About This Report

The 2015 Federal Employee Viewpoint Survey (FEVS) provides employees with the opportunity to influence change in their agencies by submitting feedback about their work environment, leadership and many other aspects of the organization. The FEVS also provides agency leaders with unique insight into workforce issues and trends, and helps them to identify problem areas as well as maintain positive aspects of the agency.

The 2015 Small Agency Management Report (SAM) was designed to help agency leaders identify these issues and take action to improve them, and it also highlights agency successes that should be acknowledged. Please feel free to share these successes and areas for improvement with your employees.

When reviewing your results, please keep the guidelines below in mind. These guidelines were created to organize your survey results in a way that is easier to digest and interpret.

Understanding Your Results

Percent Positive

The sum of two positive categories (e.g., Strongly Agree/Agree)

Percent Negative

The sum of two negative categories (e.g., Strongly Disagree/Disagree)

Percent Neutral

The neutral category (e.g., Neither Agree nor Disagree)

Identifying Strengths, Challenges and Neutral Findings

65 percent positive or higher is considered a strength

35 percent negative or higher is considered a challenge

30 percent neutral or higher suggests uncertainty, presenting an opportunity for communication between managers and staff

Identifying Increases and Decreases

Movement up or down since the previous year is another important piece of information to consider when examining your results. Any increase or decrease in results can be important; however larger increases or decreases (generally 3 or more percentage points) may be a result of significant changes taking place within the agency and should be examined. Increases indicate positive change that should continue to be reinforced. Decreases, especially in areas considered mission critical, may call for appropriate action to prevent further decline.

NCPD Response Rate

86% (24 out of 28 employees responded)

Field Period: May 4, 2015 – June 12, 2015

Overall 2014 response rate: 76%

Agency results have a margin of error of +/- 6%

A Brief Guide to Using Your Small Agency Management Report

This section provides suggestions on how to use your FEVS results and includes examples for taking action to help your agency meet its strategic human capital management goals.

Getting Started

Agencies receive many FEVS reports each year, so it can be confusing to know where to start. One suggested starting point is to adopt a strategy based in an action planning framework. This means looking for improvements you have made in previous years while also examining areas of decline. To help you get started, several steps are outlined below, including references to sections of the Small Agency Management Report (SAM) that you may find useful in helping you to focus on the most critical issues.

Step 1: Use Your SAM to Identify Areas for Improvement

Your SAM provides the tools that can be useful in analyzing your results to find issues most critical to your agency. One way to identify issues is to compare your agency's 2015 results to last year. The Decision Aid - Decreases section provides a quick way to view all of your results that have decreased since 2014. There are many ways to look at your results, and the following sections of the SAM can be valuable resources in illustrating the state of your agency:

Results at a Glance

The Results at a Glance is new in 2015. This section provides an overview of selected FEVS results including agency strengths and challenges, areas that have increased and decreased over time, and overall index highlights. This information allows the agency to get valuable insight into their results.

Top 10 Positive and Negative Items

Not only does this section display a brief overview of noteworthy results (for use in leadership briefings, agency communications, etc.), it also allows you to quickly determine if there are any underlying themes in the way employees responded to certain items. For example, your agency may want to prioritize issues around communication if multiple survey items related to this subject reside in the Top 10 Negative Items list.

Indices

The Engagement Index, Global Satisfaction Index, and New IQ provide agencies with consistent metrics for measuring progress toward objectives. Benchmarks are included to provide insight into how your agency compares to others, and to encourage information sharing between agencies. For example, some of the top ranking agencies in the Engagement Index may have suggestions on things that have and have not worked to engage their employees. This year, each index also includes a display of trends for the overall agency, going as far back as 2012 when available.

Decision Aid

This section is useful in helping you easily identify the most critical issues in your agency as well as recognizing where your agency has improved since 2014. The Decision Aid is divided into three sections to help you focus your attention on improvements and declines in your results since last year:

Increases: Contains all items that increased since 2014

Decreases: Contains all items that decreased since 2014

No Change: Contains all items that did not change since 2014

Appendices

The appendices give you an opportunity to more thoroughly understand your workforce by displaying item-level results. Appendix A shows how well your agency scored relative to other small agencies. Scanning the graphs can indicate how your agency is generally performing as well as help you identify particularly strong or weak areas. Appendix B shows a full breakdown of the Work/Life program results. Appendix C lists all agencies that participated in the 2015 FEVS.

