiding consequences, and look at what he is. Look at where our country is because nobody stopped this willful child. We are hated because nobody has the spine to say no. You have the power on this one project (and other such) to follow the laws that everybody else has to abide by. Do your duty.

This project began without required
National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property.
It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

For that reason, I think this project should be stopped dead, where it is right now, and not proceed unless and until the White House can prove that the project has been properly applied for, vetted, and approved as required by law. If that doesn't happen, the appropriate entity should bring suit against those responsible for a tear-down done without proper authority, and those responsible should be required to pay for the restoration of an appropriate East Wing.

Throughout our nations history, Presidents have added their own touch to our house, the White House. However, never has one demolished an entire section, much less with zero permits or approval by the historical committee. Complete disregard for standards, norms, and regulations.

The autocratic ego to do such a thing is only shadowed by the numerous lies told to this nations people with regards to how much this project would cost. Skyrocketing costs point to another complete disregard of humility, respect, and scale.

Yet another lie told to us was that the project would not disrupt the integrity of the original structure. Obviously, an absolute lie.

Lastly, who pays for this egomaniacal project is nothing short of quid pro quo. Monopolizing corporations and billionaires give money for the project in order to gain favor from the President. Disgusting and illegal.

The White House is the people's house, not a canvas for egos and desires for grandeur.

I oppose the East Wing "Modernization Project" because it is an affront to the American People that the East Wing was torn down without proper authorization, permits or design review. The proposed ballroom is obscenely too large compared to the main White House building, and the cost is outrageous - whether paid by private donors or the taxpayers. This project should be cancelled and a thoughtful and balanced plan to restore the wing should be undertaken over the course of the next few years. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

This entire move of modernizing the East wing is a travesty to the American people. This is America's house, not the president's house. Anything being done there should be approved by the American people, especially when part of it's being destroyed. This is an unnecessary thing that's been done. It is billing taxpayer dollars for something we did not approve. And all further construction should be ceased and desisted. Any further actions with regards to the Eastwing construction should be voted on by the American people. It is our house and it is ours so not a four year president.

President Trump ordered the demolition of the East Wing of the White House and further has directed that it be replaced with an enormous ballroom, reportedly to be built with funds donated by companies (many of which do business with the government) as well as from other private sources (including ones that asked for anonymity). I am familiar with federal appropriations law and believe that use of private funds for this purpose likely violates the augmentation of appropriations doctrine, which prohibits executive agencies from taking outside funds to supplement their budgets, as well as the Antideficiency Act.

The Government Accountability Office (GAO) has consistently held that executive branch entities may not expand their operational resources beyond what Congress has appropriated unless a statute expressly authorizes them to accept and use outside funds. This principle is reflected in numerous GAO decisions, including those addressing the acceptance of gifts, donated services, and construction related contributions. For example, GAO has repeatedly concluded that agencies may not accept gifts of money or services without statutory authority, and that accepting such contributions constitutes an improper augmentation of appropriations. GAO has also emphasized that capital improvements to federal property—such as renovations, repairs, or new construction—require explicit congressional authorization and cannot be financed through private donations absent a specific gift acceptance statute.

The Antideficiency Act reinforces these principles by prohibiting agencies from obligating or expending funds in excess of or in advance of appropriations. GAO decisions interpreting the Act make clear that using donated funds or services for construction projects without statutory authority can result in both an unlawful augmentation and a potential Antideficiency Act violation, because the agency would be obligating resources that Congress did not provide.

It also appears that no existing gift acceptance statute provides the White House or the Executive Office of the President with an applicable exception for privately-funded construction projects. While certain statutes authorize the acceptance of gifts of minimal value, foreign gifts, or donations to affiliated nonprofit entities such as the White House Historical Association, none clearly permit the President or the Executive Office of the President to accept private funds for structural renovations or new construction on federal property. GAO's decisions underscore that, in the absence of such statutory authority, the acceptance or use of donated funds for a project like a ballroom would constitute an impermissible augmentation of appropriations.

Accordingly, this project should not proceed without legislation making appropriated funds available for this purpose. The use of appropriated funds also will mitigate the apparent and/or potential conflicts of interest raised by the possibility that accepting these private donations will lead to "quid pro quo" actions by the Trump Administration to benefit these donors.

Finally, the size of the proposed ballroom addition will dwarf the main residence, and the design appears too grandiose and more appropriate to some European royal palace than a wing of the residence of a U.S. President.

Process is important in government. It allows for all parties involved to understand the series of events and steps that are needed in order to move something forward. Our legislative and judicial branches are run solely by process. The process and rules that these two branches of government follow allow the American people to understand how our elected officials are working for us, with our best interests and to understand when and how our voices were heard in the process. It also allows us to understand how our tax dollars are being spent.
The project to modernize of the East Wing of the White House did not follow long-established processes for approval. Destruction of the East Wing started without proper permitting or approvals. The plans had not been reviewed nor approved. I understand the project is slated for private funding from wealthy business owners who have a vested interest in earning favor with the White House. The way that the East Wing was torn down was illegal and did not follow established law or protocol. The plans, that have not been properly approved do not fit within the current scope and historical significance of the People's House. A ballroom that would be used only a handful of times a year is out of congruence with the White House, our seat of Executive Power for the people of America. It is we, the taxpayers who own that house and while upgrades and some personalization are within the realm of reason for a President, completely tearing down a wing of the house without following established protocols and approvals is illegal.

If we don't follow process and we act with impunity, the ground rules and protocols that have allowed our country to thrive for 250 years will be lost and we will lose trust in one another and the rule of those who hold elected office.
I request the East Wing Modernization Project be halted, denied, and that the original East Wing be rebuilt to original standards.

Let's start at the beginning: the name of this project is inappropriate. The East Wing of the people's house was demolished by a president with disdainful disregard for American history, law, and ethics. The demolition occurred without needed authorization, permits, or design review. Any monies, public or private should be spent rebuilding the East Wing under its former design -- not be used to aggrandize and influence a man who has failed to respect the dignity and boundaries of the office to which he was elected and who seems unable to accept his own mortality.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

Thank you for this opportunity to share my thoughts on the East Wing Modernization Project.

It goes without saying that the East Wing should not have been demolished. It represented one hundred and twenty-three years of history, that was wantonly destroyed without authorization or reason. As an American citizen I am ashamed and think that it should be left as it is, a symbol of our broken nation. When, at some time in the future, a proper plan can be put into place with historic preservationists and trained architects who understand and respect history and scale, then the East Wing should be rebuilt.

I've had to jump through more hoops to put a new roof on my historic home. I cannot believe this happened. There is no way the appropriate permits were gathered and the administration and the demolition contractor should be forced to use their own money to restore the East wing to what it was. No taxpayer money should be involved. No one can claim they didn't know or they were doing what they were told. There are way too many regulations in place in DC to claim ignorance. My friends put in new replacement windows on their house on The Hill and had to pay a lot extra to make sure they were wooden on the outside. The laws are not only meant for the non-elites. NO ONE IS ABOVE THE LAW. Otherwise, our country doesn't work.

I oppose this project. Not only do I oppose the expense—which right now is $300 million—and the plan to build an oversized “ballroom”, I instead would insist on a restoration of the historic design of the East Wing of the White House at personal expense of Donald Trump. Trump needs to restore every brick and every tree. The demolition and current work at the White House was done illegally and Mr Trump should have to rectify the damage without the aid of taxpayer funds. Build the bunker, restore the security areas, and then rebuild the East Wing to the grandeur that it was. We, the people, do not need a ballroom.

I have seen the new blueprint proposals for the East Wing of the White House. I am not in favor of this design.

First, I have to say, I was shocked and upset with the destruction of the former East Wing -- especially without prior planning and approval. Does anyone know what happened to the artwork that was previously located there? Have those things been preserved by anyone with historical artifact training? We have so many other problems in our world today, but seeing the gaping hole in the side of the White House still hits my stomach with a visceral reaction.

I am glad the new plans do not make the ballroom addition taller than the White House main wing. I think that was a good change.

However, I think the East Wing needs to be proportionate in size to the West Wing and not so large as to dwarf the main wing of the White House. Washington DC was built on such neoclassical symmetrical lines. The plans for the new ballroom allow the structure to be asymmetrical and heavily weighted to the new build instead of keeping the historic building as the main focus of the structure.

Please send these blueprints back to the drawing board for something more symmetrical to the existing building (instead of weighted toward the ego project of the sitting president).

It saddens me to see the destruction of the East Wing. All the history, gone. We do not need a ballroom as large as the White House. It's ridiculous that this has happened with no oversight anywhere, just free reign. Please do the right thing, no ballroom, we are not in an era of time that we need a ballroom. The White house should have a balanced look. I'm not an highly educated person, but I know individuals paying for the teardown are buying off our government officials.

I oppose spending $300 million on a project that was pushed forward without proper authorization, permits, or meaningful design review. This isn't "modernization." It's demolition disguised as improvement. You don't erase part of the White House and call it progress.

The East Wing is not a blank canvas for anyone's personal vision. It is part of the architectural and civic history of this country. If changes are made, they should be lawful, transparent, and respectful of that history.

No administration, no president, and no donor is above the law. If rules were bypassed, there must be accountability. To allow this to proceed without consequence sends the message that power overrides process and that's not a precedent we should normalize.

Cancel the project. Restore what was altered. Follow the law. That's the baseline.

I am writing to urge you to cancel the so-called east wing modernization project. This is a misnomer because what this project is actually doing is erasing our history. I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require any reconstruction of the East Wing to maintain it historic design and size. Anything built on the demolition site must match the style of the original structure of the Executive Mansion, and it must be subordinate in size

Demolishing the historic East Wing of the White House without review, without permits, and without Congressional oversight clearly violated the law. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park. The American people own it. No president owns the property or its buildings.

The president broke not only laws but also the trust of the American people.

If Congress does not approve funding, and if a design keeping with the building's historical character cannot be achieved, the land should be left vacant.

There should also be legal penalties for those who decided that the law does not apply to them.

I do not think we should spend $300 million on the East Wing modernization project. This was initially started without the proper authorization, permits or design review. It is so sad that the East Wing was destroyed in the dark of night to hide its destruction from the American people. The history in that building was destroyed too. It is our house, not the occupant's house. The President is just a tenant for a little while.

I would like this project canceled and the East Wing rebuilt to its original design. I would like those who initiated the destruction to be held accountable - no one is above the law. We must all follow the laws in this country. What a sad day to see the hole where the East Wing once stood.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts.
This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input.

To the Members of the Commission:
I am writing to formally record opposition to the $300 million "East Wing Modernization" project. This project, which has already resulted in the demolition of a century-old landmark of American history, was initiated in flagrant violation of federal preservation and oversight laws.

1. Lack of Proper Authorization and Review
The administration bypassed essential legal requirements before commencing demolition in October 2025. This project proceeded without filing necessary plans with the National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) or the Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) and without conducting required environmental studies under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). Furthermore, it lacked the congressional authorization required for major modifications to federal property.

2. Erasure of American History
Labeling this project as "modernization" is a gross mischaracterization. It is a complete razing of a historic structure that served as the base of operations for First Ladies for decades. Replacing this history with a 90,000-square-foot ballroom—which is nearly double the size of the 55,000-square-foot White House itself—permanently disrupts the classical design and historical integrity of the Executive Mansion.