Step 2: Develop Your Goals for Improvement

To develop your goals for improvement, you should consider issues that are most critical to your agency and how these issues relate to your strategic goals. It is also important to focus on issues that will provide both short-term, visible, measurable results, and those that will require long-term perspective.

Step 3: Identify Your FEVS Team

This is a crucial step, as your team can make or break your efforts to improve areas of concern and keep strengths strong. It is important that each member of your team is actively engaged in the process and supports its goals. Identifying your team is not just limited to personnel selection. It also includes identifying and pulling together your available resources while being aware of staff interests, capabilities, and agency budget and resources.

Step 4: Develop Your Plan for Action

Once your team has identified its goals, you should develop a list of actions that must be taken to reach these goals. You might also consider soliciting employee input on your plan. Assign staff responsibilities for each action and keep in mind timeframes. Tasks should include start dates, end dates, and measurable milestones. Make sure you get approval for the actions you must take to achieve your agency goals. Remember that leadership buy-in, engagement, and communication is critical to your success.

Step 5: Implement Your Plan

There are many ways to publicize and communicate your intentions to employees, such as all-hands meetings, announcements, intranet/web updates, and social media, to name a few. After your plan is communicated and you have leadership support, you are ready to launch the plan. Communicating early and often ensures staff and leadership are well-informed.

Step 6: Monitor and Evaluate the Results

In addition to measuring your progress along the way and evaluating the success of your plan, it is important that you communicate progress toward goals and final outcomes. Communicating during the entire process provides transparency which can add to staff engagement.

Top 10 Positive & Negative Items

The figures below highlight the top 10 positive and negative results from the survey to help you quickly identify the most positive and most negative aspects of the organizational environment. Use this snapshot as a quick reference or overview of your FEVS results. For more in-depth analysis, use this section in conjunction with the Decision Aid to help you narrow down the most important areas to work on improving and/or maintaining in the coming year. The text box at the bottom of this page also contains some tips for taking action to improve negative items.

Highest Percent Positive Items

100%	I am held accountable for achieving results. (Q. 16)	95%	I know how my work relates to the agency's goals and priorities. (Q. 12)
100%	Employees are protected from health and safety hazards on the job. (Q. 35)	92%	Physical conditions (for example, noise level, temperature, lighting, cleanliness in the workplace) allow employees to perform their jobs well. (Q. 14)
96%	I like the kind of work I do. (Q. 5)	91%	My agency is successful at accomplishing its mission. (Q. 39)
96%	When needed I am willing to put in the extra effort to get a job done. (Q. 7)	91%	I am constantly looking for ways to do my job better. (Q. 8)
96%	The work I do is important. (Q. 13)
96%	How would you rate the overall quality of work done by your work unit? (Q. 28)

Highest Percent Negative Items

38%	How satisfied are you with your opportunity to get a better job in your organization? (Q. 67)	21%	I believe the results of this survey will be used to make my agency a better place to work. (Q. 41)
25%	I have sufficient resources (for example, people, materials, budget) to get my job done. (Q. 9)	20%	In my work unit, steps are taken to deal with a poor performer who cannot or will not improve. (Q. 23)
25%	Considering everything, how satisfied are you with your pay? (Q. 70)	19%	The skill level in my work unit has improved in the past year. (Q. 27)
22%	In my organization, senior leaders generate high levels of motivation and commitment in the workforce. (Q. 53)	19%	In my work unit, differences in performance are recognized in a meaningful way. (Q. 24)
21%	Awards in my work unit depend on how well employees perform their jobs. (Q. 25)	19%	Employees in my work unit share job knowledge with each other. (Q. 26)

Tips for Taking Action

It can be difficult to know where to start when looking at items with high percent negative ratings. A helpful suggestion is to group items together with common themes and determine if there is a larger category you can target for improvement. For example, if you notice there are several high percent negative items related to communication with supervisors, understanding of job expectations, and fairness of performance appraisals, then it may be a good idea to target the performance management process as an area for improvement in your agency.

Engagement Index

Because the FEVS is an assessment of organizational climate, the Engagement Index does not directly evaluate an employee's level of engagement. Therefore, instead of measuring "states" of engagement such as focused attention and dedication to completing assignments, this index concentrates on factors that lead to an engaged workforce (e.g., supporting employee development, communicating agency goals).