3. Accountability and the Rule of Law
No individual or office is above the law. To permit this project to proceed without penalizing those who bypassed statutory reviews is an affront to all law-abiding citizens. The use of private donations to fund this project has been opaque and raises significant ethical concerns regarding transparency and accountability.

Requested Action:
I request the immediate cancellation of this project and a court-ordered "Cease and Desist" for all remaining construction. I further call for the East Wing to be rebuilt and restored to its original historic design. We must not allow the "razing of American history" to stand as a precedent for future executive overreach.

I oppose the ballroom project which was destroyed without the proper procedures, consulting, authorization, permits, or design review. The country's history was destroyed in an afternoon and without discussion. We The People are the owners of that house. We elect someone to stay there temporarily, rent if you will, while they are working for us. The spending of $300 million on this is absolutely outrageous! This disaster has put our country at risk with the construction and security challenges at a space so important. It has exposed secure areas and information that were below ground, and it's likely allowed areas to be compromised if we take into consideration how things are being run at the current time.
Being that the site is absolutely destroyed, we have to just move forward. I have recently saw a concept drawing if I remember correctly from our official historical architectural department. I remember it majorly scaling back the project and making the building balanced with the West Wing. The design flowed with historical elements from our iconic White House.
Being this is Our House, it would be fun to actually be able to be involved. An online public vote on the final design would be a fun idea. This could help the public heal after such a traumatic destruction of such a historic space.

As for the laws that were broken with the demolition of the property; no one is above the law. Those who moved forward and gave the instruction to demolition the site without proper permit must be penalized personally to the full extent of the law.

I strongly oppose the building of an outsized bemouth "modernized" structure to replace the East Wing that was so unceremoniously smashed to bits before the American citizens knew what was happening or able to oppose its destruction. The proposed building hasn't been properly authorized with permits or design review. The gaudy replacement structure would dwarf The PEOPLE'S HOUSE in a visually grotesque fashion. The $300million cost is supposedly to be funded by wealthy donors whose underlying intents are unknown & could be nefarious. Everything about this project has been haphazardly thrown together without regard to any sort of historical significance, guidance from proper planning commissions, or just plain old common sense.

At this point, we're left with a gaping hole where a glorified building once stood so I understand the need to build a structure in its place. Please STOP the present race to build a ridiculous monstrosity & reduce the proposed footprint of the new build to create something aesthetically pleasing & historically accurate.

Additionally, those that broke the law to smash The PEOPLE'S HOUSE should be held accountable-legally, morally & financially. NO public funds should be used to replace such an unnecessary, tasteless, vanity project.

Commissioners,

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The White House is the people's house, and the current administration does not have our permission to make changes to the property without our approval.

I am opposed to this project which razed a portion of a historic building without review, permission or comment. It is not within the president's authority to circumvent the rules by which all Americans are supposed to abide. The East Wing should be rebuilt and restored to its historic appearance. It is the people's house, and the temporary residence and work space of any president, and the current president should not get his way while breaking the law.

This ballroom expansion would be the size of the original white house, block the views of the historic building, be almost useless, and set a president that any president can do whatever they want to historic buildings. I am honestly shocked and appalled that this organization allowed for the demolition in the first place. Along with the rose garden, which is now a sad pool deck. This is an awful plan that should never have started, and should not be constructed.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

I request that you stop this $300 (or is it $4-500) million project to build a ridiculously huge and unneeded ballroom next to the White House.

The destruction of the East Wing of the White House was done illegally and in secret without the proper authorization and the involvement of the organizations which exist to protect all changes to the buildings and monuments which are owned by the people of this country.

I would like this Trump ballroom vanity project stopped. And I would like the East Wing of the White House rebuilt.

Trump's actions were outrageous and did not follow the legal procedures required. And I would like him personally to pay for the East Wing rebuild - as he is responsible for its destruction.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.
I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.

The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

But he did it And it can't be undone. When the work begins (if it ever does) it must be vetted carefully and overseen down to the smallest nail Building this monstrosity will be a symbol of all we are losing and of the total lack of respect the current powers have for what is of value to the majority of the American people. Rebuild the East Wing. If there is a need for more space, a need determined by many and not a few, find a way consistent with a higher value than is currently shown. Our history does need to be preserved in every way possible, including in the structures that have stood with dignity for so long.

Furthermore the ballroom being so close to the street would put anyone using it in danger. The Secret Service would have a more difficult task in protecting those within the walls of this building. I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project. I have concerns about the history of the building, Donald Trump's administration stating this work workout proper authorization, and the for-profit companies contributing to this project and what they might expect in return.

This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington.

The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This is not okay. It is my firm belief that this is a ego-driven partisan stunt from an administration that would have been livid had Joseph Biden's administration, or Barack Obama's administration, had done exactly what Trump's administration has. As a history and civics teacher, I cannot tell you how disturbing it is to me that we are taking a building that is more than just brick and mortar and treating it as if it has not seen the evolution of our country, housed events that will never happen again, been a gateway and a touchpoint to our past. I know that things change overtime, but sometimes they shouldn't. Recognizing that the White House was built, burned to the ground, rebuilt, and been used ever since is not just a timeline, but a measure of who we are seems to have slipped from our collective consciousness.

Obviously, emotion is not enough to sway some people. History is not enough to sway some people. But aside from the phenomenally large price tag, and the fact that we are veering from our mission as a country to include all people in government when we allow a small group of people, who also have a phenomenal amount of money, to take over a national monument like the White House, there is the fact that this is not only morally and ethically wrong…but illegal. Without approval, permits, etc. all designed to make sure things happen in a way that meet the needs of "The People" we are taking the very reason we are a country and throwing it away. We split it from Great Britain because we did not want someone in power telling us what we could and could not do. We wanted the right to participate in our own government. When Washington was given the choice to become king and declined, he knew that we needed more control than a monarchy could provide. In our history, we have had good, bad, and mediocre administrations. We have had a few that broke the law. What we have not had is our government openly and disrespectfully declining to follow our laws to do what they want.
That is not an option the American people have to accept. You are our voice. Please do not let a building I dearly love, but a country I love more, be treated this way.