Below, you can see where your agency's Engagement Index score compares to the small agency average. The names of the highest-ranked small agencies are listed to facilitate the sharing of information, such as best practices. The U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) has also created the Unlock Talent website (<https://www.unlocktalent.gov>) to share resources and help with interagency communication.

Engagement Benchmarks

This figure displays the Engagement Index score for your agency as well as the scores for the three engagement factors.

Engagement Subfactor Scores

Engagement Index (continued)

To provide more information on employee engagement for your agency, the figure below includes engagement index trends back to 2012 (if available), as well as the small agency combined trends for comparison. The trend scores for the three engagement factors are also included.

Global Satisfaction Index

The Global Satisfaction Index is a combination of employees' satisfaction with their jobs, their pay, and their organization, plus their willingness to recommend their organization as a good place to work. The Global Satisfaction Index score for your agency, the highest scoring small agencies, and the small agency average are displayed below.

Global Satisfaction Benchmarks

This figure displays the Global Satisfaction Index score for your agency as well as the scores for all four satisfaction factors.

To provide more information on global satisfaction for your agency, the figure below includes index trends back to 2012 (if available), as well as the small agency combined trends for comparison. The trend scores for all four satisfaction factors are also included.

The New IQ Index

The New IQ stands for the New Inclusion Quotient. The New IQ is based on the concept that individual behaviors repeated over time will create habits necessary for inclusiveness. It consists of 20 questions that relate to inclusive work environments. These 20 questions are grouped into five Habits of Inclusion: Fair, Open, Cooperative, Supportive, and Empowering. The New IQ Index score for your agency, the highest scoring small agencies, and the small agency average are displayed below.

This figure displays the New IQ Index score for your agency as well as the scores for all five habits of inclusion.

To provide more information on the New IQ for your agency, the figure below includes index trends back to 2012 (if available), as well as the small agency combined trends for comparison. The trend scores for the five habits of inclusion are also included.

Decision Aid: Increases

Identifying Increases Since 2014

The items in this section are sorted by greatest to smallest increase in percent positive ratings. The items are sorted to allow you to quickly and easily identify where your agency has made the greatest improvements since last year. Work/Life Program survey items (72-84) are excluded.

Using the Legend Icons

The legend icons provide context for interpreting these results. While these items have improved, some may still be considered challenges (35% or more negative) or others may have reached the 65% or more positive mark and become new strengths this year. The legend icons help to highlight areas in need of continued focus and areas that have been successfully improved and should be celebrated.

Decision Aid: Decreases

Identifying Decreases Since 2014

The items in this section are sorted by greatest to smallest decrease in percent positive ratings. The items are sorted to allow you to quickly and easily identify where results have dropped since last year. Work/Life Program survey items (72-84) are excluded.

Using the Legend Icons

The legend icons provide context for interpreting these results. When identifying the most critical decreases to focus on, it is important to check if these decreases are also identified as challenges (35% or more negative) or if they were previously identified as strengths that have fallen below the 65% or more positive threshold.

Decision Aid: No Change

Identifying Items That Have Not Changed Since 2014

Your percent positive results for these items have not changed since last year. These are items that your agency is maintaining, which can be either a positive, neutral, or negative finding. For example, an item with low percent positive results over several years is a strong indication of a need for focused action. You may also want to consider changing or updating your approach to addressing these issues if the item has been the focus of attention in the past. On the other hand, a trend of stable, high percent positive ratings is a finding that should be celebrated. Look at these items individually to determine whether there may be areas of concern for your agency. Work/Life Program survey items (72-84) are excluded.

Using the Legend Icons

The legend icons provide context for interpreting these results. While these items have not increased or decreased, they still may be causes for celebration or concern depending on the percent positive, negative, and neutral ratings.

Appendix A: Item Results and Benchmarks

For each item, your agency's percent positive response is shown on a 0 to 100 scale, with the triangular arrow indicating where your agency falls. The gray bars represent the range of scores for the 41 small independent agencies surveyed that had 10 or more respondents.

To understand how well your agency performed compared to others, focus on the location of the triangle within the gray bar. If the triangle is toward the right side of the bar, then your agency was above average on that item. If it is at the right edge of the bar, then you had the highest percent positive response for that item. Additionally, you can numerically compare your percent positive to the small agency average, listed to the right of each item.