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project.
This project began without required National Capital Planning Commission approval, without environmental assessments mandated by the National Environmental Policy Act, and without congressional authorization required by federal law for construction on federal parkland in Washington. It is unacceptable that our highest office cannot or will not follow clear and basic laws and regulations. This cannot stand.
The $400 million cost is funded by corporations holding billions in federal contracts with the administration approving those contracts. This creates an unacceptable conflict of interest.
The White House is not private property. It belongs to the American people. No president should have unilateral authority to demolish historic structures and approve construction without following the law and allowing public input, let alone allocate PRIVATE donations to fund it. This is tantamount to pay-for-play politics.

I urge the Commission to reject this proposal and to preserve as much as we can of the peoples' house.

I oppose the building of a ballroom at the White House.

The ballroom project broke numerous preservation laws. These laws are in place to protect our country's natural and cultural resources.

For starters, the ballroom project did not have proper authorization, permits, or design review. I could go on, but you have limited space for comments.

I want this project stopped and the East Wing rebuilt to match its historic design and function.

Those that supported or funded this project also need to be held accountable.

I am writing to oppose demolition of the east wing and construction of a ballroom. The project was advanced without a proper review, including input from historians and architects. Further, the expense was not authorized by Congress and the private fund raising lacks of transparency and raises ethical questions. Please require a full restoration of this White House feature with appropriate historical and architectural improvements and require any ballroom proposal to follow proper review.

Remember the East Wing of the White House? Remember the giant ballroom that the tech billionaires have agreed to fund in its place? The National Trust for Historic Preservation is making a gallant effort to stop this. And we can help.

Thanks to the National Trust, we have until March 4 to submit comments about the ballroom to the National Capital Planning Commission. You can make a comment through the link below (click on Submit Comment). PLEASE NOTE, the project is called East Wing Modernization on the pull down menu.

Anara Guard's comment on this is beautiful. She gave me permission to post it here, if anyone wants to use her language.

I oppose what is being called the "East Wing Modernization Project" because it is an illegal and amoral destruction of US History, This demolition was initiated without public input, proper consent and permissions. It is especially offensive because this is The People's House, and The People have had no say in this destruction of history. There has been no true public accounting of a budget for this project or the final design of the proposed renovation. I want this project cancelled. I would like to see the involved decision makers and doners fully investigated and prosecuted if that is called for. No one is above the law, not in the United States. The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

The East Wing needs to be restored as it was, the valuable contents located & returned, and the entirety of the cost to rebuild paid for by the members of this administration and not the US public. This is the visual representation of what is happening throughout our country and government, and it must be stopped.

Please disallow the construction of a ballroom where the East Wing of the White House stood. This brazen demolition of a piece of American history was perpetrated on the people’s house without approval of the demolition nor of a plan for the project. This was illegal. The East Wing should be rebuilt as it was, including an inventory of the White House artifacts and art collection and an accounting of where these pieces have been stored. Restore them before this family of grifters sells off our national treasures.
The White House has been an elegant and welcoming symbol our country’s pride and stature. It now has a gaping wound symbolic of our nation’s self-destruction. Help put us back on the restorative path.

The East Wing Modernization Project is an American tragedy. It makes me sick to my stomach that Trump was able to just completely destroy an important part of Our White House. He destroyed it without any input from the people, like it was his house. According to Trump, "It was a poor, sad sight, and I could have built the ballroom around it, but it would not have been — we're building one of the greatest ballrooms in the world,". He added that it had "little tiny windows" and "looked like hell". What he is actually doing is erasing our history and preventing the people from being able to access our house. It was not properly authorized or permitted and should not be allowed to move forward. I oppose spending $300 million dollars on this boondoggle, which will likely exceed that amount. Please do not allow this ridiculous ballroom to be built and instead force the president to rebuild the East Wing with his own money (which is actually our money as he has been stealing from the people right before our eyes). NO BIGLY BALLROOMS!!!

Thank you,

It is clear to anyone with eyes that the proposed building is too large for the lot, out of character with the surrounding area, and will be overwhelming to the existing historic buildings that surround it. I understand that the White House is an old building that does not have the space that we are used to in the contemporary era. If you want to build a monstrosity that will overpower the current structure in order to address a contemporary desire, I guess it is your prerogative. In addition, this project "destroys" a portion of American history for no good reason. I ask that this project immediately be canceled and that the damaged portion be rebuilt. The law must apply to all equally. If this project continues it suggests that our system of laws are don't have meaning, need not be obeyed and challenges those who believe in the laws to ignore those laws and the social contract that binds us together for a common good.

I am worrying to firmly OBJECT to the continuation of the "East Wing Modernisation Project". There can be no justification for the destruction of the existing East wing and the proposed monstrosity of a replacement. The design touted by Trump and paid for through bribes to the president is not just abhorrent to anyone with good taste, it is blatantly illegal to use the construction of public buildings to funnel money directly to the president's personal bank accounts.

Not only should this project be stopped, the president should be required to rebuild the structure at his own expense. He bypassed all required heritage permits and sign offs.

The US needs many new structures to enhance our built environment, but a gilded ball room where oligarchs and those willing to pay to play with the president is not one of them.

I object to the destruction of the east wing of the White House after being told that the new ballroom would be built adjacent to the existing structure. So much history has been lost! I also object to the planned scale of the new ballroom which will apparently dwarf the rest of the White House. It is my understanding that the White House is provided for the sitting president to reside in while in office. It is not presented to him for molding into whatever vision he sees but must be preserved to be passed on the the next holder of the office. Thank you.

The rebuilding of the original design and construction of the East Wing should be funded solely by Donald Trump.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.
The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.
I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Let me be clear: deception was employed here. We were told the East Wing wouldn't be touched. What happened was illegal and outrageous, and there should be severe consequences. 100% of restoration funds need to come from ANYONE that authorized demolition.

The administration has not followed federal law by bypassing Congress and oversight bodies. The American people require transparency and the preservation of history, not a project done in secret. Demolition must cease until a full, open review occurs. The current occupants should not have a say in remodeling a historical building, it is the peoples house, not his. We have since found out it was done without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. As we approach our 250th birthday as an independent nation, I feel that it is even more important to preserve our history. I understand that buildings need to be updated and brought up to modern codes, however tearing down such an historic part of our national identity without approval of the governing body in charge of our historic buildings is wrong. Building such a out of proportion ballroom is ridiculous, and destroys the entire look of the White House. The addition of all the gold medallions throughout that proposed building and within the White House is gauche. The White House represents both dignity and functionality, it is a residence, office and living museum. It was built in the Neoclassical style, but has never reflected a palace. I feel moving forward with any designs need approval of not only White House historical and preservation committee, Congress, and ncpc.

I oppose the funding and construction of a ballroom to replace the historic East Wiing of the White House. The plan for the ballroom would have itof balance with the original design of the White House and the east and west wing. The $300 million to construct the ballroom said to be contributed by large donors amounts to political payments to curry favor with the current president. The functions of the East wing would be overshadowed by empty space held hostage for large events. I am vehemently opposed to approval for any plans submitted for reconstruction of the people's house. The destruction of the east wing without proper permits or forewarning, especially since Trump promised that no razing of the original structure would occur, should not be rewarded. I worked with the National Trust for Historic Preservation when restoring the Wilmot Mansion in Bethany Pa in the 1990's.- a building that was slated for demolition. I followed guidelines to the letter, and was awarded for outstanding achievement by the PA Museum Commission in 1995 for the project.

The president of the United States should be held to a higher standard than an average citizen when destroying an iconic historic building and offering only generic renderings in his proposal.
You have the power to put a stop to further desecration of this magnificent landmark, whose grandeur would be dwarfed by a gargantuan and unnecessary addition whose purpose is no more than an expression of unchecked authority.

It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history, and desecration of a portion of the People's House. I am horrified and heartbroken to see what the current, overbearing and unlawful occupant of the White House has done to our treasured building. I vehemently oppose spending any money on a BALLROOM. In fact, a ballroom is a snub to the hardworking people of this country, so many of whom are struggling just to feed their families. And now, while any meager assistance that these families had has been stripped away, they would instead, be degraded by having obscene opulence smashed in their faces.

As a citizen and a tax payer, I believe with every fiber of my being, that the East Wing, and the Kennedy Rose Garden must be restored, and that donald trump must pay the cost of restoring those treasures he illegally ripped away from the American people.

Thank you.

Since I have no expertise on Ballroom dancing, and have not seen anyone engaging in Ballroom dancing since Tricia Nixon narried David Eisenhower, I simply ask- is this kind? Is this necessary? Is this conspicuous consumption for it's own sake?
Please count me on the "Wear it in, wear it out, make it do, do without" school of philosophy.

Trump had NO right to take a wrecking ball to our beloved Whitehouse.
The Whitehouse is a National Park. The Whitehouse is owned by the American People and stewarded by the National Park Service. I say that We THE PEOPLE slap him with a HUGE class action law suit. He seems to enjoy lawsuits, give him this one!
Please, please show America that no one can destroy our national treasures.

The East Wing must be restored to its former proportions. The original White House itself must remain the focal point of the property. The historical use of the East Wing should be taken into consideration as the National Capital Planning Commission moves forward to undo the massive crime of tearing down a large portion of a very significant historic property that belongs to the people of the United States.

This project was never authorized through the proper channels and must be restored back to the original design. Furthermore, as a taxpayer, I am strongly opposed to my tax dollars going towards the restoration of the East Wing. The people responsible for the unlawful destruction should be required to fully fund the restoration of this Wing to its former state without using taxpayer money. We cannot allow individuals to have the power to make decisions about our country's historical heritage without using the proper process and if they do, they need to face the consequences.

The White House is a National Historic Landmark and a National Park, owned by the American people and home to presidents since 1800. The current president at any given time is not the owner of the property or the structures thereon; the president is a temporary tenant whose interventions are limited by law and by respect for the people of the United States.

The demolition of the historic East Wing without review, without permits and without Congressional oversight is clearly a violation of the law. In addition, it is a violation of the trust of the American people who were given no opportunity to comment on what should have been presented as a proposal and not as a violent fait accompli.

I urge the National Capital Planning Commission to require reconstruction of the East Wing in keeping with its historic design and size. Anything constructed on the demolition site going forward must be compatible in form and subordinate in scale to the original structure of the Executive Mansion.

Thank you for your consideration.

I do not believe that the East Wing of the White House is being "modernized." I am appalled that this historic building has been razed without any consultation. It is probably not possible to restore it but to replace it with a giant ballroom is unacceptable. And that this is being used as a way for rich business people to bribe the president is illegal and offensive.

I object to the $300 million ballroom being proposed. To watch all proper process be ignored and allow this to proceed is the definition of "it's easier to ask for forgiveness than permission" and we cannot have that, especially when it comes to the White House, our nation's home. Whatever is built needs to be at proper scale and have a design complimentary to the White House-it must look like it was meant to be there. I urge you to hold this project to the highest and best principles of historical architectural design.

President Trump had no right to demolish the East Wing of the White House without the proper permission and planning and approvals. The house doesn't belong to him, it belongs to the American people. He's destroyed history and for obvious reasons he chose this wing to disrespect and ruin. He, or any President, cannot be allowed to build wings on to the White House without going through the proper channels. He has overstepped his authority. His ballroom is simply to satisfy his ego And turn the White House into Mar a Lago.

The only three things that should be done, with regard to this project, are the following:

(1) Bulldozing the construction to date to the bare ground.

(2) Dumping the remains of the demolition in the Tidal Basin.

(3) Re-sodding the ground so as to create a nice lawn.

Any other actions would be submissions to the will of a tyrant who, insofar as relevant here, cares nothing for the history of the White House insofar as it does not conform to his fascist view of the world.

I oppose the spending of $300 million and likely more on this project, which was initiated without proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project. It is a razing of American history. It is an ego-driven, political project without merit.

On behalf of today's citizens and taxpayers, students and scholars, and brave men and women who build this country, I want this project canceled. In recognition of the value of history, I want the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design.

We are a nation of laws which don't allow one person to destroy an historic building which belongs to the nation simply for his personal vanity. If there are no consequences to this blatant illegality, our democratic republic & the American people will be significantly diminished. I urge you to stop this project & enforce the law. Thank you.

Since the founding of the NCPC the scope of Capital Improvements has been to design projects for celebrations of this Country and representations of all US Citizens. The current plans for the East Wing do not fit any of the long range goals that have been proposed for the Washington area. The current plans appear to be one person's deranged and narcissistic desire to honor one weak President and not the entire Country's Citizens. The Capital is and should remain the House of the People. Do not spend any money on the apparent Gilded and Gaudy Glorification to Donald J Trump's ego and focus on what the People want. More Celebration and Reverence to the People and no obeisance to a failing autocrat.

Restore the East Wing of the White House to its former glory. A ballroom is not needed, and the destruction of the East Wing was done without following proper procedures. The current plan would create a structure that dwarfs the rest of this historic building, which also goes against the requirements for making changes to the White House.

I respectfully request that the facade, at least, of the East Wing of the White House be restored to its appearance before the demolition, and that a study be undertaken of what would be the best use of the space within. I further ask that this project be required to follow the historic preservation guidelines, rules and regulations that apply to all federal buildings, which are owned by the American people, as opposed to any single individual or branch of government.

I was saddened to see President Trump willfully tear down the East Wing of the White House without any regard for its national significance. The White House is the house of the people and the President's treatment of it as his own residence, to do with it what he wishes, is an affront to all of us.

I wholeheartedly support the rebuilding of the East Wing as it was, not as the current President might want it, but as it was before he took office.

If the people deem that we need more room in the building for official functions, then there should be a full, public process to make those plans.

There is a wide gap between modernizing a part of the American People's House and an opportunistic self-serving party room with a basement with no publicized purpose. Certainly renovation is part of every building's longevity- the self-serving use of such a large portion of a historic building is in the category of ludicrous and against all civic and cultural values and norms.
I wish to be counted as a tax paying citizen who is against the government's actions sinking into a "poverty of wisdom and understanding" of what this building means to our nation as a place of integrity.

Its unilateralism is meant to offend, not a good basis for any building or undertaking. It rejects our history in a brutal, rude way. Let's commit to rebuilding and restoring the East Wing to its original design and focus modernization on the interior. We cannot afford to turn blind eyes to ignoring and breaking the law, undermine rule of law by unilaterally rejecting authorization processes and rejecting best practices such as design review. The White House is the People's House - it belongs to the people not to its

I would like the East Wing of The White House to be restored to its original status as much as is humanly possible. The White House belongs to the American people, not the president. There was no discussion or review of the demolition of the East Wing prior to its destruction. None of the rules, guidelines or protocols were followed. It was crushing -- both literally and figuratively -- to see this attack on history, memory and the rights of the American people. The name of this project is itself a form of gaslighting. This is not modernization. It is a vanity project of a wrecking ball regime. It represents the willful tantrum of a tyrant who has no respect for the citizens of this country nor our laws. Name: Kaitlyn Pierce

I oppose the East Wing Modernization Project as currently proposed and urge the Commission to reject the plan until proper legal processes are followed.
This project began with the demolition of a 123 year old structure before obtaining required approvals from this Commission, before completing mandatory environmental assessments under the National Environmental Policy Act, and before securing congressional authorization required by federal statute for construction on federal parkland in Washington. The fact that demolition has already occurred does not excuse these violations or create a fait accompli that forces approval.
The funding mechanism raises serious concerns about institutional independence and conflicts of interest. A 400 million dollar construction project funded by corporations holding billions of dollars in current federal contracts with the administration overseeing those contracts creates an appearance of quid pro quo that undermines public trust. Google, Microsoft, Amazon, Lockheed Martin, and other donors are not making charitable contributions to American heritage. They are making investments in access and favorable treatment from an administration that controls their business prospects.
The scale of the proposed structure is inappropriate for the White House grounds. At 89,000 square feet, the addition would be nearly twice the size of the Executive Mansion itself. Renderings show a structure spanning approximately one city block, longer than the West Wing and more than half the length of the Treasury Building. This is not a modest addition to accommodate state functions. This is a fundamental transformation of the People's House undertaken without the people's input.

Federal law exists for a reason. The requirement for congressional approval, Commission review, environmental assessment, and public comment exists because the White House is not private property belonging to any individual president. It is a national historic landmark owned by the American people and held in trust for future generations. No temporary occupant, regardless of political party, should possess unilateral authority to demolish and rebuild portions of this iconic structure without following legally mandated processes.
I urge the Commission to require full compliance with federal law before any further construction proceeds. This means completing comprehensive environmental assessments, obtaining congressional authorization as required by statute, and allowing meaningful public participation in design review before the project advances. The East Wing is already gone, but that violation of process should not be compounded by approving construction that perpetuates the same disregard for law and public input.
The American people deserve better than construction projects funded by government contractors, approved by Trump appointees, and presented as irreversible facts. We deserve transparency, accountability, and respect for the legal processes that protect our shared national heritage.

I am writing this to oppose this project entirely. Our history in this country is being destroyed minute by minute with the current administration's policies and practices. This defacement of the East Wing has been nothing short of a Dictator's Dream of the Whitehouse and property belonging to the American people. We cannot allow sole individuals to determine and destroy our heritage. This was not a decision to be made by this administration without any prior approval by the people of this nation. This doesn't highlight the values of the nation that we were founded upon and it doesn't represent what the people of this country stand for now. The White House needs restoring to its original condition and this needs to never happen again. One person should never determine the future of the nation. Please restore the White House and allow people to hope that we have not completely fallen into the hands of a Dictatorship.

I oppose the demolition of the White House East Wing because changes to a national historic site should occur through transparent review, not unilateral action. Additionally, this $300M project is being funded by large private donations at the behest of the sitting administration which creates at the very least the appearance of influence-seeking or preferential access, and undermines public trust.

The East Wing was destroyed to make way for a new state ballroom funded largely by private donors, with demolition beginning before review by the National Capital Planning Commission and amid unresolved preservation concerns.

I am asking for clear disclosure of donor funding, environmental and design review, and public accountability.
The White House is a shared civic symbol, not the property of any one administration, and major alterations should follow the same oversight standards expected of every other federally significant project.

I strongly want Historic Preservation be at the head of the planning, architecture and execution of the reconstruction of the East Wing. The Trump administration cannot be trusted to execute any of the above. However, ALL funding related to the East Wing, should be at the hands of Trump and not the taxpayers whatsoever since this is of his making. Put whatever legal means in place that you can.

My 8 yo grandson was so proud of the LEGO White House he built. It makes me so sad to look @ it now. I would never have imagined it would have been destroyed “ under the cover of the night” in my view.

I live in Coral Gables , FL & I can’t change the exterior of my house without going to the City for approvals. A historic home here can’t have its facade changed.

The White House is my house &, of course, historical. The destruction of the East Wing was a violation of the trust & standards we’d expect of anyone in our community. A person should not get away with such a violation.

The East Wing should be restored according to its historic appearance with moderations for safety & practicality like climate control.

A Ballroom should be denied until & if an architecturally appropriate design which will not destroy the beauty of our White House can be designed.

My heart stopped when I saw the East Wing being destroyed. That building does not belong to whoever is living in the White House. It belongs to me and you. The present occupants have a duty to care for it, but NEVER to tear it down.
It's obvious that Trump thinks he is going to live there forever. He is not. Nor will any future occupants
The East Wing must be rebuilt as it was before Trump.
And any money donated to him for the project is to be used for the rebuild. Any amount needed above the donation should be incurred by Trump and not this country's tax payers.
Also, there must be an order that no such destruction of Federal property can occur…ever. That includes the Social Security building.

I oppose this project and am heartbroken that the East Wing was demolished! The price is too much and the plan is an abomination and desecration of OUR capital. The fact that the original east wing was demolished without oversight of either l historic preservation or environmental review is evidence that construction will also run amok without the proper approvals and reviews. This is the Nation's White House. NOT the sitting President's. The renovations should remain in line with the existing scale and style. To have a "wing" built that is larger than the dome or primary structure is not only aesthetically inappropriate it is an ego project. The costs are a slap in the face of Americans given all the cuts we have absorbed And subsidizing with private (billionaire) "donors" is equivalent to bribery and favors to the President. Stop this abomination and let the National Trust for Historic Preservation oversee the plans and construction. Do we need a larger "Ballroom"? If so, then let's construct one that is in scale and style of the White House. The East Wing of the White House was destroyed without permission and no accounting has been made of the historical contents. As an American Citizen, I want it put back . I do not approve of the idea to turn it into a ballroom. I think it is ludicrous to even suggest such a salute to wealth and power while also getting Healthcare, childcare, cancer research, etc. Please do not allow this unauthorized ego project to continue.

The new wing should not overwhelm the White House itself and should be subordinate to it. It should be reviewed and approved by NCPC BEFORE any construction starts -- what should have been done before demolition started. It should not be overdecorated with gilding and motifs. The White House and its grounds belong to the People of the United States, not to the president.

I strongly oppose this project, which was begun without proper authorization, permits, or design review. This is a travesty - the White House and its East Wing belong to the people of the United States -- not to one man who wants to create a palace for himself. This attempt to erase so much history of the USA is NOT a modernization project. It is one man's egotistical effort to destroy our heritage. Please cancel this project, and begin a new project to restore the East Wing -- as much a possible -- to its former design. No one -- NO ONE -- is above the law and those who broke the law must be penalized and their razing of the building reversed. We true Americans, who love this country and all of its historical treasures, are disgusted and insulted and ask that you return the White House to the citizens. Thank you very much for the opportunity to comment.

The destruction of the East Wing without proper permits, approval, or advance notice . Was/ is illegal activity.
My opposition against the building of a " Ballroom" or other non-conforming structure that does not meet the existing building designs that were in place before this unauthorized demolition of the East wing should be denied.

I fully support the reconstruction of the East wing to match the style and function of the building before this unauthorized attack on America 's history and historical buildings.

Any fines, criminal charges or other legal action related to this destruction of the East Wing or any other portion of the grounds or building , should be taken.

I oppose the current process and planning process for the reconstruction of the east wing of the White House, or 'People's House.'

The current plans represent a loss of Historical Continuity. It disconnects with the White House's, and thus the country's, historical roots. Additionally there is a clear lack of transparency. The project proceeded without the typical independent reviews, congressional oversight, or public comment periods expected for changes to a federal landmark. Although a hallmark of this administration, it is clearly a violation of public trust and input. There is also an apparent disruption to the existing architecture. The funding for the project, boasted as a savings to the American public, is a farce as private donors, in a quid pro quo, have transformed this from the people's house to a private entertainment venue. And finally, historical preservation standards have been completely disregarded and have been condemned by national non-partisan architectural organizations citing the irreversible alteration of the historic fabric.

I request a halt to the project to allow for public engagement and proper review.

Over the years, I have taken pride in bringing my children, foreign guests and myself to the beautiful and historic White House complex. It has been a standing monument to the trials of our democracy and the American people's values of beauty.
The proposed building is a monument to wealth, and opulence. It lacks the average Americans simple and yet elegant architecture. Frankly it is staggeringly unattractive.
Please stop this madness.

Thank you for this opportunity. My comment is that I oppose the spending of $300+ million on the "East Wing Modernization" project. The demolition of the East Wing is a complete razing of American history. It suddenly destroyed historic federal property without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It would be best to cancel the 'modernization' project (ballroom) to allow the East Wing to be rebuilt & restored to its former design - - and penalize those who broke the law with the East Wing demolition, as would any American citizen be penalized for destroying federal property. Thank you.

The proposed ballroom is gaudy and unnecessary and is only intended to glorify one man.

This project should be halted immediately. The policy of “beg forgiveness” vs “ask permission” on destruction of the People’s House should be considered a criminal act. The unlawfulness and willful disregard for democratic processes, and the current occupant’s history with autocrats and predilection for their methods make me very concerned for the potential for these adversaries to take this opportunity to install surveillance tools and otherwise compromise the security of the home for future occupants. Allowing it to continue under this administration is unacceptable.

I was horrified to see the destruction of the East Wing of the White House, as well as the defacing of other rooms in that same building by a President who believes he is above the law. I request that instead of spending $300M on a grotesque and gaudy monument to billionaires, the East Wing be restored to its previous grandeur. The fact that the original, historically significant East Wing was demolished without going through the proper channels should carry criminal and civil penalties.

I believe what has been done to destroy the significant historical East Wing of the People's House is a travesty and frankly criminal.
The destruction of the structure was done without going through proper channels, was not approved by the public, and the vanity ballroom plan disregards any esthetics to the overall White House structure - dwarfing the main building. I adamantly disapprove of moving forward with the construction of the ballroom and respectfully request, as a US citizen, that (while something that has been completely destroyed cannot be restored) our house be returned to its proper beautiful historical design.

For me, it gets down to one thing: trust. I don’t trust a White House that blatantly lies. You can’t build anything on that type of foundation.

The result would be a temple built to assuage ego instead of a structure to serve all Americans. Make America Sane Again.

In a democracy such a huge change to (destruction of) one of our precious national historical sites MUST be done after careful consideration and planning. The need and design MUST be approved before demolition begins.

In an autocracy the ruler can proceed as Trump is doing. I am shocked and horrified to see how one individual can act with such impunity in what I thought was a strong democratic system. We are weak, indeed - are we afraid to push back?

At this point there is some feeble push back to what Trump has done. However, it seems like he will succeed at last. And then, true to form, he will punish those who tried to oppose him.

The East Wing was a historical and loved structure. I want the building restored to its original form and purpose. And I want Trump to pay for the demolition he caused and the reconstruction that must now be done.

One man (Trump) should not be deciding on such a major addition. And construction should not continue until there is a final plan. Where is the business case for a ballroom that could host 1,000 guests? A ballroom that could host double the number of the old ballroom (eg 400) would be make more sense and be more flexible (small events in oversized rooms are not very inviting). Funding by private donors is totally inappropriate.

While supporters of the new ballroom promote it as being in the classical style, the addition betrays a lack of understanding of the guiding principle of classical architecture, namely, proportion. The ancients had laws governing not the size of architectural elements but the relationships of the parts to each other and to the whole. The height of a Doric column, for example, was limited by its diameter and was said to be a certain number of diameters tall. Similarly, Vitruvius specified the distance between columns to be a multiple of the column's diameter at the base. Each element of a building from architrave to base was thus regulated by reference to another element, lending harmony to the composition.
I see no evidence that the overall White House complex was considered when designing this bloated addition. While it has the surface trappings of classical architecture it betrays a gross negligence of its' guiding principle. The result, unfortunately , will be another instance of the tail wagging the dog.

The White House is known - rightfully - as the People's House. It belongs to the citizens of the United States, who allow the individuals that they elect as their President to live there. Every President since John Adams has spent at least some time in residence (the period from 1814-1817, when it was burned by the British and rebuilt, being the longest period without), and all of them have understood the duty of stewardship that accompanied the honor of residency.

Until this buffoon.

Like the proverbial bull in a china shop, Donald J Trump demolished the East Wing, with its century-plus history, without consulting the NCPC, and announced his intention to erect in its place an eyesore of a ballroom that would loom over the White House proper, epitomizing his personal credo of style over substance.

A little man with a little mind and a desperate need to feel important is trying to slap his name onto anything that will hold still, knowing that he will soon enough be a footnote in history remembered only for what he destroyed. Bad enough that he has transformed the classic Rose Garden into what looks like the food court at a shopping mall and turned the Oval Office into a display of gold-painted Hope Depot castings. Better to pave the ruins and turn the area into a parking lot than to permit the construction of an undeserved monument to one man's bloated ego. Once a saner and more responsible head is in the White House, plans can be made for an addition that will serve and honor the nation.

I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. No one is above the law and to permit this project to go ahead without penalizing those who broke the law would be an affront to all law-abiding Americans.

Is this project related to the Trump ballroom?
If so, I oppose the spending of $300 million on this project, which was initiated without the proper authorization, permits, or design review. It is not a modernization project but rather a complete razing of American history. I want this project canceled, and the East Wing rebuilt and restored to its former design. I'm counting on you to block the ballroom and restore the East Wing to it's former glory.
